DEDICATION

In dedicating our annual to the Reverend Father T. A. Goebel, we have attempted to show the love and respect which we, the Class of '43, have for him who has devoted forty of his fifty years of service to our parish. He has cared for us with the gentle and solicitous hand of a kind father. He has lead us ever forward and tried both by teaching and example to show us the paths of virtue. May this book prove that the memories of him as a just and kind leader will remain forever-an inspiration which will guide us to our eternal destiny.

FOREWORD

Someday this book will be a veritable voice from the past. In it will be pictured the many joys and sorrows, the ambitions, hopes and dreams which we, the Class of '43, have cherished these twelve years. Into it we have tried to weave our ideals and our thoughts. Since we have dedicated our Annual to a jubilarian, who has received the privilege of serving God as a priest for fifty years, it is but fitting that we should express the theme of this book through the symbols of the Church pertaining to the priesthood.

The frontispiece is symbolic of the Church which functions through the priesthood. The solid column rising to heaven, represents Peter, the rock upon which is built the Church, the pillar and ground of truth. Set into the column are twelve precious stones that symbolize the twelve apostles. Acanthus leaves, crowning the column, avow Christ to be the living God. Encircling the enthroned Lamb of God and the monogram of Christ is a rainbow which signifies that Christ is the Infinite God. At the foot of the column two birds and a lamb, symbols of the faithful, look to Christ and His Church for strength and guidance.

Embodied in the principal illustrations are the three main functions of the priesthood, the power of offering sacrifice, the power of administering the sacraments, and the power of spreading the Gospel.

To represent the priestly power of offering sacrifice, a hand is pictured lifting up to heaven for God's blessing the bread of everlasting life. To illustrate his God-given power to administer the sacraments, the stole, the badge of priestly power, is reproduced together with a chalice resting on the Mass book. To portray the priest's power of spreading Christ's Truth, the Lamb is shown resting on His throne announcing the four Gospels.

We have placed in our book one symbol of our Holy Mother, the Star of the Sea, shining out of the Old Testament giving to all nations her holy Son, for she is both the protector of priests and the patron of our school and of this book.

May the Holy Virgin Mary keep our priests and all of us under her loving care and guidance. May she preserve the majesty of the priesthood and the splendor of the Church. May she help us to understand more clearly the tenets of our glorious faith.

THE REVEREND T. A. GOEBEL

GOLDEN JUBILEE

It was a custom among the ancient Hebrews to proclaim a happy event with the sounding of a musical instrument made from a ram's horn. The Hebrew name for a ram's horn gives us our word "Jubilee". The Jews observed every seventh year as a Sabbatical year. The year which followed seven cycles of Sabbatical years, the fiftieth, was the year of Jubilee. It was a time for general rejoicing. In that year, persons were freed from bondage, all debts were remitted, and property was restored to the original owners.

It is a common trait of human nature to celebrate anniversaries. A party is given for a birthday. Let a man be faithful to his business, office, profession or art for a period of five, ten or more years, and his friends will want to celebrate the occasion. Couples who have reached the silver or golden jubilee of marriage are deserving of all the honor they receive.

There are many kinds of jubilees. It stands to reason that the greater the dignity and importance of the office and the longer the years of fidelity to duty, the deeper will be the meaning of the jubilee celebration.

This is true of a jubilee of the priesthood. Just as the spiritual surpasses the material and the divine the human, so the priestly office excels all others.

In celebrating a golden jubilee of priesthood, the greater credit must be given to God. It is God who sustains man's life, who protects from dangers, who causes man to live many years. All the credit a priest can claim is that he had the will to persevere, that he did not quit or change. A jubilee is an occasion of joy for both priest and people. It is a day on which the chief intention is to give public thanksgiving to God for a lifetime of blessings.

The Reverend T. A. Goebel

TO OUR PASTOR

At his whispered word God leaves His throne
To dwell on our altars for love alone.
He is God's own priest ordained on earth
To show Christ's Power, and humble Birth.

Fifty years flowing with graces and love!
Oh, noble service to God above!
Fifty years comforting, helping, and living
Forgetful of self, always generous in giving!

An agent of grace, his Master adoring!
A heart still young in its zeal for God's glory!
May peace fill his heart for the joy he has given
And a glorious crown await him in heaven.

Mary Frances Switalski '45

A TRIBUTE TO FR. GOEBEL

"Thou art a priest forever according to the order of Melchisedech".

With what finality these words mark the man of God. From the day he kneels before the bishop until his dying hour, he is constantly reminded of the timelessness of the priesthood. From that day he must ever look forward; there may be no turning back, no tarrying along the way. Like Christ he must carry his cross until he reaches Calvary to offer the last and final sacrifice of his own life. An "alter Christus", "another Christ", he is called; and to be worthy of all that this sublime vocation implies takes heroic courage. The lights of the joyful day on which he celebrates his first Mass go out, the music dies, the incense drifts away, friends depart and the young priest looking up sees "only Jesus". Through all the years that are to come, he will see "only Jesus". Alone with Christ he must stand on Calvary--nor must he ever come down. The human race will pass by, but the priesthood--his priesthood must go on. Every morning, he must lift up the chalice and offer the Blood of the Eternal Priest to stay the hand of an offended God. Day after day he must feed the faithful with the Bread of Angels, the food strong. His confessional chair must be at the foot of the Cross to receive the penitent sinner, the broken-hearted, the prodigal son, and it is there he raises his hand in benediction and absolution over them and sends them away with the peace of God and the joy of forgiven sin ringing in their hearts. The priest in a most terrifying sense, for all eternity, belongs body and soul to Christ. He will be misunderstood, condemned, doubted. But once he has donned the vestments of the priesthood, the livery of the Passion and Crucifixion, he must be "another Christ".

And since words mean so little, I know of no greater compliment that can be paid to a man than to say, "He is a good priest". Today, we pay tribute to Father Goebel, a priest of God, who has spent fifty years of his life in the priesthood, every one of them patterned after his Model, the Eternal High Priest. Most of these years were spent here among the people of St. Mary's and I know that you will all agree with me when I say that your lives were ennobled and enriched by the administrations of your pastor and friend, Father Goebel. I feel sure that you join with me in saying, "He is a good priest". We pray that he may enjoy many more fruitful years in the priesthood.

FACULTY

In the memoirs of our senior class, we find all those who have aided us in obtaining the rich heritage of a Catholic education. Through them we have been armed to face the uncertain future with optimism and with a sense of responsibility that has made us sensitive to our duty of making those about us good, happy, and hopeful. Our loyalty to all that we have been taught will make us the pride of our Alma Mater. The instructors who are most vivid in our minds are those who have been with us in our senior year, the faculty of '43.

Father Goebel taught us primary religion and gave us a general knowledge of the Church doctrines. His explanations, through their simplicity, were imprinted on our young minds never to be erased.

Father Freund, teaching secondary religion, delved into the finer points and explained still further the great truths of our Faith. He is also the instructor of the Latin classes.

Sister M. Lorenzo, our principal and senior advisor, came to St. Mary's for the first time this year. She teaches the mathematics and biology.

Sister M. Caritas spent her first year at St. Mary's teaching the social studies and Spanish. She is also the supervisor of "The Marian".

Sister M. Mathia has charge of the commercial classes. The C.S.M.C. units and the library are also under her experienced supervision.

Sister M. Irma teaches first and second year religion, and by her detailed examples helps us live our Faith as well as love it. Adequate laboratory facilities makes her physical science courses attractive.

Sister M. Hilda makes her English and French classes interesting with her projects and the "Les Dames Francaise" Club she organized for the latter. The junior and senior plays were presented under her direction.

Mr. Raymond Kornoff has been athletic director for two years and his fine spirit of sportsmanship is carried over into his American History class.

ANTHONY FERRANTE, president

"Tony" is one of those who cannot stay in the background. As president of the senior class, vice-president of the junior class, treasurer of the Science Club, and captain of the football team, he has endeavored to fulfill his official duties to the best of his ability. Tony will be remembered for his unexpected and pointed arguments. His ability to "hold his own" has been an asset to him in all debates, squad sessions, and class discussions. On the gridiron, Tony displayed cooperation, dependability, and leadership in his position as guard. For his ability as a player, he was awarded the Dan E. Brushart sports trophy. Tony possesses a personality that is unique. He has always been generous and resourceful in helping out especially when it necessitates his excuse from classes. "True worth is being, not seeming", is the secret to Tony's popularity. May it continue to characterize all he does in life.

WILLIAM DOLL, vice-president

Bill with his contagious and ever-present smile, his sterling yet boyish character is a general favorite at St. Mary's. After two years of stiff competition from players bigger than himself, Bill's determination earned him a berth on the varsity squad. As a carefree youth in the senior play, he proved himself a capable actor. A good student and class worker, Doll was elected class treasurer in his junior year and vice-president in his senior year. The scope of his activities included membership in the C.S.M.C., the Round Table, the Science Club and the Holy Name Society. Bill was co-editor of the sports section of "The Marian" and gained fame from his column, "Doll's Diary". During his school career, Bill has constantly shown himself dependable and cooperative, and has proved that he has perseverance to finish any task he begins.

T h e M A R I A N

DAVID SPANGLER, treasurer

A "You-show-me-and-I'll-believe" attitude best characterizes Dave. As soon as he is convinced, he will work, but he insists on knowing what he's working for. He is full of fun and a true and lasting friend. As a junior he was elected president of the C.S.M.C., and as a senior he held the office of class treasurer. He was an active participant in the chemistry, Latin and Holy Name societies and was a faithful acolyte. He proved his acting ability in portraying the hero in both junior and senior class plays. With the worthy qualities of intelligence, humor, courage and determination, Dave will achieve great things in life.

JANET GLOCKNER, secretary

"Jan" is a delightful combination of common sense and frivolity. Her enthusiastic activity in the work of the C.S.M.C. during her junior year won for her the Paladin Award. She was a contributing member of the Latin, French and Science clubs, the Round Table and the Girls' Choir. She was one of the best cheer leaders Central Catholic ever had and no game was complete without Janet's spirited yells down on the front line. Her varied activities did not interfere with her scholastic leadership, for she was elected a member of the Vigilantes Mariae for three semesters. Beneath a serene and gentle exterior lies a resolute and joyous heart that has made her a friend to everyone.

T h e M A R I A N

JAMES ADAMS

FLORENCE BINDER

"Lenci" will be remembered for her strength and determination to do all her duties as well as possible even under the most trying circumstances. She left us in the eighth grade to accompany her family to a foreign land where she completed one year of high school education, but returned to St. Mary's in her sophomore year. Florence has made herself a class leader scholastically as well as socially. She has been an active participant in the C.S.M.C., the Round Tables and in the French club. She played leading roles in the junior and senior class plays, was a feature writer for "The Marian", and earned the privilege of wearing the pin of the Vigilantes Mariae Society for four semesters. Her friendly disposition and reliability will be her guarantee to success in whatever career she chooses for the future.

WILLIAM DADOSKY

Always ready to give a helping hand to those in need, Bill has won the friendship of everyone at St. Mary's. This may be explained by his inherent politeness combined with a quiet sense of humor which is never offensive but always amusing. "Dusty" is noted for his record in the Acolyte Society. He is one of the best and most faithful servers to graduate from St. Mary's. An honor member of the Vigilantes Mariae Society for two years, an outstanding actor in both the junior and senior plays, and a fighting member of the varsity football squad testify to Bill's versatility.

T h e M A R I A N

DAVID EYNON

His studies having been an interlude to his practical jokes, Dave, the tallest boy in the senior class, answers to the nick-name "Clown". Latin was one subject that caused him a bit of worry, but application as well as perspiration pulled him through. Dave held membership in the Latin and science clubs, the C.S.M.C. and the Round Tables. His tall form was a familiar sight at early morning Masses, for Dave has given many years of faithful service to the Acolyte Society. A member of both the varsity squad and the basketball team, he now proudly sports his newest yellow Central sweater. Care-free Dave takes the world and everyone in it for granted and will never let trouble wear him down.

PATRICIA FERRELL

"Pat", a born leader, a true friend, has proved her loyalty, ability, and intelligence many times over. Determined, self-confident, ambitious, she is bound to succeed in whatever vocation she may choose. She is pleasant to work with, cooperative to the fullest extent, qualities which have made her a welcome member in all school activities. Her keen insight into human nature plus her true dramatic ability won for her the applause of the audience when she portrayed delightfully the domineering, sharp-tongued, but patriotic "grandma", in the senior class play. Popular, friendly, and blessed with a dry humor which constantly breaks out of bounds, versatile Pat has held many offices during her school days. An honor student and a member of the Vigilantes Mariae for four years, she has truly been a student of whom St. Mary's can be proud.

JAMES GEMPERLINE

Quiet, unassuming, conscientious, studious---those four adjectives describe James to a "T". Though rather shy and retiring, he is always ready to cooperate, and is known for his pleasant, courteous manner. Jimmy, active in the Victory Corps, is a member of the Civil Air Patrol, and his drills together with his classes in pre-flight training, are a great delight to him. The greatest achievement during his school days has been an unflinching attendance at daily Mass. Having a gentle and generous nature, Jimmy is most happy when helping others. The title "Gentleman Jim" fits James perfectly.

T h e M A R I A N

ROBERT GEMPERLINE

"Prof" entered the class of '43 as a senior, and though he has been with us for a short time, he has proved his loyalty and generosity. "Prof" has a distinctive laugh, something on the "Gildersleeve" side, and when one hears his cheery guffaw ringing out, one knows trouble is afoot. Bob is possessed of an argumentative streak that sometimes leads to a "fight-to-the-finish". He has taken part in every school activity for which he is eligible and his associates have found him a generous helper. As a member of the Victory Corps, he is now attending to the duties of an air-raid warden's assistant. We contend that he will always be as loyal to his country as he has been to his "Alma Mater".

JOANN HAAF

"Haafy", so witty, talkative, and gay, is one of the most likeable girls in the senior class. Although quick-tempered, she is the more loveable because she forgets her "peeve" in a minute. Not too studious but able and willing to do her part in all school activities "Jo" has been an active member of the Round Table Clubs, the Latin club, the Girls' Choir, the Freshman Science Club, and the Victory Corps. She added to the success of both the freshman and senior plays, by portraying ably the part of a nurse in the latter and a "best girl-friend" in the former. Care-free, jolly, and ambitious, JoAnn is truly an all-round, typical American girl.

MARY JONES

We who have found inspiration in Mary's good-natured and obliging disposition are glad she joined our class this year. As the principal librarian assistant, she has a definite knack for tracing lost books. Perhaps keeping track of her younger brothers has made her efficient in the art. She enjoyed an active high school life, being a member of the C.S.M.C., the English and science clubs, and the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Optimistic, unspoiled, loyal, Mary is a living example of the old maxim: "A good heart is worth all the heads in the world."

T h e M A R I A N

LILLIAN JOVINE

Humorous, vivacious, affectionate, and big-hearted, Lillian Jovine is truly a person easy to know and fun to have around. Lil, possessing boundless energy, is convinced that nothing great can be achieved without enthusiasm, and she conducts herself accordingly. An excellent friend, a willing worker, Lil is quick to adapt herself to any circumstance. Far from being a shirker, she has taken active part in all school activities. She was a member of the C.S.M.C., the Round Tables, the Science Club, and the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. For the first time this year she overcame her shyness and appeared in the senior play. Lil's cooperative spirit and pleasing personality insure her a full life graced with happiness.

CARL LINDNER

Talkative, good-natured, and self-confident, "Lindy" is one of the peppiest boys in the high school. Sympathetic and blessed with a "just-ask-me" attitude, Carl is constantly giving and receiving advice--advice which is not followed as a matter of course. As an acolyte, as an Explorer Scout and as an enthusiastic photographer, Carl has contributed his share to school life. His versatile dramatic ability was revealed in the roles of a joking adolescent in the junior play and of a mature, suave Communist in "Lease on Liberty". Carefree and impulsive "Hots" will always have friends. His philosophy of life is simple: "The world is good and the people are good, and we're all good fellows together".--O'Keefe

MARY MARGARET LORDIER

"Quiet" and "studious" best characterize Mary Margaret. Her interests, varying from science to languages, prompted her participation in the activities of the Junior Scientists, the English and the French Clubs. She has always been an active C.S.M.C. member. As a junior she won the Gregg award for her skill in shorthand. Mary Margaret lives just across the street from the high school, so she always dashes to class at 8:40, just missing a tardy slip. She is never late, and one cannot go wrong setting his watch on her arrival. Mary usually goes her own unselfish way without causing noise or disturbance. She does not talk much and therefore what she says carries weight.

T h e M A R I A N

BETTY LOU LUCHI

Her name is Betty Lou, and do not call her Elizabeth, please. Studious, ambitious, loyal, and possessed of a will to lighten any distressing situation, "Luc" is a most likeable and popular girl. Included in a long list of activities credited to her name is membership in the C.S.M.C., the Round Table, the Latin and science clubs, the Girls' Choir, and in the Vigilantes Mariae. Her cheerful nature coupled with her true acting ability was given free reign when she portrayed the chuckling "Magnolia" in the senior class play, "Lease on Liberty". Betty Lou went to Athens three times on the scholarship teams, and three times she brought home awards. Four years of Latin have not dampened her ardor a bit and her grin is just as big as ever. Who was it that said, "Laugh and the world laughs with you; cry and you cry alone"? He must have been thinking of Betty Lou because that is her philosophy in a nutshell.

DOROTHY MEISEL

Dottie is one of the most attractive girls in the senior class. Cooperative, willing, pleasant, she has a smile and twinkle in her eyes that add to a winning personality and nicety of manner that are part and parcel of her. However, she has a natural aptitude for mischief. Active in all school functions, Dottie is a happy blend of studiousness and playfulness. She amused the audience in the role of "Jinx", the dear, spirited, mischievous fifteen-year-old in "Lease on Liberty". A conscientious student, Dot is wearing the pin of the Vigilantes Mariae and has traveled with the scholarship teams to Athens several times. As final proof of her popularity, Dot was elected attendant to the homecoming queen during her senior year.

BETTY MEISEL

Betty personifies a striking contrast of iron determination and frivolity. Her will to "make good" has prompted her to join many school clubs and has earned her the presidency of the Latin Club. Betty's femininity comes to the fore when she hears dance music for she is never too tired or too busy to dance just once more. Betty's direct, forceful approach to any situation makes her unafraid to tackle difficult problems. She is capable and cooperative. Her out-spoken manner, counter-balanced by her sincere good-fellowship, has made her a leader among her friends.

T h e M A R I A N

FELICE PUGH

Felice, a carefree, joyous senior girl will be remembered for the spontaneity with which she entered into the busy whirl of high school activities. Nothing was too hard or too tiresome for the "Jenny Lynn" of the class and her own capability was an incentive to those working with her. Felice, being an excellent scholar, has proudly worn the pin of the Vigilantes Mariae Society, Saint Mary's award for scholastic application. She displayed the same careful application in her school affairs, which included the C.S.M.C., the Latin and science clubs and the Girls' Choir. Felice, with her grace and determination, goes gaily along in her happy-go-lucky way lighting up the dreary days of others.

BONNIE RIFFE

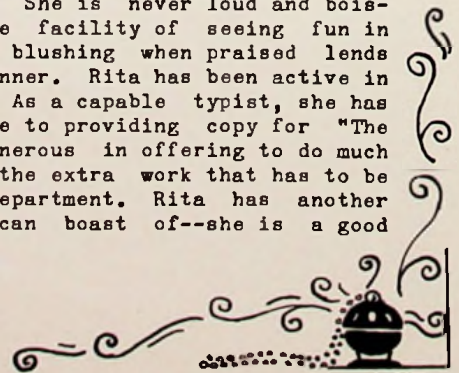

A little amused by the world in general, smiling eyes that tell us everything is right, eager and enthusiastic about all that is to be done, Bonnie, the representative of the class from Kentucky, deserves the title of "the little bomber". Her charm, her winning smile and clever banter have given her an enviable popularity, and her inborn ability to "manage" has enabled her to fill efficiently the position of business manager of "The Marian". Her bubbling good spirits coupled with her great enthusiasm for every sport, has aided her in unusual cheerleading, and her faithful attendance at every Central game is worthy of note. Fun-loving, daring, and frank, she gayly goes her way, spreading sunshine everywhere.

RITA RUFFING

Rita is the demure, thoughtful, and essentially reliable lady of the class. She is never loud and boisterous, but possesses the facility of seeing fun in everything. Her habit of blushing when praised lends charm to her unaffected manner. Rita has been active in all school organizations. As a capable typist, she has devoted much of her time to providing copy for "The Marian". She has been generous in offering to do much of the office typing and the extra work that has to be done in the commercial department. Rita has another accomplishment that few can boast of--she is a good listener.

T h e M A R I A N

BEATA SCHAEFER

The name "Beata" truly fits this friendly classmate, for, the word "beata" means happy, and surely happiness is "Schaefer's" prime asset. Cooperative, pleasant, witty, loyal, and always courteous, Beata has an A-1 personality and a smile that endears her charming self to everyone. Her nimble fingers have served her well both as a pianist and a typist. Her ability at the typewriter has been well utilized on "The Marian" and her characteristic dependability has made her a credit member of the various school clubs. Beata's tinkling laugh and spirited nature have been the source of many warm friendships. She is a lady in the true sense of the word, and does not find it needful to compromise principle in order to keep her many friends.

JOHN SOMMER

John is the very epitome of good-natured and exuberant energy. He has a keen business head, and can earn more money in less time than any other person in the class. Most of his earnings are used to acquire more equipment to conduct his experiments. Science is a dominating factor in John's life to the extent that he has a laboratory in the basement of his home. In this sanctum he concocts everything from hair tonic to nitroglycerine. John prides himself on his ability to enliven a dull study period with his clever mimicry and pantomime. Yet his best friends will tell you that he is capable of displaying quick flashes of insight and wisdom which come as quickly as spring showers, and as quickly go away. John has been a server since he was in the grades and has participated in many other clubs and organizations.

JAMES VETTER

Jim's scholastic career has been a casual struggle, but his athletic career has been a great success. He has displayed exceptional ability on the gridiron and has three big "C's" and a beautiful trophy to his credit. Jimmy has a pleasing personality that makes him one of the most popular boys in the school. He has worked with the C.S.M.C. for four years, has held membership in the Holy Name Society, in the science, and in the Latin clubs. His small part as a radio announcer in "Lease on Liberty" was effectively portrayed. Jimmy's philosophy is to relax and let things straighten out by themselves with a minimum of effort on his part. We predict that he will come out all right, no matter how difficult the situation may be.

T h e M A R I A N

MARY FRANCES VETTER

Blond, blue-eyed, fair-complexioned, friendly, cheerful, Mary Frances is one of the most popular girls in our class. She, having been active in all school activities, attained the crest of her high school career in her senior year, when she was elected St. Mary's Homecoming Queen of the football team. "Mary", "Veronica", "Frances", or "M.F." took part in both the junior and senior class plays, earned the pin of the Vigilantes Mariae, was a member of the C.S.M.C., the Girls' Choir, French, science, and Latin clubs, and still found time to be accompanist for the Boys' Choir. She was the grade news editor on "The Marian" staff. A possessor of an even temperament, Mary Frances sheds trouble like a duck sheds water. Fragilely fair, sincere, loyal, and understanding, she sings her way into our hearts and stays there.

JOSEPH WEBER

Joe, representing the West Side contingent of our class, has been coming to school from "over there" for twelve years, and we are glad he has. With his characteristic affability and in spite of his reticence he has participated in the activities of the Latin Club, the Science Club, the C.S.M.C., and the Victory Corps. His career as a football star was brought to a sudden end by the fracture of his collar bone. His performance as "Mischa" in "Lease on Liberty" made a most favorable impression on the audience. Being a modest and unassuming lad, Joe is grateful that someone else usually wants to "talk for" him.

ANTOINETTE YERARDI

The midgit of the class in size, "Annie" proves that the "smallest things are the most precious". As art editor of "The Marian", Antoinette has shown real artistic ability. By making posters for class plays and other school events, and by illustrating C.S.M.C. pamphlets, Antoinette has contributed greatly to the furtherance of those projects. By nature quiet, self-contained, capable and dependable, she is ready to assert herself when she finds it necessary to defend the rights of others and her own also. Proud of the fact that she is named after the illustrious French queen, Marie Antoinette, Annie truly takes to heart the fitting Shakespearean quotation: "Let gentleness my strong enforcement be."
