The varsity basketball team gather on the floor to acknowledge their teamwork throughout the game. The boys maintained a regular season record of 17-3 and placed second in the S.O.C. Division II race.

Nicholas Fite practices his saxophone out on the football field. He was part of the NHS Marching Mohawks.

Matt Orin, Nick Broughton, and Jake Riggs celebrate after a NHS win at home. You could always find a huge student section of supporters at each game.

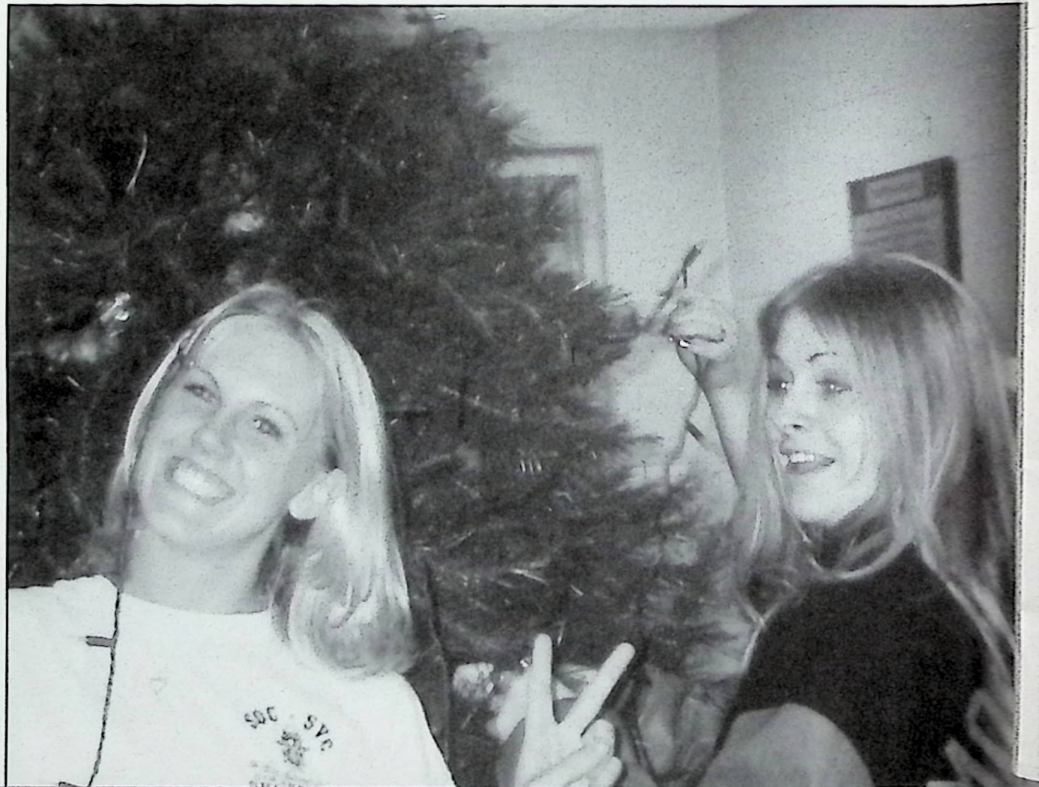

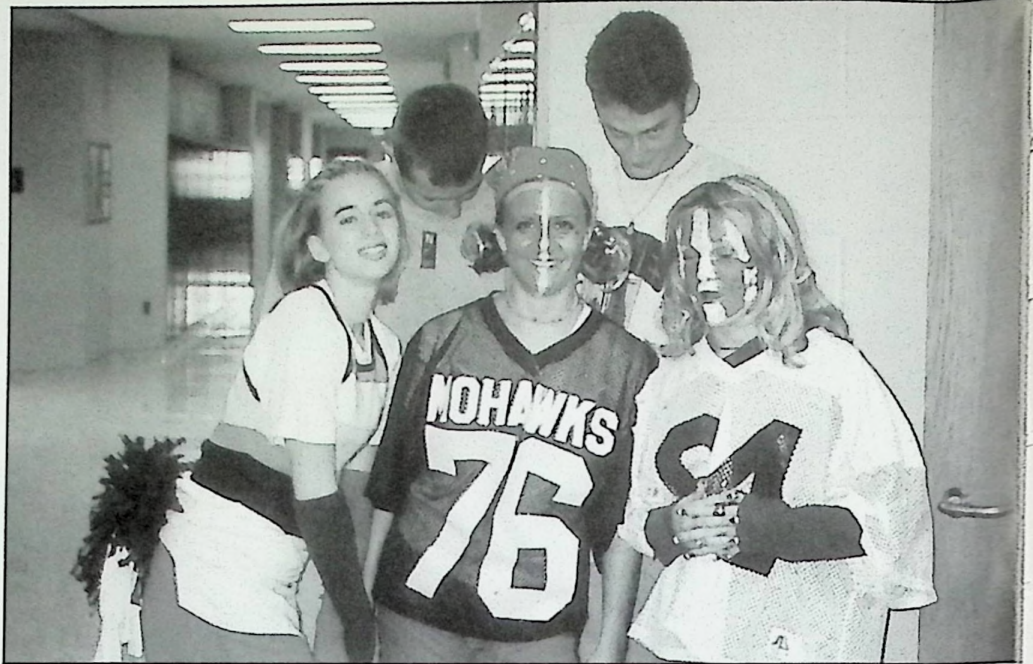

Tracy Burton, Brandy Jordan, Jennifer Diehlmann, and Jessica Warren huddle together to show off their red, white, and blue. They were dressed for "Spirit Week" which took place during the week prior to the Football Homecoming events.

That's the BOTTOM LINE

Megan Stiverson, Alicia White, and Lindsey Brown show their unique school spirit. This was Megan's favorite time of the year.

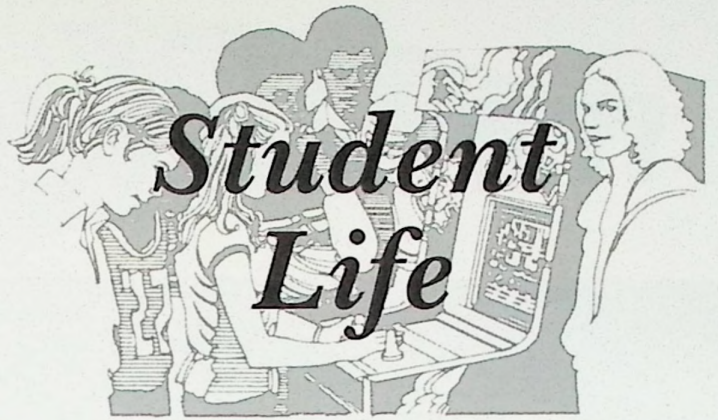

Sometimes it is nice for things to be all fun and games. When it comes to students' lives and after school activities, NHS knows the true way to "lay the smack down". This means that no matter where or what time of the day it is, the students know just how to kick back and have some serious excitement. They find ways to entertain themselves as well as others. These such happenings could be anything from a friendly party of a classmate to the crowning of the homecoming queen. New friends are made and old acquaintances become closer. When it comes down to it, each event is made its very best and the Mohawks are there to back it up and make the time even better.

Layin' the Smack Down

Jennifer Diehlmann helps string some Christmas lights for the school tree. The Media and Art classes helped decorate this year.

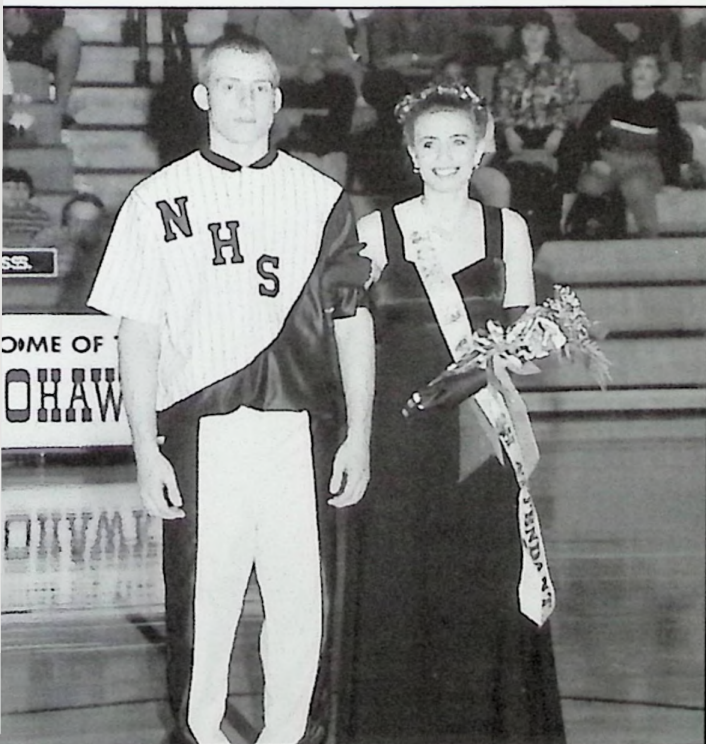

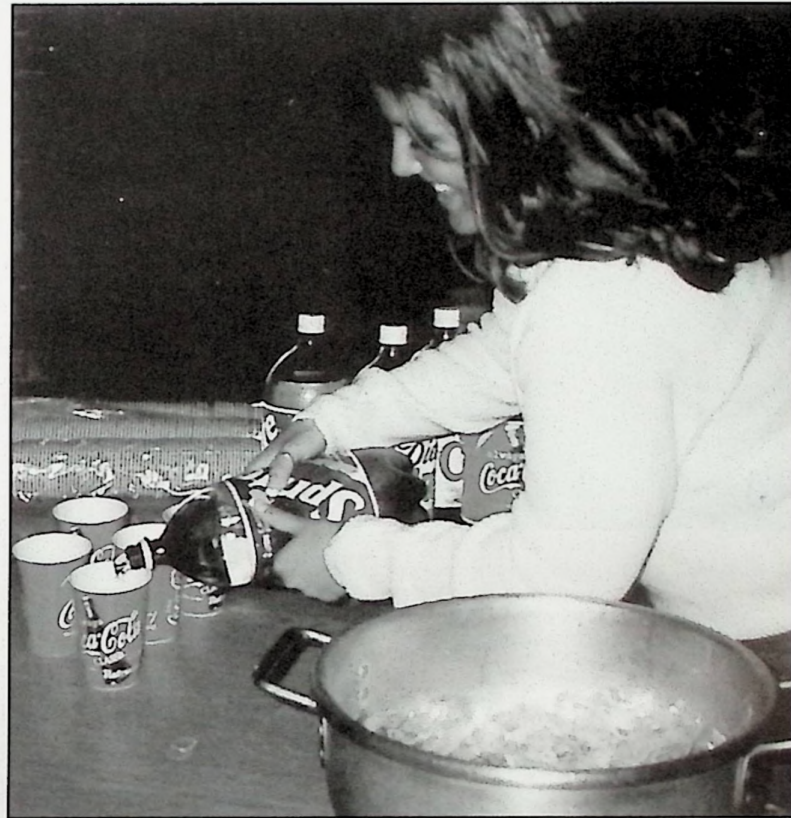

A stylized line drawing illustration of a student-run pop stand. A female student is pouring a beverage from a large bottle into a cup. Another student is standing behind the counter, and a third student is visible in the background. The text 'Student Life' is written in a large, elegant, cursive font across the center of the illustration.

Keith Eichenlaub, Jake Riggs, and Ted Dettwiler "get a lift" after school. The three boys were gym helpers second semester.

Jessi McAllister serves a beverage to a student. She was selling pop for the senior sponsored dance.

Ryan Mitchell escorts Jr. Vo-tech attendant, Vanessa Mitchell. They were part of the 1999 basketball homecoming events.

Christy Pertuset walks her 4-H pig at the Scioto County Fair auction. Her pig won the title Reserve Champion. Congratulations Christy!

Amanda Barns enjoys a snow cone at the county fair. Many Northwest students were involved in the Scioto County Fair.

Fun In the Sun

Each school year brings challenges to everyone. For seniors, it is the thought and preparation of ACT's and college applications. For the underclassmen, it's the thought of just passing their semester classes. Whatever the worry may be, summer time is a good way to forget it all and just have fun.

As the school year ends, students get ready for a summer full of fun and excitement. They meet new people and make new friends. Whether it's going to parties, cruising downtown, or just hanging out with some buddies, you could always find the Mohawks having a blast! For some it brings vacations to the beach and others, just a time to catch up on their sleep and favorite TV shows. In any situation, it is definitely a time to have fun and enjoy the sun!

Eve Porginski works on her tan. During the summer, Eve also participated in volleyball.

Mark Carver splashes around in the water. He was cooling off at an old stone quarry in Rarden.

Northwest Belle

River Days starts long before some people realize. Everybody who participates starts preparing months in advance for events such as the parade, boat races, and the annual Miss River Days Pageant.

On the day of the parade, hot weather caused many of the participants to dread the rest of the day. The Marching Mohawks kept up the pace though, despite the unbearable temperature. "The parade put a large amount of pressure on us, but I enjoyed being a part of it," said sophomore band member, Seth Collins.

For the Miss River Days pageant, Carmen Hale, our Northwest representative, could be found either riding her float or preparing herself to compete that night.

"It was a good learning experience. I learned a lot of things that I can carry with me in life. Also, I made friends with many of the girls," stated Carmen Hale.

Carmen Hale poses with her trophy on the "Northwest Belle". Her float won the Best Home-made Float and Best All-Around Float awards.

Rachel Royster, Amanda Slye, and Shawn Hoffer relax while watching the River Days parade. This was a main attraction for the festivities.

Carmen Hale prepares backstage for the evening gown event. Carmen was given the title "Miss Congeniality" by the other contestants.

Jay Risner, Keith Eichenlaub, Jason Phipps, and Forrest Bradbury try to fight the sun while waiting for the parade to begin. The soccer team rode with the cheerleaders on the school float.

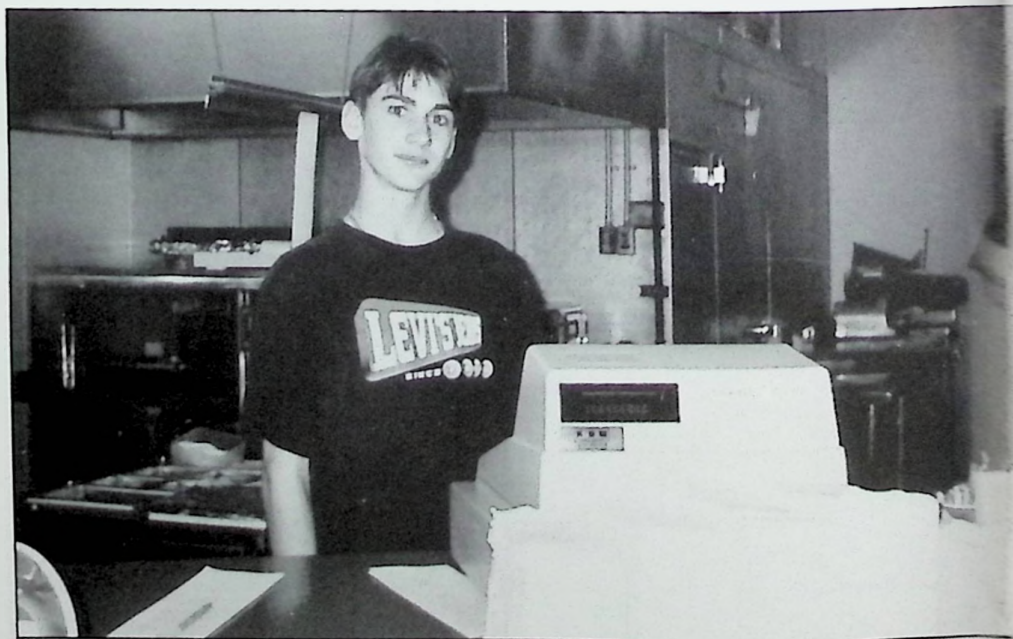

The band marches down Jackson Street in Portsmouth during the parade. The Marching Mohawks have made an appearance at River Days for many years.

Josh Hobbs chats with a customer at Subway. Josh made subs as well as acted as a cashier.

Heidi Lute pours a cup of coffee to fill an order. Heidi worked at Happy Days part-time for some extra cash.

Dazed and confused? No, it's just Michael Adkins waiting on a customer's decision. He worked at Cardo's as a cook and delivery boy.

Earning da Cash

Having a job takes up a great amount of time. Although a person has a job, he or she still has to make time for school work, family and friends. How does this affect their school and social life? It is different for everyone, but almost every working student agrees that it is worth the extra work when you are getting a paycheck.

Jason Smith comments, "Working while you are in school has its advantages and disadvantages. On the bad side, you have to choose between things that you have to do and want to do because of the time consumption. On the good side, well there is only one definite good thing and that is the MONEY!"

Emmy Lakes and Mindy Carty are at your service at Sonic. These waitresses put their bodies to the challenge when they were working on roller skates.

Lori Mitchell takes a customer's order from the telephone. She was one of the many students that worked at After the Game.

Captured In A Dream

As the Homecoming events were about to begin, I got into my carriage and was quite nervous because my horse was running around, but Jake Pertuset, my driver, did a great job handling the horse. When I arrived at the field I was really excited and anxious. The song, "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing" by Aerosmith was playing as my escorts Keith Phipps, Mark Carver, Ted Dettwiller, and Aaron Brackman walked me down the center of the field. The ceremony was very beautiful and the weather was perfect.

I was very honored to be elected Homecoming Queen. The attendants looked elegant and the stage was beautiful. I especially thank my family and close friends who helped me come up with a theme and design the stage, which was decorated in navy, red, white, and silver. Also, I thank the attendants for helping me decorate the float.

The night was simply unforgettable and it ended with a homecoming dance which was sponsored by my senior class. Overall, the event was a dream come true and I am very appreciative to the student body for voting me as their 1998 Football Homecoming Queen.

- Maranda Brown

Kellie Altman and her escort, Chris Yelley, stop to have their picture taken. Kellie was the Senior Vo-tech attendant.

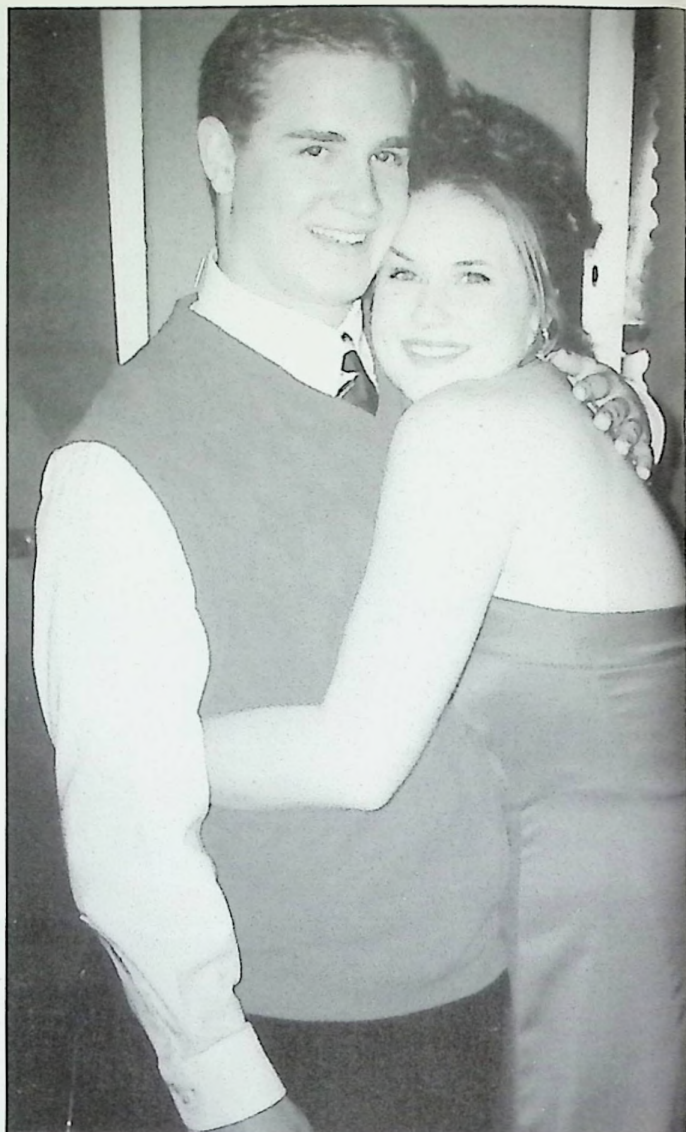

Maranda Brown stops in front of the float while the ceremony comes to a close. The float, decorated in red and silver was placed by the field for the queen and attendants to rest on during the football game.

Senior attendant, Jessi McAllister and her escort, Andy Lintz, walk down the field as the band plays the theme song to "Titanic". Andy was a four year member of the football team.

Tim Bullock and Jessica Warren cuddle close during a slow song at the Christmas dance. The Christmas dance was sponsored by F.C.C.L.A. this year.

Ashley Burchett gets ready to leave for a dance. Jason Smith was her date for the night.

Cassie Stall, Brandy Jordan, and Tiffany Conley get their groove on. "You try dancing in heels!" stated Tiffany.

That's the Spirit!

In hopes of the enhancing of school spirit and support for all athletics, the Pep Club made its return. With Mrs. Moore agreeing to head it, the students jumped to her side to make a group consisting of officers, class representatives, and two mascots.

The pep club found many creative ways to help pep up the student body. Signs were made for various home games, shakers were sold at homecoming and mascots, Dave Webb and Jade Swayne, could be found periodically dressed in Mohawk colors and waving the NHS flag during the games.

"I think the pep club was a great idea. It gave the students a chance to show their own school spirit," commented Sarah Reese.

Alisha Nichols poses with her mismatched clothing. This was part of "Spirit Week" prior to the football homecoming ceremony.

Alyssa Gardener, Tarah Ross, Jessica Powell, and Cassie Hackworth show off their red, white, and blues. This day was celebrated more than once to support the players the day of their game.

From This Moment

The Northwest Mohawks hosted Manchester at the annual basketball homecoming. The varsity team showed their determination with a defeat over the Greyhounds.

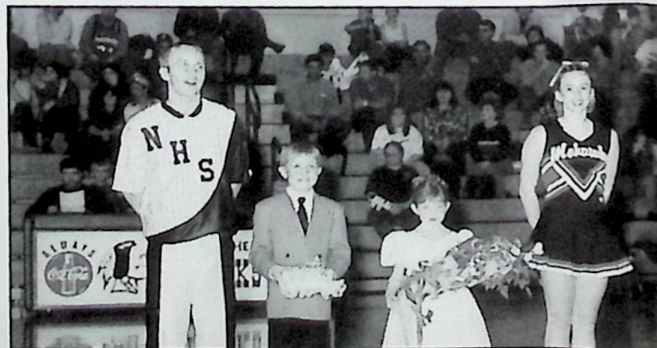

Though the game was an important part of the night, the highlight of the evening was the homecoming queen, Carmen Hale, and her court. "As the attendants began to walk out onto the gym floor, tension and excitement built up," stated Carmen.

With the queen dressed in red and blue and her attendants in navy, the song "From This Moment" by Shania Twain played in the background. The ceremony ended as Tracey Odle crowned Carmen and sealed it with a kiss. A dance followed immediately after the ballgame sponsored by the cheerleaders.

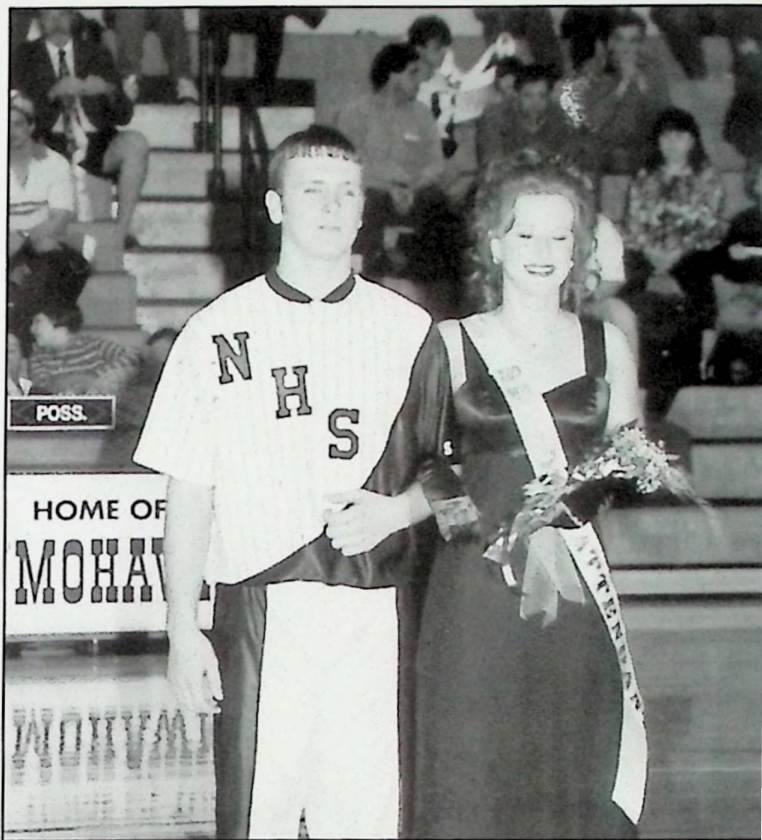

Queen, Carmen Hale, glows beautifully before the ceremony began. Carmen also represented Northwest at the River Days pageant.

Keith Eichenlaub and Megan Stiverson stand before the crowd at the conclusion of the event. They were escorting Jay and Jordan Taylor.

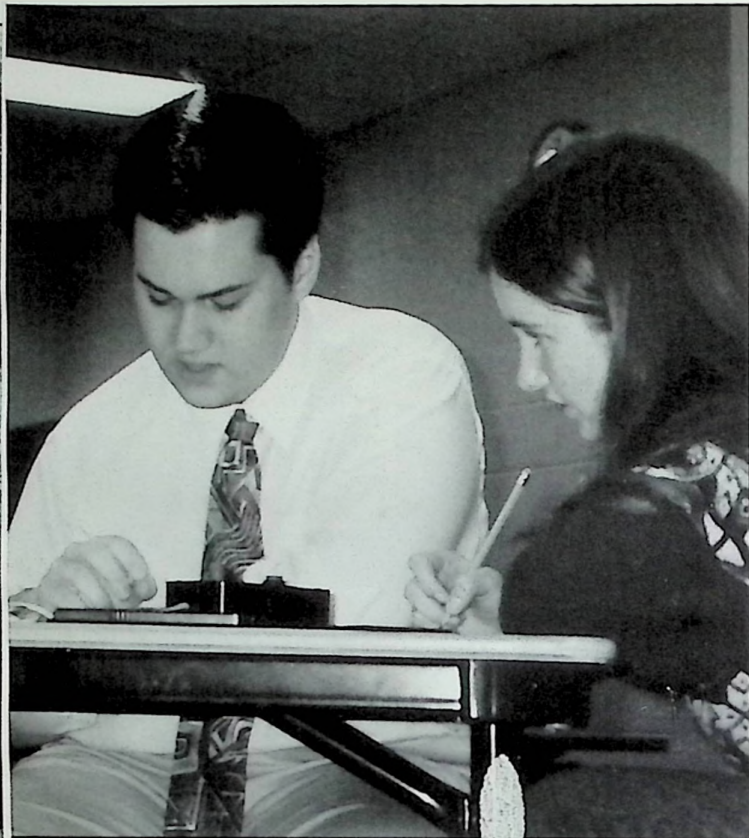

Jerry Barlow, Tracey Odle, and Barry Munyon escort Carmen Hale. All three boys were four year members of the basketball team.

Mindy Carty, escorted by Tim Lang, walk down the floor during the ceremony. Mindy was the senior attendant and a four year member of the girls basketball team.

Basketball Homecoming Court: Jr.- Alison Rudd, Sr.-Mindy Carty, Sr. Vo-tech- Alicia Hilterbrand, Flower girl-Jordan Taylor, Queen-Carmen Hale, Crown Bearer-Jay Taylor, Jr. Vo-tech-Vanessa Mitchell, Soph.-Tiffany Brigner, and Frosh.- Tracy Stiver-son.

Mandy Moore listens intently as a witness answers her question during Mock Trial practice. She was also a member of the band.

Josh McNelly converses with teammates during a Quiz Bowl match. This was his first year as a starter for the team.

The F.C.C.L.A. members gather after hosting a district meeting. The group attended a cluster meeting in Buffalo, NY and got to see such sights as Niagra Falls and the Hard Rock Cafe.

Club NHS

This year was somewhat of a prolific year for the clubs and extracurricular organizations. Some enjoyed continued success, while others started the year with a new beginning.

Quiz Bowl came into the school year with high hopes after losing their starting line-up from last year. Luckily, many of the remaining players stepped up to the task. Though many matches were a close race for the win, the team rose above and did quite well as a dominantly young age group.

F.C.C.L.A. enjoyed a profitable year. Not only were awards won at the regional rally, but they also hosted a district meeting as well. They once again sponsored the Christmas dance for the student body and the Northwest Challenge.

The Mock Trial team began the year practicing and researching for the county mock trial. The case was "The City of White Acres Bluffs vs. K.J. Tyler". They made a great showing at the event and made their mark as sophomore, Hannah Grierson took home the award for "Outstanding Witness".

All the clubs had a great year. They added extra special interest groups for the students which caused much student involvement.

Nancy Cable relaxes during a break of the a Quiz Bowl competition. Nancy was also a member of the Drama Club.

Talent of '99

Evening with the Arts is a long lived tradition at Northwest. Students submit themselves and their artwork to a panel of judges who choose a very select few to display for the night. Artwork from the elementary, middle, and high school are presented for fellow students, faculty, friends, and family in the NHS gymnasium.

Every form of art is represented in this evening of culture. Such art included sculptures, paintings, photography, drama, singing, instrumentals, writings, poetry, and drawings. "Evening With the Arts was very interesting because I got to see many projects that people worked on," stated Chrystina Chandler.

David Webb displays his abstract artwork in the gymnasium. He hopes to persue his creative gift in college.

Shawn Hoffer stands next to his photography project displayed at Evening With the Arts. He was part of Mr. Baker's photography class, first semester.

Senior, Megan Stiverson performs a dance routine for an audience in the cafetorium. Megan performed with a middle school student, a fellow member of her dance class.

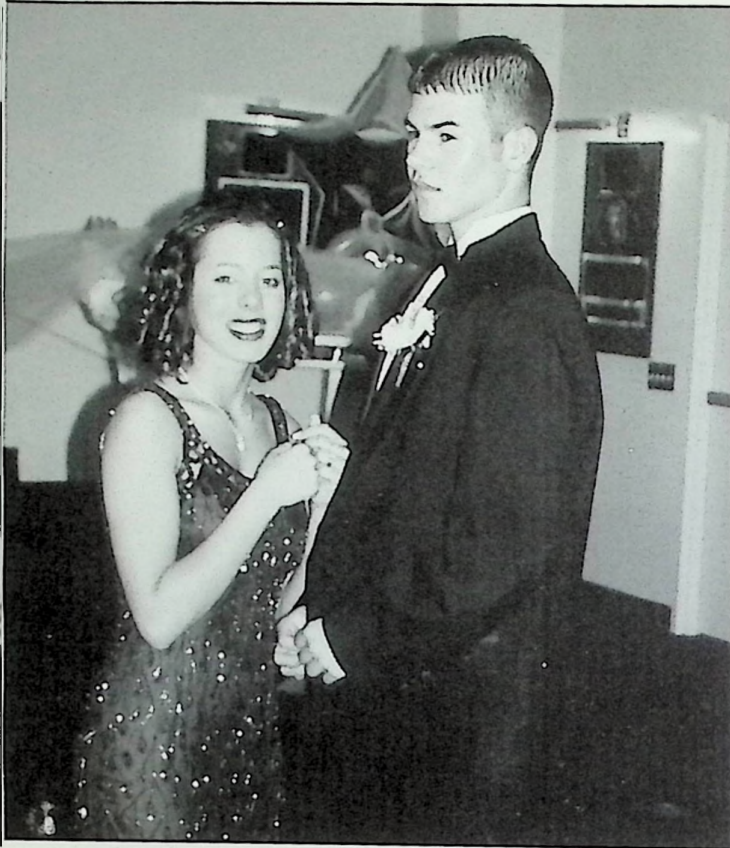

Jared Lute and Chad Stump participate in a saxophone quartet. They played along with David Webb and Josh McNelly.

David Bradford shows off his dry brush art. He was a part of Introduction to Art class.

Carmen Hale and Tracey Odle take time out from a dance to chat. The two took a limo to the prom.

Keith Eichenlaub and Miranda Kitts "boogie down" on the dance floor. Both were also involved with the decorating committees.

A group of boys take time out from their YMCA dance for a photo. Halfway through the night, they thought that the vest and bow tie look was much more entertainment.

Saved the Best For Last

Prom night is one of the most anticipated nights in a high school student's life. Curfews are usually extended, there are plenty of after-prom activities to attend, and the students get to dress formally for the night. Overall, it is a night to remember for a lifetime.

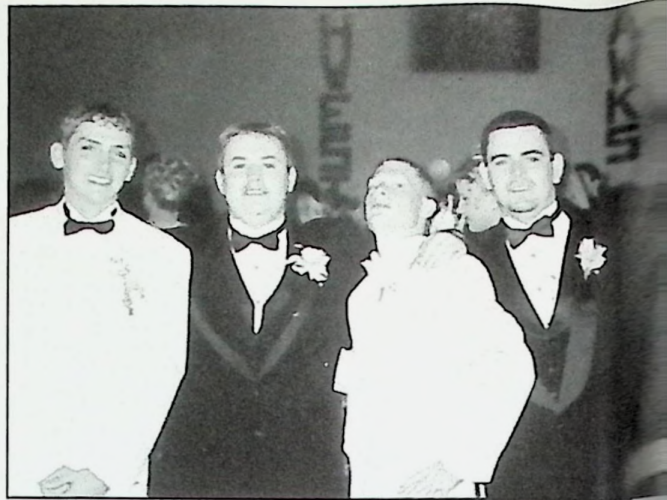

Many preparations were planned to make the 1999 prom a true success. The girls found the perfect dress, the guys found an awesome tux, and the school rushed to plan the budget. Prior to prom, the Grand March was held in the gymnasium to present the couples to parents, friends, and neighbors. Immediately following, the prom was held at the Friends Community College beginning with a catered meal. With good friends, great music, and much fun, the class of '99 definitely saved the best for last.

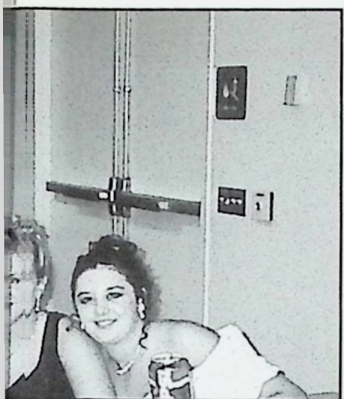

A group of girls start the prom off with a group dance. Music was provided by Todd Donathan DJ Service.

Seniors, Ted Dettwiller and Travis Stump enjoy a good meal with their dates. The prom was catered by McManus Catering.

Prom 1999

Forrest Bradbury delivers his valedictorian speech to the crowd. With maintaining a 4.0 average throughout high school, Forrest received many scholarships to attend Ohio University.

Jessi McAllister and Crystal Fitzpatrick walk down the aisle as graduation begins. Jessi addressed the class as Class President and Crystal delivered her Salutatorian speech during commencement.

The class of 1999 hurl their caps into the air at the conclusion of graduation. They will be greatly missed.

Class of '99 Dismissed

...Fellow graduates, this is the biggest test that we must face, an exam much more important than any we have taken over the past four years. Though some may struggle, we will succeed because if we are not able to overcome obstacles, we would not be present with our diplomas awaiting us.

We have long been together, some more than others, and gained friendships, support, and motivation. We can now remember what is behind us, realize what is next to us, and hope for what is ahead. We leave behind many memories and prepare to cross new boundaries. Whether this change may be scary or exciting, it is what we have worked so hard for and are deserving of. We must now prepare ourselves for what is behind the exit doors of high school. We will go beyond and show the world what we can do and the potential we have.....

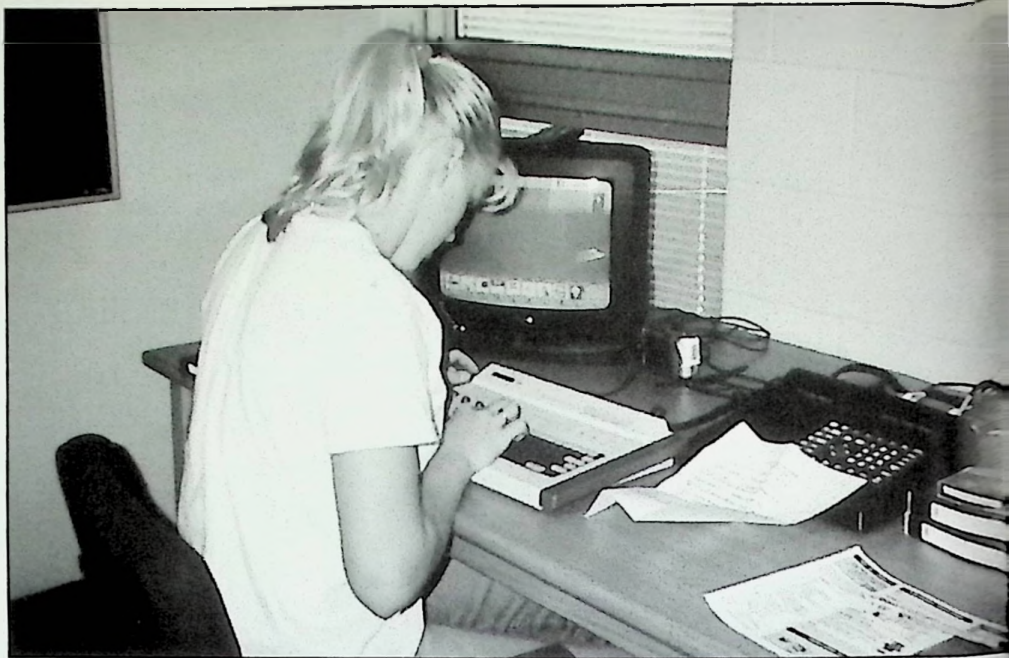

Crystal Fitzpatrick
Salutatory speech

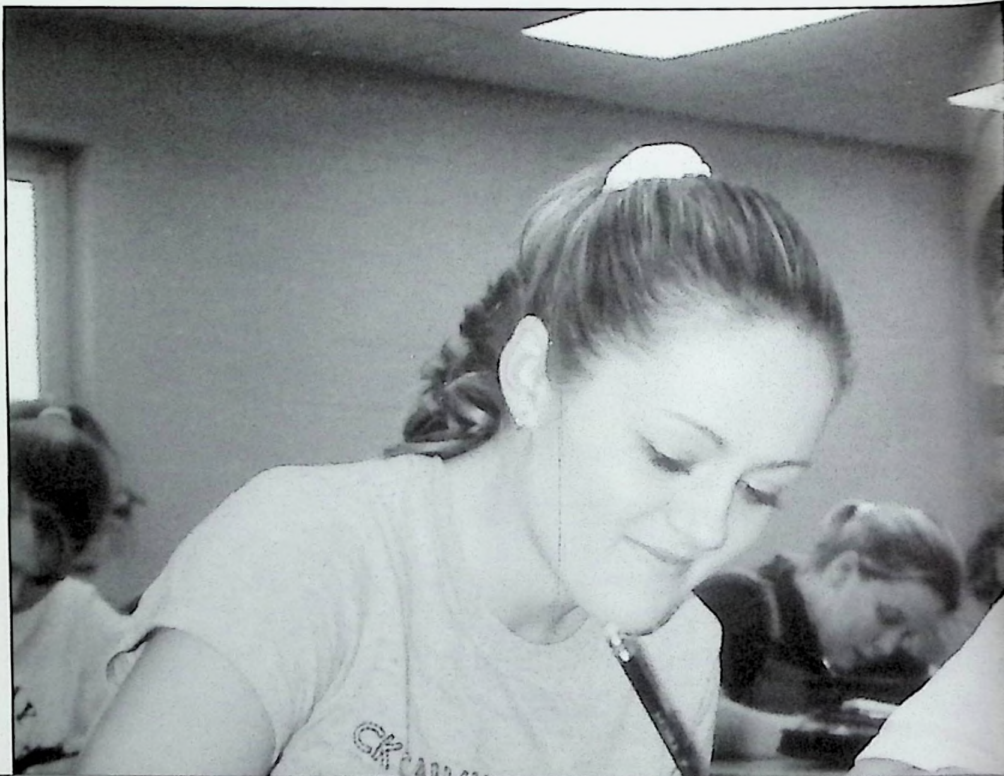

During the ceremony, scholarship recipients rise as their names are called. Nearly half of the class received an award or special honor.

Barney Phillips, Tracey Odle, and Barry Munyon get ready to enter the gymnasium. All received four year awards for athletics.

Jennifer Diehlmann works on titling her Mohawks Talk segment. The Media class visited WSAZ in the spring.

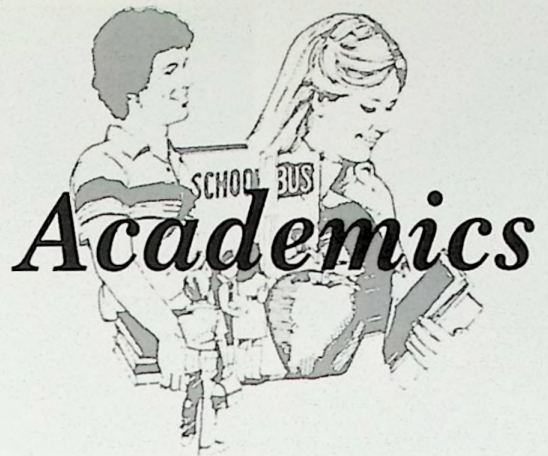

With school comes education. You come to school day after day, participate, learn, and strive to succeed. As this time goes by, you try your hardest to achieve the maximum (or as most people would say, "Get an A"). What does this symbolize? THE BEST! You've done your job as a student and you've done it well. It is proven that you have studied, learned, and applied yourself in receiving the education you came here for in the first place. You've worked hard and are deserving of the title "smart". You earn some knowledge and in the process make your teachers, parents, and yourself very happy.

Making the "A"

Rebecca McClary gets an early start on her algebra homework. She also participated in softball.

Academics

Elaina Brannan types an assignment for Legal Assisting class. She was a student at Scioto County Joint Vocational School.

Jennifer Puckett sets up a Biology experiment in Mr. Smith's class. The Biology classes also dissected animals.

Heather Emmons takes a break from pickle ball before the next serve. She was in P.E. I class.

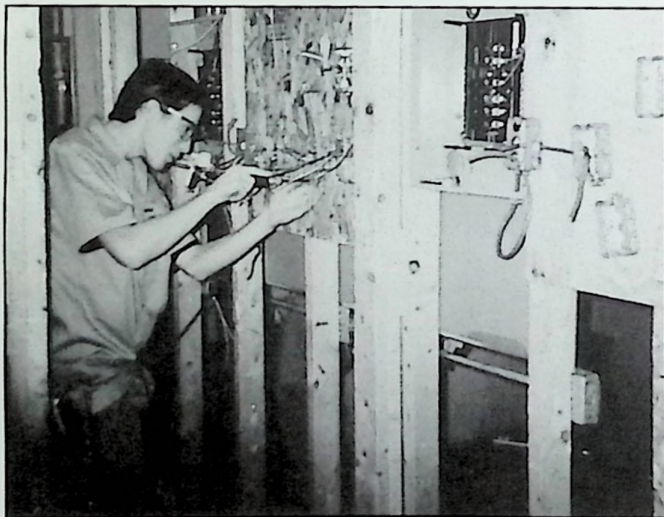

Matt Campbell makes sure his masonry work is straight. In this class, the students learned how to lay brick and build complete structures.

It's Vocational

The Scioto County Vocational School is designed for students in grades 11th and 12th who want to obtain knowledge in the career that they wish to pursue in life. Not only do they participate in regular school subjects such as history and english, but they also get hands-on experience while learning their chosen course. Some courses that may be chosen are things such as Machine Trades, Masonry, Accounting or Nursing Assistance. "In carpentry II, we built an entire house and it was a walk on the wild side. That's what I came to votech for though," commented senior, Sarah Smith. It is a definite time of hard work, but a time to get involved and have fun as well.

Alicia Hilterbrand, a senior in Dental Assisting II, stated, "The experience is great. When I graduate, I'll already be a certified dental assistant and able to start my career. For me, it is a way to get a headstart on my future."

Keith Whitt wires together the light sockets on a house. Safety standards were strictly enforced in this class.

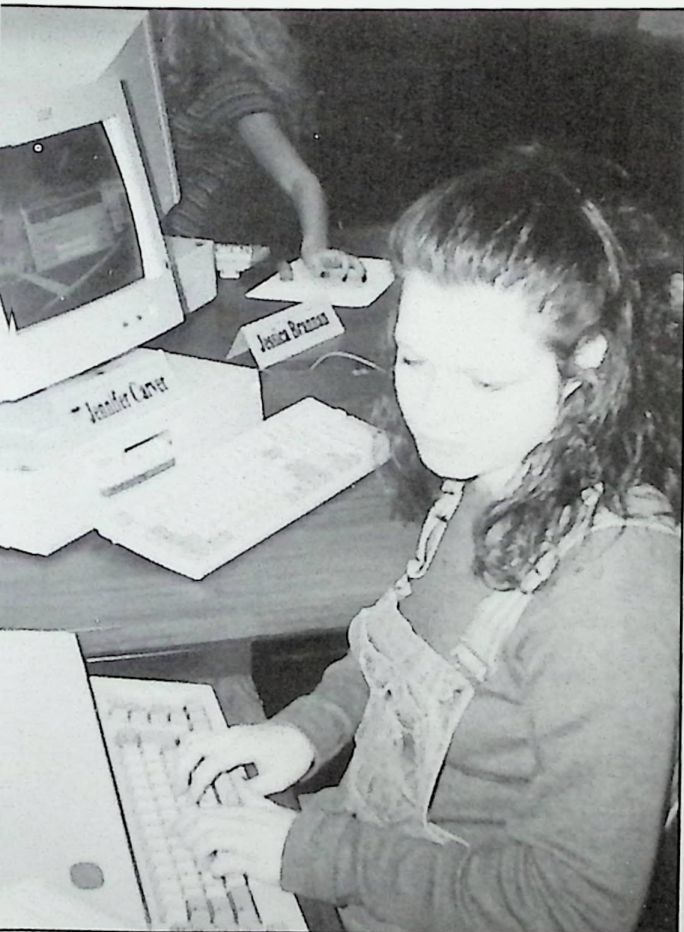

Kiera Wetmore works on cleaning Alicia Hilterbrand's teeth. The girls were part of the Dental Assisting class.

Jamie Little demonstrates on Kim Davis how to take one's blood pressure. Jamie was involved in the Nursing Assisting program.

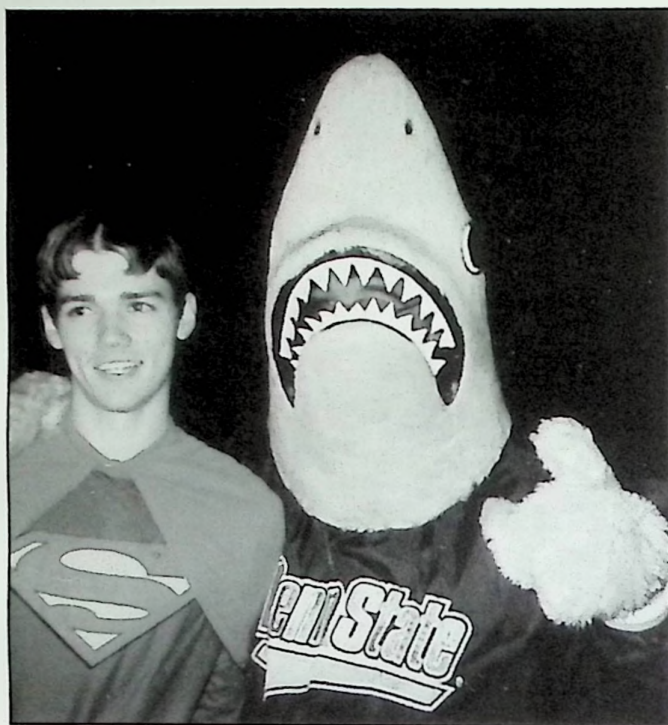

Senior, Jason Miller carefully saws off a piece of plywood. Jason was part of the Carpentry II program.

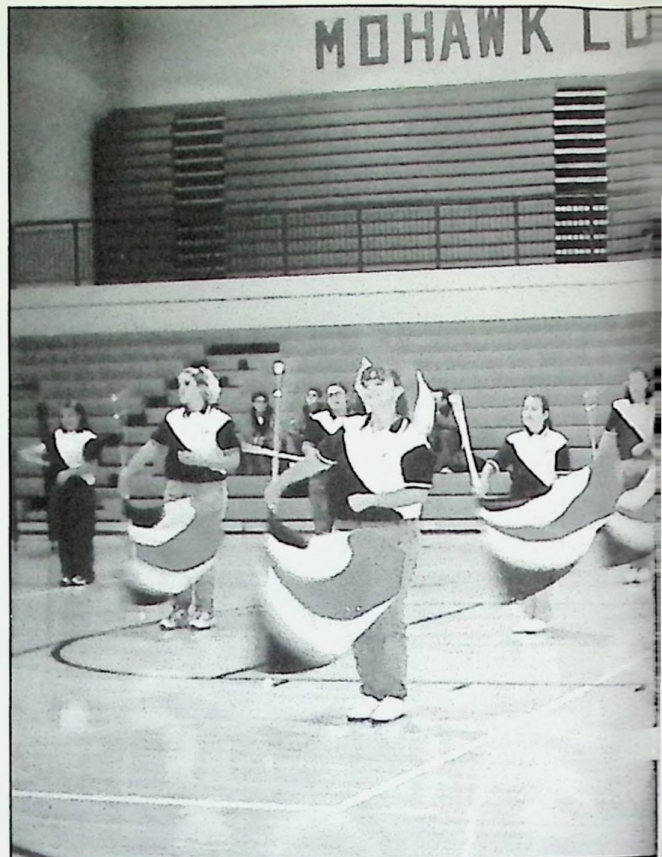

Jennifer Carver types up an assignment. In Legal Assisting, students got the chance to work with various aspects of the computer.

Charlie Brumfield chisels a piece of metal for Welding class. Flame retardant clothing was appropriate for this class.

T.J. Redoutey (Superman) and Nate Crabtree (JAWS) take a breather. They acted as props for the band's performances.

The Flag Corp perform to the school song at a pep rally. They went to a camp this summer to prepare for the year.

Ryan Sandlin practices his saxophone during last block. Ryan was also a member of the freshmen football team.

The Marching Mohawks march down Gallia Street in Portsmouth. They were participating in the River Days parade.

Nancy Cable and Jenny Lewis play their trumpets during a parade. The band practiced many hours before and after school.

The Flag Corp perform at River Days. "My favorite thing about flags was performing," stated Amanda Darlene Thompson.

Best of Hollywood

The Marching Mohawks theme, "Best of Hollywood", was complimented with many familiar songs. Some of these songs included, "First Knight", "My Heart Will Go On", "JAWS", "Cruella Devil", and "Superman". The band performed at local parades, contests, and the Friday night football games. They received many high awards as well as senior, Ryan Ervin, being presented with the Ohio All-state Band Award, the first ever in Northwest history.

Sophomore member Hannah Grierson stated, "Being with friends and going on the trips are the best things about being in band."

Valerie Gregory and Darlena Crabtree wait for their turn to play while marching. Both played the clarinet in the band.

The performances are fun and exciting also."

Side by side with the band, the flag corp could be found. They performed in the competitions and sports events as well. "Performing was so fun, but it also took a large amount of hard work and concentration. If I could change one thing about it all, it would be that I would have become a part of this my freshmen year instead of waiting because I missed out on some fun," commented Bridget McCleary.

It All Makes Science

In younger days, math and science had nothing to do with each other in normal meaning, but later in high school the two make a difficult combination.

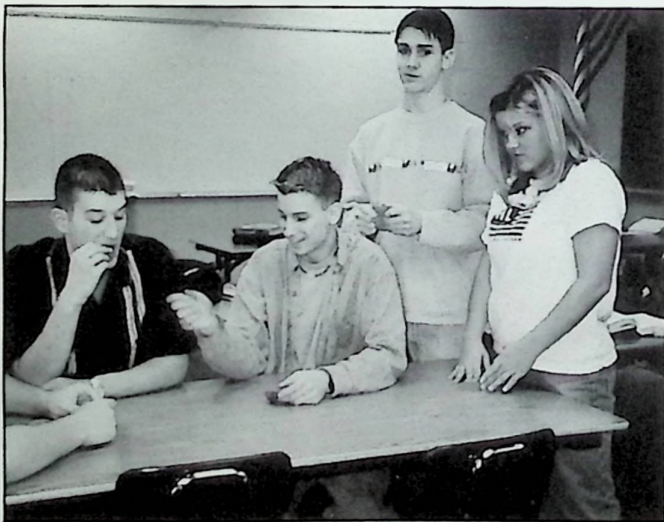

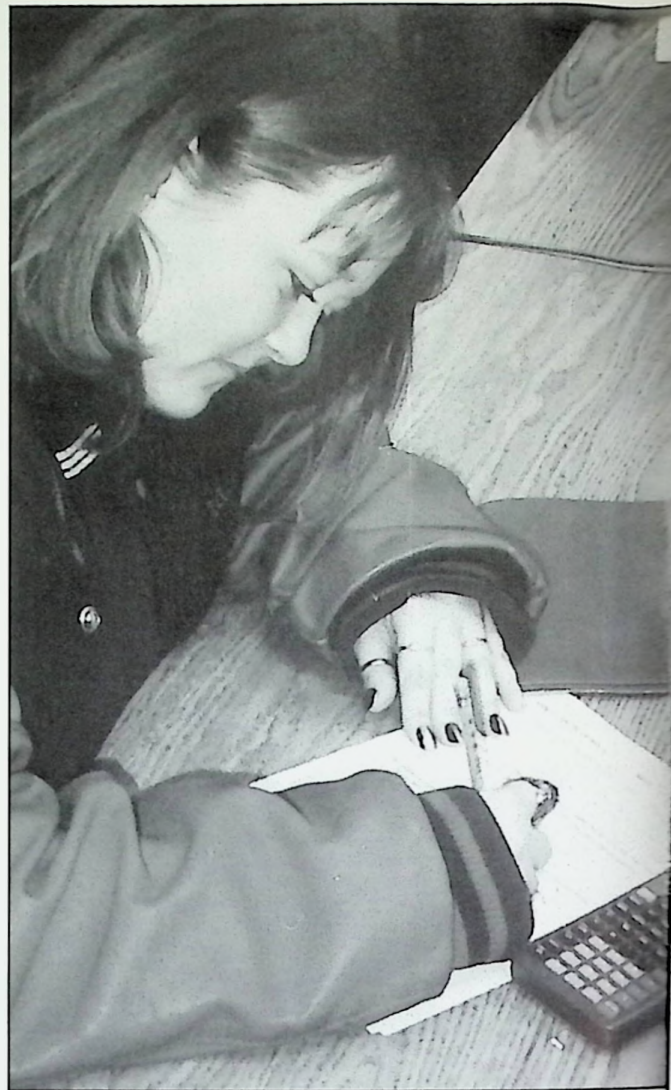

Math is a subject that some dread and try to avoid taking, yet others look at it as good learning experience for the future. Classes offered this year were: Algebra I and II, Pre-Calculus, Calculus, Geometry, Integrated Math I and II, and Intervention Math. Josh Brannon comments, "Algebra II is really enjoyable and Mrs. Little was a good teacher."

Science classes are full of experiments and just plain good fun. While the classes are demanding, they also offer a great learning experience. Biology I and II, Anatomy & Physiology, Earth Science, Environmental Science, Chemistry, and Physics are classes offered for the students.

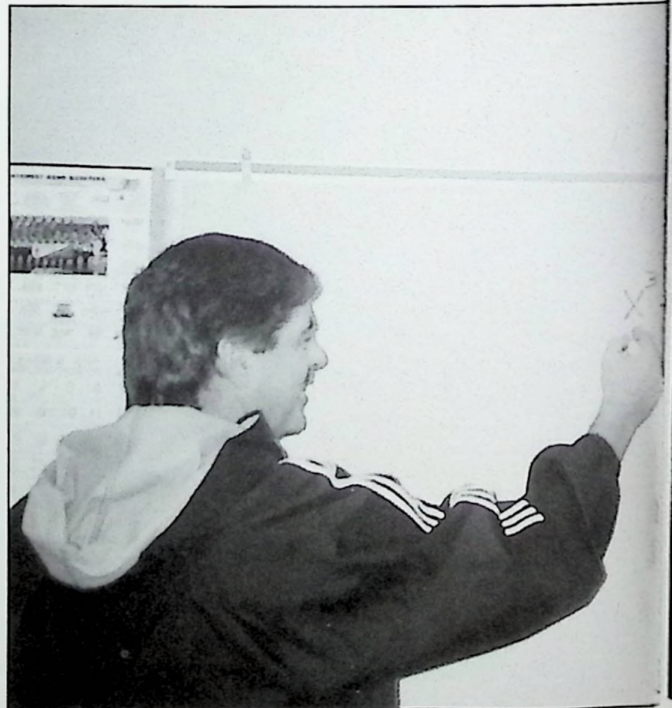

"Environmental Science brings all the science classes that I have had and combines them into one. It is really challenging so you have to work hard," stated Chad Throckmorton.

Mandy Taylor sweats it out as she takes an Applied Math test. Applied Math was a continuation of the Integrated I class.

Calculus students work together on molding Play-doh. They were studying the volume of a polynomial spinning around an axis.

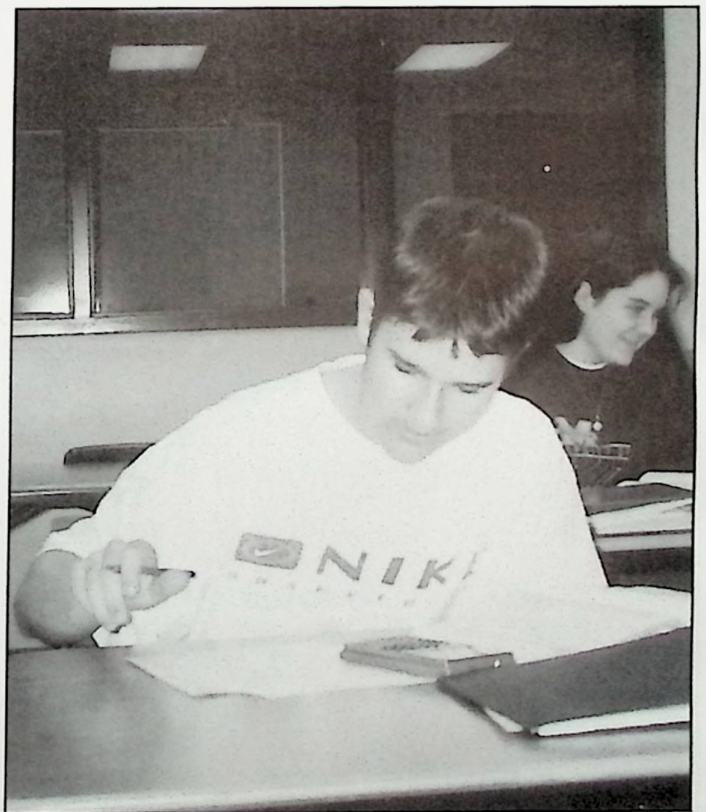

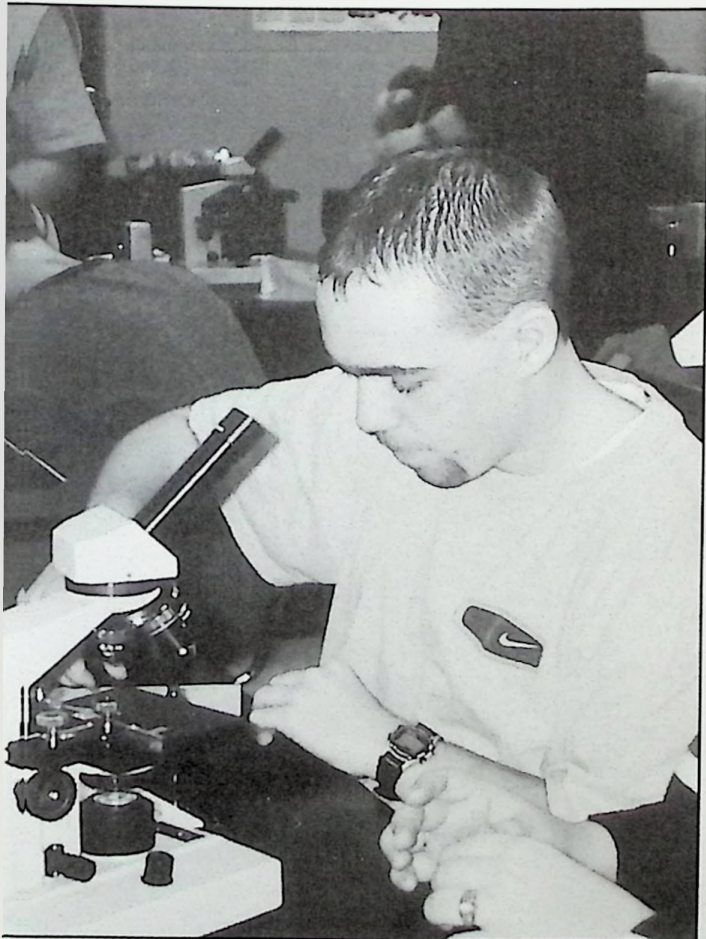

Mr. Queen teaches factoring to his Algebra I class. This was his nineteenth year as a teacher at N.H.S.

Mr. Orlett's Chemistry class show off their newly tie-dyed shirts. This was one of the fun labs the class performed this year.

Patrick Byrd prepared a "wet slide" to observe pond water. He was working with a microscope in Biology I.

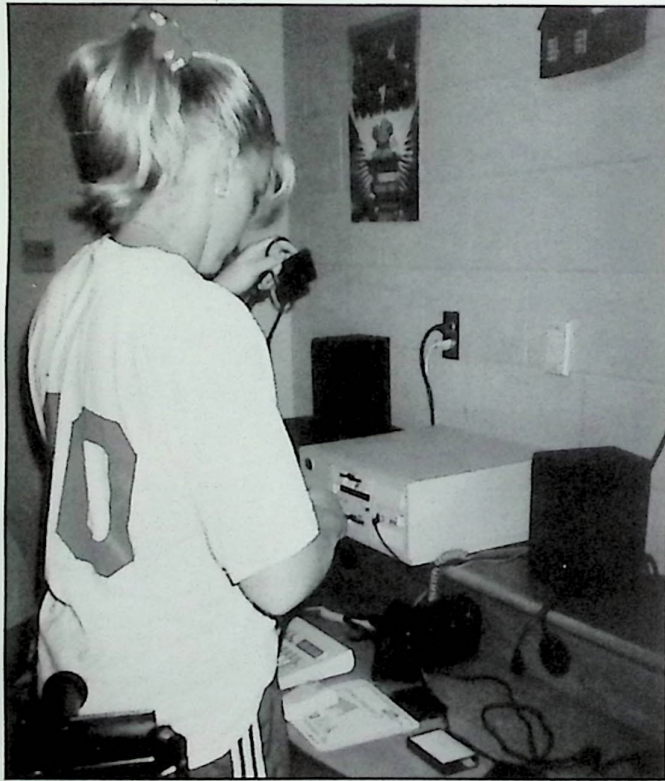

Sophomore, Rusty Fitzpatrick prepares his slide for the microscope. He was in Mr. Smith's Biology I class.

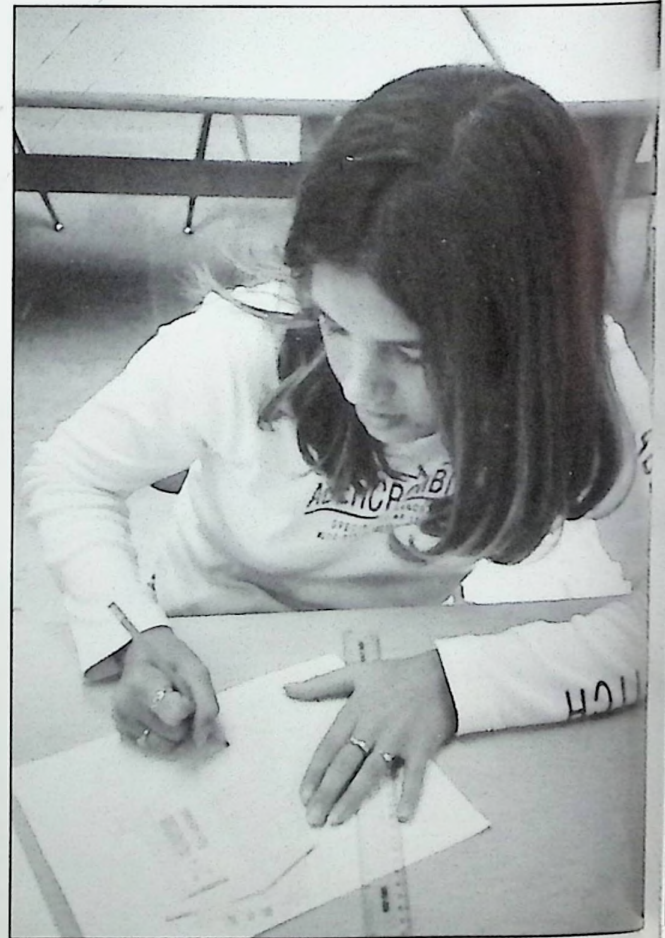

Michael Ireland works to complete his Geometry homework. Geometry taught basic formulas for shapes and algebra.

A group of Media students work together on editing the "Football Highlights" tape for the football banquet. The Media class also produced the show "Mohawk Talk" for the student body's entertainment.

Amanda Dawn Thompson shows the negatives that she developed. The negatives were then developed into actual pictures.

Jennifer Diehlmann takes an equipment test on one of the video cameras. The students had to know how to put together and use all the equipment correctly.

Cassie Stall works on a 3-D drawing. This was just one of the many creative projects that Mr. Baker assigned throughout the year.

Whitney Montgomery shades in her landscape picture. Whitney was part of Mr. Baker's Intro to Art class.

The Creative Way

In the subject of art, NHS students are open to three different areas to explore. On the TV side of things, Media class can be taken. The class prepares TV segments for Mohawk Talk and learns proper techniques in editing and titling. Crystal Fitzpatrick stated, "This was my first and only year in Media and I had so much fun not only when I was learning, but doing my work as well. My favorite thing about the class was watching people's reactions when they watched Mohawk Talk, the show we produced throughout the year."

For an overall visual view of what art should look like, classes such as Photography, Drawing, Painting & 3-D, and Intro to Art may be taken. While Photography teaches you how to take and develop pictures, art classes focus on teaching and strengthening your own creative skills. The teacher for the class, Gary Baker, commented, "I have been the art teacher for thirteen years and it never gets boring."

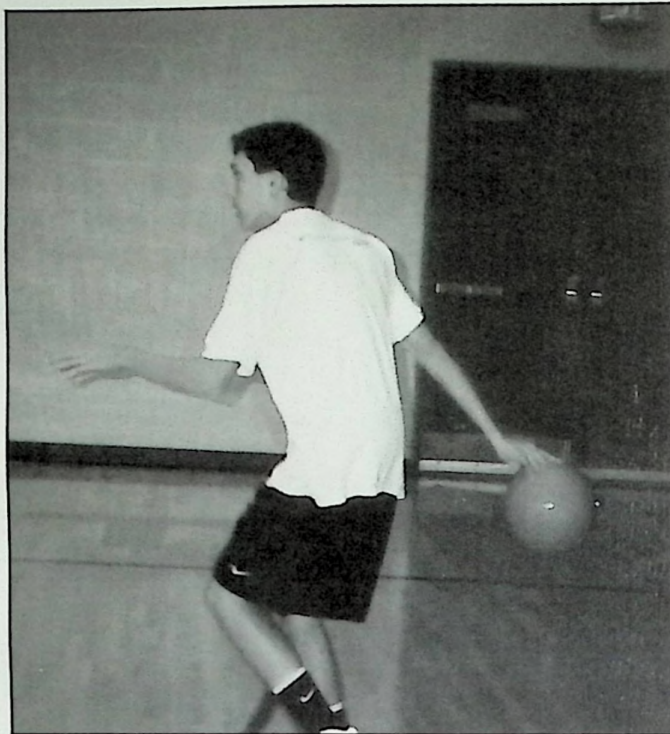

Alex Silow inserts his negatives into a special cannister. This was used for developing the negatives.

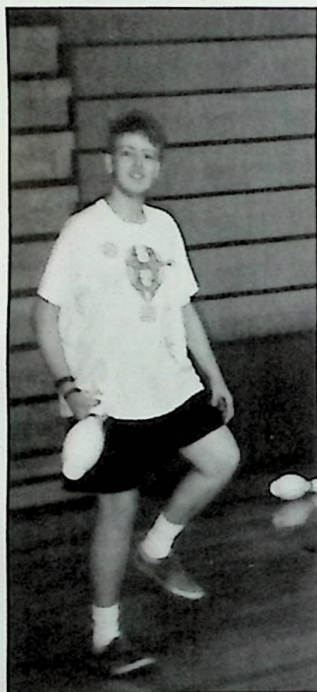

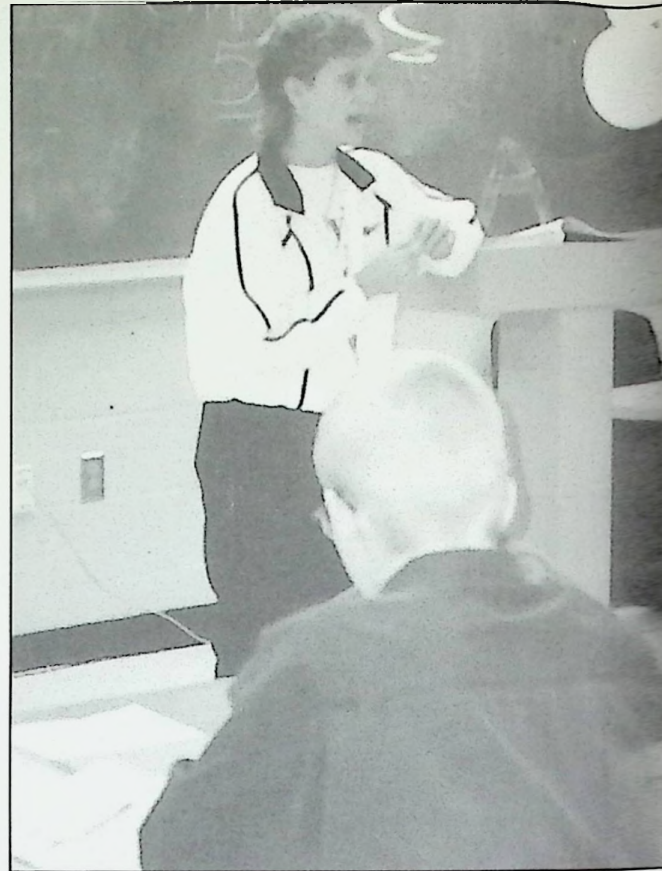

Joe Spriggs dusts off his negatives for his photos. This was done to remove all lint in order for a clear picture.

James Davis prepares to roll a strike in P.E. This was the week that the class learned the basics of bowling.

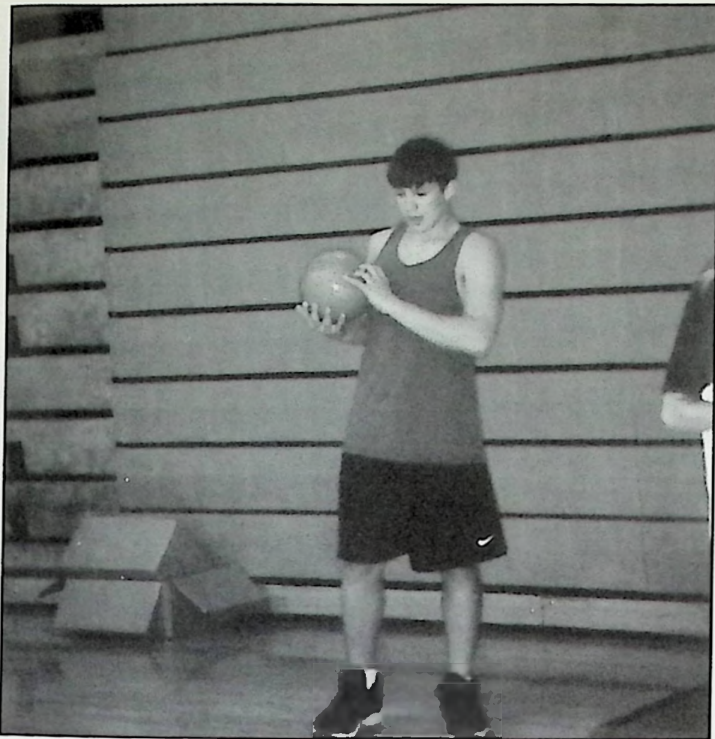

Miss Smith teaches her health class about the dangers of drugs. She also taught this concept in the Peer Listening class.

Stevie Adkins retrieves a bowling pin in P.E. He was a junior this year.

Brian Chandler pulls up for a field goal. He played JV and freshmen basketball.

Randy Mitchell prepares to hurl the ball down the lane. He was in Mr. Hegarty's P.E. 1 class.

Sarah Ross, Ashley Simon, and Tracy McAllister finish up their warm-up. Basic stretching always took place prior to the activities.

Let's Get Physical

The Health and Physical Education Department kicked off another exciting year. Miss Smith and Mr. Hegarty lead the classes into the sports and health world. In P.E. throughout the year they played basketball, flag football, golf, bowling, pickle-ball, badmitten, volleyball, softball, soccer and weightlifting. Health class covers drug abuse, exercise, eating right, reproduction, and STD's. In the process of this entire course, the class set goals and improved on their everyday lifestyles.

In advanced P.E., the class focused on furthering their skills in certain activities. The actual warm-ups and basic training may be more difficult, but it is expected for this level of a course.

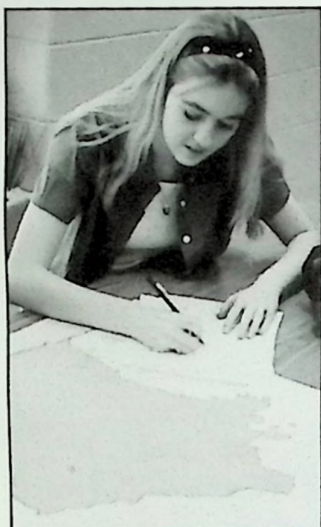

"P.E. was really fun since we got to play various sports instead of just a few. Health class was a big learning experience," commented freshman, Eric Kingrey.

Brian Smalley finishes an assignment in Health class. Health and P.E. were split into one block.

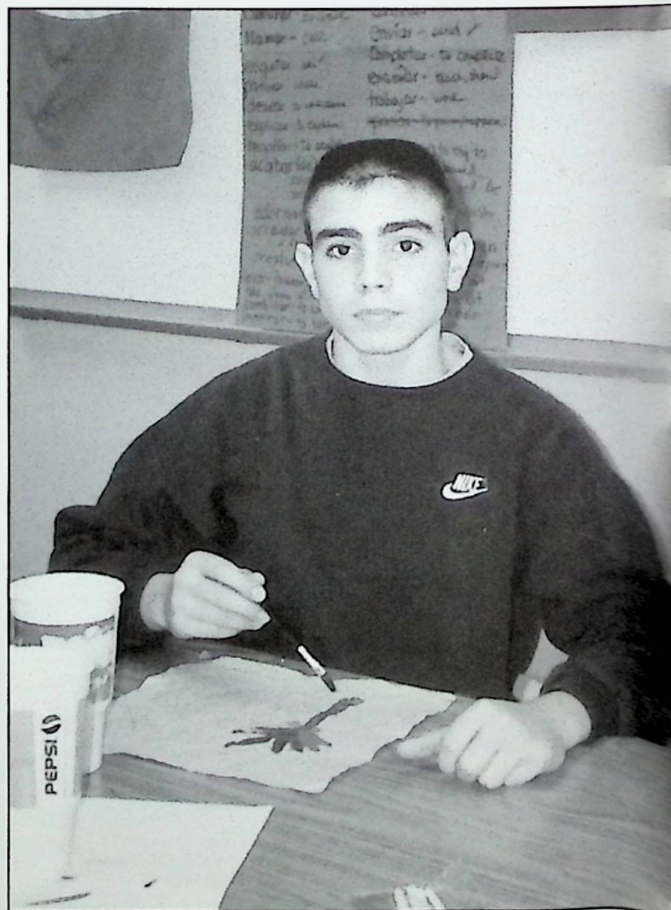

Chad Thomas gets smacked on the head by a confetti egg. Each student received this "ceremony" for each of their birthdays.

Becky Cable works on her report for French IV. Becky also participated in softball and band.

Josh McNelly and Alicia Nichols stand by their Mardi Gras projects. These are used for tourist information in France.

Jason Jenkins completes his Spanish II project. Ms. McGinnis was the teacher for this class.

In Other Words

With foreign language courses comes various projects and fun activities. For Spanish, the students learned a culture's lives and language. The first and second year classes made cascarones, which are empty egg shells filled with confetti, then decorated with paints or dye. Other projects for the year included making pinatas, raising money for an orphanage in Guatemala, and creating bark paintings, famous art of Hispanic and Latino origin. In the winter, the class got to learn Spanish Christmas songs to sing to the elementary students during the holidays.

In French classes, various foods from Europe were made and tasted by the students. Also, the class did presentations on a certain city of France and got the class involved by having a creative project. This would be anything from a delicious French dish to putting on a class skit, all in the French language. "The main benefit of taking a foreign language is I got to go on the trip to Europe and discovery a whole other continent," commented French II student, Chad Alexander.

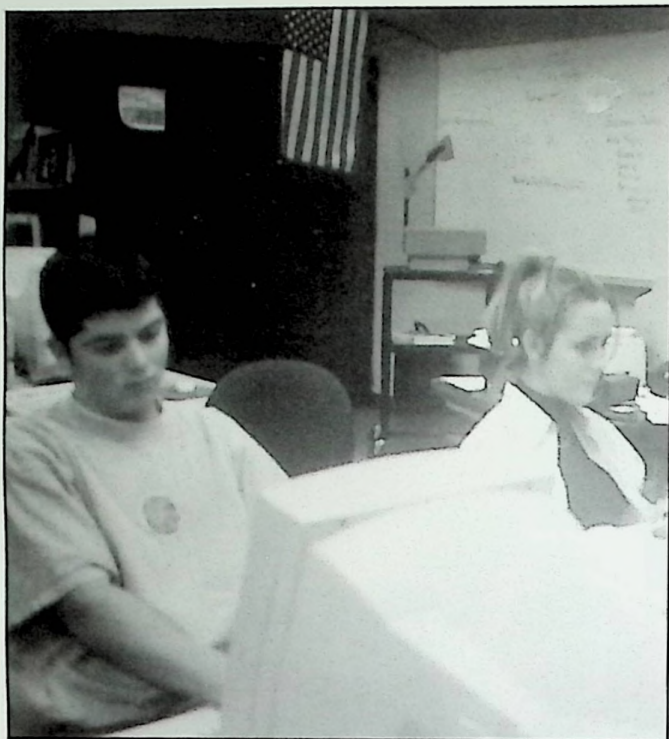

Amy Glenn works on her French III presentation. The class had to research and demonstrate to the class about a city of Europe.

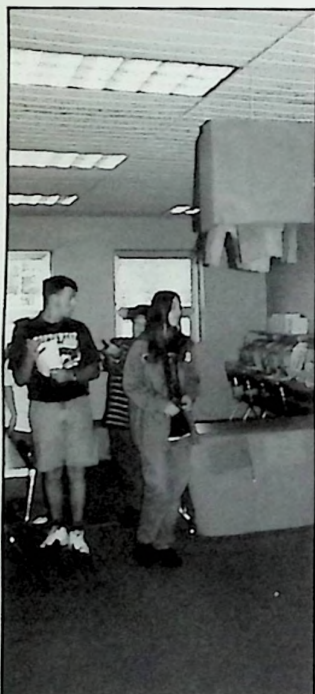

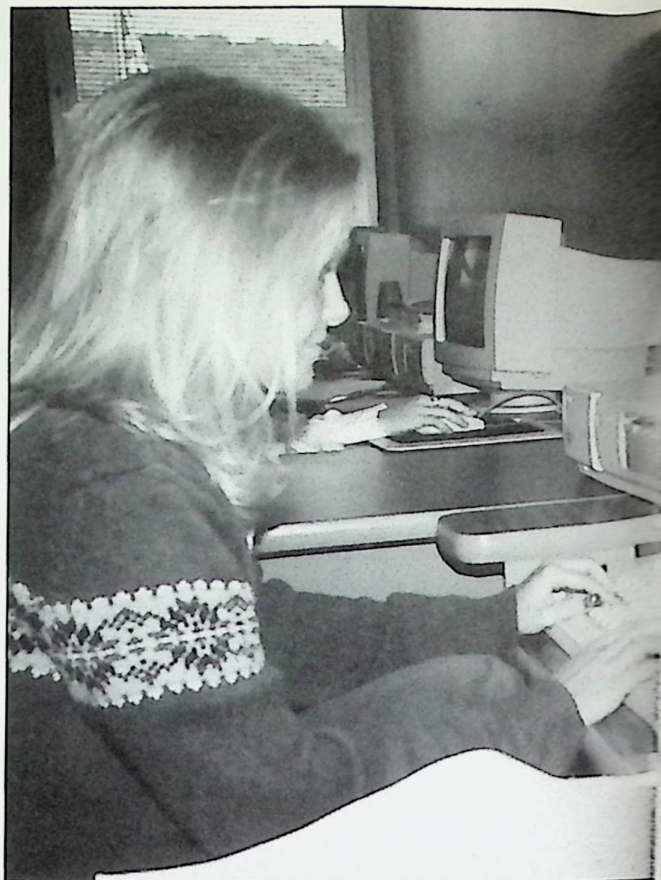

Jill Cunningham and Amanda Dawn Thompson paint a bark painting in Spanish II. The class hung their artwork in the hallway for the student body to view.

Tim Lang and Melissa Barber help each other on their Spanish questions. This was a project to help communicate better in that language.

Exhausted but working hard, Jimmy Farmer completes his work for Mrs. Moore. Mrs. Moore was the advisor over the school web page.

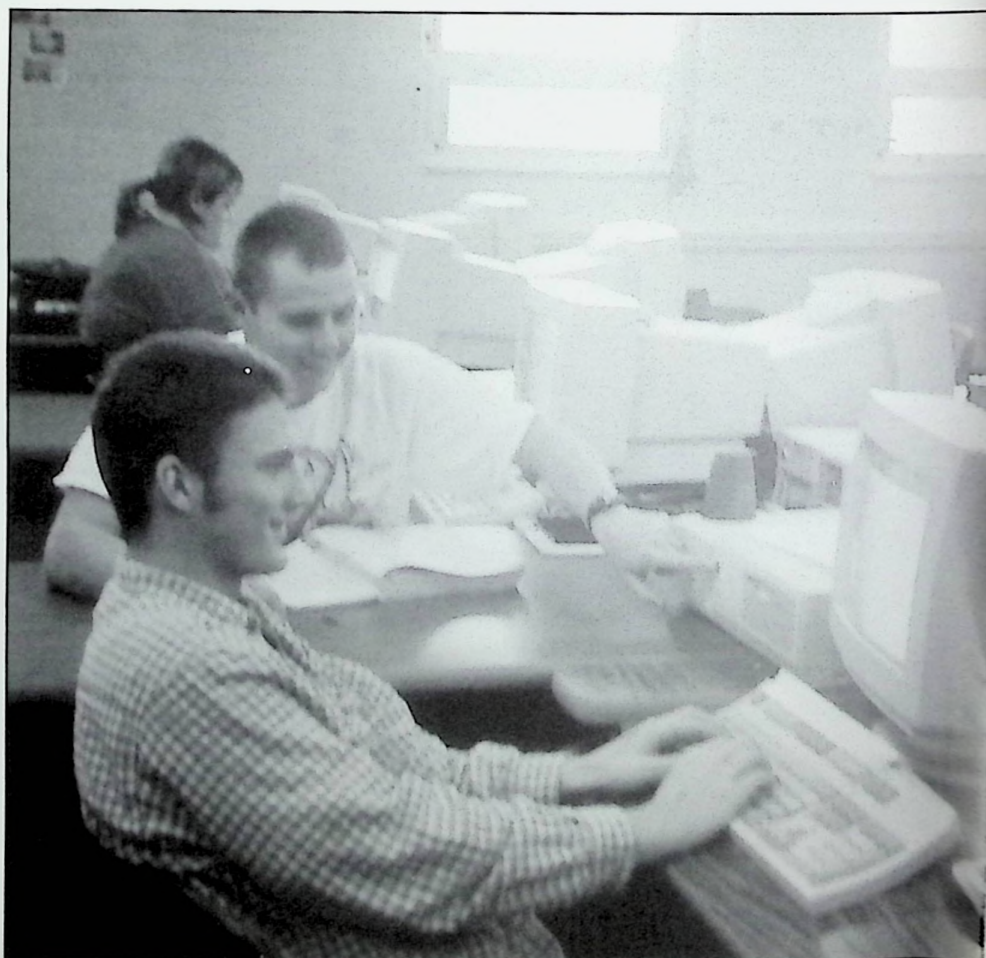

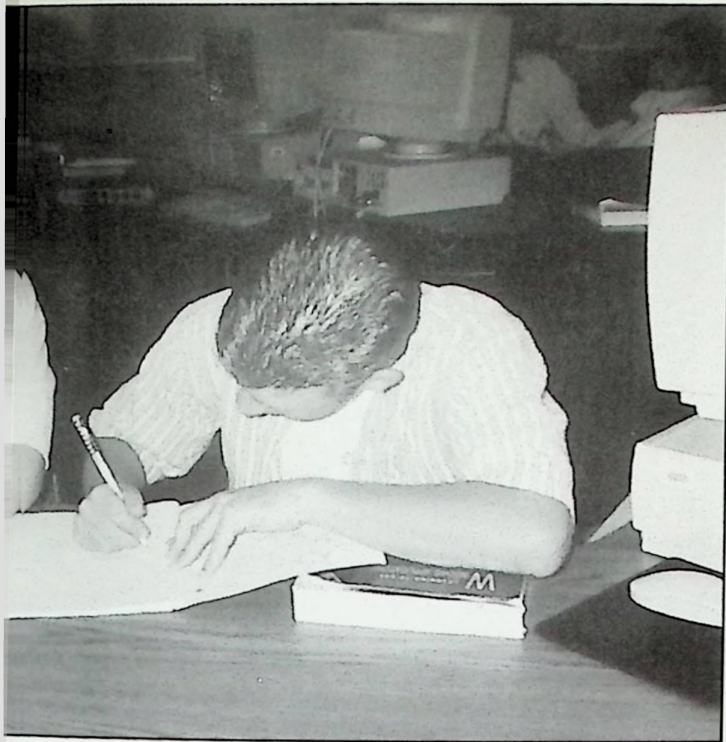

Lindsey Brown gives a little grin while working on her assignment. She was the Secretary of the Pep Club.

Jason Koch and Becky Kerns advertise their "REAL Store". This project was entitled "Get Up & Go".

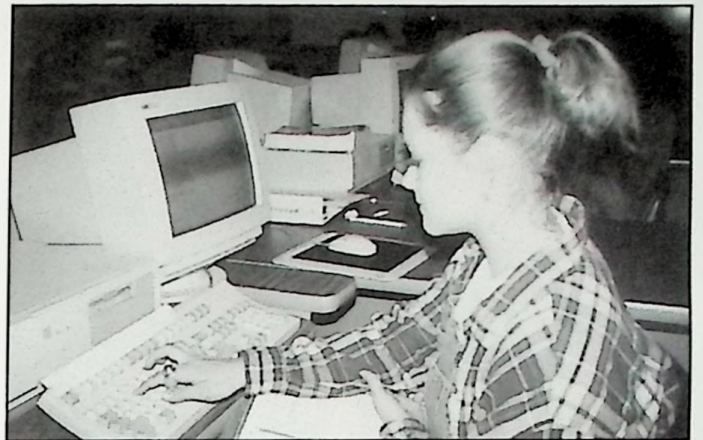

Overton Pierce informs Donovan Penn that his computer is on and ready to go. Overton ran track while Donovan played basketball.

Jared Lute completes bookwork in Computer Applications I. In this class, basic Microsoft programs were taught.

Stephanie Chapman types in her work in Mr. Bouyack's class. She was in Word Processing.

The "REAL" Side of Computers

The business/computer department at NHS has been one of the fastest growing subjects over the past few years. The teachers, Mrs. Brenda Moore, Ms. Lynn Patrick, and Mr. Earnie Bouyack, teach the students various programs and activities on the computer leaning toward the business perspective. While all taught Computer Applications, some other courses included Word Processing, Keyboarding, Desktop Publishing, Business Law, Computer Science, and Accounting.

REAL, taught by Mr.

Bouyack, was set up to give the students a real look at what it would be like to manage a business. One business made up by Randy Taylor and Michael Webster actually turned into a Car Stereo contest sponsored by the REAL class.

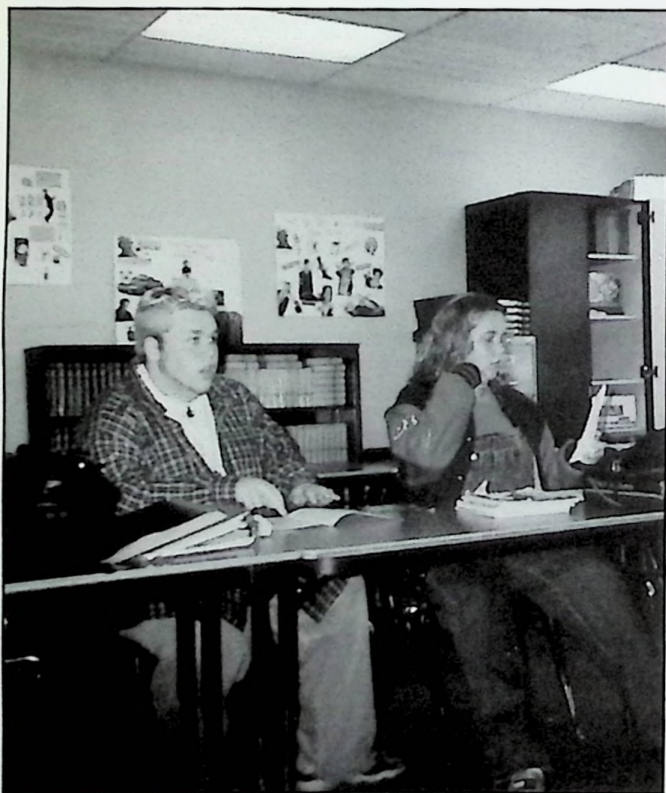

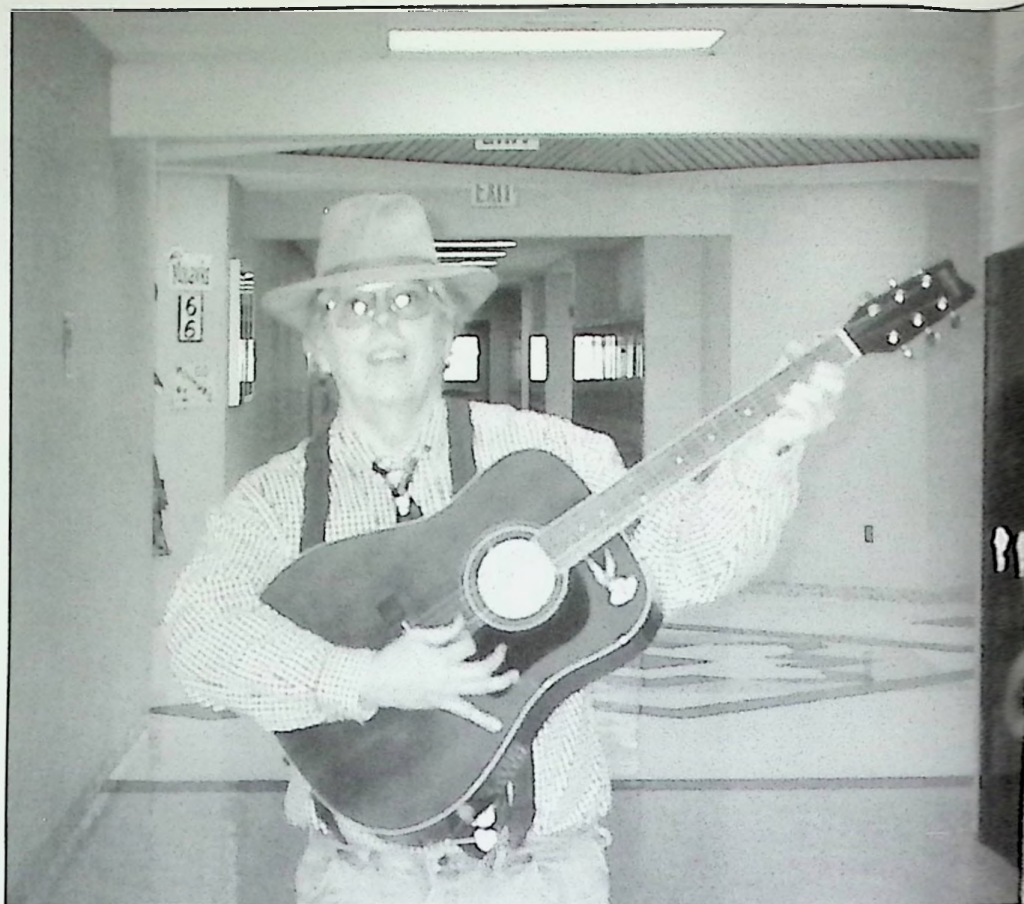

"NHS is more of a challenge due to the larger classes," commented Ms. Patrick, whom took over Mr. Davis' job after his retirement at the beginning of the school year.

Emmy Lakes sits working hard at her computer in Business Technology class. She was voted Jr. Vocational School Attendant for Football Homecoming.

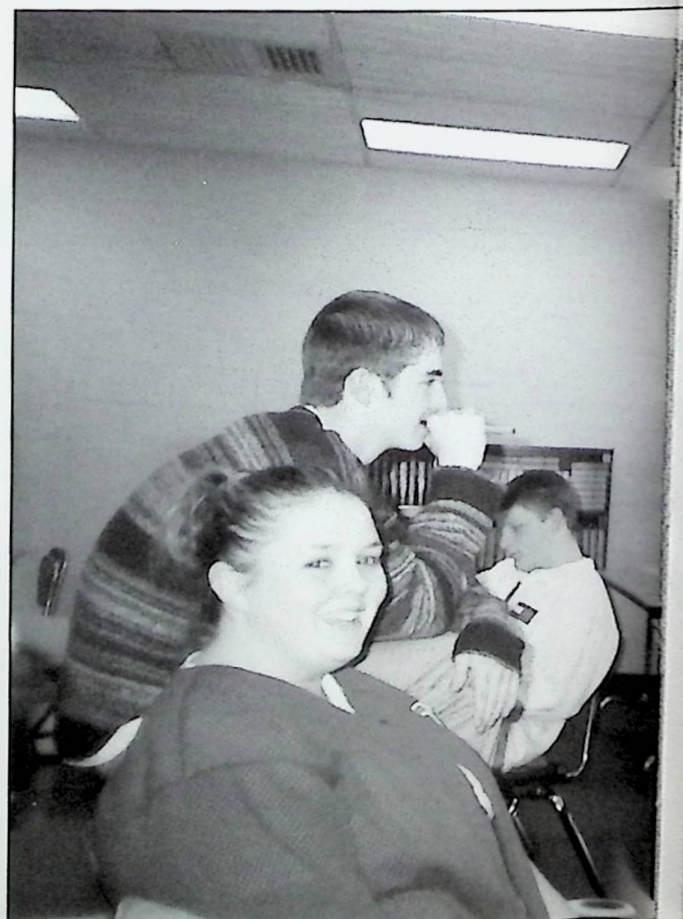

Mr. Jones plays some tunes on his guitar. He always found many ways to entertain his senior home-room and English classes.

Matt Yeager acts out a skit in Great Books. When Matt wasn't dressed in women's clothing, he was a starter for the boys varsity basketball team.

Clayton Ellis and Leanna Fritz listen as Ms. Weaver explains an assignment. Publications students wrote for the school newspaper.

44

Kari Hobbs and David Bobst discuss new yearbook ideas. David was part of the sports section and Kari was part of academics.

Write On!

English and Publications are two subjects where hard work pays off. If the work is completed, many helpful lessons may be taught to carry on after high school. Here at NHS, students take a very wide variety of English classes such as American Literature, Poetry, and Holocaust. Many different cultures and events are studied as well as the everyday writing ritual.

In Publications, the students get a hands-on experience on the school yearbook, Lakota and the newspaper, Smoke Signals. Pictures are taken, articles are written, and the students get to know the community by selling ads to fund the yearbook.

"I really enjoyed Publications and all my English classes. In Publications, I got to take pictures and get out to sell ads. In my English classes, Mr. Jones was my favorite because we got to watch many great movies," stated sophomore, Clayton Ellis.

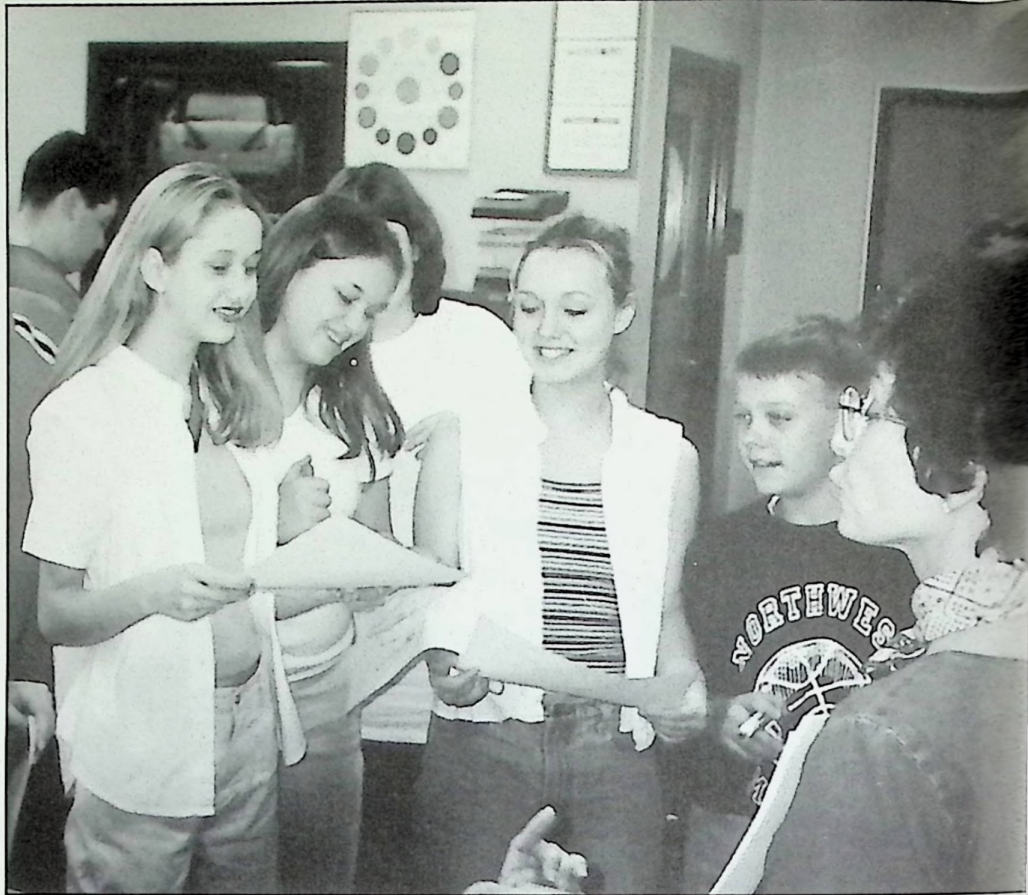

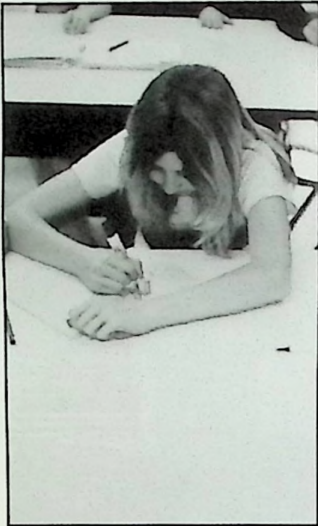

Amanda Pertuset crops a picture for one of the yearbook layouts. This was one of the many activities required to get the pictures into the Lakota.

Lauren Applegate and Michael Zornes finish an assignment in Intro to Composition and Literature. This was a mandatory class for freshmen.

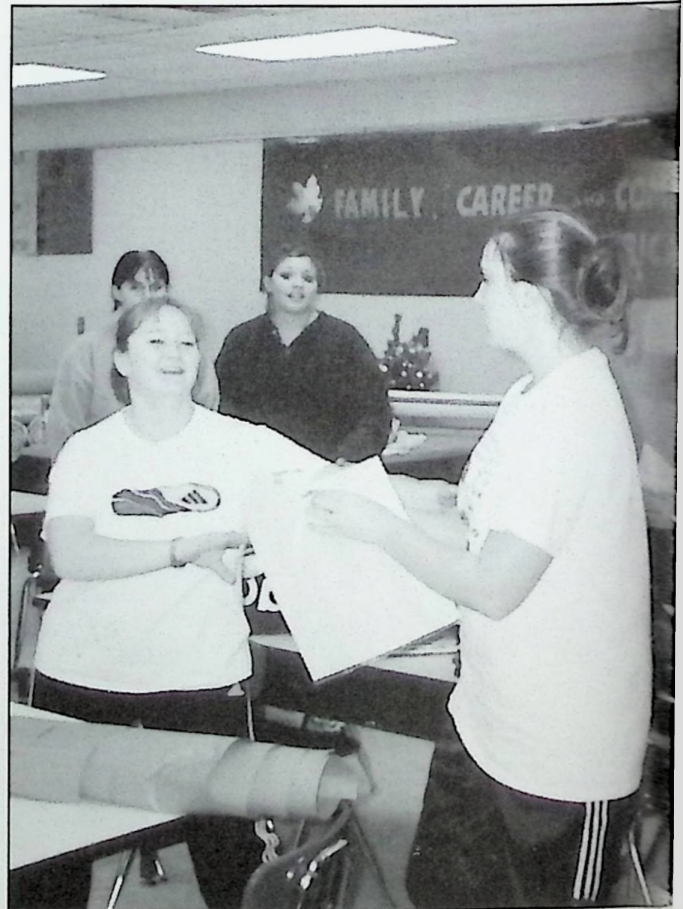

Mrs. Pennington explains to the class how an assignment should be done. She was also an advisor for FCCLA.

Brandy Fitzpatrick works on a diagram in Personal Development. This assignment was designed to help the mind in remembering.

Andy Lintz and Curt Smith show off their cooking gear. They were preparing stuffed pasta that day.

Mandy Taylor and Sarah Patrick work on decorations. They were planning for the FCCLA dance during Christmas time.

This Is Your Life

The Family and Consumer Science classes are considered an important part of the curriculum. There are many different classes to choose. The classes are challenging, but fun. They are designed to manage and develop the mind, body, and life of an individual. They prepare you for life and its problems.

The course choices include the following: Personal Development

Randy Mitchell concentrates to complete a worksheet. He was in Mrs. Pennington's Resource Management class.

ment / Resource Management, Nutrition & Wellness, Life Planning, Family Relationships, and Parenting.

Mrs. Pennington has taught for three years and Miss Reynolds has finished up four year while also being the flag corps advisor. FCCLA (Family Career Community Leaders of America) is an organization associated with the Family and Consumer Science courses. FCCLA sponsors the Christmas dance each year and is involved in leadership and community service activities.

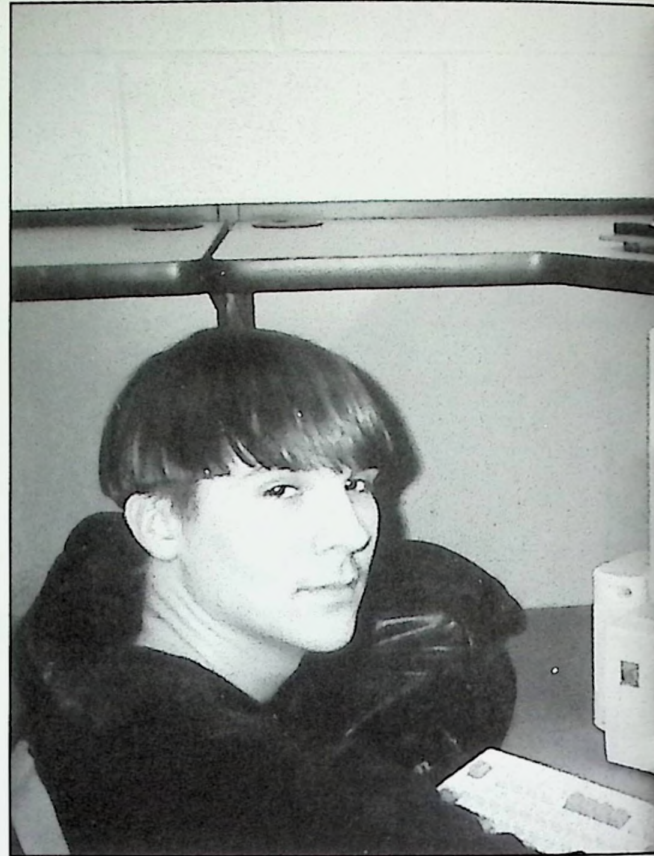

Amy Carver washes the dishes after cooking. This was one task the students were required to do.

Josh Montgomery and Jeremy Johnson wipe some bowls to store their food. Many foods were prepared in Nutrition & Wellness class.

While in Home Maintenance, Chuck Morgan gets somewhat dirty. He was working on a vehicle.

Stephen Collins works on a drafting project. He was using the program called Auto-CAD.

Curt Smith tries to figure out the drill press. He was in Metal Tech class with Mr. Jenkins.

Ty Slone, in his protective gear, prepares to weld. There was a special room for this in order to maintain safety.

Eric Ervin plays around in the Robotics lab. This was one of the new technologies added to the shop room.

Mr. Jenkins helps out Russell Ware with a drawing. This project was done to learn correct measurements.

Cuttin' Up

Industrial Arts offers a chance to get vocational skills without going to a vocational school. Classes offered were: Industrial Technology I, II, & III, Home Maintenance, Metal Technology, and Power Mechanics. They are all designed to prepare students for life after school and to teach skills that could come in handy so they can turn into "do-it-yourself-ers".

"Now with the new technologies in the shop department, Industrial Tech is for those who are interested in something different. You not only get to work hands-on with wood, but Robotics, Mechanisms, Bio-Medical Tech, and Pneumatics are learned." I got to take apart and put back together a car engine and begin to weld. The class offers exciting opportunities and you have a large amount of fun," said junior, Trevor Bullock.

Matt Crabtree levels off a side of his table that he made. Any assignments completed can be taken home for use.

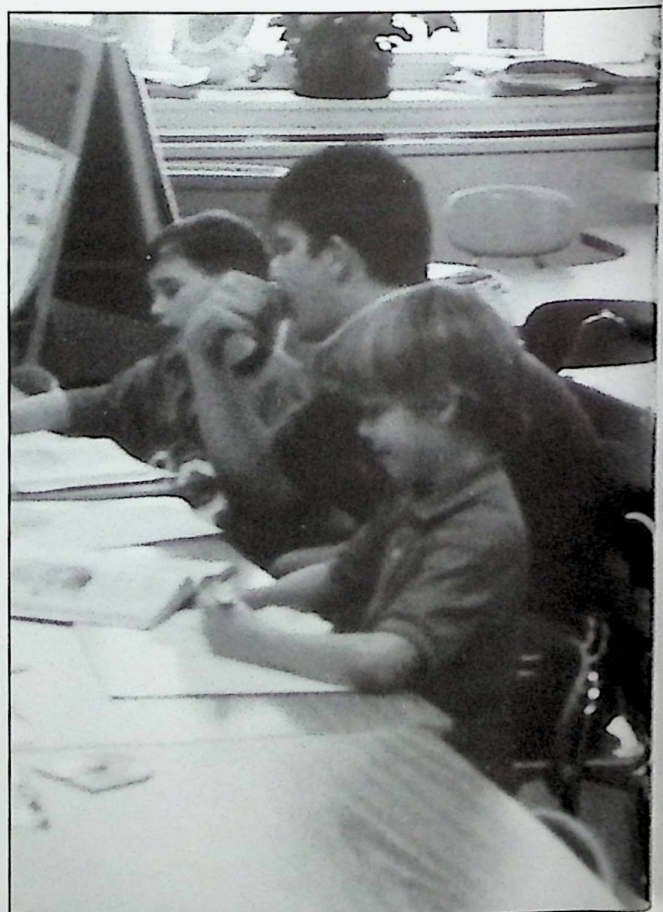

Catie Altman reads along with some elementary students. She was also a member of the PRIDE team.

Mr. Noel shows off his farewell balloons. His JOG classes held a party for his last day at N.H.S.

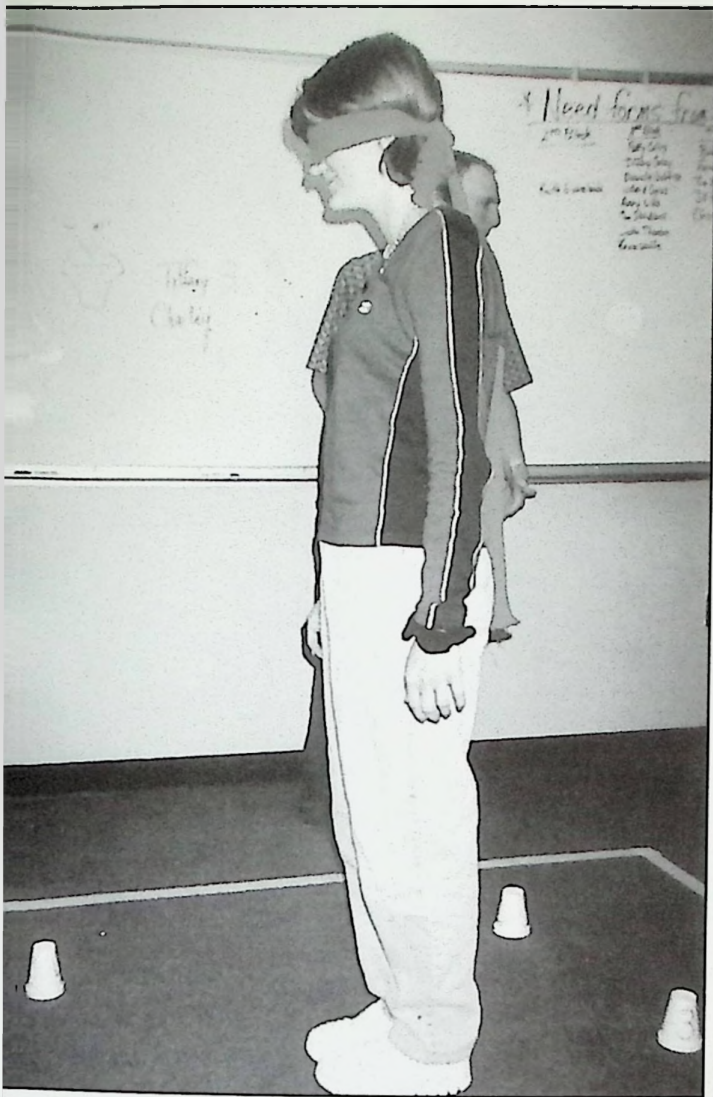

Joni Radabaugh works on an assignment for Mrs. Cayton. She was part of JOG I for sophomores.

Dennis Lintz tutors two students in math. The class regularly went to N.E.S. to help the younger kids.

Giving a Hand

The JOG and Peer Listening classes help prepare students for activities inside and outside of school. They learn aspects of life by helping others and practicing for the future.

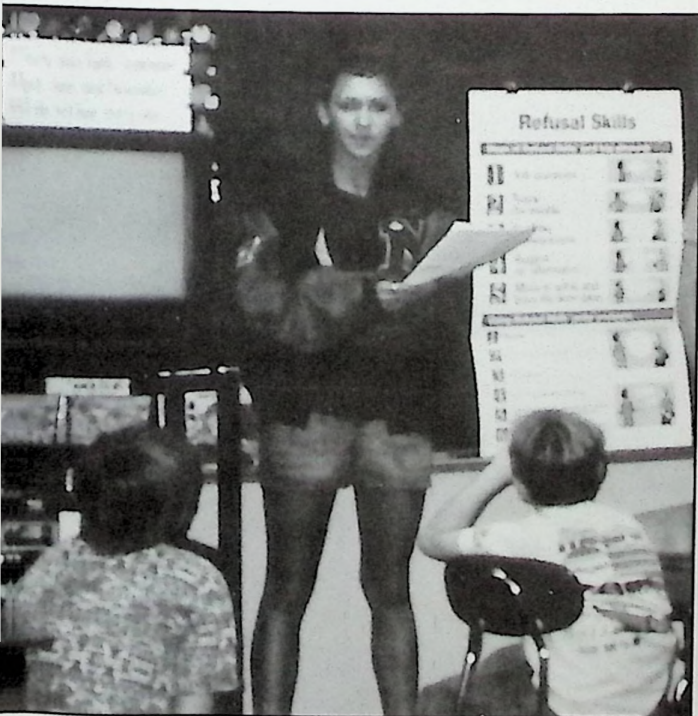

Students receive community service hours for their work. They get first hand experience on filling out resumes, job applications, and participating in interviews to prepare them for the workforce.

Charley Lewis tries to find her way, blind folded, around an assortment of cups. This was a project in JOG II to help teach how to follow directions.

Some projects for this year included building doll houses, putting together a mock funeral, and many more.

"JOG was cool, we did some fun things and got to help out others during Christmas time," commented Jennifer Pierce.

Peer Listening students base their learning on helping the students. They tutored and helped the elementary students with all school subjects, including the computer. The class also learned about the effect of drugs and how to mend conflicts.

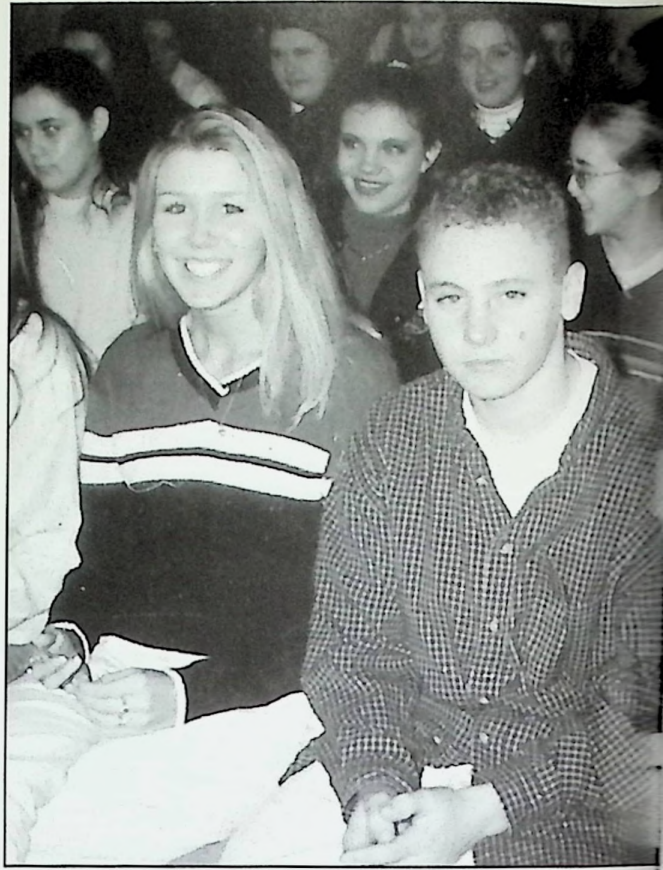

Andrea Butler teaches a elementary class on ways to say no to drugs. This was another main topic covered by the class.

Keith Phipps, Barney Phillips, Jerry Barlow, and Tracey Odle present their business. Later, they were asked questions on budgeting.

A group of girls prepare to sing Christmas songs on the radio. The songs were broadcasted on 12.60 of WNXT.

Andrea Butler and Jacob Stiver-son get ready for the production to begin. The two were narrators during the concert.

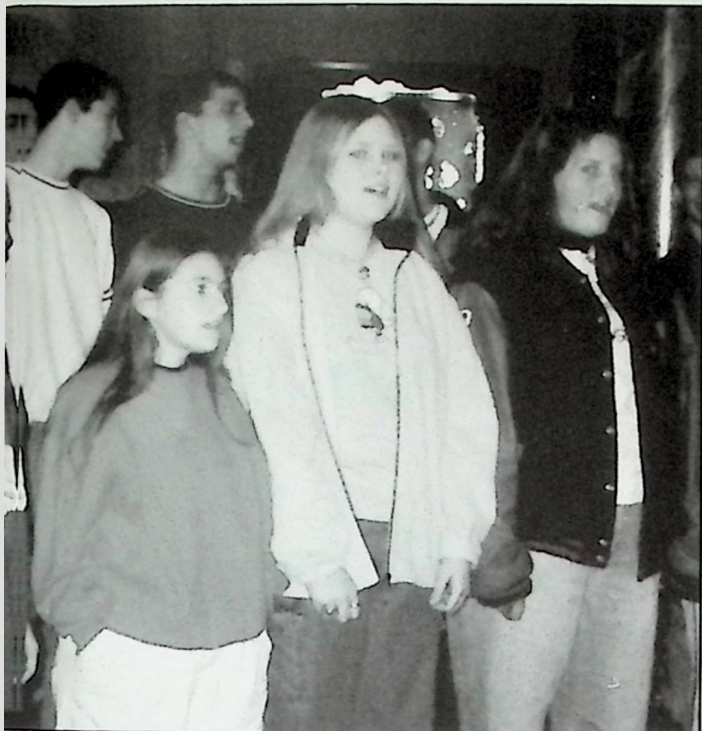

Amanda Darlene Thompson gives a wave before leaving the concert. Out of school, she also took singing lessons.

Chorus students gather at Golden Corral in Portsmouth. After being on the radio, the group got to enjoy a good meal for a reward.

Bridget McCleary, Trista Jones, and Jenny Lewis sing at the court house. They also traveled to a nursing home that day.

Fa-la-la

This year's chorus classes were held both semesters with two classes each. For first semester, the group performed at the annual Christmas concert. With the theme, "Twas the Night Before Christmas", the students told the story, sang various tunes, and added in some funny jokes. The class also traveled to Portsmouth where they sang at a nursing home, the court house, and for a local radio station.

"My favorite part was getting to sing for the elementary students," stated

Clinton Throckmorton returns from his role as Santa Clause. Chorus performed for the elementary and middle school.

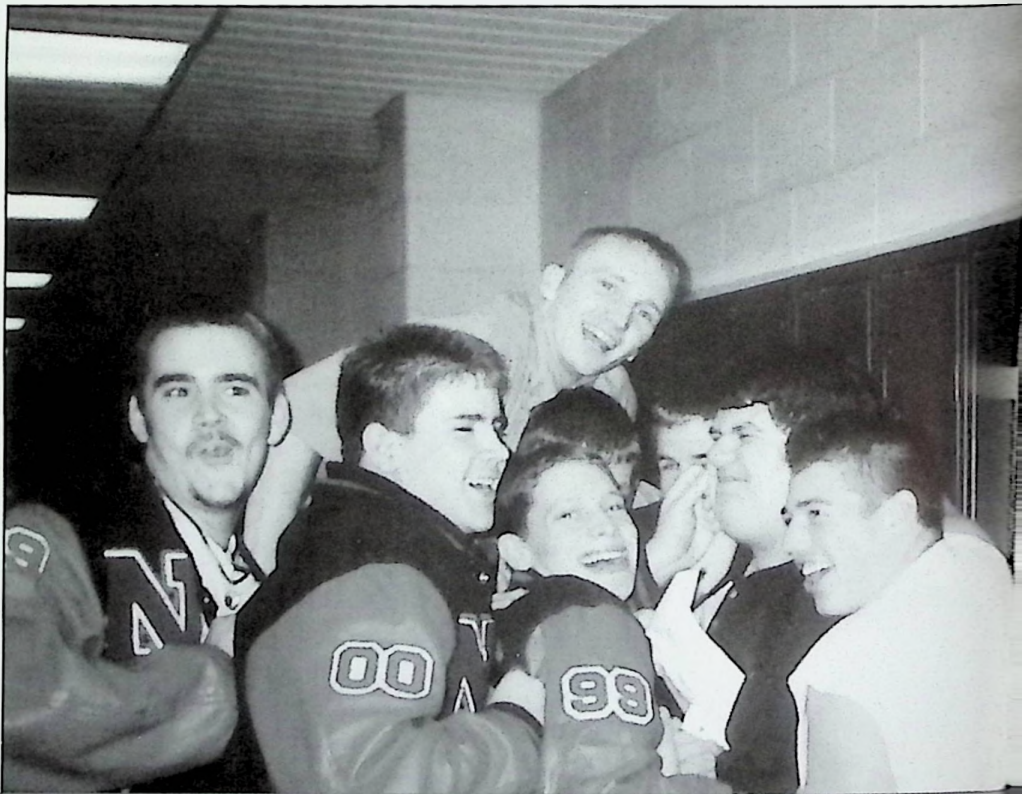

Andrea Lewis.

For second semester, the group participated in the spring concert. The theme was based around a coffee house. Instead of standing on the traditional high-risers, they sat at tables with a cafe scene. "Even though all the songs we sang didn't really have to do with a coffee house, the concert was still fun," commented Bobby Stone.

Jennifer Diehlmann gets a little tangled up with some decorations. She, along with the media and art classes, helped decorate the school's Christmas tree.

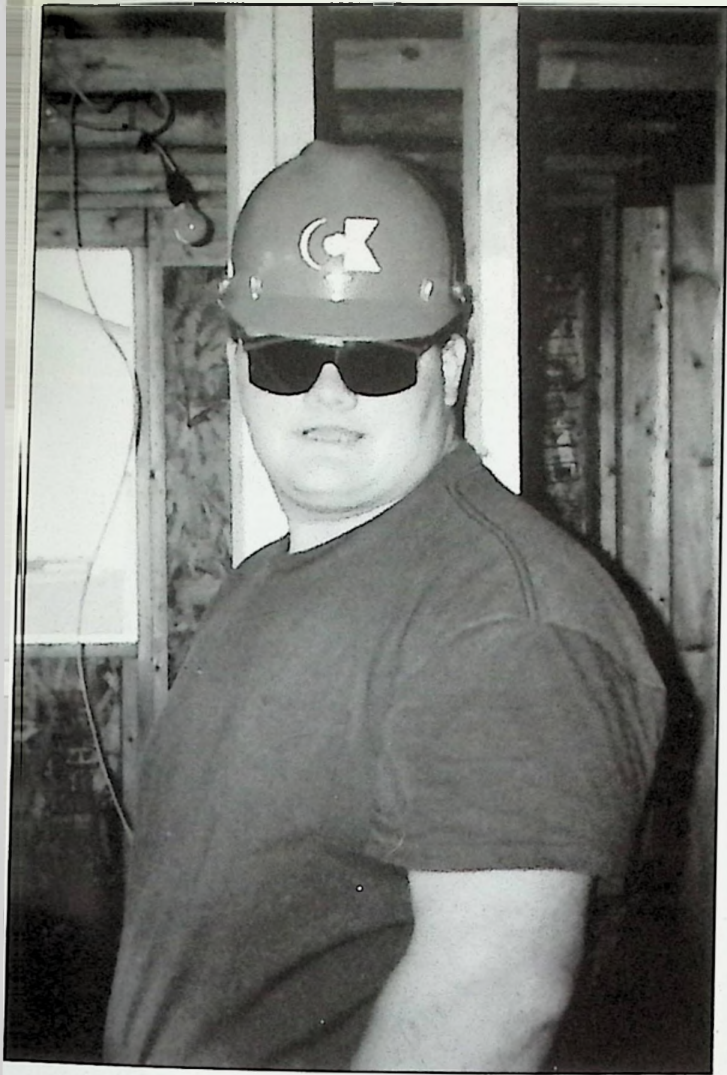

With the many faces walking around NHS, you can't help but notice each individual's distinct personalities. Some are shy, some are outgoing, and some are just plain stuck-up. (That's a joke.) Whatever the attitude, each student is entitled to act as he or she chooses just along as the rules are followed. Plus, with the everyday changing of fashions and styles, who cannot help but vary? People mold themselves into what they feel is acceptable and pleasing. While others may not agree with this alteration, they must live with it because you are you, and they are themselves. We can't all be the same; but then again, who would want it that way?

Accept Me for ME

A group of boys give Nathan Crabtree some love. They were all students in Mr. Hagen's Geometry class.

With a hard hat and sunglasses, Brad South helps build a house. He was in Carpentry II at Vo-tech.

Roger Jones, Mark Carver, Overton Pierce, and Luke Wright get their heads together. They were being creative for the camera.

Megan Stiverson and Andrea Butler show off their tie-dye t-shirts. They made these in Chemistry class.

Defining what it is like to be a senior is almost impossible. You spend so much time trying to define yourself that before you know it the year is over. I believe this year's senior class has been one of the best to walk the halls. Although we've had our bad times, we've shared the good as well. Those good times are the memories we will carry with us throughout our lives. We have made friendships over the years and lost a few as well. Now it's time to venture out into the real world and strive for success in order to achieve the goals we have worked so hard for and make dreams come true. Among all of this, I believe what is most important is to find happiness. I believe the class of 1999 has a great amount of potential and I wish them the best of luck in all the years to come.

High school can have many different meanings. For some, it is time for partying and having fun. For others, it is a time to prepare and primp themselves for the world ahead of them. With high school though comes worries. People say it is supposed to be the best time of your life, which can be true. These days there are jobs to maintain, car payments and insurance, and everyday chores and responsibilities at home.

The times have changed and so have the students. We are the future and in my opinion, we're getting ready for it quite well. We are accomplishing what most people don't expect us to do. I hope for years to come at NHS, the high school atmosphere has the same impact.

Sophomore Class Treasure

Being a sophomore has its advantages and disadvantages. On the plus side, you are not as shy to socialize here and out of school. You get to see your friends a few more years and you are not being treated badly as a freshman. You have more respect as a student. Also, you're old enough to get your license!

Some disadvantages are that you have to come back to school another two years. There is no chance of early dismissal and there are still classes that are mandatory to take so being an office worker or gym helper is out of the question.

Clinton Throckmorton
Freshmen Class President

It was strange coming to a new school. We had to learn where everything was located and the names of the teachers. Also, we learned to deal with the upperclassmen and their "little freshmen" comments. High school is different, but we all learned to cope as best as we could and had a fun time overall. We just go everyday and fantasize of the day where we can be the old faces, the upperclassmen, and high school will be just be an everyday place that we have to be.

What does it take to play NHS athletics? GUTS! It's a time in a student's life to give 100% in something they enjoy and have the skills for. From a three-hour practice after a long day of school to hitting a buzzer beater goal in a game, Mohawks push their bodies to the extreme in order to succeed. This success is not only for themselves, but for the school as well. They represent the students and faculty to the local area and abroad while never letting up. Even if victory is not achieved, respect and gratitude are. They walk off the field or court with the knowledge that for at least that one moment they gave it their all.

Playing the Field

Though the football team record didn't turn out as the players intended, a key win over Portsmouth West held their hopes high. A SOC win was exactly what the team needed at a crucial time.

Coach Frantz commented, "We had a great turnout all summer long that was led by a dedicated group of seniors. Their senior leadership instilled the underclassmen with a great work ethic."

Coach's Corner

Q: Why do you call people "Biggin' " ?

A: " To give them a positive outlook and because they are big in mind and spirit."

Coach Mike Smith has been the NHS football coach for past 8 years. This was his last year in this position. His leadership and dedication will be greatly missed.

Coach's Corner

Q: Why do you call your girls "Rita"?

A: "I say it to keep from calling the players something I can get in trouble for."

Coach Judy Smith has been a Health/P.E. teacher here at NHS for 14 years. Her coaching experience includes volleyball, basketball, and girls track.

The Lady Mohawks celebrate after a great play. The team finished the season with a 17-5 record. Great job ladies!

Tiffany Conley goes up for the spike in attempt for a point against Burg. She was one of the captains of the team, along with the other seniors.

Varsity Volleyball: First Row- A. Glenn, F. Anders, J. Nagle, and T. Burton. Second Row- Coach Smith, H. Bradbury, J. Diehlmann, A. Butler, A. Jenkins, and manager, E. Hill. Third Row- T. Conley and J. Burriss. Forth Row- C. Hale and M. Stiverson.

Spike!

"Some of our greatest accomplishments included defeating the Burg and being the first team to beat West at their new high school," stated senior, Tiffany Conley.

The hard work and dedication has paid off with a winning season. Even though they will be losing four seniors next year, they will be even stronger with eight returning varsity players. Jennifer Diehlmann said, "I expect the team to be ranked high in the SOC conference as we were this year."

Kick It!

The soccer team had a large amount of experience with 5 starting seniors and 5 juniors. "I think if we would have come together as a team a little sooner, we might have done a better job toward the beginning of the season," said senior, Bobby Baker.

The Mohawks hope to learn from their mistakes, and come back even stronger next season in hopes of many SOC and regular season wins on their record.

The team gathers on the field to get a last minute talk. The team ended the season with a 5-9-3 record.

Goalie, Josh Montgomery, gets ready for the block. Josh has been the starting goalie for 2 years.

Javier Arguilles leads the team in a dribbling drill. This was one of the many things the team practiced to help on their ball handling skills.

Forrest Bradbury takes a practice kick during a pre-game warm-up. Forrest was one of the team's captains.

Coach's Corner

Q: What was the best game of the season?

A: "When we played Valley...and won!!!"

Jarrod Montovan was a three year member of the NHS soccer team and a 4 year member of the track team until 1997. He is now an assistant to the team helping out Coach Rick Powell.

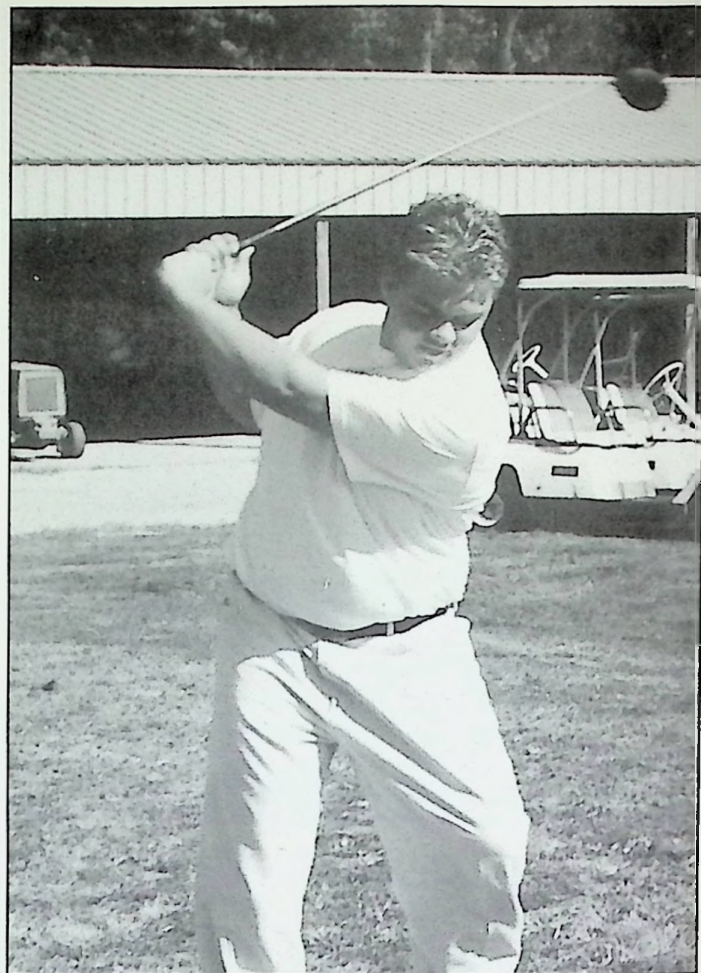

Soccer: Front Row: J. Stiverson, K. Eichenlaub, F. Bradbury, J. Montgomery, M. Stiverson, M. Justice, and B. Slusher. Second Row: J. Morris, A. Davis, J. Arguilles, N. Broughton, J. Keeney, and N. Stiverson. Back Row: J. Spriggs, J. Risner, J. Bivens, A. Silow, B. Baker, J. Koch, J. Penix, D. Altman, and Coach Powell.

Golf Team: First Row- Brad Wamsley and Daniel Adkins. Back Row: David Bobst, Luke Wright, Tony Lemaster, Michael Ireland, Dustin Deemer, and Clayton Kitts.

Daniel Adkins practices his swing before a SOC match at Dogwood Hills. Daniel's lowest score of the year was a 38.

Coach's Corner

Q: What is the meaning of the term "Goathead"?

A: Because Josh Throckmorton is the chief Goathead and we are all just worthy followers.

Coach, Jason Burton, has coached cross country, basketball and taught English for four years. Coach Burton's motto is "In order to be successful, you must first pay the price."

Cory Sykes and Alicia White compete at a Portsmouth meet. Alisha finished second in the SOC meet.

Jene' Wright strives for the finish line after running over 3 miles at the New Boston meet. She was one of the two girls that were on the team.

Going the Distance

"The best part of the season was watching the team improve gradually," said Coach, Mr. Burton. The most demanding thing about cross country is the mental preparation that is required to make it. This years team only had two girls, but they made their presence known by putting pressure on the opposition. The whole team has worked hard and deserves a great deal of respect from everyone.

Driven To Success

With five returning seniors, Jerry Barlow, Tracey Odle, Donovan Penn, Keith Eichenlaub, and Barry Munyon, the varsity basketball team had its second consecutive dominating season. The team finished with a second place finish in the S.O.C., Sectional Championship, and District Runner-ups. "The team had great chemistry and we had a ton of fun this year," stated Donovan Penn.

Donovan Penn prepares for a three-point shot at Wheelersburg. Donovan was awarded the "Comeback" award by the coaches.

Matt Yeager, Ryan Mitchell, and Keith Eichenlaub listen as Coach Doddridge gives the next play. The team got to go to Athens for district play.

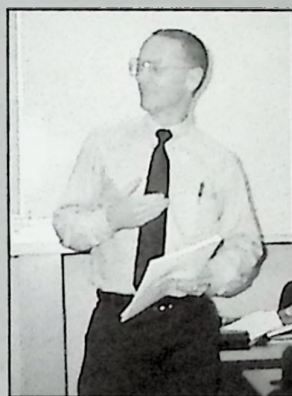

Jerry Barlow soars over opponents for the jump shot. Jerry's awards for the year included: S.O.C. Player of the Year, District 14 Player of the Year, Daily Times Player of the Year, Southeast District Division II AP Player of the Year, and 1st Team All-State.

Coach's Corner

Q: What was your impression of the season?

A: "The kids were great, we beat some good teams, and placed 2nd in the S.O.C."

Stan Doddridge, a history teacher, has been the varsity coach for three years. After a S.O.C. victory in 1998, he led the team to a 17-3 season and a second place finish in the conference.

Varsity Team- Front Row: D. Penn, R. Mitchell, J. Strickland, T. Odle, K. Eichenlaub, J. Jenkins, J. Spencer. Back Row: Coach Doddridge, T. Lang, E. Hobbs, B. Munyon, J. Barlow, M. Yeager, and J. Secretst.

Football Squad: First Row- C. Hale, Jr. Yarnell, T. Stiverson, T. Brigner, and C. Altman. Second Row- J. Montgomery, C. Phipps, A. Thompson, J. Yarnell, and A. Nichols. Third Row- J. Cunningham, M. Brown, B. Lee, L. Applegate, and M. Stiverson. Fourth Row- H. Emmons, C. Stall, B. Tackett, and M. Kitts.

Miranda Kitts gets a boost from an instructor of CTA before the River Days parade. Miranda was also a member of the All-Star CTA squad where she competed against many other top tumblers and cheerleaders throughout the state.

Advisor's Corner

Q: Why did you want to become the cheerleading advisor?

A: "I enjoy sports and watching the kids grow-up and mature"

Shelly Tackett has been the NHS cheerleading advisor for 8 non-consecutive years. She has also been a junior high school teacher for 12 years where she teaches english, social studies, and reading.

The basketball cheerleading squad performs a dance routine at half-time. They practiced after school to learn new cheers and dances for the season.

J.V. Basketball Squad: First Row- Beth Lee and Tracy Stiverson. Second Row- Tiffany Brigner, Carrie Phipps, and Jenny Yarnell. Third Row- Heather Emmons, Cassie Stall, and Lauren Applegate.

Go Big Blue!

"Hard work and dedication are the two things needed to be a cheerleader," stated senior cheerleader, Jill Cunningham.

This year's squad consisted of 18 girls that were selected at the end of the 1997-98 school year. Shortly after being selected a fundraiser was held to raise money for shoes and uniforms. Once school was out, the squad attended summer camps to learn various cheers and dances. As the 1998-99 school year began, the planning of pep rallies and football games kept the girls busy. This and much more continued throughout the basketball season as well. Only minor changes were made between each season's squad, but the members kept up the spirit and made each season the peppiest as it could be.

The girls basketball season proved to be a success as they finished the season with a 10-9 record. Huge wins over Portsmouth and Wheelersburg were what the team needed to boost their confidence for the rest of the games. The team was lead by four year players Vanessa Conschafsky and Mindy Carty with great leadership and basketball knowledge.

"I have even higher hopes for next year," stated Jennifer Diehlmann.

Varsity: Front Row- L. Moore, J. Webb, and J. Crabtree. Middle Row- Coach Hopper, V. Conschafsky, M. Brown, M. Carty, and Coach Lutz. Back Row- A. Rachford, B. Tackett, J. Diehlmann, J. Warren, C. Hackworth, and Coach Copley.

Jennifer Diehlmann goes up for a lay-up. The girls won a Sectional Championship over South Point and advanced to District play where they suffered a loss to Hillsboro.

The varsity players gather around Coach Lutz as she plans out the next play. The girls ended the year with a winning season.

Coach's Corner

Q: What was your greatest achievement this year?

A: "When we beat Oak Hill"

Kem Lutz has been head coach of the girls basketball team for five years and seven years as an assistant. She has also been an elementary teacher for nine years where she currently teaches fifth grade.

Vanessa Conschafsky goes up for a 3-pointer at Oak Hill. Vanessa was selected for 1st Team All-SOC, 2nd Team All-District, All Ohio/Kentucky All-Star Team, and an alternate for the North/South game.

J.V. Basketball: Front Row- A. Rachford, L. Moore, B. Jordan, T. Stidham, T. Ross, and M. Thomas. Back Row- Coach K. Hopper, Coach K. Copley, H. Taylor, S. White, J. Wright, A. Neal, K. Stidham, and Coach Lutz.

Swim Team: Front Row- Darlena Crabtree, Jill Nagle, and Andrea Sadler. Middle Row- Marleen Vermey, Amy Carver, and Naysa Oppy. Back Row- Jason Sadler, Ryan Shope, Jacob Stiverson, and Javier Arguelles.

Amy Carver, Jill Nagle, and Andrea Sadler get ready for swim practice. They were wearing double layers of bathing suits and hose to create drag in the water when practicing.

Coach's Corner

Q: What made you return to NHS to help coach the swim team?

A: "Because I enjoyed swimming as a student so much"

Brad Kitts was a four year swim team, track, and cross country member. He is currently enrolled at OU-Ironton where he plans to participate in swimming for the 1999-2000 season.

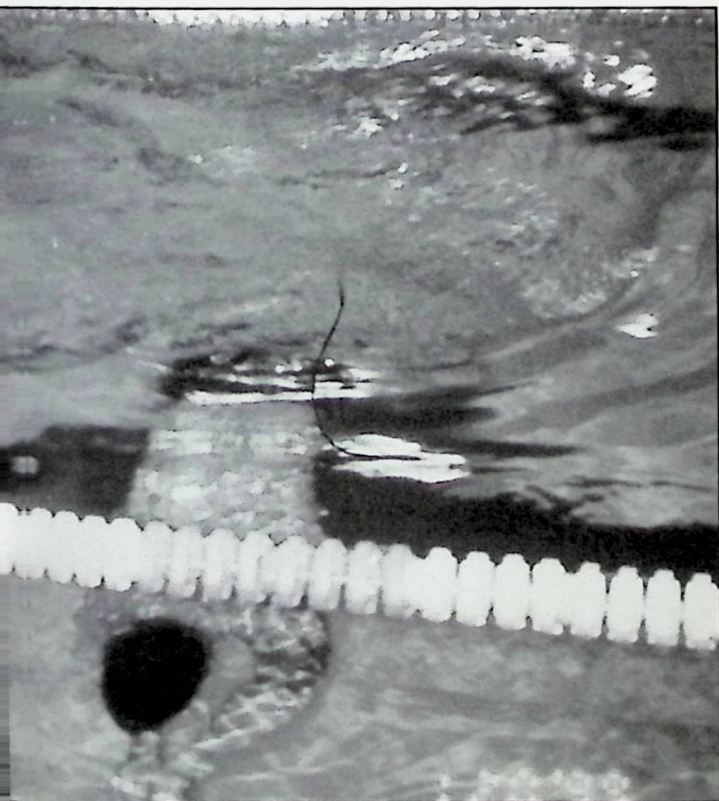

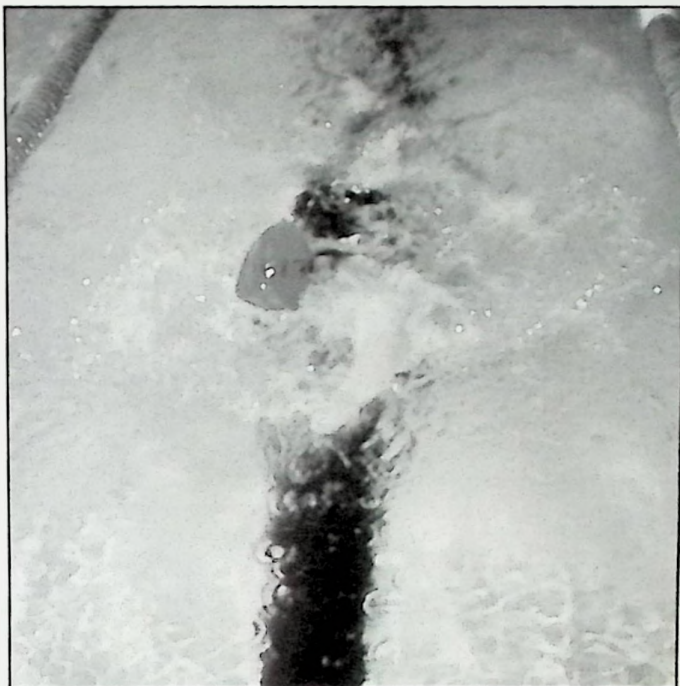

Jacob Stiverson and Ryan Shope do some warm-ups at Shawnee State's pool. This was Jacob's first year and Ryan's second on the swim team.

Eric Montavon curls 50 pounds at weight training practice. The team centered their practices on preparing for other sports throughout the year.

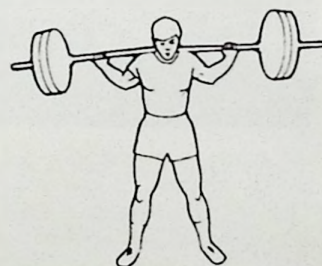

Amy Carver swims her leg of the 200 meter relay. She also swam the 100 meter backstroke and the 50 meter freestyle.

Gotta Have Strength

Weightlifting for the year was geared to help strengthen all athletes. Though the members did not get the chance to compete, it still acted as a conditioning session for all NHS sports. This year's coach was Dick Tipton.

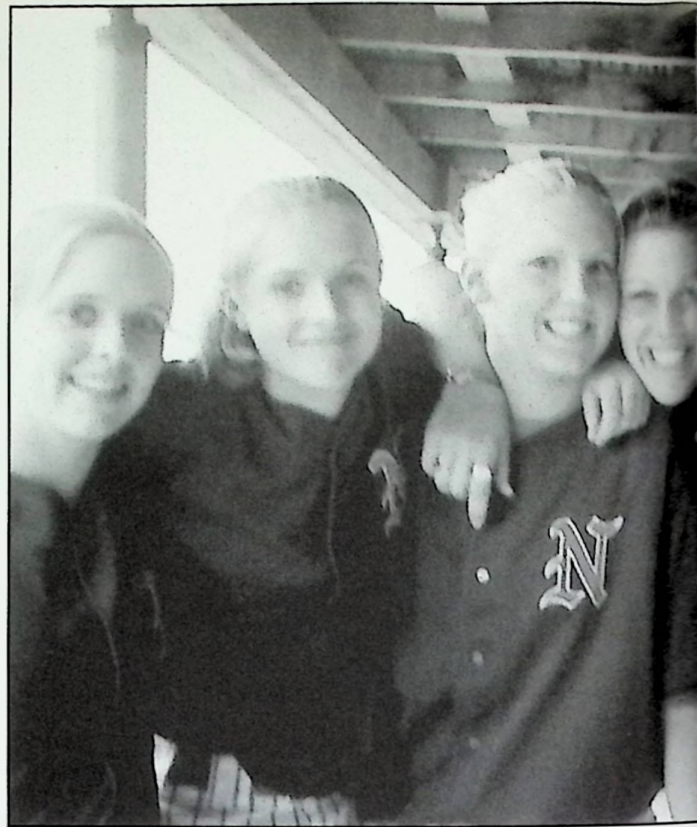

The 98-99 swim team was very competitive. Although small, the team worked hard and improved throughout the season. They were led by third year members, Jill Nagle and Jason Sadler.

Bat-her Up

This year's softball team was one of young experience. With the loss of only one starter from last year, hopes were high entering the season. Much time was spent working on improving their batting skills. "It was a good season, but I didn't like being on crutches most of the time. I had a knee injury from a Portsmouth game. I'm looking forward to next year though," commented junior and three year player, Allison Rudd.

Junior, Amy Carver takes her stance in the batter's box as she awaits the pitch. This was the first season that the Lady Mohawks chose to wear shorts.

The Lady Mohawks infielders wait for the Lady Trojans to arrive on the field. The team ended the season with a winning record.

Coach's Corner

Q: What are you trying to convey to your players when you give them "the look"?

Rick Powell has been a teacher for 7 years, where he has also coached soccer for six, Jr. High Basketball for one, and softball for eight.

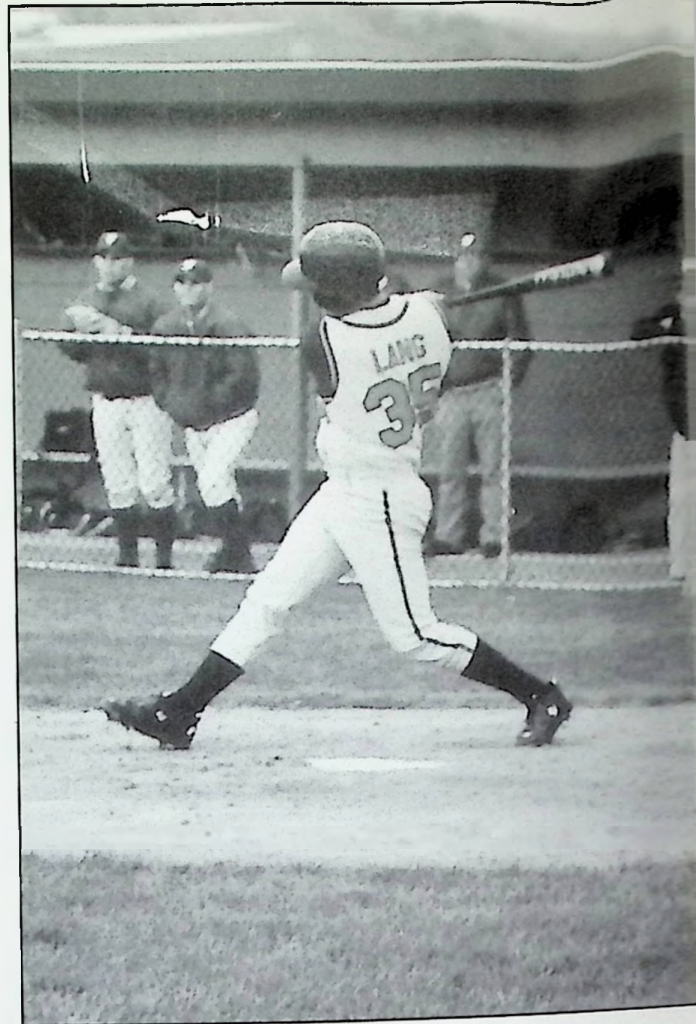

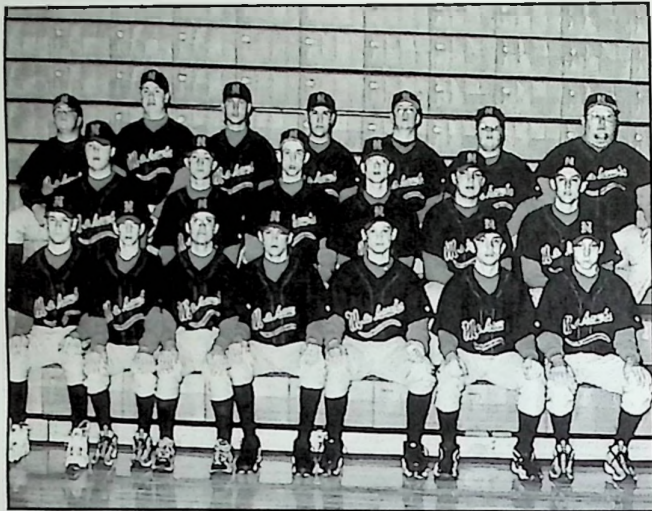

Jennifer Diehlann retrieves a bunted ball. The infielders spent much time practicing for this type of situation.

J.V.- First Row: A. Simon, B. McClary, and H. Emmons. Second Row: K. Stidham and J. Phipps. Third Row: J. Lewis and A. Butler. Fourth Row: T. Stiverson, A. Tumbelson, and A. Sadler.

J.V. Baseball- Front Row: M. Justice, M. Stiverson, J. Book, M. Frantz, J. Ralstin, D. Bradford, and N. Stiverson. Middle Row: J. Carpenter, J. Keeney, J. Throckmorton, B. Chandler, Z. Evans, and L. Tim Lang swings on a pitch at a home game. Tim had one of the best hitting averages on the team.

Coach's Corner

Q: What is your favorite thing about coaching baseball?

A: "My favorite thing is teaching the game to the kids"

Coach Hegarty has been coaching and teaching for 21 years. His knowledge of the game is rivaled by few, if any. HE is Northwest baseball!

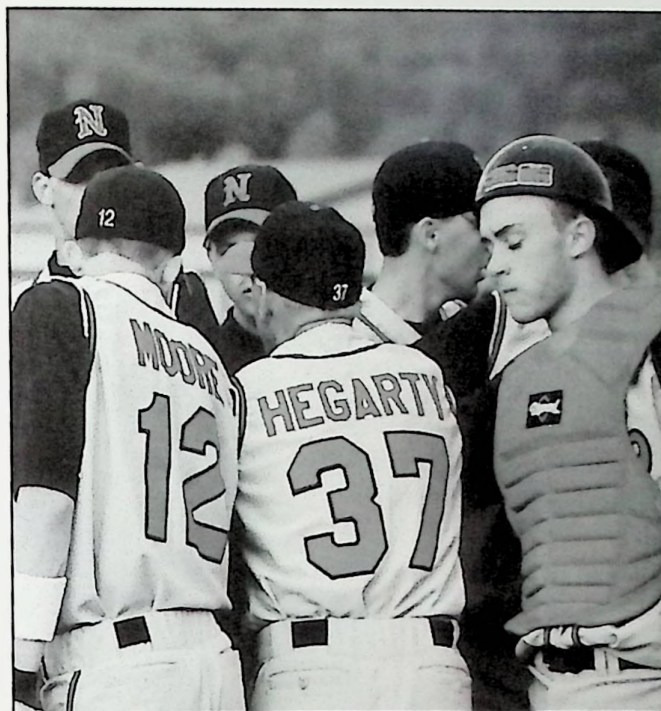

Varsity- Front Row: J. Moore, J. Risner, T. Odle, D. Adkins, T. Dettwiller, and A. Brackman. Middle Row: R. Carver, T. Lang, J. Stiverson, J. Montgomery, and L. Porginski. Back Row: Coach Bumgardner, J. Secrest, H. Honaker, J. Strickland, and Coach Hegarty.

Four year player, Ted Dettwiler gets set for the catch from an infielder. Ted was the first baseman for the team.

Coach Hegarty rallies the team together at the beginning of the first inning. The team won a sectional championship against Jackson.

The baseball team was a determined team. They showed great resilience by bouncing back from losses and coming up with many big wins by mid season. Aaron Brackman commented, "It was a good experience and I learned many life lessons from baseball. Great things should be expected for next year's squad."

Young But Talented

The Lady Mohawks hit the track this year with young team members. Only one senior and three juniors returned for the year. Though the underclassmen may have had less experience, they showed great talent. A key placing for the team was taking home a third place trophy from the Portsmouth Invitational. "This was my fourth year on the track team. Every girl stepped up and did a good job," stated senior, Miranda Kitts.

Trista Jones prepares to throw shotput at a home meet. This was her first year and finished the season with high numbers.

Brandy Jordan races past an opponent in the 200 meter dash. Brandy's season was cut short due to a knee injury.

Jenny Yarnell stretches to hand the baton to Miranda Kitts. They were participating in the 4 by 400 meter relay.

Coach's Corner

Q: What do you enjoy most about coaching?

A: I enjoy working with all young athletes who are willing to learn.

Coach Rob Seaman has been a teacher for seven years. He's been an assistant for the football team for eight years and a track coach for four.

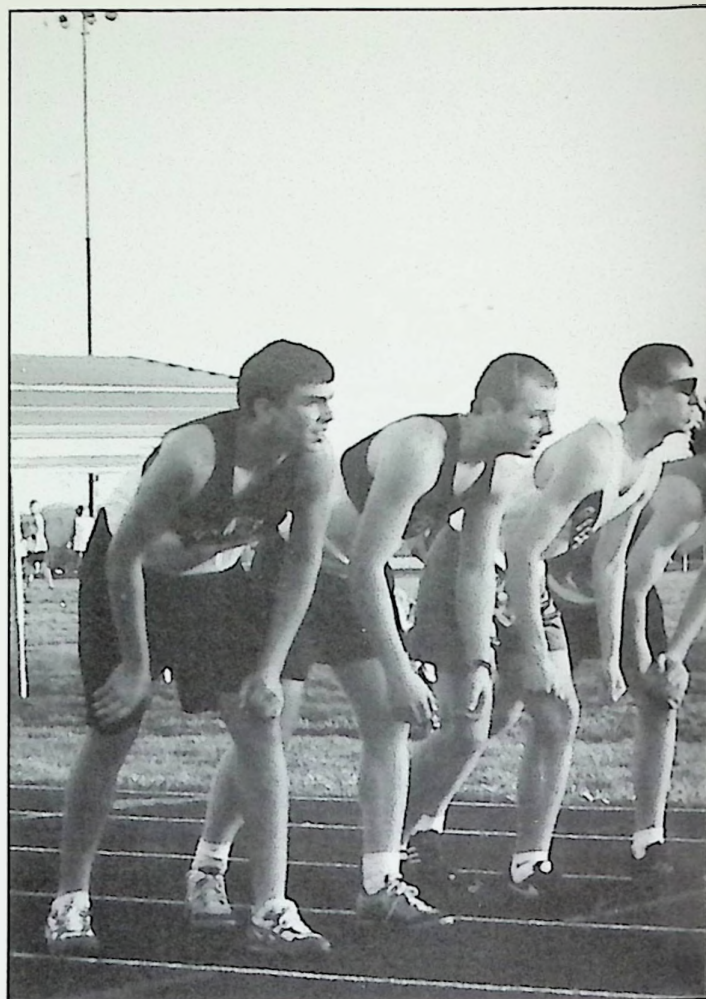

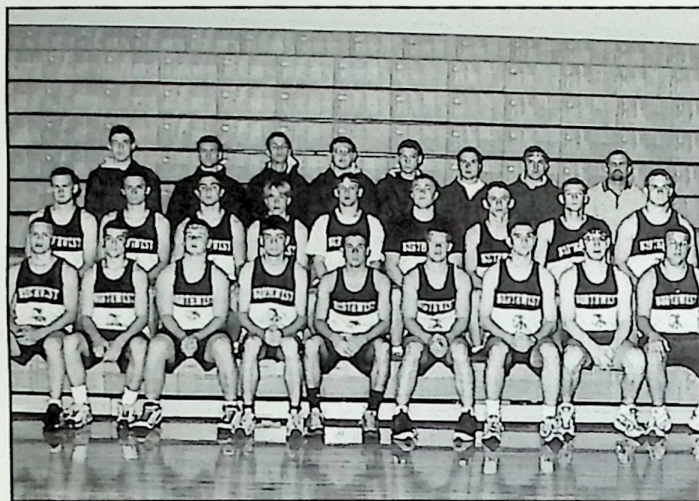

Jill Nagle strives in sand for the long jump event. Jill also competed in the 4 by 100 relay team.

Front Row: J. Sadler, J. Osborne, J. Puckett, G. Davis, J. Spriggs, D. Smith, C. Sykes, N. Crabtree, and J. Carver. Middle Row: F. Bradbury, J. Koncz, J. Jenkins, A. Hoffer, C. Smith, E. Montavon, A. Ellis, B. Baker, and T. Bullock. Top Row: B. Malo, B. Slusber, J. Smith, A. Carver, D. Knittel, D. Logan, Z. Stevens, and Coach Frantz.

Sophomore, Jason Jenkins and Senior, Overton Pierce get set to run the 800 meter run. Overton contributed greatly to the team through high school as a long distance runner.

Coach's Corner

Q: What is the most difficult thing about coaching track?

A: "Organizing the home track meets"

Mr. Dave Frantz has been a special education teacher for eleven years at NHS. In this time, he also assisted football and been the head coach of track. "I enjoy working with the youth," commented Coach Frantz.

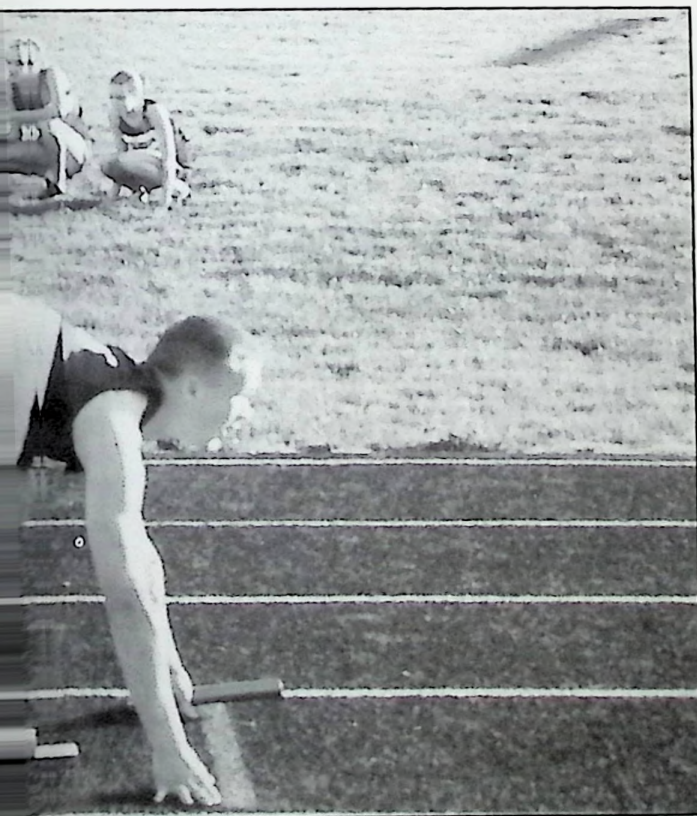

Josh Keaton sets up Forrest Bradbury for the 4 by 200 relay. Forrest, along with Barry Munyon, Barney Phillips, and Luke Wright, broke the record in this event.

Cory Strickland hurls the shot put at a Minford track meet. When not participating in track, he was a cook for KFC.

Jason Smith strives for the finish line in the 400 meter dash. Jason was usually a long distance runner throughout the year.

The boys track team experienced many hardships and victories throughout the year. A key shot put and discuss thrower, Tim Bullock, suffered a wrist injury and was not able to participate in the meets. Coach Frantz and Coach Burton took control of a well-determined team and managed high scores and placings in most meets. At the Portsmouth Invitational, the boys took home a second place trophy out of 16 teams.

We Love Our Mohawks!

From the 1998-99 Yearbook Staff

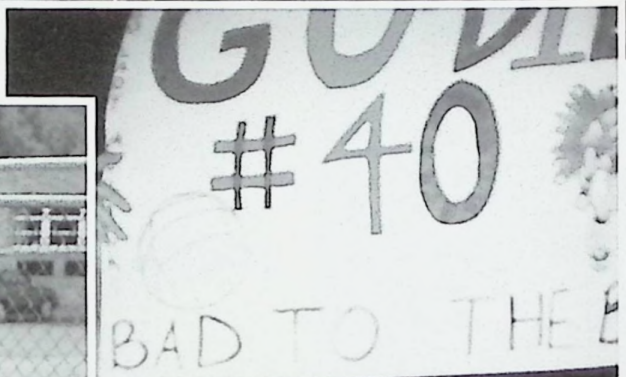

Tim Bullock, David Webb, Travis Stump, Andy Lintz do a little dance for the crowd at prom. All four boys were varsity football players.

Holly Patrick and Andrea Sadler practice a routine for flags. The flag corps practiced at the football field with the band.

Janie Webb and Alison Rudd show their support for the Lady Mohawks. They were at a volleyball tournament game.

Miranda Kitts and Catie Altman give a hug before the graduation ceremony. Both girls were four year cheerleaders and graduated in the top 10% of their class and with honors diploma status.

Colleen Stapleton and Amanda Dawn Thompson "get down" at the 1999 prom. The girls made their last dance a true success.

The 1999 yearbook of Northwest High School was published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. Our Taylor representative was Alan Swank.

The body type used was Seville and Seville Bold Italic and was printed on enamel 80 paper. On the blue cover, silver glitz foil was used. Inside, super blue foil was used on rainbow gray felt paper.
