Time For Memories

"Leggings and shorts are my best friends during the summer."

Chrissy Maloy, Senior

"To get dressed for my day, I literally grab the first thing I see in my closet because it's the closest."

Jordan Adkins, Junior

"I like to shop the most in the summer because summer clothes are better than the others."

MyKinzie Ellis, Sophomore

"During the summer I wear nothing but shorts, t-shirts, and my high socks."

Eyn Gubernath, Freshman

“ It takes me all summer to prepare for my show. August 8th was my time to shine!

Darbie Jenkins ”

“ My friend gave Lauren his number and insisted that she should text him. It was so embarrassing. ”

Kendra Brigner

“ I was thrilled at how large this sting ray was! I didn't find any more animals, but I did find a shoe! ”

Whitney Morgan

Skyler Gambill, Courtney Hayward, and Darbie Jenkins enjoy their lunch at LaRosa's while at King's Island. The trip was a reward to the students who passed at least four of their OGT's.

Aaron Neville and Destiny Emery nervously await their 301 feet journey into the air on the thrill ride Windseeker. Before they could enjoy the ride, it poured rain at King's Island for an hour and a half. Destiny stated, "The rides make me so nervous, but it is so exciting and I definitely get an adrenaline rush."

Caleb Mills, Hunter Bebout, Reuben Miller, and Josh Martin practice percussion at band camp. Band camp took place during July and through the beginning of August. Reuben announced, "The drum line comes in before everyone else during the summer, and we basically practice solo. Practicing solo really pays off during the season."

Tyler Adams patiently sits on the muddy ground at the Scioto County Fair bringing smiles and laughter to those who passed by. He wore a horse mask and charged people their spare change to take pictures with him. "I made $11.00 in change that day!" Tyler chuckled.

While discussing defensive scheme, Kody Miller receives a quick pep talk from Coach Shannon. Kody reminded Coach Shannon of his determination to beat the Notre Dame Titans and bring home a victory.

Jordan Brigner, along with Kody Miller daringly attack and tackle the opposing Wheelersburg Pirate. Jordan claimed that he grabbed the opposing player by his legs, took him to the ground and heroically announced, "Don't mess with J.Briggy!"

Justin Tackett ruthlessly blocks anyone who interferes with his drive to score a touchdown. Towards the end of the season, Justin was tackled by two opposing players and tore his ACL. He stated, "Even though I was out for the rest of the season my boys played strong without me."

Senior Ben Lajoje rushes down the field as East Tartan Taylor Appling attempts to stop him from gaining yardage. Ben narrowly escaped and continued maneuvering his way toward the end zone. Ben jokingly stated, "I was doing what Micah couldn't!"

In order to maintain control of the ball, Haley Shinkle savagely shoves her opponent out of the way in order to gain yardage. Haley remarks, "As you can tell, I am very competitive."

Drew Scarberry uses his expertise to stop the Pirates from scoring a goal. During summer conditioning Drew worked with Coach Trapp for two weeks practicing the proper ways to protect the goal.

Determined to win, Emily Bays forcefully launches the ball to the other side of the field after preventing a goal. Emily chuckled, "Soccer is beast like I am beast when I throw the ball."

Skillfully protecting the ball, Sophomore Fabian Dehart shoulder checks a Burg opponent. The Mohawks kept the game close and ended it with a score of 2-2. Fabian remarked, "That is what you get when you mess with Fabian."

After an aggressive approach, Taylor Cantrell powerfully spikes the ball to get a kill. Taylor's determination and success proved summer conditioning actually does pay off.

Tori Hatfield quickly recovers the ball and tips it over the net. Kaylee Webb, Jordan Collier, and Abby Hall were prepared to dig the ball incase the opposing team blocked it.

In an intense game, sophomore Jordan Collier successfully scores for the JV Lady Mohawks. Before the game, Jordan stated, "We practice everyday, either doing team stuff or an individual workout. In off season we do year around volleyball, just to make next year's team stronger."

After a kill during the game against Piketon, Haleigh Vastine, Paige Simon, and Alyssa Sparks do the celebratory victory chant. Paige told the team to "keep up the good work", because she wanted the team to remain undefeated. The girls were undefeated for nine straight games.

Rachael Homer plays the vibes in the pit. Members of "the pit" play the instruments that cannot be marched with including the bells, symbols, and chimes. Rachael remarks, "The pit is like a big family. We do not always get along, but we always have a lot of fun!"

Austin Ferguson confidently performs his earned solo during after school practice. He auditioned for the solo piece and later admitted, "Performing by myself in front of everyone was a nerve racking experience."

After enduring extreme boot camp during the summer and intense practices during the season, Allana Simon expertly plays the saxophone in the heat at the Portsmouth West Competition on September 28, 2014. Allana chuckled, "You die in those hot and sweaty uniforms!"

The Marching Mohawks' theme for this season's show is titled "The Elements." It features music titles such as Air, Earth, Water, and Fire. Mrs. Stephan created this year's show to fit the strength and weaknesses of the band and to ensure superior quality.

Mrs. Throckmorton, Chris Hoffer, Jacob Wright, and Ryan Stephens patiently wait for the scale to balance so they can determine the mass of the substance. Moments later they heated the substance using a Bunsen Burner and then concluded the mass again.

Ethan Trowbridge measures the temperature of a heated substance. Before this lab, students learned the safety precautions of lighting a Bunsen Burner. Ethan chuckled, "I wonder what this tastes like."

Students Adreanna Doss, Tori Patton, and Chris Montgomery learn each step in solving the difficult five step equations. Memorizing the pattern was necessary in order to do well on the upcoming test for the chapter.

Ali Fitzpatrick, Adi Marshall, and Garrek Gee carefully fill their test tubes with organic compounds. Once filled, the students used Benedict solution and patiently waited for the compounds to change color. This lab was designed to help students distinguish the difference between proteins, carbohydrates, and lipids.

In front of her fellow classmates, sophomore Silver Jenkins bravely attempts to answer a question during Geometry class. Most students struggle with Geometry because it is a unique type of math which deals with shapes.

Devon Stone and Derrick Clifford watch as their homemade race cars make their way down the hall. The race cars were powered by balloons and helped the students better understand Newton's law of motion and friction.

Taking advantage of the fiesta day, Nathan Bach, Polly Ellis, and John Smoker fill their plates with various Mexican foods. Students enjoyed having a chance to eat, relax, and socialize with fellow classmates.

While Mr. O'Bannion humorously observes from the sideline, Alex Brown and Tyler Shope competitively race for "the bacon". Taking advantage of the beautiful weather, Mr. O'Bannion shared his passion for Medieval games with his American Literature students.

Justin Miller attempts to distinguish the different aromas of the chocolate chip cookies in CP Writing while documenting the details. During this activity, the students were given three Zip-Loc bags containing two cookies each. The students used different senses to determine which brand of cookie was the best.

In CP Writing, Lee Wartluft, Austin Ferguson, and Courtney Dowdy act out a scene demonstrating a common propoganda technique. Lee and Courtney watched and laughed as Austin read while wearing a wig that appeared to be made out of cotton.

As Trenton Stenger places the last letter on the board, Justin Tackett turns to confirm with Miss Emmons that the translation is correct. The winning team is granted five extra points on their upcoming exam.

Shae Patty, Brittany Miller, Kaycee Kirkendall, Hannah Breech, and Tiffany Miller express their school spirit in a unique way. The girls personalized their NHS tutus, t-shirts, and headbands in order to celebrate basketball homecoming.

After months of practicing, Hannah Breech and Shae Patty triumphantly fly high while performing a stunt at the state qualifier. The cheerleaders traveled to Springboro, Ohio on February 3rd where they qualified to compete at the state level in Cheer Division III Mounting and Hip Hop Dance.

After a long day of intense competition at Ohio State's St. John's Arena, the team celebrates their success of receiving 4th place in the OASSA State of Ohio Cheerleading and Dance Championships. Kaycee Kirkendall proudly proclaimed, "Words cannot even express what I was feeling!"

Singing and dancing along to the "Ice Cream and Cake" song, Makala Hunt, Destiny Emery Abby Hall and their cheer girls show the crowd what they learned during cheer camp. The high school cheerleaders looked forward to working with each of the young girls in hopes of creating a positive and memorable experience.

Senior Lee Wartluft powerfully dives off of the block reaching for the water as he begins his leg of the relay race. Lee was a first year swimmer who pushed himself to the limit by swimming the fly, the breast, the 500 freestyle, and participating in the relay races.

Coach Laura Maple helps the swimmers get ready for their events. Laura explains, "One of the most important and stressful parts of coaching is making sure every swimmer is on deck and ready for their event on time."

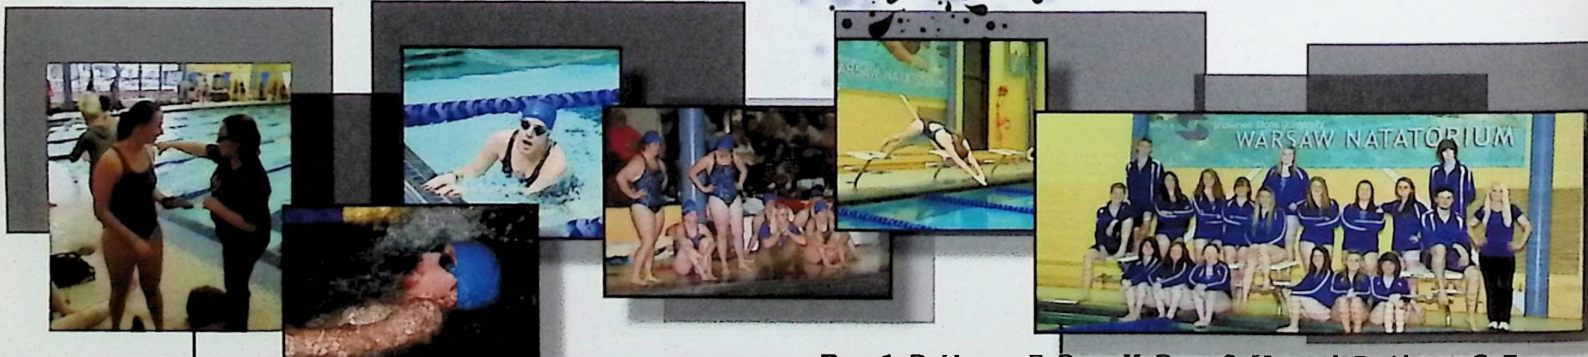

With strong arms extended, Alex Bellomy briskly swims the 100 meter fly during the swim meet. Although Alex was another first year swimmer, he was a competitive match for his fellow opponents.

Swimming the breast stroke, Charli McClay fights fiercely for first place. During practice Charli often wore a t-shirt to better condition herself for the actual event.

FCCLA member Jordan Collier prepares to present her Illustrated Talk about the benefits of being an organ donor at the Region 10 Leadership meeting, where she qualified for state. After an outstanding performance in Columbus, Jordan earned the opportunity to travel to San Antonio, Texas to compete in nationals on July 6th.

Members from the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America spell F.C.C.L.A. with their bodies at a Region 10 meeting. Ali Sargent, Jordan Collier, Taylor Slack, Kayla Altman, and K'Lee McClurg agreed they all had a wonderful time.

K'Lee McClurg and Taylor Slack pack Operation Christmas Child boxes with school supplies, personal care items, and toys. The FCCLA members contributed 40 boxes, and they were sent to over 100 different countries.

Maggie Kavanagh grades papers for Mrs. South while Tyler Leslie discusses a previous assignment with Jordan Brigner. Maggie and Tyler both participated in the Senior Leadership program.

Taylor Cantrell cautiously paints Cody Conley's face during the Senior Olympics. Assisted by Scioto and Pike County students, elderly people play games, dance, bowl, and participate in many other activities at the Scioto County Fair Grounds.

Seniors Amanda Doss and Chrissy Maloy read the recipe for Monkey Bread in their Careers and Healthy Living class. Amanda confessed, "The hair nets were not required but were a perfect accessory along with our colorful aprons."

Ms. Reynolds instructs Alyssa Sparks, Taryn Hyland, and Kayla Altman how to properly measure the ingredients necessary for their recipe of choice. Before learning the abbreviations of measurements, the girls had a terrible time figuring out the difference between Tablespoon and Teaspoon.

Micah Campbell patiently files papers for Mr. Thompson during Senior Leadership. Mr. Scarberry created the program to allow teachers the opportunity to have a helping hand while the students gained a different perspective of the classroom.

During a Personal Finance game Chris Silhavey and Nathan Sexton challenge each other to see who paid the most attention during class. Ms. Reynolds asked difficult questions as the boys raced to smack the buzzer and bring their team to victory.

Rachel Jenkins attempts to do class work with her baby securely fastened into her car seat. Rachel explained she had to get up during the night and drop everything she was doing in order to care for her baby. She firmly stated she would never want to be a teen mom.

Andy Bellomy, Vince Shirey, and Alex Bellomy powerfully play their saxophones during the basketball homecoming game against the Oak Hill Oaks. It is a tradition for the pep band to play during the homecoming ceremonies.

To surprise the audience during the annual Christmas program, the band releases confetti as they perform their final song of the night. Ms. Huff explained, "The confetti represents the celebration of America and tied in with stars and stripes."

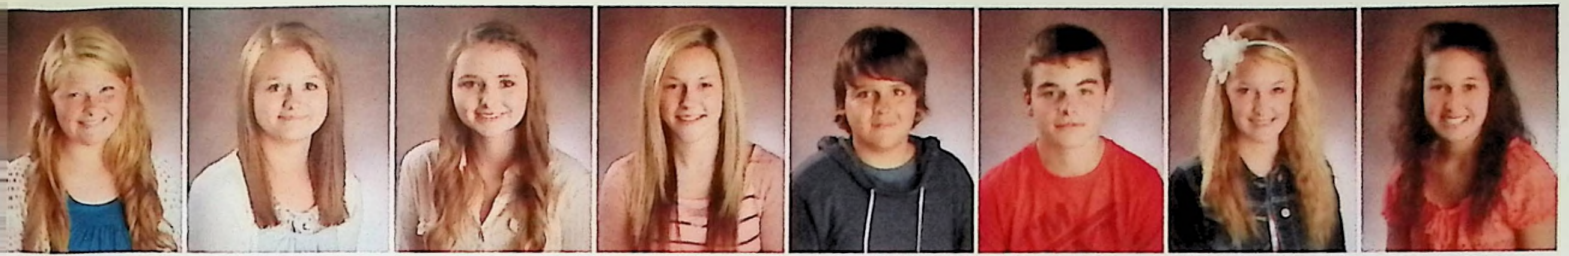

During a choir fundraiser, Preston Hall and Rachael Homer make ice cream sundaes and serve hungry students. Select Choir raised money to buy needed props, clothing materials, and to help with travel costs.

Blain Honaker, Miranda Miller, Mason Preston, and the rest of the choir perform Bonse Aba during the Christmas program. The song was chosen because it was one of Mr. Colegrove's and Blain's favorite from the Marshall concert.

While honoring the veterans, the first semester chorus students perform patriotic songs during the Veteran's Day assembly. The assembly is an annual event which allows the students, staff, and community the opportunity to honor those who have served and are currently serving our nation.

With trumpet raised, Senior Austin Ferguson performs Taps at the Veteran's Day assembly. From the top of the mezzanine, Brooke Miller answered with the Echo Tap.

Bryce Farmer, a five year tuba player, provides the bassline for Carol of the Bells and God Rest Merry Mallets during the Christmas Concert. Both the band and the chorus joined together and entertained the crowd with a variety of Christmas music to celebrate the season.

The percussion ensemble performs Diner's Club during the Spring Concert. They used plates, glasses, bowls, and silverware as props to create a restaurant atmosphere. Mariah Ross chuckled, "It was funny watching the whipped cream pie end up on someone's face, and I enjoyed the catchy beat."

The chorus students stand in front of the Christmas tree at Marshall University after competing against other schools. Mr. Colegrove chooses the top students from his first semester chorus classes to compete in the competitions and represent the high school.

During Evening with the Arts, the Select Choir point towards the crowd and performs Ain't No Mountain High Enough. Mr. Colegrove explained, "We wanted to perform upbeat songs that the crowd knew and could sing along to."

As one of the few girls in Industrial Tech I, Alicia Holt uses the drill press in Mr. Boyer's room to create holes that will later be used to piece together her shelf. Students were encouraged to build something they could later put to use.

Seniors Wyatt Rucker, Andy Hawes, and Jordan Stamper use Mardi Gras beads, sunglasses, and an inflatable to showcase their personalities during a project in Art II. Mr. Enz required each student to design a project to reflect his or her individuality. The students used canvas and wood glue to construct a creative representation of themselves.

Thomas Redoutey steadily sands his Home Maintenance project. After the project is finished, it will be a well designed grandfather clock which he will be able keep for himself. Thomas said, "It will definitely be worth the time and effort."

Keri Stamper intently works on her canvas painting in Art II. In order to create a surreal theme, she painted a toucan snorkeling in lava. Keri explained "You can drink lava, but only once."

In Art I German foreign exchange student Stefan Lantzke studies the photo of a sea turtle on his phone while penciling out the sketch on paper. Stefan's favorite part of the class was being able to create what he wanted while also hanging out with friends.

Using the bandsaw in Woodshop I, Michael LaJoye begins precisely shaping the seat for his soon-to-be stool. Michael explained, "Out of everything I've learned in this class, the most important thing was learning to be more creative."

■ K'Lee Mclurg works deliberately on her sketch book in Art II.
 ■ Mr. Enz provided sketch books for everyone in the class and gave them the freedom to draw whatever they wanted. This provided the students with the opportunity to express themselves creativity and to explore their own definition of art.

■ During his all year Home Maintenance class, Justin Tackett sands pieces for his handmade bookcase. Justin proudly announced, "Being in this class has taught me many techniques and has showed me that I can build anything."

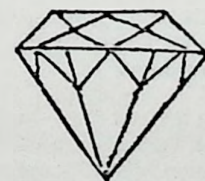

■ Sophomore Travis Groves constructs a house during shop class. Travis worked on this for many weeks and put in a tremendous amount of time and effort. Not only was the creation amazing after it was finished, but it was the first house to be built in that type of style. Mr. Boyer will keep the house as a display.

■ Keri Stamper and Chrystal Reed laboriously paint the Mohawk Snow Mauler for the Paint The Plow Competition. Media staff members Allana Simon, Cheyenne Free, and Hunter Bebout document prom for an episode of Northwest News Network. The episode presented students with a glimpse of how special and unique the Bright Lights, Big City prom was for the seniors.

Staff members stroll through the hallway in an attempt to gather ideas for their music video. After a long absence, Media class returned to the schedule and provided the student body a way to stay informed and entertained.

Taking a break from the normal routine, Brooke Tipton, Amanda Doss, K'Lee McClurg, and Kalyn Mitchell cautiously watch as Mr. Enz traps an unwanted classroom visitor. Mr. Enz and the girls quickly took the spider to science teacher, Mr. Shannon, in hopes to learn more about it.

CAPTURING The Possibilities

Examining her work, Tori Patton checks to make sure she has followed the rules of good web design. Web Design allowed students the opportunity to become familiar with photoshop and bring their ideas to life on the computer screen.

Ryan Stephens instructs the Industrial Tech class on how to correctly assemble a mechanical object. Mr. Moore, the new Industrial Tech instructor, challenged students to use their minds and their imaginations.

The first and second semester Webmasters enjoy posing for their group shot in front of the school. They wanted to show that they know how to kick back and have fun.

Lee Wartluft, Jacob Lute, John Whitt, and Dylan Amburgey manage to securely hold Billy Murphy long enough to allow Mrs. Moore to take a picture.

Webmasters Whitney Jenkins, Billy Murphy, and Darbie Jenkins dress for the formal occasion and enjoy each other's company during prom. They were required to attend prom and capture the event on film.

While shooting senior superlative pictures, Ronnie Emmons and Whitney Jenkins discuss the camera settings and determine the correct focus point. Senior superlatives were created and organized by the senior webmasters and allowed the students to put their editing skills to use.

Q&A FRESHMEN, WHAT SCARES YOU?!

Zachary Smith John Spencer Devon Stone Gracie Swavel Garrett Swayne Joseph Taulbee Cali Thompson Danyel Thompson

#1 "I am afraid of Jeremy Tackett because he is a red head, and he breathes fire. Jeremy also scares me because he is way taller than me."

#2 "I am afraid of tornados because they are very destructive and deadly." -Brandon Puckett

#3 "I am afraid of girls because they are conniving creatures. Makeup in general is just one big magic trick." -Frankie Spencer

#4 "I do not like talking in front of people because I am very shy and I do not like people staring at me." -Kayla Thornberry

#5 "I am afraid of clowns because they are creepy looking, not nice, and I just do not like them." -Hannah Breech

#6 "I am afraid of myself because that is the only thing I have to fear." -Hayden Crawford

#7 "Whenever I get up really high, for instance on a roller coaster, I start to get dizzy. My legs feel weightless and my hands start to shake."

#8 "I am afraid of the dark because there are mean creatures in there. You can't see around you, and you can hear every little noise. It freaks me out!"

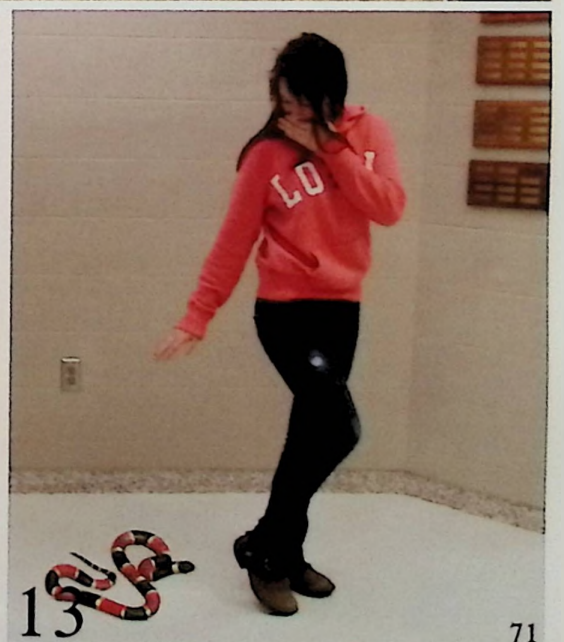

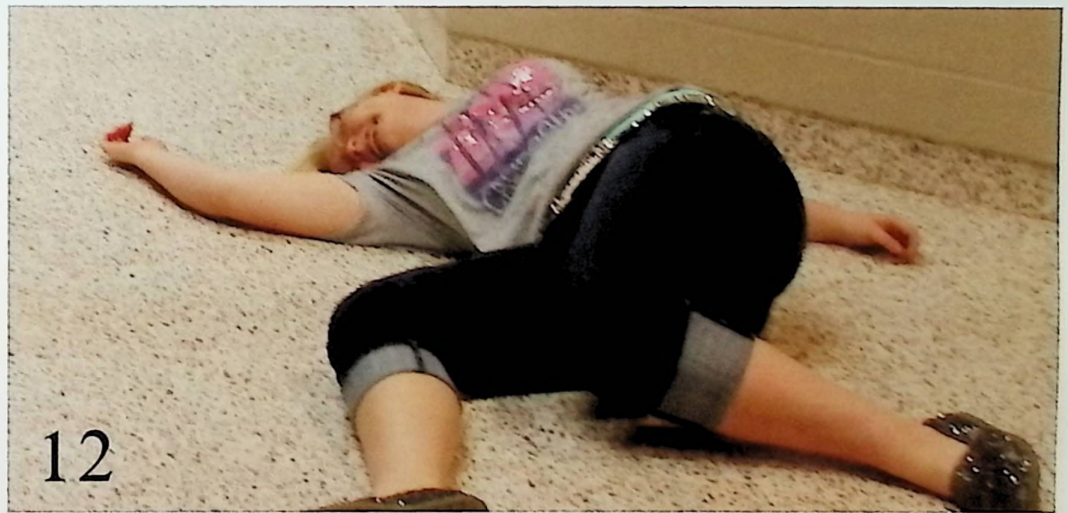

#9 "When I was little I went on a camping trip with my grandma and her friend. A bear came up and sat on our car and scared us."

#10 "I am afraid of spiders because they are stupid. They freak me out and always have." -Jesse Doyle

#11 "I am afraid of Ronald McDonald because when I was little I had a terrible dream of him chasing me." -Denise Esken

#12 "I am afraid of dying because I will miss a lot of people and I like living in the world because it is fun." -Morgan Wetzel

#13 "I am afraid of snakes because they are sneaky and poisonous." -Sarah Lambert

THE Top 10 reasons

Why we love yearbook!

10. Food!
9. Getting to know the school
8. We know everything that happens in the school
7. We know Ms. Weaver better than anyone else
6. Pizza parties!
5. Make a book that's a permanent memory
4. Expressing our creativity
3. Yearbook discount
2. Freedom

1. FREE FOOD!!!

Juniors Kayla Bays, Keri Stamper and Chrystal Reed decorate flyers in order to market the 2013-2014 yearbook.

Staff members Caitlin Dyer and Chrissy Maloy diligently organize the 2012-2013 yearbooks before distributing to the owners.

Makala Hunt, Kayla Bays, and Chrystal Reed practice how to sell ads to help raise money to finance the yearbook.

MEET THE PRESS

Alex Campbell

The One Who Thought She Knew Everything

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"Being surrounded by my best friends. We were always laughing, goofing off, and gossiping. No one will ever understand how much freedom we are given by being in yearbook, and how ditzy Ms. Weaver actually is."

Chrissy Maloy

The One Always Late to The Party

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"I loved being able to come to the yearbook room whenever I needed to; it was like my second home. People think we're such nerds, but little do they know how much fun we have. There's never a dull moment."

Haley Gubernath

The One Who Took Everything To Heart

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"I loved walking into the room and seeing the table packed with all kinds of delicious foods!"

Makala Hunt

The One With Sass

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"Once I forced Travis Groves to assist me in creating my yearbook picture. It was hilarious because his doormates and teacher were there to tease him."

Keri Stamper

The One Who Didn't Take No For An Answer

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"Going ad selling with Chrystal and always ending up stuck in traffic, so we had to attempt to stay calm."

Chrystal Reed

The One Who Seemed Innocent

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"When the people at McDonald's got frustrated because Keri and I paid them with just change and coupons on a day that we went ad selling."

Kayla Bays

The Reliable One

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"Food in the library and pizza during class."

Caitlin Dyer

The One Who Ate It All

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"The time Alex walked into Industrial Maintenance at SCCC and Tylor Rivers hid in the bathroom from her the whole time."

Ms. Weaver

The One Who Put Up With It All

Favorite Yearbook Memory:

"I remember taking a 'field trip' on the third day of school. It was really, really hot outside, and we were walking around looking at trees for our division pages. Everyone who could see us from their classroom windows thought we were crazy!"

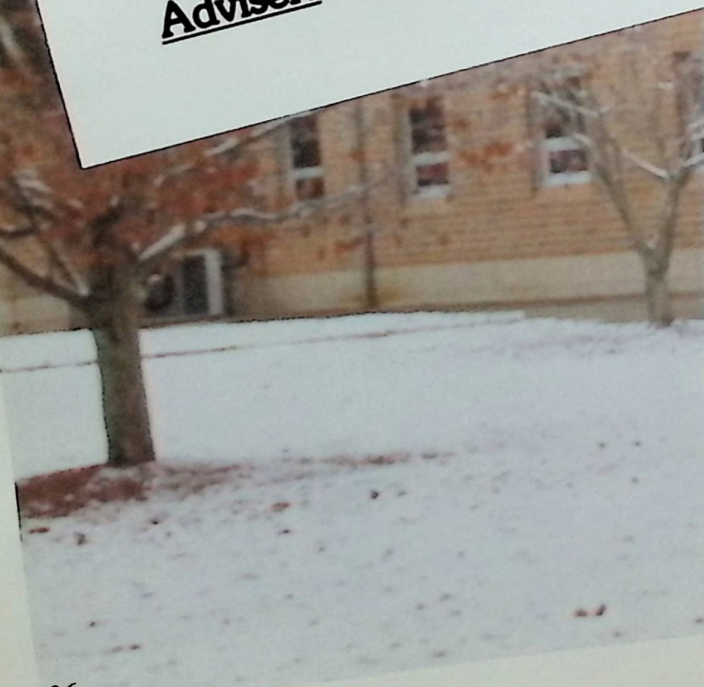

The 2013-2014 yearbook was published by Balfour Publishing of Dallas, Texas. Our Balfour Representative is Lindsey Swank. The theme, This Is Our Time, was developed by the entire staff. Cover and end sheet designs were created by the editor Alex Campbell and cover artist Stephan Williams. Pictures were taken by Brenda Moore, Webmasters, and Impressive Studios. All head shots were taken by Kevin Hoops at Impressive Studios. A final thanks to Adviser Rebecca Weaver, Representative Lindsey Swank, and each company who bought an ad to make this book possible.
