What difference can only ten years make? As we enter the '90's, let's take a minute to look back at the 1980's.

In 1980

- most seniors were 8 years old
- most 7th graders were 2
- Miss Shuff was a high school sophomore
- Ronald Reagan was just taking office

Do you realize that before the 80's the world was without?

- the Walkman
- microwaves
- answering machines
- VCR's
- camcorders
- MTV
- cordless phones
- CD players
- express mail
- Nutrasweet
- Reeboks
- Diet Coke
- frozen yogurt
- Trivial Pursuit
- hair mousse
- rap music
- Swatch watches
- Cabbage Patch dolls

...and before the '80's these celebrities were just everyday people:

- Oprah Winfrey
- David Letterman
- Madonna
- Donald Trump
- Pee-wee Herman
- Morton Downey, Jr.
- Vanna White

The 1980's were exciting innovative years for the world. New faces, new inventions, new fads...all these things have made the '80's a most memorable decade. What will the 1990's show the world?

SHOW YOUR WORK! — March 15, 1990

The art exhibit showed us the talents of the students in Mrs. Cablish's classes. One of those students, Doug Hudson, intends to pursue a career in the art field by attending an art school.

Industrial art students stretched out this year by making many projects from patterns they made after looking at pictures in a country craft magazine.

In the morning, science fair projects were set up in the gym. Projects were varied. Some of the students spent months on their projects while others spent much less time. As part of the competition, the students had to talk to the judges about their projects.

Deanna Potts (above) won first prize in the computer division. For a listing of all winners see pages 46-7.

CPR is not only an important part of sophomore health class but also an important thing for everyone to know. Mr. Jenkins teaches the boys the entire procedure and, after practice, each boy must "save a life" as the final test.

The guys realize that with this knowledge they could be called upon to actually try to restart someone's heart, but they hope that they are never put to the real test.

Save A Life

Dissection is an important part of the biology student's life.

Everyone has a different opinion about dissecting. Pat Phillips, a sophomore, says, "I could do without it." Another sophomore, Missy Newman, comments, "It is an enthralling experience." Overall, I think it's safe to say the majority of biology students do not enjoy this part of the curriculum.

I don't believe anyone has ever been forced to dissect, however, one's grade probably would suffer if one refused.

Usually dissecting is a safe procedure, although if you're not very experienced, you may want to take extra safety measures. Just ask Mr. Jenkins, who's had his fair share of being injured by inexperienced students.

ACCIDENTS SOMETIME HAPPEN DURING DISSECTION

short shorts but at long last shorts are allowed in the halls of NB. This spring a panel made up of students, parents, teachers, and Mr. Bentley decided that it was time to follow the Scioto county trend.

The rules state that shorts must be no shorter than three inches above the knee, and that the shorts can not be cut off.

When asked about the decision, all students agreed that shorts were great. Some comments were:

- "cheaper than putting air conditioning in the whole school." (Angie Pixley)
- "a good change because it is a lot cooler." (Shelly Robinson)
- "you feel a lot more comfortable at school, more relaxed!" (Heather Loper)
- "wearing shorts is good because it gets hot, and it is hard to concentrate when you're uncomfortable in a sweaty pair of jeans." (Shawn Dillow)

- "it's great! Show those legs!!" (Doug Hudson)
- "I'm glad I was still here to see it." (Ragen Ives)
- "it gets so hot sometimes and shorts allow you to be more comfortable and you can learn better when you're comfortable." (Ryan Taylor)

Brady Bunch Triumphs----

The second Tiger Feud, sponsored by Pizza Hut, was held this February in the Glenwood auditorium. A Tiger Feud is simply a family feud but instead of families competing, students compete according to grades. The students participating usually pick a TV family and dress up trying to imitate them. Some students use their imagination and make their own characters up. This year's champions were Darren Harr, Ryan Taylor, Chelsey Bishop, Michelle Conn, Michele Maddix and Missy Newman from the sophomore class. These creative 10th graders posed as the Brady Bunch children and did a fantastic job acting, talking, and dressing like them. Story by Tia Pauley

Other groups were the Bundys (7th grade), Flabbs (8th), Simpsons (12th), and Cave "persons" (9th). The teachers and staff represented famous people in history. Chad Hickman was the master of ceremonies.

This year's exchange student is junior Irina Scheiber from Austria. She is staying with Betsey Cornwell's family.

Irina thought that she would be able to speak English very well after the school year ended here in the USA. Her thoughts were that it would be exciting to get to know the American way of life and its culture.

As she was leaving on the plane, all she could think about was how much she would miss her family, but the closer to America she got, the more excited she became. Even though she was leaving her family for a year, she still kept a positive attitude and never had second thoughts.

Irina has enjoyed her stay here in America. She has met a lot of people that have made her more comfortable about her stay.

While she has been here, she has visited Boston, New York and Nashville with her host family. Before she leaves she plans to visit San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and Las Vegas with her parents who will come over at the end of May.

Although she loves it here, she sadly misses her family and can't wait to go home. She doesn't want to leave her friends behind, but yet she is excited to see her family again. She hates the fact that she'll probably never see her new friends again.

"I will definitely have a lot to tell about when I return home. I will not forget my stay here in America and my experiences. I would recommend another exchange student to visit the USA. For I have learned so much about the American language, different cultures and customs. I have learned more here than I ever would've back home!", said Irina.

GHS lost its long-time guidance counselor when Steve Reed retired early this spring.

Mr. Reed's career in education spanned 32 years. He graduated from Ohio University in 1958 and began teaching industrial arts at Valley High School.

When New Boston needed a guidance counselor in 1970, Mr. Reed was hired for the job; a job he did very well for almost twenty years.

Both faculty and students thank Mr. Reed for his care and concern over the years and wish him the best of fishing!

The 1980's brought shopping into our homes via cable television. At present, jewelry, small electronics items, and knickknacks are the usual offerings. But it's predicted that in the future more and more shopping and even the family banking will be done from the home.

Valedictorian, Paul Foit, speaks briefly to his classmates.

On May 25, what seniors fear every year finally happened. It rained and rained and rained. Graduation had to be postponed from 7 to 8 p.m. and moved from the stadium to the auditorium.

Stephen Oliver, 1974 valedictorian, gave his speech entitled "The End or The Beginning" and soon it was time for the presentation of the diplomas.

The graduates then moved to the gym where they received congratulations from family, friends and faculty.

Even though it was disappointing not to have an outside graduation, the graduates agreed that inside was much better than they had anticipated.

Salutatorian, Matt Adkins, gives his farewell to Glenwood.

The class assembles for the last time to have their graduation picture taken.

Speaker Stephen Oliver asks if this is the end or the beginning.

CLASS HISTORY

Not long ago we were freshmen and looking ahead with anticipation to the four years to come. The passing of those four years, that in 1986 seemed to be an eternity, today is a reality and seems now to be a mere flash in time.

In 1986, thirty-four eager freshmen began to roam the halls of Glenwood — finally as high school students. To lead the pack, we elected Don Willis as president, David Montgomery as vice president, Steve Carter as secretary, and Missy Newman as treasurer. Mrs. Donna Ferrell was our class advisor.

Demeen Fannin was selected to represent our class as homecoming attendant. She was escorted by Tony Grant. Our soccer team won its first SOC championship title. Freshmen team members were Roger Holbrook and Randy Mollett.

After the long summer, 34 sophomores returned to elect Don Willis as president, David Montgomery as vice president, Sharon Cummings as secretary, and Missy Newman as treasurer. Mr. Tom Daniels was the class advisor. Shelly Hickman represented the sophomores as homecoming attendant. She was escorted by Todd Loper.

When the summer of '88 ended, 33 students entered Glenwood once again to take on the responsibilities as juniors. Elected to lead us through this important year were president Sharon Cummings, vice president Matt Adkins, secretary Demeen Fannin, and treasurer Missy Newman. Mrs. Barbara Cablish was the class advisor.

Demeen Fannin was elected homecoming attendant and was escorted by Chad Riggs. Juniors Shelly Hickman and Demeen Fannin contributed their skill to help the volleyball team win its first sectional championship title. Missy Newman helped the girls' basketball team gain the titles of sectional champions, district champions, and regional semi-finalists in its first ever winning season.

PROM TIME!!! The prom, held in honor of the seniors, was held at the American Legion on April 28, 1989. The theme was "Hold onto the Night."

Now, at last, we find ourselves with thirty-two seniors. Leading us to the end of our high school experience are president Matt Adkins, vice president Doug Hudson, secretary Demeen Fannin, and treasurer Missy Newman. Our class advisor is Mrs. Barbara Cablish.

The student body elected Demeen Fannin as the homecoming queen. She was escorted by Chad Riggs and Roger Holbrook. Shelly Hickman, escorted by Tony Grant, represented the seniors as attendant.

For our final prom, we journeyed to the Shawnee Lodge for "An Evening of Elegance" on April 27, 1990.

We are now anticipating graduation and our future. As we prepare to say goodbye to our alma mater, we realize that we will never forget all the time we spent at Glenwood. —

Sharon Cummings, May 9, 1990

The seniors give their final performance with the chorus.

The new graduates toss their caps in celebration.

CLASS WILLS

I, Sherri Mills, of sound mind and body leave my driving skills to Angie Henson. You will do well as long as you keep the guys off the hood of your car when you are on Chilli! (or you will go crunch)

I, Shelly Hickman, leave my great driving ability to Chad Hickman, might as well keep it in the family.

I, Paul Foit, being of perfect mind and equally matched body leave my perfectness to Leslie Adkins. Heaven knows he needs it.

I, Missy Newman, leave to Rodney Fetty my seat in band — it's the only way you'll ever get it.

I, Tracey Killian, leave my house to the city of New Boston, since they were obviously going to take it anyway.

I, Demeen Fannin, of sound mind, sometimes, and body leave my great sense of direction to Kelli Jenkins, Betsey Cornwell, Irina Scheiber, Chad Riggs, and Joey Keeney.

I, Don Willis, being of sound mind and body leave my chin to Chad Hickman in return for a Big Yogi.

I, Joey Keeney, leave to Chastity, Kelli, and Betsey my vocal music storytelling ability.

I, Matt Adkins, pass on to Adam Chaney and Chris Gerard what they most desperately need: first I leave them my high school grade point average of slightly less than Biblical proportions and finally, I leave them for their future well being my ability to remain sober.

I, Sharon Cummings, being of sound mind and body leave to Laura Ottney my freedom and ability to figure out how to party any time I want to.

I, Amy Perkins, being of sound mind and body, leave to Sabrina my ability to down all of the big B's.

I, Chad Riggs, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath my ability to have excellent student-teacher relations to Rodney Fetty so he'll never get accused of any demeaning activities.

I, Kelli Bush, being of sound mind and body will my ability to sing loudly to the alto section.

I, Roger Holbrook, being of sound mind and body leave my learning ability to Josh (Peewee) Howard.

I, Doug Hudson, being of sound mind and body leave my Metallica wardrobe to Adam Chaney. It will go well with the "Mantyhose."

I, Tony Grant, leave to my brother Todd my masonry skills. We all know he will need them.

I, Ragen Ives, hereby bequeath all my driver's ed. notes to Laurie Ottney — maybe she'll get her license some day.

I, Jodi Ann Conkel, being of sound mind and body, leave my ability to use a can of hair spray a day to any junior who can do so. Could it be you, Lori Dixon?

Matt consults Chad about the proper way to wear the honor sash.

The seniors take the last few minutes before graduation to look for pictures to remind of them of their years at Glenwood.

Senior advisor, Mrs. Cablish, gets a carnation for Tracey Killian.

Thirteen years of schooling end with this handshake.

CLASS PROPHECY

When I, Ragen Ives, arrived in New Boston the night before our ten year class reunion, I decided to drive around and see how much, if anything, had changed.

I drove by the old American Restaurant which probably has been standing since the flood of '37. Keith Lusk, Chris Goddard, and Tony Grant stood in front as they always had after school. It's hard to believe that ten years have passed and they're still there.

Turning onto what I thought was Stanton Avenue, I looked at the street sign that, to my amazement, read Cummings Boulevard. The street was named after one of my oldest and best friends, Sharon Cummings, who is now a Supreme Court Justice. I drove by Sharon's house which was a large, stout mansion. The large estate was shaking and roaring with music — the Doors, I believe. Suddenly Sharon, Tracey Killian, Amy Perkins, Jodi Conkel, and Kendra Helvenstine came barreling out the large cast-iron doors. They recognized me immediately. Since I hadn't seen them or been to Hickie's Hamburger Inn in years, I promised them dinner if they would join me.

As I walked into the newly refurbished inn, I noticed that the sign said "Hickie's New Old Fashioned Inn." We sat down and met our waitress, Denise Coriell. She called the owner, Shelly Hickman, out to see us. Shelly explained to me that she now had a chain of Hickies all across America, which was being run by Troy Tackett and Randy Mollett. We left Shelly and her good fortune to go for a drive around town. New Boston had flourished into quite a thriving metropolis.

The mall that was being built in 1990 was now owned by Chad Riggs and Paul Foit. The two bought it with the money they won from a lottery ticket that they found on the side of the road when they were working for ODOT. Matt Adkins also owned a business in the mall named "Hampsters-n-Things." Doug Hudson and Shawn Atkins owned a store called "Guts-R-Us" where they sell special effects supplies. Tracey told me that Doug had worked on a movie — "Friday the 13th — Jason lives again and again and then some."

Our next stop was old "Glenwood by the Hill." The gym doors were open so we went in. Roger Holbrook was coaching the high school basketball team and had been since he quit the NBA due to injuries. Roger cut practice short to join in the tour of New Boston.

While driving around, Roger told me that Dave Montgomery still had the same old "Cokemobile" that he had back in high school. Of course, it's a collector's item since Dave now owns the Coca Cola Company.

Roger took us to the mayor's office which held Joey Keeney — at least until the next election. Joey explained just how he was running this growing metropolis and admitted that he just couldn't do it without the help of his secretary, Kelli Bush. After a twenty-minute flashback to government class, we insisted that Joey and Kelli join us at "Fracture." This Scioto County "hot spot" was owned by Don Willis and Steve Carter. We walked into the huge space-age gathering place and sat down. Rusty Shaw, the area's party animal, came over and began telling us about his newfound life as the owner of twelve dating services. He told us that we should drop by the all-night medical complex owned by Missy Newman, Lynda Roberts, Josie Tackett, and Sherri Mills.

By now my party of one had grown to a party of eight, and all of us went to the complex which was located behind the New Boston Commons. After looking around the plush dental and medical offices, we persuaded the weary medics to go back to Sharon's and talk about the "old times." Finally, in the wee hours of the morning, I woke Sharon to tell her that I was leaving and went back to my hotel room to rest up for my reunion the next day.

Class of 1990 SUPERLATIVES

Our senior class is so unique that before we could even vote for superlatives, we had to decide on categories that would best fit the class members. If you will compare these superlatives with years past, you will find new captions such as "most unique", "biggest procrastinator", and even the "sneakiest!"

In everything we do, the Class of '90 is determined to let its own distinct personality shine through.

We're Free

We must all face a time when we have to say goodbye to all the things that gave us wings to fly.
 But now we must move on — face the world all alone and take these wings to fly away on our own.
 Now we hold the future in the palm of our hands
 We're flying now and we'll never have to land
 We're Free.

We've all dreamed of that road that leads us far from home
 it takes us where our dreams can only roam.
 So now we see the page where our story has to end,
 but the sequel's theme will be your own best friend.
 We're Free.

Over the years, personal computers have become more and more common. Our library, offices, and classrooms are now using computers to improve data handling and classroom instruction. In the 1990's, improved technology will surely play a big part in the future of learning.

Tia Pauley has taken ballet since she was four and has been dancing on and off ever since. Tia took ballet from a former member of the American Ballet Theatre before she moved to New Boston. She has been "on point" for three years.

Tia has been in more than a dozen recitals and has performed in the Nutcracker twice. She has also appeared in the ballet Giselle.

Now, what was that?

Open wide, Tim!

That's not funny.

Are you sure it's that bad?

CATCH DEANNA AT THE LANES . . .

Deanna Potts has bowled for five years in leagues and boasts a 218 high game and a 505 high series. She contributes her success to her father who started her bowling as a toddler when she would bowl in her socks because there were no bowling shoes small enough for her. Her father would pick up the ball and help her hold it as she walked to the line because it was so heavy. He still advises her today.

At nine, she began bowling in children's leagues. Her first year, she and her father won first place in the Father-Daughter division of the annual Parent-Child Bowling Tournament. They continued to win this trophy for three consecutive years and won a second place in the fourth year. She and her mother have won a second place trophy in the Mother-Daughter division. She has won a total of eleven bowling trophies. In her fourth year, she held the high game, high series, and high average for girls in her league.

The most exciting moment in her bowling career was watching her red ball with the white cat on it hit the pocket for six strikes in a row to attain the impressive 208 game. Her goals are to continue bowling and establish an average higher than her dad's 183. Story by Mandy Page

Our Faculty Gives Service With a Smile

School would not be school without the teachers. All students would agree to this statement. The students usually do not give their teachers much credit, but our teachers at Glenwood deserve recognition. This year the yearbook staff decided to give a little more information about those who are willing to provide an education for the youth of today.

We have four new teachers this year at Glenwood and a new guidance counselor. We would like to welcome them to the home of the Tigers.

We think you will find it interesting that Mrs. Mauk was her high school homecoming attendant, that Mr. Simpson fought for our country in the Korean War, that Mrs. Allen is a certified SCUBA diver, and that many of our teachers graduated from college with high honors. Did you know that Mr. Bentley played football for the Wildcats at the University of Kentucky? Read on, you will find more previously unknown information about our Tiger teachers.

Superintendent Lowell Howard attended Ohio University where he received his Bachelor's degree. He taught Social Studies for several years at Glenwood. He went back to school and earned his Master's degree. He went on to become the Principal and then Superintendent. In his free time he enjoys working outdoors. He has two sons, Josh and Zack.

Jean Riffe is the superintendent's secretary. She has worked at Glenwood for 27 years. Mrs. Riffe has four children, twelve grandchildren, and one great grandchild. She enjoys ceramics, sewing, making bunnies, and going to church.

Guidance counselor Bernard Tilley earned his Bachelor's from Rio Grande and his Master's from the University of Dayton. His hobbies include fishing, jogging, and playing sports with his children — Jerod, Joshua, Mary, and Kyle. While in high school, Mr. Tilley was the state champion in the mile run. Each of his last three years at Rio, he was voted Athlete of the Year!!!

Jerry Bentley has been our principal for the past eight years. He has both a Bachelor's and a Master's degree from the University of Kentucky. While at the University of Kentucky, he played football. Mr. Bentley enjoys running, boating, and playing racquetball. He and his wife, Spencer, have two children — Stacey, 22, and Amy, 12.

Carla Nelson, the guidance counselor's secretary, enjoys shopping, crafts, shopping, reading, shopping, and taking care of stray animals. Carla has four cats: Noel, Ashlee, Chloe, and Jerrico. She attended Shawnee State College. This was Carla's first year as the junior high cheerleader sponsor.

Kathy Bender has been the principal's secretary at Glenwood for nine years. She attended Shawnee State University. Kathy enjoys sewing, swimming, shopping and spending time with her children, Jessica, 8, and Cody, 4.

Debbie Mauk teaches chemistry, pre-algebra, and junior high math. She received her Bachelor's of Science degree from Ohio University. This is Mrs. Mauk's first year at New Boston. She is the mother of two children; Morgan is eight and Greg is four. She enjoys gardening and working with the Girl Scouts.

Mark Spears joined the faculty this year. He teaches industrial arts. Mr. Spears has been very busy this year coaching both the soccer team and the junior varsity basketball team. He was also the assistant athletic director. When he has free time, he enjoys spending it with his wife, Debbie, and his daughter, Elizabeth. He is a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University.

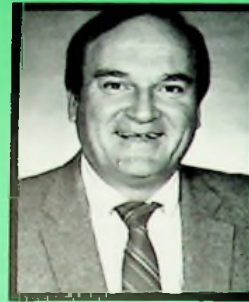

Jennifer Bentley received her Bachelor's degree from Eastern Kentucky University. She teaches personal typing, business math, general business, business law, economics, and Typing I. She is advisor to both the cheerleaders and the honor society. While in college, she was a member of the Gamma Beta Phi honor society. Miss Bentley's hobby is collecting turtles.

Nancy Clever has taught this system for 15 years. Until this year, she was our music and reading teacher, and band director. Now she teaches at both the high school and the grade school. She received her Bachelor's degree in music from Miami and her Master's from Ohio University. While in high school, Miss Clever toured Europe with the American Youth Symphony.

Sharon McCain teaches business and computer classes. She graduated summa cum laude from Rio Grande College with a B.S. in Business Education and an A.A.B. in computer science. This is Mrs. McCain's third year as the yearbook advisor and fourth year at N.B. When not working on the yearbook, she spends her time with her husband Terry and her sons Zach and Drew.

Steve Jenkins graduated from Eastern Kentucky University with a Bachelor of Science degree and received his Master's degree from Marshall University. He currently is teaching biology, health, and physical education. In his free time, he enjoys wood-working, travel, and going to auctions and flea markets.

Leanne Allen has been a librarian for 11 years — two of them here. She received her Bachelor of Library Science degree from Indiana University & her B.A. degree from Milligan College. She enjoys gardening, water skiing, reading, and swimming. Mrs. Allen is also a certified SCUBA diver. She is the student council advisor and mother of Benjamin and Emily.

Martha Fultz received her Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio University. Mrs. Fultz has taught at Glenwood for several years and now teaches classes for the learning disabled. She has two children and three terrific grandchildren. In the summer, Mrs. Fultz enjoys traveling.

John Simpson received both his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Ohio State. He has been teaching at Glenwood for 28 years. He currently is teaching American history, world history, psychology, and Latin I, II, and III. While in the Air Force, Mr. Simpson served in the Korean War.

Melinda Burnside is our girls' health and physical education teacher. She keeps busy by coaching both the volleyball and track teams. She graduated from Rio Grande College. While in college, she was a member of the volleyball and track teams. She participated at the National College Track meet in the discus event. This is Miss Burnside's first year at G.H.S.

Deanna Shuff received her B.S. from Rio Grande College where she graduated magna cum laude. Miss Shuff participates in the Portsmouth Little Theater. While in college, she acted in two plays and was involved with three others. She has been the drama club advisor for the past four years and is co-advisor of the quiz bowl team this year.

This year is Alice Maggard's first year at G.H.S. She is the band and chorus director. She also teaches 7th grade music at the high school and music classes at the grade school.

Mark Robinson received a B.S. degree in Social Studies from Ohio State. He teaches government, world geography, and 7th and 8th grade history. He has taught at Glenwood for eight years. He coaches both the boys' and girls' junior high basketball teams. He is the father of two small sons, and he and his wife, Lisa, are expecting their third child in July.

Jeanette Bennett is the home economics teacher. She is the advisor of the FHA. She received her Bachelor of Art degree from Marshall University. While in college, she was chosen the most outstanding in home economics. In her spare time she enjoys reading, cooking, and sewing.

Barbara Cablish graduated from Ohio University with a Bachelor's degree and received her Master's degree from Miami University. She has taught at G.H.S. for 13 years. She teaches English 9 & 10 and art. Mrs. Cablish is the senior advisor this year. She has two children, Paul and Susan.

Linda Wessel teaches reading, and 7th and 8th grade English. She attended Florida College and received her B.S. from Ohio University. She is co-advisor of both the drama club and the quiz bowl team. Mrs. Wessel enjoys reading, cross stitch, country decorating, and traveling. She has two sons and has lived in the states of Oregon, Montana, Washington, and California.

Don Gibson is the varsity basketball coach and the athletic director at G.H.S. He is teaching the developmentally handicapped classes. This is his first year at New Boston.

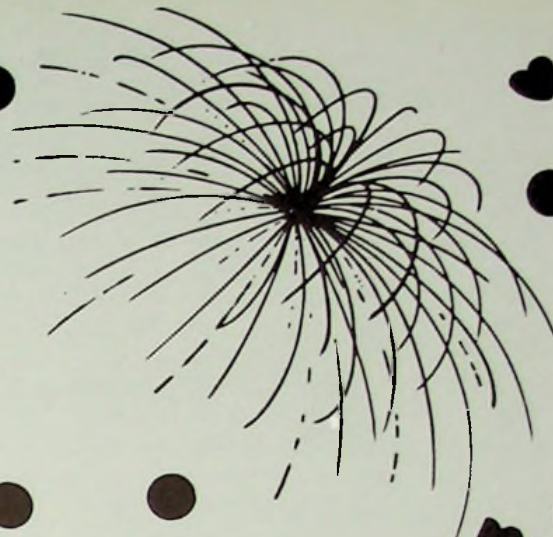

Dwight Chamberlin is our teacher of physics, general math, advanced senior math, Algebra I & II, and geometry. He received his Bachelor's degree from Rio Grande College and his Master's degree from Morehead State University. Mr. Chamberlin has taught here for 20 years. He enjoys fishing, golf and church activities.

Thomas Daniels is our 7th, 8th, and 9th grade science teacher. He also bravely teaches driver's education. He graduated from Ohio University and has taught here for six years. He is the assistant chief of the South Point Fire Department. He is a member of the Ohio Fire Chief's Association and the International Fire Chief's Association. He has one son.

Compact disk players are changing the way we listen to music. They offer top-quality sound and are becoming more affordable as technology improves. With cassette tapes having tapped an already weak market and the great improvement in sound that disks offer, experts in the music field predict that in the 90's we will see the last of the vinyl record.

An Evening of Elegance

Long before the month of April, the juniors began preparing for the prom. The money needed for the $3700 decor came from the pop machine and also from the money remaining after the junior class took its 6th grade trip.

On a rainy Tuesday during spring break, a few junior girls worked on the decorations. They cut all the streamers and paper, made the center pieces and glittered the palm leaves. This was a big help, since it cut approximately 4 1/2 hours of work off of the time needed to decorate on the day of the prom.

On April 27, the beautiful Shawnee Lodge was the setting for "An Evening of Elegance." The walls had a black background with drapes of white gossamer. Ballroom columns and vases of palm leaves carried out the theme. In the middle of the black and white check-board dance floor was a chandelier of black and white streamers and balloons.

Before the prom, the proud juniors, seniors, and dates were viewed by friends and family during the grand march. Dresses were a variety of colors and styles — everything from straight red sequins to full mint green lace. Hemlines were to the floor, above the knee or up in the front and down in the back.

Even the guys went for a change this year. There were tuxes with tails, dinner jackets, or cropped jackets that hit the waistline. Some guys also chose vests.

After the grand march, a delicious dinner of salad, London broil, ham, green beans, scalloped potatoes and German chocolate cake was served.

As the clock struck twelve, those in attendance returned home to change clothes. Now they were going to try their hand at bowling. The after prom was held at Rainbow Lanes from 1 til 4 a.m.

The juniors believe that the prom was truly an "evening of elegance" and a memory that will last forever.

Drama Club Presents:

Don't Rock the Boat

Doug, head of the stage crew, is hard at work.

Don't Rock the Boat, a play by Tim Kelley, kept twenty-eight students and two teachers busy for several weeks. Rehearsals began in March and went on, four nights a week, until April 24.

Practices were long, fun, and sometimes very frustrating, especially as the day of the performance drew ever closer.

The sun rose on the "Big Day" to find the cast and crew already preparing for the first performance. After putting the play on for Oak Street and Glenwood, the Drama Club provided pizza for those involved with the play.

The final performance began at 7 p.m. on the evening of April 24 and was successful as the earlier show had been.

A tired but relieved cast and crew demolished the set in record time and turned the lights out in the auditorium one last time. So ends another chapter in the history of the Drama Club.

All ashore that's going ashore.

Oh Tom, you're so convincing.

Oh look! There's another one.

GOTCHA!

Miss Shuff gives one of the cast members a make over.

...and he never comes to the door.

All the world seemed to be Demeen's as she woke and rose from bed. All the world seemed to be on her shoulders also.

Her day was planned out for her. Demeen busied herself preparing for the 3 p.m. parade.

Dressed in blue, Demeen boarded her red and silver speedboat. Throughout the parade everyone admired Demeen's smile and confidence as she waved to all of New Boston and to her fans.

The parade ended. Time passed as she readied herself to represent GHS at Portsmouth's annual Miss River Days Pageant.

At 7 p.m. Demeen was at the Shawnee State University activity center. On stage she smiled and waved to New Boston's cheering supporters.

The evening ended, relieved it was over and the butterflies gone, and although not placing, Demeen was/is a winner.

As twilight fell on the evening of October 26, Halloween Eve, the anticipation was extreme. Everyone was eager to get to school to show off their new costumes for 1989.

During the day, the costumed students participated in the costume contests during both first and second lunches. A panel of "expert" judges met to make its decision, and the winners were awarded prizes given by the Student Council.

After school, the students hurried home either to change costumes or to touch up their already ourstanding costume. Then they rushed off to the New Boston Municipal Satdium for the 8th annual New Boston Halloween Parade.

The parade ended at the Community Center, where a dance for junior high and high school students was held. The dance, sponsored by the Student Council, began at 8:30 and the students boo-gied until 11:30. This gave the students just enough time to hurry home before the "witching hour" began.

It fits!!! Matt Adkins trys out his "new home."

Students show their creativity by creating a variety of costumes.

HOME COMING 1990

Friday, February 16, was "Heaven" for queen Demeen Fannin and her court. During a half-time ceremony, an attendant from each class was escorted to half court and presented to the crowd. Then Demeen, escorted by seniors Chad Riggs and Roger Holbrook, was crowned by last year's queen, Shelley Lytten. Lacey Fannin carried the queen's flowers and Jeffrey Fannin carried her crown.

For the homecoming game, the Tigers hosted the South Webster Jeeps. The junior varsity team won easily, but despite an early lead, the varsity Tigers fell to defeat.

The game was followed by a dance held at the Community Center where the theme "Heaven" was carried out in the decorations. Music was provided by Phil Malone. Story by Michelle Leonard

THE VOTE IS JUST THE BEGINNING!

Early in December, the students voted for homecoming queen and attendants. Soon afterward Demeen, Shelly, Michele, Dana, and Michelle went out searching for the perfect dresses to make homecoming just right. Although searching for the "perfect" dress took two days, they had a lot of fun. Now the hunt was on for shoes, flowers, jewelry and lots of other little touches to make their night complete.

After many weeks of planning, homecoming night had finally arrived. The home economics room was in total chaos as all the girls were running around checking their hair, make-up and dresses. Everyone was helping each other get ready for the "big moment."

Finally, it was there. Each girl walked out onto the middle of the court, smiling and trying to hide the butterflies in her stomach as she was presented to the crowd.

Once again, homecoming proved to be a success. Story by Michelle Leonard.

Jeff Gulley, and Deanna Potts and her date wait for the dancing to begin.

The Homecoming Dance is one of the big events in the life of a Tiger. This is "the" chance for those students not old enough to attend the prom to get all dressed up and show off their dancing skills. Everyone looked great as they danced the evening away to the tunes provided by Phil Malone.

Senior Chad Riggs and sophomore Michelle Conn and Tia Pauley watch from the stage as the ceremony continues.

On October 25, 1989, the Glenwood Honor Society inducted 10 members from grades 9 through 12. To be eligible for membership, a student must maintain a 3.3 grade average or higher and must exhibit acceptable social behavior.

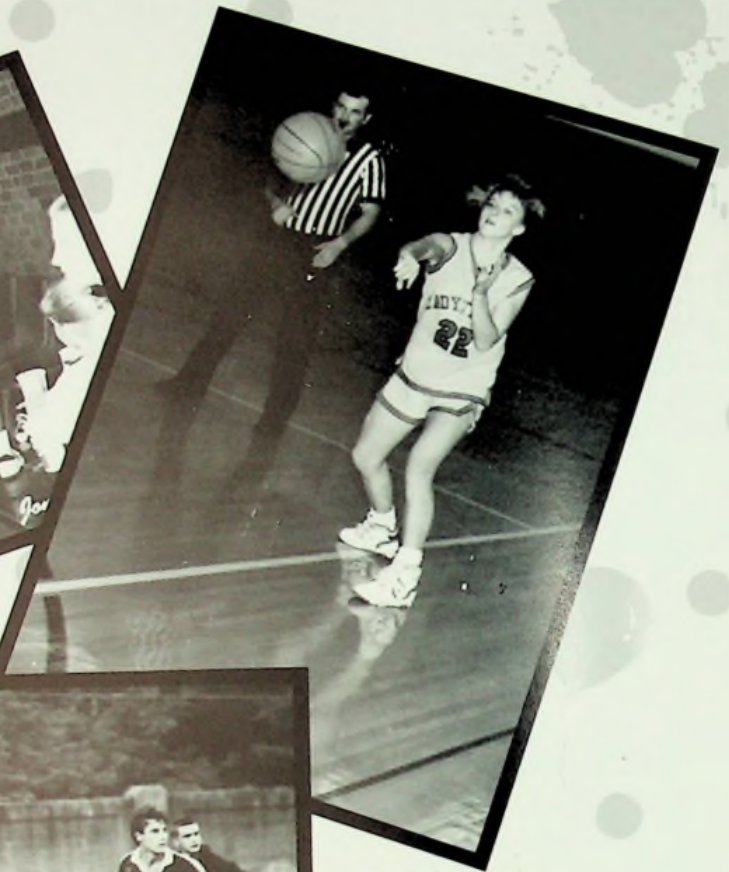

The speaker this year was Bob Walton, a graduate of Glenwood. The High School Chorus performed two selections during the ceremony. The induction was followed by a tea which was held in the home economics room for the inductees, their guests, faculty members, and honor societies from other schools.

Lady Tigers Successful with New Coach

Most people would think that volleyball season lasts from the time school starts through October. Not for the Lady Tigers.

The team began conditioning two weeks after school was out last year. The team met every Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a.m. throughout June and July.

Three members of the varsity team who wanted to improve their skills were Betsey Cornwell, Chastity Bishop, and Kelli Jenkins. So these girls went to Marshall University's volleyball camp July 9-15. The girls brought home both better self-skills and also drills to improve the team's skills.

August was here; it was time to show off all the hard work. Two weeks before the season was to begin, our coach, Miss Gulley, left to take another job. The final time she coached the Lady Tigers was in the SOC preview. On the sports page of the local paper the headlines read, "LADY TIGERS OPEN SEASON WITH NO COACH." Miss Harness, the assistant coach from 1989, coached the team for the first three games.

On the week the team was scheduled to play Eastern, the volleyball team was called into the auditorium. They were there to meet their new coach. At 6'1", Miss Burnside was quite intimidating. She let us know that day there was to be no goofing around. She told us how practice would be. Coach Burnside said, "One ball that hits the floor — in either a game or practice — equals one suicide." Needless to say, the girls hustled. During week one, the girls were running five suicides a day; by the end of the season, they ran one, if any.

Having a new coach was like starting over. The team soon learned Miss Burnside's routine, and she got used to her new group of girls.

As the season progressed, the Lady Tigers adjusted to Coach Burnside. The Lady Tigers went 16-6 on the season. They defeated White Oak to be crowned sectional champions. In the district tournament, the Lady Tigers met their match with a very tough Crooksville team.

It will soon be time to begin weekly practices and grueling conditioning; however, the girls are eagerly awaiting next year's season with their new coach.

Tigers Win 4th Straight SOC Crown

Some people may think soccer is just another kick in the grass. For the 21 guys who put their best foot forward, it was more. Soccer conditioning started at the end of July and lasted throughout November.

This season was a bit different from before. Mark Spears, the new shop teacher, was put in charge. He lead his army onto the field for 19 games. Fifteen of those, his troops marched right over their opponents. Two of those they tied with their opponents. The team stood tall until the final round of the sectional tour-namment when a very strong Athens team eliminated them. Coach Spears also marched his way to the SOC coach of the year title.

Rodney Fetty experienced his first year as starting goalie. He did an excellent job, as he recorded over 200 saves on the year.

The Tiger soccer team tied for the SOC title with Wheelersburg. This marks the 4th year in a row that the Tigers have claimed this title.

Congratulations guys on a job well done. You represented our school well.

Is that Pele'?

Senior Tony Grant said, "The season turned out to be a very good year." On a scale of one to ten, I would rate the year an "eight (1) because we didn't win the SOC by ourselves, and (2) we didn't win the sectional."

When he was asked to comment on his first year on the soccer team, Jason Risner said that "it was fun learning from the older players and from Don and Coach Spears." He also said Coach Spears "was great to get along with."

Tony Grant represented the Tigers in the Southeast District game. He was also selected to be a member of the 1st team All SOC.

Paul Foit was a dedicated guy who always tried to keep the team's spirits up. For this, he received the Coaches' Award.

Matt Adkins received the Best Defensive Player award, a fitting reward for his constant hustling and striving to be the best he can be.

Thanks to you, seniors, for showing us the true meaning of teamwork!

Young Varsity Squad Finishes Season at the Convo

Who would ever have guessed that the varsity Tigers would end the season in the Convo at Ohio University. For the first time since 1972, that is just what happened.

First year coach, Don Gibson, led his team to a 11-11 season. When tournament time approached, some reserve players were moved to the varsity team so the team consisted of 1 freshman, 3 sophomores, 3 juniors, and 1 senior. Junior Todd Loper, the Tigers leading scorer, sat on the bench with a cast on his leg cheering for his teammates. Todd was injured in the last regular season game.

The Tigers suffered two especially painful losses during the season. At Clay, a foul called at the buzzer gave the Panthers the chance to win. The contest on East's home floor was also a tough loss. The Tartans and the Tigers matched points during the game; but on the last trip up the floor, as the buzzer sounded, the ball fell through the Tartan's net.

The Tigers did accomplish a spectacular feat this season — they beat the Eastern Eagles on their home floor. This is the first time in many years that any team has done that.

With a young squad that performed so well this year, just think what it will be like next year. How are we going to top the convo at Ohio University? Come on Tiger fans, we're going to St. John's at the Ohio State University!

No sooner did the basketball season end than it was time to tryout again. After the judges made their decision, it was time to think about camp. To pay for the camp at Louisville, Kentucky, the girls had car washes, bake sales, and sold magnets. At camp, they received many superior awards during competition.

After many practices during summer and early fall, it was finally time to cheer. Throughout basketball season the cheerleaders made many signs to decorate the gym and hallways.

Once again, Victor E. was a great fan favorite as he accompanied the cheerleaders to all games. During the season the cheerleaders sponsored VIC-A-MANIA, and Kelli Jenkins made special buttons for both cheerleaders and fans. Victor E. impressed everyone with his tux during homecoming ceremony.

Soon the season was almost over and the seniors received special recognition during a home game. Then it was time to turn in uniforms and for the rest of the cheerleaders, time to begin practicing for tryouts again.

On Your Mark — Get Set —

Go for it. That's what Miss Burnside heard when she suggested that we forgo the softball team this year and take up girl's track instead. And what an experience it was. Just how does one go about forming a team from eight girls who have never even attended a track meet? No problem — right? — the Tigers know what it takes — just a lot of hard work!! And work hard they did. All spring they could be seen practicing at the school, at the stadium, and on the streets of New Boston. They participated in eleven meets and several members even qualified for the district meet: 4x100 team (Sabrina, Shelly, Heather, and Missy); Heather in the 1600 meter run; Shelly in the 100 and 200 meter dashes, and Missy in the 100 meter hurdle event.

Sabrina participated in the shot put, discus and 4x100 relay events.

Shelly recovers from a severe cramp after a dash.

Some events Missy entered were the 100 meter dash, 4x100 relay, and the long jump.

1990 Track Team: Leanne LeMaster, Mandy Page, Heather Loper, Shelly Robinson, Coach Burnside, Missy Newman, Sabrina Fitch, Michele Maddix, Amy Perkins

Heather was named the best distance runner. She ran the 800, 1600, 3200, and 4x100 meter runs.

Leanne ran the 800 & 1600 meter runs.

Missy also ran the 100 & 300 meter hurdles.

Sabrina was named best in field events.

Long jump, 100 & 200 meter dashes were Amy's events.

Michele participated in shot and discus events.

Shelly was named the best sprinter. She ran the 100, 200, 400, and 4x100 meter dashes.

Mandy ran the 100, 200, and 400 meter dashes.

Tennis at it's BEST!

1990 proved to be the best season ever for the tennis team. This year's 8-7 record was the first winning season for the Tiger's. With a young team that did this well, next year should prove to be even better as the players gain valuable experience.

...dribbles behind the back, drives toward the basket, up and in! Todd Loper just scored his career high 38 points. Basketball isn't the only thing Todd excels in at Glenwood. He also has acquired many awards in soccer and is outstanding on the pitcher's mound.

If you have seen Todd Loper play, you probably thought, "That kid was born with a basketball." No, Todd actually did not get his first basketball until the 2nd or 3rd grade.

Growing up, Todd looked at his uncle Junior Williams as his hero because "He was a great player." Now, Todd looks at Michael Jordan as his hero. Why? because "he can do many things besides score. He is a great passer and defender. He is very gifted and talented."

Todd's favorite college basketball coach is Bobby Knight because he "teaches the game the way it should be played." He dreams of playing for Bobby Knight at Indiana University. Another of Todd's dreams is becoming an optometrist. Since he maintains a very high grade point average that dream could very well become a reality.

When asked to comment on the basketball program here, Todd says that "I don't like (our) gym because we are a fast break team and need more space,"; however, he does like the gym due to the fact that "opposing teams hate to play in the 'den.'" Being the type of player who likes to make it happen, he definitely likes taking the ball to the basket, putting up a reverse layup or maybe throwing one behind his back to a teammate.

Taking it to the basket he does — even way back when he was a 6th grade pee-wee star and scored 43 points in one game. Currently Todd's high school points record is 1124.

Todd is only 257 points shy of the Glenwood record. Todd scored 488 points this season so the outlook is good that he will break the all time record which is 1380. Todd already holds the record for all time leading assists (over 400), first freshman to hit a 3 point goal, and most assists in one game (16). He also has the distinction of being the first to score 1000 career points since 1972.

Todd has many career highlights which include: Athlete of the Year (back to back years) and playing varsity in his freshman year.

He was experiencing the best year of his basketball career when tragedy struck on Saturday, February 24. It was the last game of the regular season when Todd began experiencing some discomfort with his left ankle. Thinking he only had a sprain, he continued playing in the game. It turned out to be a much more serious injury. Todd went to a specialist three days later and found out he had a break in the fifth metatarsal bone of his left foot. That was the night of the first game of the sectional tournament. His teammates went into the gym with their spirits high while Todd went into the gym on crutches and a cast up to his knee. For Todd, "It was tough to handle."

The Loper-less Tigers went on to win the sectional tournament. Todd's spirits were lifted when he heard the cheers of appreciation and encouragement from many New Boston fans as he climbed the ladder (with help from his teammates) to cut down his piece of the net.

Todd will be back next year in full force to continue making his mark in the record books of Glenwood High School.

What are the children of the 90's going to play with? Can 90's dolls top those cute little Cabbage Patch dolls that hit the stores in the 80's? Xavier Roberts introduced his Cabbage Patch creations and touched the hearts of thousands. At the peak of their popularity, these dolls were going for more than $120 each and there were stampedes in stores as parents rushed to put one under the tree for their children. We started the 80's with Barbie dolls at $12, then came Cabbage Patch dolls at $120 — what dolls will the 90's bring — and at what price?

Tommy Stone laughs as he tells the rest of the study hall that he's not even trying; he could beat Jeremy Elliott easily if he tried.

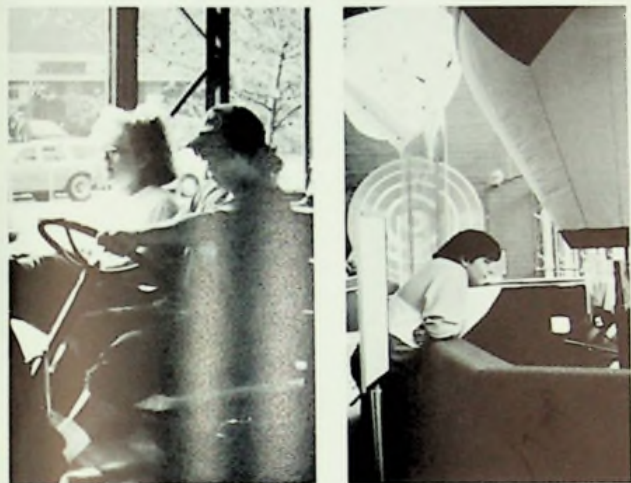

How long does it take to stack fifty pennies?
Early this fall, Mrs. Mauk, sponsored a contest in which eighth graders had a chance to answer that question.

To qualify, students had to pass a test in which they put decimals in order. Then to the beat of Chris Gerard's drum, each student had the chance to beat the clock. The students agree that it's harder than it sounds — just when it looks like they're stacked, the pennies fall over!

On October 26, Mr. Daniels took this year's eighth grade on the annual trek to COSI. The bus left extra early so that the students would have plenty of time to explore the wonders of science.

Students see many exhibits at COSI which demonstrate such things as electricity, gravity, and the wonders of the human body. They can also test their knowledge of various subjects as they answer questions on computers about computer science, economics, and safety. They can test their lung power, examine their eyes and teeth, and see a life-size model of the world's largest baby.

1990 BOYS' BASKETBALL

The junior high Tigers started the 1990 season with only five boys. This meant that every boy got to play every minute — that was great (as far as the boys were concerned.) But what they feared most happened — after only four games, Jim Wenthe suffered an injury that put him out of play for the rest of the season. Mr. Robinson was forced to cancel the rest of the scheduled games.

CHEERLEADERS

Eight girls made up the junior high cheer-leading squad this year. Carla Nelson was the advisor who worked them and worked them and then worked them some more. But the result was superb. These girls did a great job cheering on the boys' basketball team. For four of these girls, practice was certainly a way of life — not only did they cheer, but they also played girls' basketball.

When asked to comment on her squad, first-year advisor, Carla said, "I had a great time working with the cheerleaders. This group was extremely talented and worked very hard at practices. They always had new ideas for cheers and routines, and I feel they did an excellent job at ballgames. It was a shame the season had to end early, but I am looking forward to working with the 1990-91 squad next year."

"SPELL POLLUTE"

On Wednesday, February 14, Crystal Cooley was recognized as the Glenwood spelling champ when she correctly spelled "pollute."

To participate in the Spelling Bee, all 7th and 8th grade students spent two days spelling in Mrs. Wessel's class. The top three from each class then met in the auditorium on the 14th for the contest.

With only two contestants left on the stage, Mrs. Cablish asked Kristie Gilley to spell the word "pocketing." When she misspelled it, Crystal was then given a chance. After spelling it and the final word correctly, she was announced the winner.

Jodi, you've grown up and are going to graduate;
A time for us to be happy and congratulate.
However most of us remember you when you were very small;
Learning your first words and trying to crawl.
There are so many things you need to know:
Like how to survive in this world as you grow.
But one thing we would like to tell,
Is be yourself, and you can not fail.

Senior, Matt Adkins, participated in the mentorship program by working with vet, Dr. Paul Karr. He began in November with one mentorship visit a month but was soon hired to work on weekends. During the year, he performed such jobs as assisting in the operating room, dispensing medication to animals, and working the front desk. In November, Matt thought he wanted to be a vet — at the end of the year he stated that the experience "reinforced my plans to be a vet."

Chad Riggs

Dear Chad

I would like to thank you for the wonderful years I've shared with you. It's so hard to say goodbye to such an exciting and lovable child. We've laughed &, at times, shared a difference of opinion; but we've always said, "I love you." Your school years are memorable to your dad & me. Chad, you were always so busy in sports & school that you've made our lives exciting. Thanks for the memories. I'll always be proud to say, "Yes, that's my son, Chad Riggs."

Love always — Mom & Dad
