Some of the "times" each student goes through are recorded in this yearbook. Excitement before a football game, fear of a tuberculosis test, and patriotism by displaying our flag all are a part of each student's school life. Lunch time and study time are enjoyable as well as necessary, too.

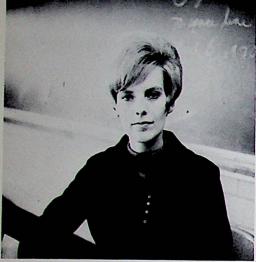

A Time for Academics

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Mr. William Lewis, Mr. Hayward Stanley, Mr. Allard Lawson, Mr. Richard Flannery. NOT PICTURED: Mr. Arthur Preston.

Mr. Edward Hall, Superintendent of Wheelersburg schools.

Mr. Edward Hall

Mr. Frank Miller

Mr. E. R. McCowen, Scioto County superintendent of schools, recommends the teaching staff to the local board of education. In turn the board hires teachers and handles the financing of the school district and maintenance of the buildings.

Mr. Hall spends many hours throughout the year working with the principals and the school board. One of his chief concerns is the financial status of the district. He initiates and develops programs to benefit the students, basing these ideas on current educational developments at the national and state levels.

As the seasons change so do the duties of the administration. During the summer Mr. Miller is busy laying the basis for a smoothly running school year. Fall, winter, and spring find him in close contact with students and teachers and their problems. Throughout the year he must keep in close touch with school personnel as well as supervising the curriculum.

Mr. Miller makes morning announcements.

COOKS: Mrs. Jean Preston, Mrs. Ruth Sutton, Mrs. Elma Bays, Mrs. Bernice Spradlin.

There are many people involved with the duties necessary to have a school operating efficiently throughout the year.

Nutritious lunches are served each day by the cafeteria staff. The janitors work continuously to keep the building clean and a pleasant place to work.

Miss Kathleen Skiver, secretary to the administration, proves that at all times she is ready to be helpful to the faculty and students.

Mr. Coriell, with several years experience as guidance counselor, helps the students plan their futures whether it be for college, the business field, or military service.

Mrs. Moyer works to improve the facilities of our library. Filmstrips and records to accompany texts and lessons are an addition to the library this year.

JANITORS: Mr. Cornell Fritz and Mr. Clifton Hill.

Mr. Coriell advises students.

Mrs. Moyer checks filmstrips.

Miss Kathleen Skiver

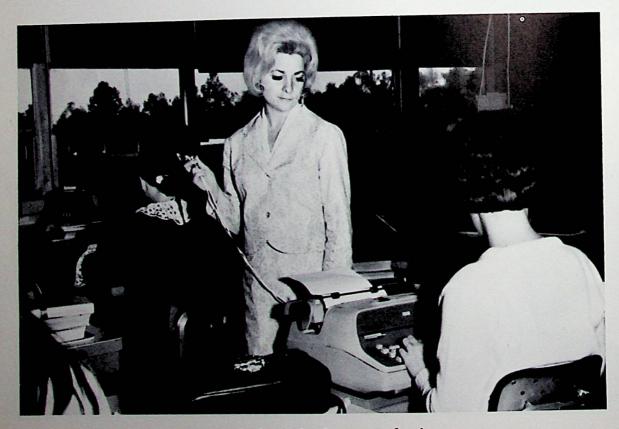

Mr. William Coriell

The Commercial Department offers courses in general business, bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, business law, office practice, and business English to build aptitudes needed for a business career.

Students learn practical aspects of the business world through experience. Through practice, students develop the skills they will need when their time comes to enter into the business world.

Mrs. Conley explains brief forms in shorthand.

Miss Lowe checks speed and accuracy of students.

Mrs. Betty Conley

Miss Connie Lowe

Commercial

Workbooks and practice sets are essential training in bookkeeping.

Mrs. Kathryn Burnett

Mrs. Jacquelyn Sylvia

Now is the time when we must readily understand our fellow man and communicate easily with him. Studying literature enables us to comprehend others' ideas, past and present. Polishing our writing skills makes it possible for us to convey to others the ideas we feel it is time to express. Now, too, is the time to develop verbal communications in our speech classes and improve basic skills in remedial English and reading.

LEFT: The importance of additional reading is explained by Mrs. Burnett.

BOTTOM: Mrs. Sylvia and Connie Freeman discuss the literature assignment.

Mrs. Alice Rawlings

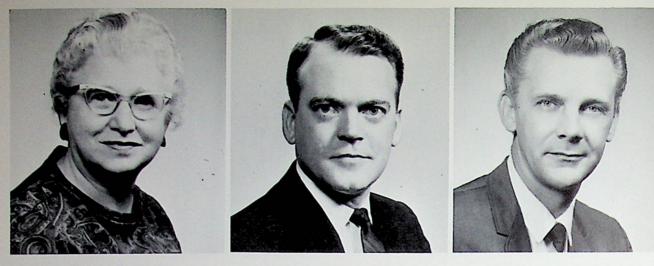

Mr. Ralph Gampp

Assistance in improvement of reading and writing is explained by Mrs. Rawlings and Mr. Gampp.

Mrs. Sarah Harrison

Mr. David Harris

Mr. Robert McCoy

Foreign Language and

With the passing of time all parts of our world have grown closer together. Men from various countries become associated in world affairs; exchange students bring to many schools and universities different languages and customs. The Language Department of W.H.S. supplies aids to help students learn the customs and languages of foreign countries through tapes, speeches, classwork, and listening to speakers from foreign countries.

Proficiency in understanding French is developed by working with tapes.

ROW 1: Mr. Harris, T. Percell, S. Wilson, R. Searls, C. Williams, S. Fitch. ROW 2: C. Reed, K. Parker, T. Baker, R. Dix, S. Hall, C. Werner.

Music

Just as everything else has changed since the days of Bach and Handel, music, too, has changed. Thus, since modern music has become an integral part of our culture, we should try to understand it and study it along modern lines. By studying modern day music, a student can develop a keener insight into the world of music and a finer appreciation as a listener.

Mr. McCoy checks formations for a performance.

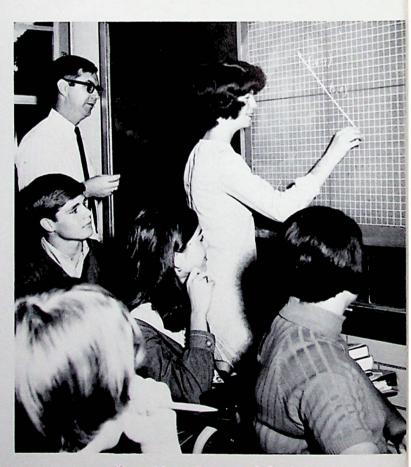

Mr. Douglas Ruth

Mr. Ruth demonstrates the use of the compass.

Mr. Eugene Risner

Nancy Myers plots a graph for the class.

Today's students find various fascinating areas to explore. The ever-increasing advancements of the times can clearly be seen in the fields of Math and Science. Computers and space are only two areas where specific knowledge is a necessity for today's students.

All students, no matter what their curriculum, are in need of a clear understanding of basic math and science to compete in today's world. For those students headed for college and technical schools, there are advance courses offered. Among these are Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Algebra II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and a new course, Earth Science.

Mr. John Bihl

Math and Science

Mr. Bihl supervises an experiment in the lab.

Physical Education

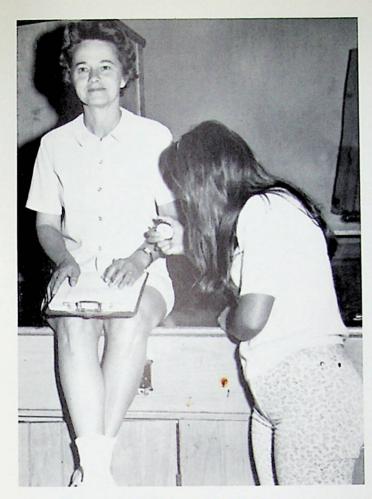

Mr. William Boyer

Freshman and sophomore students must allot a portion of their time to physical education, which is a required subject. Each person participates in sports such as basketball, softball, volleyball and dodgeball. Performing on the trampoline, tumbling, and general calisthenics build healthful bodies. All these activities are in line with the President's Physical Fitness Program.

Sophomore boys are learning the rules of volleyball.

Timing is important in all sports.

Mrs. Jo Sue Burkhart

Exercising is routine at the beginning of physical education class.

Mr. Gary Cunningham Mr. Paul Schrader

Social

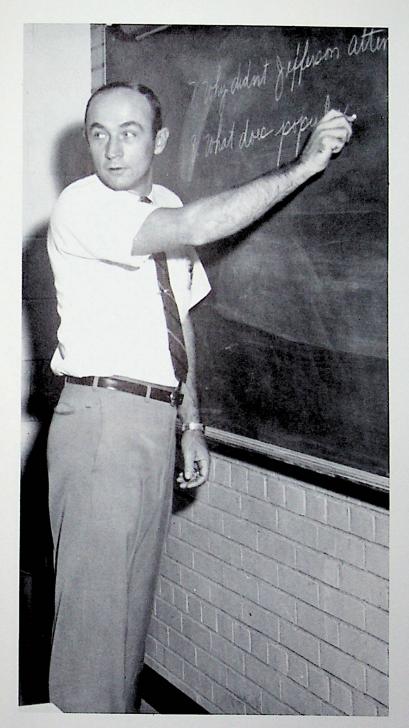

Studies

Mr. John Keiser

Maps are important is world geography.

Mr. Schrader writes test questions on the board.

In the social studies program, students learn the significance of time past, present, and future - and its influence upon people as individuals, as well as in groups. The curriculum offers world history, world geography, American history, American government, sociology, and psychology.

Mr. Keiser lectures on world affairs.

Mrs. Grace Schindler

Mrs. Marguerite Brown

Vocational

The Home Economics Department must strive to help young men and women become better prepared for their future lives. Two new courses were offered this year - Child Care and Development and Home Furnishings.

Many boys are enrolled in auto mechanics. They learn about the operation and maintenance of cars which is very important to each boy today. Through architectural drawing and woodworking the boys learn to combine their creative and manual ability to make many beautiful projects.

Mrs. Brown explains proper folding of laundry.

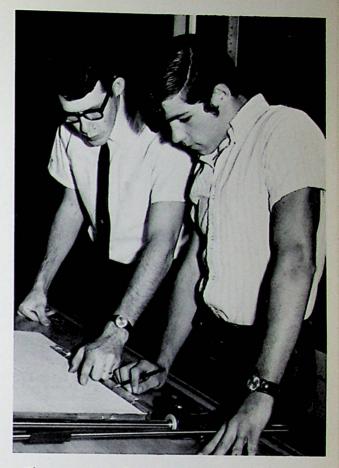

Mrs. Schindler suggests a better hemline.

Mr. Daniel Griffith

Mr. Joe Jenkins

The importance of a correct blueprint is explained.

Students learn how to repair motors.

The recording of our time in W.H.S. is the responsibility of the yearbook staff, who worked industriously through the year to create the 1970 Wheel.

Several members attended the Ohio University Publications Workshop, and the entire staff attended the Taylor Publications Workshop at Rio Grande College to obtain a better understanding of how to put a yearbook together.

As the year went by, the yearbook was put together by the selling of advertisements, the drawing of the pages, and the taking of pictures.

At the end of the year the members felt they had put a good year's work into the annual and were anxious to see the results of their work.

Student Council

Members of Student Council annually decorate the Christmas tree.

The Student Council had time to work and time to relax. They worked on several projects. Not only did they find time to decorate one of the prettiest Christmas trees W.H.S. has ever had, but they also collected for a worthy cause, the Muscular Distrophy Fund. They also found time to have fun, for they sponsored an aftergame dance.

All Senior members of the Student Council in the area were invited to spend a week-end at Marshall University. Best of all, the Student Council was given more responsibility in the enforcement of the school policies. A Student Government committee was chosen to give the students a voice in governing themselves.

National Honor Society

Promoting the principles of leadership, character, scholarship, and service, the Honor Society once again played a role in the year's activities. At the end of the first semester, the five veterans of last year's group inducted eleven new members. Mr. Risner again sponsored this year's group.

The members enjoy a reception after induction.

Language Club

The Language Club increased its cultural interests through the varied programs that were planned for their monthly meetings.

This year's activities included a slide talk of the Far East given by Mrs. Polly Daehler, Mexican Christmas customs, and later in the year a talk by an exchange student from Peru. Frosty Frazier went abroad during Christmas vacation and created a real first for our school telling about his trip to Spain.

F.H.A.

The Future Homemakers of America find time in their busy days for many activities. On September 20, they attended a subregional meeting at Beaver, Ohio, where they were informed of the purposes of the state program. The December meeting was a teens' and tots' Christmas party. The installation of new officers followed the mother and daughter banquet at the April meeting.

The time that members devoted to the organization was spent supervising classes when members of the faculty were absent. Because of their willingness to help the teachers, they will profit much from the knowledge gained in the classrooms.

Bible Club

Pastor Grollimund speaks at a chapel service.

The Bible Club feels there must be time for meditation, for reflection upon spiritual values. It achieves its purpose of promoting Christian fellowship by conducting chapel services and by reading a scripture selection every Monday morning. Speakers from area churches are invited to share their faith with the student body. The main events of the year are a Christmas party and a picnic at the end of the year.

Mixed Chorus

Whether it was springtime, the Christmas season, or just a good time for music, the presentations of the W.H.S. mixed chorus were enjoyed by everyone. The chorus worked diligently through the year to make their songs enjoyable. They gave a Christmas concert during the Christmas season, they represented the school at the Scioto County Music Festival, and they provided music for the chapel services.

Chess Club

Jerry McHenry concentrates on his next move.

Just as there is a time for sports that emphasize physical activity, so is there a time for games that stimulate thought. Chess stimulates this thought, and Wheelersburg's students find our Chess Club to be a group that has many good players but still accepts even those who can't play. The members are friendly and are willing to teach any newcomer the art of chess. Although still young, our club is attempting to organize a county league, and it is hoped that by next year, such a league will exist.

FOOTBALL BOOSTERS

Any time there is an athletic event, the cheer-block members are out in force. Cheerblock members support the team in all athletic events. They pass on the Pirate pride and spirit to the rest of the student body. Once a week, they practice yells, cheers, and skits with the cheerleaders.

The cheer-block rented a bus to take to many of the away games. Both at home and away these students help boost the morale of the team and spectators.

"Dates and Mates"

The students of Wheelersburg found time for music and comedy as our stage production "Dates and Mates" became a reality. Supported by our Stage Band led by Mr. McCoy and directed by Mr. Gampp with the assistance of Mrs. Burnett, Mr. Harris, and Mrs. Sylvia, the first musical production at Wheelersburg High School became quite a success. With song and action it amused audiences in two nighttime performances and was generally fun for all concerned.

The 1970 Junior-Senior Prom was held aboard the party boat, The Chaperon. The theme "Drifting and Dreaming" was carried along with the tide and the star-filled sky from the Portsmouth boat dock up the Ohio River toward Ironton. At the magic hour of midnight the boat landed after four hours filled with music by the Trip Hammer.

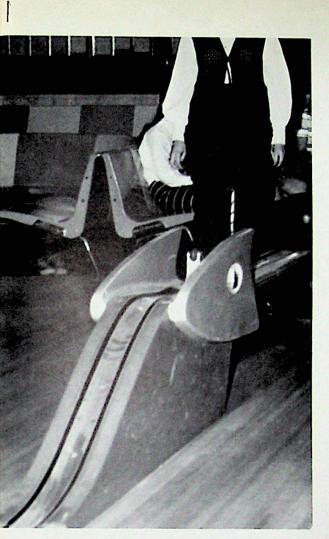

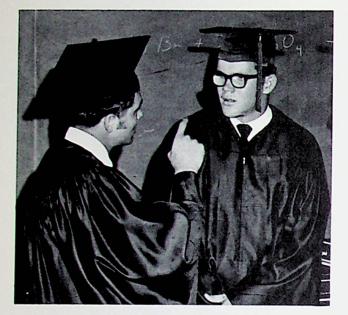

The After Prom was held at the Rainbow Bowling Lanes where everyone concluded the evening by bowling, playing pool, and eating. At six o'clock the 1970 Prom ended and left only glorious memories and dreams for next year.

Having become veterans of a year at W.H.S., our sophomores finally realized the necessity of study and learned that fear of upperclassmen was no longer needed. "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose ... "

The time now is for closing. The school year 1969-1970 has ended.

We, the seniors of the Wheelersburg High School Yearbook Staff, hope that in your future there will be a time to remember and to reminisce about the experiences and attainments you received at Wheelersburg High School.

In behalf of all the staff members, we would like to express our sincere thanks to the Board of Education, Mr. Edward Hall, Mr. Frank Miller, Miss Kathleen Skiver, Mr. Ralph Gampp, Mrs. Jacquelyn Sylvia, Mr. Raymond Fox, and Mrs. Sarah N. Harrison for the time and work spent in making this yearbook possible.
