he 83rd year of classes began here at Glenwood High School in the fall of 1999. It paved the way for the new millenium, and for this the Glenwood yearbook staff chose "Paving the Way" as the theme. Just the same as any other school year, it began with the handing out of the textbooks and student handbooks, but as the year went by, it became one of a kind.

New faces joined the Glenwood staff as well as the student body. Mr. Andy Howard took the position of the junior high Social Studies teacher. In helping us pave the way, we welcome him to GHS. We would also like to welcome our new Special Ed. teacher, Mr. Chad Hammond, as well as his wife, Mrs. Robin Hammond, who took the position of the J.O.G.S. instructor. We hope that each of you enjoy your time here at Glenwood High School.

Probably the most significant change in the staff this year was the appointment of Melinda Burnside as Principal. She replaced Tony Mantell, who had been the Principal here for the past three years. Rachael Jenkins took over the girls' Health and Phys. Ed. classes. Last, but not least, we want to wish the class of 2000 luck in paving the way for the start of their lives after high school!

Marty Mohr, owner of Automania, presents Carrie Clarke and Chris McGraw with this year's Automania Scholarships.

Jeremy Monk, Carol Rundquist and Chris McGraw recieved a $500.00 scholarship for passing all five parts of the Twelfth Grade Proficiency Test.

The best looking guy of the class of 2000 was a tie between Chris McGraw and Jose Sebastiani. Jessica Williams was the choice for best looking girl of the class.

These two have never been known to be at a loss for words. Whitney Hickman and Ryan Lansing were selected by their fellow classmates as "most talkative."

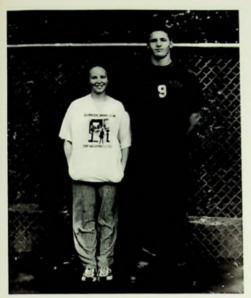

Ryan Lansing and Chandra Collins were selected as the biggest flirts of the class and GHS. It was no surprise to see them breaking rule #20, Public Display of Affection.

Jessica Williams' and Chris McGraw's abilities in sports earned them the awards for "most athletic." They both had excellent sports careers at GHS.

10 Seniors

Carol Rundquist and Chris McGraw were honored with the label of the two "most likely to succeed" in this year's senior class. It looks like all of that hard work and studying finally payed off. Way to go Carol and Chris!

Give me a T-I-G-E-R-S!!! It came as no surprise that Whitney Hickman's great enthusiasm and cheerful smile made her the choice as the "most spirited senior." We'll miss Whitney at all the sporting events in the future.

It isn't easy to win your way into the hearts of teachers, but Jessica Williams and Chris McGraw have been working at it for years. They were voted as "teacher's pets." "Just kick back and relax and have a good time," is the motto that Eric Kingery goes by. He highly deserved to be chosen as the "laziest of the senior class."

They're good-looking, athletic, and have good taste in cloths. Jessica Williams's and Chris McGraw's style is what got them the award for "best dressed" in this year's senior class.

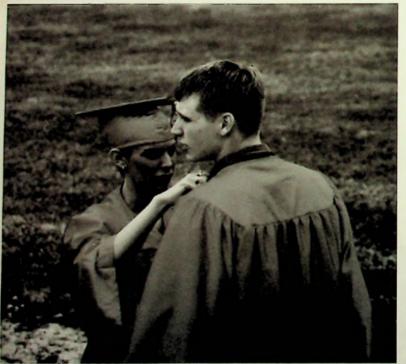

Whitney Hickman and Ryan Lansing show us the antics that made them selected as the two "class clowns." This title and that of most talkative really go together well for the two seniors.

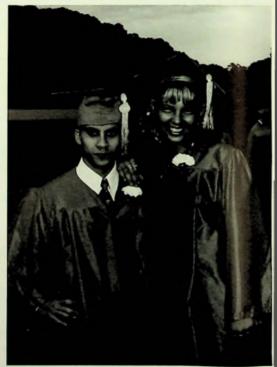

GRADUATION May 26, 2000 - New Boston Stadium

CLASS OF 2000 Paving the Way into a New Millenium.

Mrs. Leach directs the band as they perform "Evening Prayer" during the ceremony.

Members of the graduating class prepare to take their seats at the end of the ceremonial procession.

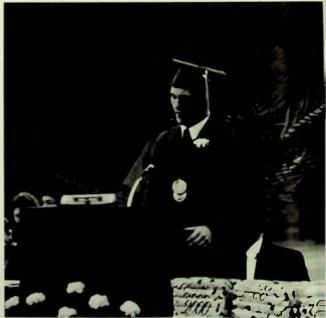

The GHS Chorus performs "Count On Me." This was the final performance for senior chorus members.

Members of the class listen to Chris McGraw talk about the past 13 years together in his valedictorian speech.

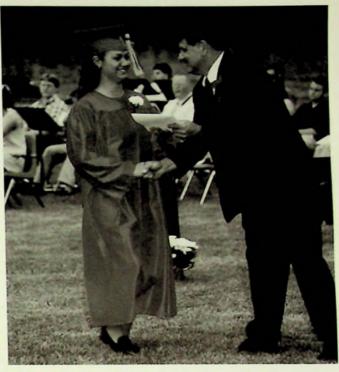

Members of the front row stand to receive their diplomas as they are called. Brian Fitch had to adjust his hat first. Jessica Fowler looks over her shoulder at her friends.

Chris McGraw, Valedictorian of the class, delivers speech to classmates and guests. Chris spoke about positive influences he has had in his life while growing Opal Warren Spears was the Commencement speaker. Mrs. Spears is a Glenwood High Class of 1962 graduate. She is currently a Scioto County Commissioner. Her message was titled "New Millenium: New Beginnings."

In the traditional presentation of diplomas, Mr. Howard presents Amanda Strong with hers as Miss Burnside announces her name. Amanda attended the vocational school during her senior year.

Joe Montgomery receives his diploma and a handshake from Mr. Howard. Joe followed his sister Amanda in the class presentation, which is done alphabetically.

In a tradition started many years earlier, the graduates remove their mortarboards and toss them high in the air.

Jackie Turner, Carrie Clarke and Kristen Steele sit back and take in some of the excitement at the competition pep rally. Carrie and Kristen attended the vocational school this year.

Jeremy Monk enjoys some chicken noodle soup in the cafeteria. Jeremy always ordered extra and will real miss the school lunches in the future.

The halls of Glenwood will not be the same without Jessica "Pilgrim" Williams roaming them. Jessica is doing one of her favorite jobs - passing out the announcements.

Good friends Morgan Mauk and Emily Porter try to teach Je Sebastiani about life in America early in the school year. Jose w miss these two girls a lot.

"Peace Man," says Kirby Lawson as he spends some time with friend Ryan Lansing. Ryan looks like he is up to something.

Chaney Collins receives some pointers from Mr. Chamberlin of how to calculate the volume of a circle in Calculus class. This was her favorite class.

Amanda, Debbie, Mary and Kellie support the Tigers during an away game at Notre Dame's gym. Being involved in athletic events is an important part of any high school experience.

Displaying their culinary works of art, Mary Cooley and Debbie Holbrook present their magnificently designed cakes which they decorated in Mrs. Stevens' Creative Foods Class. The members of this class competed in an annual bake-off.

Jessamyn and Paige look relieved after finding out they passed an exam. Now they can enjoy the rest of the day.

"Who says Math is hard?" Beth Mohr is all smiles while working on an assignment in Mr. Chamberlin's class.

Keith Dunn roams the hallways of GHS. Keith attended the vocational school this year and was off for a snow day.

"Hey, now I can run red lights and not get a ticket." 2 Howard considers a profession in the field of fire-fight

Kory Porter enjoys a game of basketball after lunch. the look on his face he may have eaten too much lunc

Kalyn Sudhakaran shows her school spirit for the basketball team at one of their games. Kalyn supported the team all season.

Showing their intelligence, Cody Bender, and Bryan Eaton demonstrate what hard work they do in math. As you can see Cody and Bryan are very proud of their math skills.

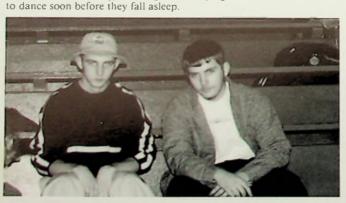

Looking like a lady, bug that is, Ishia Swords displays her ladyqualities. Ishia was considered to be one of the more "dainty" girls the school.

Checking out the scenery, Ryan Adkins, John Conschafsky, and Ni Phillips enjoy themselves after lunch. Nick was trying to decide wheth or not to get in the next game of basketball.

Kyle Henson and Josh Rickards check out the prospects at a dance early in the school year. The two were playing it cool hoping to land a dance with a lucky girl.

Justin Bittinger looks at his lunch carefully before eating it. Justin wondering if he had room for another bite. School lunches can be ve filling.

26 Sophomores

Casey Nolan gives his bridge a stress test during drafting class. The bridge was made from strips of balsa and held a total of 23 pounds before caving in. Maybe Casey will design the next bridge in Portsmouth.

Best friends forever, Angle Benner and Eva Henderson give us a quick smile and hug to display their true friendship. The two girls were about to get busy on an assignment in Mrs. Cablish's class.

Bryan Eaton allows us a look at his work of art, the "Amazing Cell." Bryan made the project in Human Anatomy class. As you can see, he is proud of his work.

Brandon Humfleet relaxes in the Industrial Arts room after a block period of working on projects. Brandon was one of Mr. Porter's more innovative students.

Kyle Henson daydreams during Ms. Mauk's class. Kyle is just minutes away from feeling the wrath of the ruler, which can really wake a student up quickly.

James Bishop, Mike Taylor and Justin Bittinger show us how much they enjoy lunch and all of the benefits that go with it. James is offering Justin a drink of his Pepsi but Justin looks like he doesn't like Pepsi.

Tosha Meenach catches up on some sleep on the way back from a ballgame. She wore herself out cheering for the Tigers and wanted to get plenty of rest for school the next day.

Dasha White makes a presentation the JOGS class. Dasha was very actin in the JOGS curriculum this year.

Jon Phillips, Derrick Dunaway and John Kelley hang out on "Bachelor Row" at the homecoming dance. The three guys had all played in the game earlier that night. Dan Brazell tries to keep himself from falling down aft lunch early in the school year. Dan was the developer the school web page, which he worked on every friday.

Many students helped Miss Burnside during home basketball games by working in the concession. Here Anna Burns tries to keep up with the half-time rush.

"I knew I should have worn a coat," thinks Kaycie Marshall as she tries to stay warm. Kaycie was on her way to a basketball game.

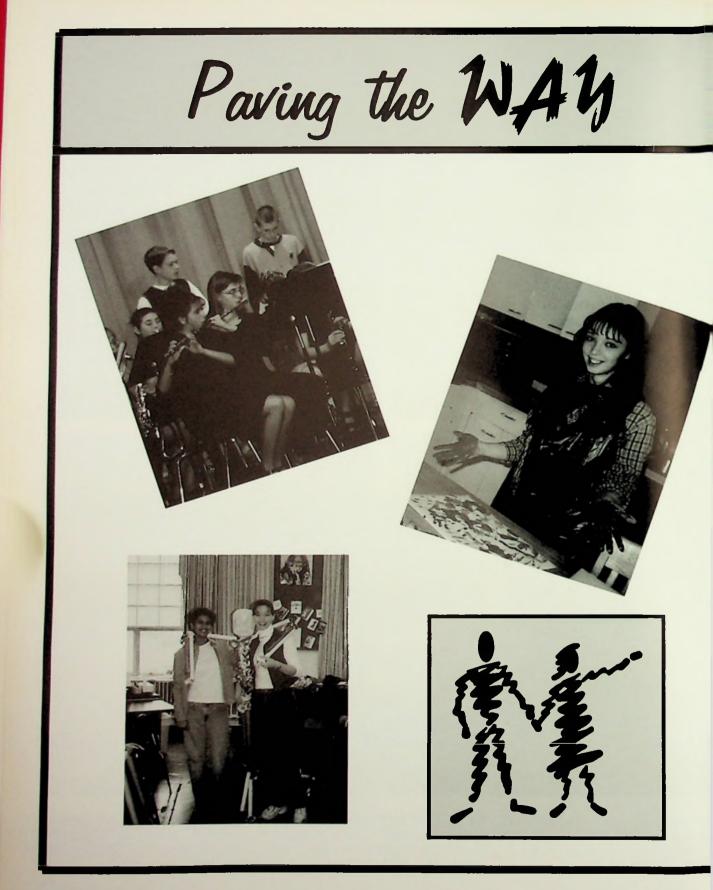

Eddie Swords waits on his order at McDonald's after a field trip. Getting to stop and eat is one of the fringe benefits of going on trips.

Erica Adkins works on an assignment during Mrs. Mauk's Algebra class. Erica enjoyed the class very much and worked hard for her grades.

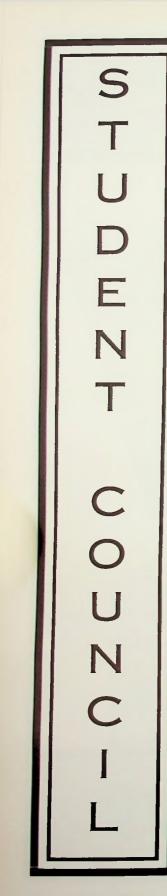

John Feeman hustles to find some sawdust to sweep up during woodworking. John took a lot of pride in his work in the class.

Mrs. Kathie Porter introduces the speaker at the Thanksgiving Chapel. The chapel was just one of many events the council sponsored.

Chris McGraw reads a poem to the stude body during a chapel service. Chris was t senior class president.

"What a day!", says council member Destiny Hickman. Destiny was thrown off one of the park rides on the field trip the group took to Ashland.

The GHS Student Council is an organization made up of officers and representatives from each class. The group is very active throughout the school year organizing and participating in numerous activities both inside and outside the walls of GHS. Their work begins late in the summer with the distribution of the school newsletter to the residents of New Boston. They also conduct the competition pep rally and the homecoming activities. Community services include passing out fruit baskets to the elderly and a canned food drive for the needy. Mrs. Porter was the advisor for the group this year.

Mrs. Porter tries to put a stop to the clowning around by Brandon Hemming, Amber Raike, Whitney Hickman, Destiny Hickman and Dasha White.

Tiger Band

The 1999-2000 edition of the Glenwood Tiger Band saw a new face as director. Former elementary music teacher Kelly Leach took over for Miss Clever. This year's band included 32 members. The band performed on numerous occasions throughout the school year including the River Days parade, the Jackson Apple Festival and the Circleville Pumpkin Festival. The band also performed for the New Boston community with a Christmas concert, a mid-winter concert and a spring concert. In addition to these performances the band entertained the home crowd at numerous Soccer, Volleyball and Boys Basketball games. With only two senior members this year the future looks bright for the band in the coming school years as they keep the halls rockin' at GHS.

1999-2000 Band Members: Row One-Erica Estep, Nikki Hubbard, Felicia Collins, Kristy Peck and Amber Raike. Row Two-Mi Leach. Amy McGraw, Abbey Marshall, Megan McQuithy and Maria Escobar. Row Three-Marcia Houston, Kalyn Sudhakara Ishia Swords, Staci Lute, Beth Mohr and Leah Fitch. Sco Crabtree and Nick Phillips. Row Six-Matt Marshall, Matt Fitch, Mike Hamilton and Greg Mauk

Mrs. Leach gives the GHS band a command as they march down Jackson St. during the 1999 River Days Parade. This event is one of many that they participate in each year. They represented GHS in a classy and fashionable manner.

Members of the "Tiger Brass" warm up under the cover of a shade tree prior to their entry into the parade. The band performed excellently in the event despite 100 degree heat.

Mrs. Leach directs the pep band as they give the Tiger Basketball team a spirited send-off on their way to play in the district tournament in Athens.

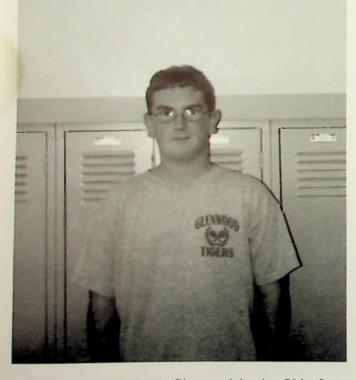

Members of the Pep Band perform during a home volleyball game. The Pep Band really helped to make home sporting events an exciting atmosphere.

Mrs. Leach directs the band during one of the many concerts performed for the residents of New Boston. These even helped generate music appreciation in the community. The band performed for the student body earlier that day.

Adam Kurtz represented Glenwood in the Ohio State Fair Band this year.

Jonathon Ison represented Glenwood in both the C State Fair Band and the County Honors Band.

"I can't remember the music to this," says Erica Estep. It's a good thing that fellow flute player Marcia Houston didn't forget. Many hours of practice went into each performance.

Glenwood Chorus

This year JOGS classes at GHS were taught by Mrs. Robin Hammond. The JOGS students participated in many volunteer activities this year. Some of the many activities included gift-wrapping for needy kids at Christmas time, walking in the annual CROP walk, and tutoring at the elementary schools.

One of the many community service projects performed by the JOGS students was to wrap Christmas gifts at Goody's for needy kids.

The pre-schoolers let their spirits rise as Jacob Moore pretends to be the Easter Bunny. He volunteered to do this at Stanton for JOGS.

Take a breather ladies! Emily Broughton, Rhonda Buckley, Dasha White, Mrs. Hammond, and Tosha Meenach rest after participating in the CROP walk. It took place near Tracy Park.

INDUSTRIAL TECH ACTIVITIES

The Industrial Tech program at Glenwood High School includes a variety of activities. Most people refer to it as "wood shop", but actually woods is only part of the program. Mr. Porter teaches mostly Woodworking but Metals and Drafting are also a big part of the program. In the Metalshop students learn to weld, cut, forge and heat treat a variety of metals. In the Drafting lab students develop traditional drafting skills but also engage in model-making. Since 1995 the class has been equipped with a CADD system for doing drafting with computers. The modern facilities of the Industrial Tech lab make it one of the best in the county.

The sophomore Industrial Tech crew works hard at cleaning up the shop at the end of class. Mr. Porter was very strict when it came to the cleanliness of the shop. This helped develop a sense of responsibility among the classes.

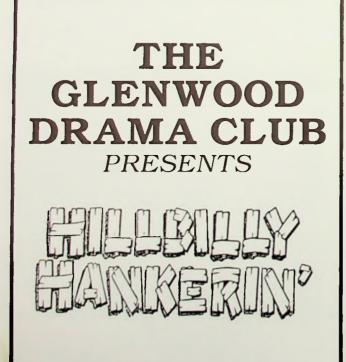

Mike Zornes pours water into the bucket supported by his model bridge. The bridge eventually collapsed. The project was part of Drafting class.

Freshman John Kelley works on a drawing in Drafting class on the CADD system. The class did several of these drawings throughout the year.

Activities

1999 River Days

River Days began with a meeting on April 24 to inform the contestants running for queen about the rules and qualifications for the pageant. While at this meeting, the girlsgot to know one another a little before pageant night. The girls went through many meeting and activities that included dance lessons from Tammy Jo's dance studio. They had to perform in concerts to let them get used to introducing themselves in front of crowds. This kept them from getting too nervous on pageant night. Their practices were held every Saturday at nine o'clock a.m. at Shawnee State Universitv.

a.m. until 12 noon, the contestants had a prepageant interview in front of a panel of five judges. The judges asked each girl a few different questions about her school. After the interview was finished, the girls went to eat lunch before the River Days Parade. Then all the girls changed into their outfits for the parade and waited for it to begin. Jessica won first prize for her creativity on the float. Jessica had someone fix her hair. nails and make-up until the pageant was ready to begin at 8:00 p.m. The girls came out first, in their interview outfits. They then put on their dance outfits to perform the routine. After that, the girls came out in their sportswear outfits. Finally, the girls got elegant with their evening gowns and were asked a question on stage. At last, the Oueen and her court were crowned. Jessica represented our school well.

Jessica seems to have it all under control with that calm expression on her face. She had to answer a question for the judges.

Looking very elegant in her evening gown, Jessica stands with her fell competitors while being judged. Jessica smiled confidently knowing ther her family and fellow students were there giving her support.

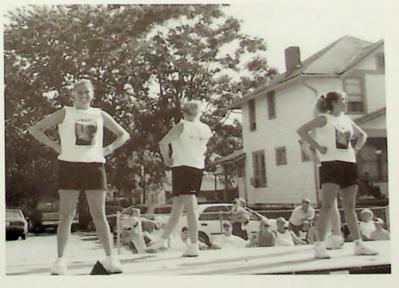

Jessica Williams receives a hug from 1998 River Day's Queen, Amanda Murphy, as well as receiving trophy. Jessica was given this award for Miss Congeniality.

Jessica is looking stylish in her summer dress while holding her Longaberger picnic basket. She thought being in this River Days competition was a neat experience.

Glenwood's band gives Jessica support while she is representing us in the competition. They wore band shirts and shorts to keep from getting hot.

Halloween Activities

Despite the absence of their costumes, Waylon Lucas a Aimee Taylor enjoy a dance together. The couple rea had a good time at the dance.

Abbey Marshall and her brother Matt Marshall dress up to celebrate the holiday of tricks or treats. Matt showed his liking of the First Lady, while Abbey dressed up as Matt.

The spontaneous and always hilarious Ms. Mauk dresses up as a character from the "Coneheads." After many attempts, she finally got the bulb to light up. She was the funniest this year.

Classmates Dasha White and Destiny Hickman stop to talk between classes. The girls woke up late and did not have time to get ready for school.

With coach Scott Taylor looking on, Marty Mohr runs to finish the race in the clothes relay. His class won the race. Good job Scott!

This year's Christmas Chapel was sponsored by the Student Council. Many students as well as friends and family of the faculty and student body participated in this year's special program. Our guest speaker was Xon Hostetter from Asbury College, who was introduced by Mr. David Tevis. He spoke to the student body about the meaning of Christmas and what it should represent. Mrs. Cablish introduced her friend Rebecca Wiley. Miss Wiley talked to the students and shared her insights of music and her trip to China. Stephanie Haney and Katie Hempill, from Clay High School, also participated in the service. Rev. Bernard Tilley, the guidance counselor here at Glenwood High School, gave prayer. Melanie Clark, a sophomore this year, also sang.

Rebecca Wiley, of Mansfield, a good friend of Mrs. Cablish, talks to the student body about teaching school in China. Miss Wiley also played some Christmas songs on her harp. She is currently a graduate student at the West Virginia University.

Hiding her face, Shelie Ridgeway tries to set a good example of what fast dancing should be like. Shelie was one of the many who not only attended the dance, but also had a great time.

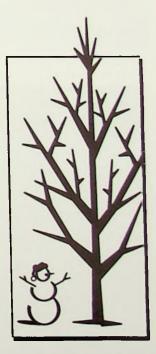

This Year's Christmas dance was sponsored by the Language Club and Mrs. Swick. The dances always seem to have a good turnout, especially the Christmas dance. The members of the Language Club decorated the gym for the occasion and the music was provided by Todd Donathan, a former Glenwood student. The dance helped everyone to get into the Christmas spirit.

Many of the couples enjoyed the slow songs at the dance. Dave Livingston and his date are a couple who took advantage of one of these.

Making his way onto the dance floor, Eric Kingery signals for a few of his fellow classmates to come and enjoy a good time at the Christmas dance.

1999 Tiger Golf

1999 Team: Nick Phillips, Michael Hamilton, Coach Tim Buckle, Kory Porter, John Conschafsky and Jon Phillips.

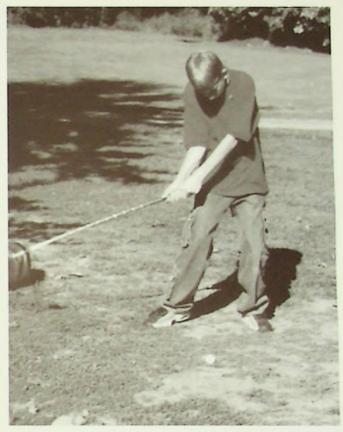

Kory Porter looks at the crushing drive he has just hit. Kory, a second year member of the golf team, worked on his drive.

Mike Hamilton kicks up some dust during a tee shot at the S.O.C match. Mike improved his game this season.

With great form, John Conschafsky drives the ball down the fairway. John, a second year member on the golf team this year, received the honor of "Most Improved" player.

Jon Phillips concentrates on hitting the ball up the fairway. Jon was a first year member of the team who enjoyed playing this year much like his older brother Nick.

Nick Phillips concentrates on a long putt ahead of him. Nick earned the "Most Valuable" player award this year.

The 1999 Tiger Golf Team was coached with the experience and leadership of Tim Buckle. "The team was young and inexperienced," said Coach Buckle. He also felt that the team learned that it is better to have fun than to win every game.

This year's team was led by MVP Nick Phillips and returning players Mike Hamilton, Kory Porter and John Conschafsky. The team improved over the course of the season and with all players returning next year, the outlook is good to have a better team. Tiger Golf is on the rise!

J.V. Team Members. Front: Dasha White, Mary Cooley, Destiny Hickman. Middle: Maria Escobar, Tosha Meenach Aimee Taylor. Back: Kaycie Marshall, Shelie Ridgeway, Coach Lanita Warner, Kalyn Sudhakaran and Ishia Swords

The 1999 Junior Varsity Lady Tigers had a very exciting season. The girls left the court with great memories and friendships. The team finished the season with a record of 8 wins and 9 loses. Coach Warner was very proud of the girls this year with their effort and support for the team. They just never gave up trying to do their best. In good times and in bad the girls always stuck it out. Even though plagued with a lot of injuries, the team fought through adversity to have a respectable season. With a young squad this year Coach Warner expects an exciting season next year. Maria Escobar a first year member of the J.V volleyball team makes a successful serve. Ma ria, as one of the better servers on the team had many points throughout her first season.

The Varsity Lady Tigers had good attitudes and worked hard this season. With only 3 seniors, the team lacked in leadership. Their overall record was 2 wins and 18 losses. The girls started every game with confidence and will continue to do so in the following years to come. With Coach Burnside by their side, the girls improved over the course of the season. Coach Burnside brought many J.V. players up to help out and gain important varsity playing experience. With 14 players returning within the program, things definitely look better for next season. We know that Coach Burnside will have Lady Tiger Volleyball back on top.

Paige Piatt concentrates on the ball as she prepares serve. Paige won awards this season for most aces a most attacks.

In the huddle, Coach Burnside gets the girls pumped up before a game. Coach Burnside always gets her team mentally ready for the challenge ahead.

During warm-ups junior Kellie Gilley moves into defensive position. Kellie won the best defensive award this year.

Tina Potts gets ready to do what she does best, set the ball. Tina won the award this year for most assists.

During an S.O.C. match at home, the team shifts into perving position. Lori Colley and Paige Piatt discuss the strategy they hope to employ.

The players stand and listen as Miss Burnside talks during the Fall Awards Assembly. It looks like most of them would just like to get on to the awards presentations.

Kicking the ball, Kirby Lawson attempts to score a goal. He was one of the senior captains this year who really helped out the team on the offensive side of the game.

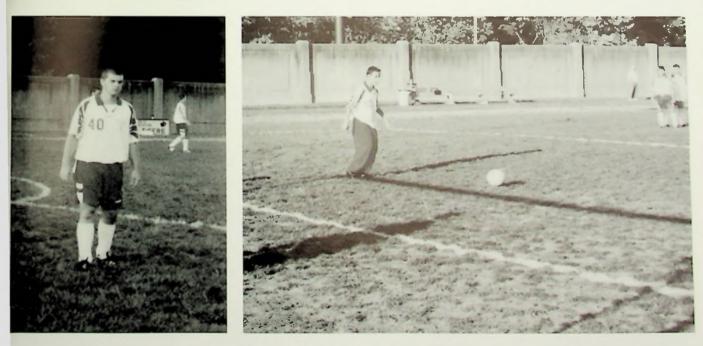

"Throw it to me," says Chris McGraw as he watched Jacob Hickman, manager, pick up the ball. Chris was a senior captain and really brought this team together.

Dancing with the ball, Jeremy Monk shows his ability to have fun during his senior year of soccer. Jeremy was a fullback, and enjoyed his senior season a lot.

Gazing at the kick he just made. Cody Bender hopes that he will get an assist. Cody was one of the many young players that made up this year's team.

Jason Livingston focuses on the ball as he gets ready to pass. Jason played his first year of soccer this season. Jose Sebastiani watches the ball as he prepares to kick it in the goal. Jose, an exchange student from Venezuela, brought a lot of excitement to the team with his style of play.

Varsity Basketball

This year's varsity basketball team had a new coach but with a familiar face. Chris Porter. Coach Tony Piguet left for an administrative position at another school. Coach Porter has been the junior varsity coach for the past 8 seasons. The Tigers finished the regular season with a 10-10 record, a sectional championship, and made it to district semifinals, where the Tigers put up a fight but lost to Eastern Meigs. Coach Porter's first year as the Varsity basketball coach was a success, as the Tigers finished 3rd place in the S.O.C. and 11-11 overall. With 15 out of 18 players returning next vear, Coach Porter is looking forward to improving on this years season. Filling the shoes of seniors Chris McGraw, T.J. Caldwell and Jeremy Monk will be a challenge for the returning players next vear.

Rushing to the basket, sophomore James Bishop shows his speed as he drives past his defender. James played the shooting guard most of the season but also played some point guard when needed.

Zak Howard takes a minute to rest while his teammate is shooting a foul shot. He was one of only two juniors on the team. Zak played guard and forward this year, depending on what defense the Tigers faced.

Senior point guard, T.J. Caldwell, drives the ball past the Clay defender. He was one of the leading scorers of basketball team in his last year and made 1st. Team S.O.C. and 2nd. Team of the District 14 Coaches Association.

"I have to get these things tied," says senior Jeremy Monk as he takes a minute to prepare himself for a long hard game of basketball. Jeremy helped the team ou during his senior year in defense and playing inside the paint.

Tigers Win Sectional! Seniors lead team to first sectional title since 1992.

As Coach Porter gets the team pumped up for the fourth quarter, they know in their minds that they have already won the sectional. This hasn't been done since 1992!

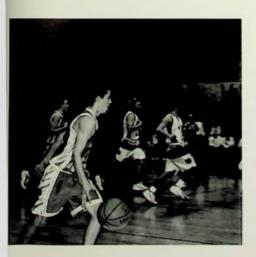

An important part of winning a sectional title is cutting down the nets. As Chris McGraw does the honor, evenone knows it was a great accomplishment for the team.

1999-2000 J.V. Basketball. Standing: Mike Taylor, Kyle Henson, Michael Pierce, John Kelley, Daniel Kirkendall, and Cody Bender. Sitting: Jon Phillips, Derrick Dunaway, Jacob Moore, Justin Bittinger, Bryan Eaton, and Coach Ryan Dutiel.

Driving the ball to the hole, sophomore Mike Taylor is doing something he is used to. He was one of the captains this year and really helped lead the team in his last year on the J.V. squad.

Dribbling the ball down the court, sophomore co-captain Cody Bender is looking for a man to pass the ball to. He was the point guard for the J.V. Tigers this year and had the most steals on the team.

Working as a team, Kyle Henson and John Kelley, "Chuck", play good team defense in the post and the outside perimeters. These two guys had to do a lot of the rebounding and inside scoring. As Daniel Kirkendall picks up the ball, he looks to pass to a teammate for another Tiger basket. Daniel did a lot of scoring in his first year of play, he also got recognition for most blocked shots for the J.V. Tigers.

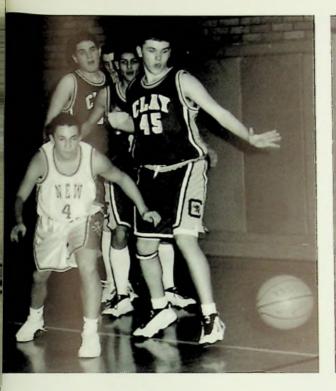

The J.V. Tigers show their good sportsmanship as they walk through the line and shake hands after a good, hard game against the Clay Panthers. They celebrated for their earned victory. This team had many young players who their coach, Mr. Dutiel, hopes will carry on the Tiger tradition of a successful basketball team. They finished up the year with 8 wins and 12 losses.

The doubles tandem of James Bishop and Mike Taylor won several matches this year. Mike was Most Improved Player and James was the Most Versatile. Coach Chamberlin has big expectations for these guys the next two seasons.

The 2000 Tiger Tennis team had a successful season. The team posted an 8-7 overall record while going 7-7 in the S.O.C. The team was lead by four veterans in Carol Rundquist, Jeremy Monk, Chris McGraw and Kirby Lawson. All four seniors have been members of the team for four years. The team was coached once again by Diane Chamberlin. Ms. Chamberlin said she is really going to miss and have a hard time replacing the seniors.

Jeremy Monk took on several responsibilities in his senior season. Jeremy played number one doubles most of the season. In sectional play he competed in singles action.

Chris McGraw prepares to make a backhand return during a singles match. Chris competed in doubles play during tournaments. Chris was named Co-MVP for the second year.

First-year team member Dan Parker gets a lead out at first base as the pitcher checks him back. Dan lead the team in RBI's and batting Avg. this year while playing third base for the Tigers.

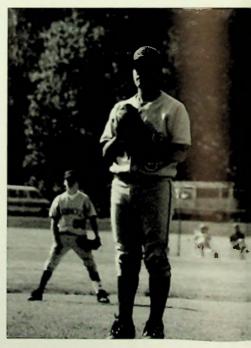

Second baseman Bryan Eaton catches the throw from Mike Pierce during warm-ups. Bryan won the award for Most Improved Player.

This year's varsity baseball team did not have a successful season in terms of wins and losses. The team finished with a 2-19 record and a sixth place league standing. The good thing about the two wins is that they were both league wins. The Tigers' pitching staff did not have a lot of depth and as a result many games were lost late in the game due to fatigue. Coach Dettwiller was very pleased with the progress he saw in certain players. The team was lacking in experience as third year starter Zak Howard was the veteran of the team. With all nine starters returning and a promising group of freshman coming into the program it looks like better times are in store for Tiger Baseball.

This year's spelling bee was exciting. The event came down to these two finalists, Erica Estep and Brandon Hemming. Erica eventually won the event.

Best friends often travel together to exciting places. Amy and Leah take a break from their busy tour schedule at the National Archives in the nation's capital.

Cheer up Ashley! Abbey, Chrissy, Candace, Heather and Kristy surround Ashley to try and cheer her up during lunch. These girls all became close friends this year.

The TAG progrom took a trip to Washington D.C. this year. The group included Mr. Porter, Brandon Hemming. Greg Mauk, Heather Waugh, Leah Fitch, Amy McGraw, Abbey Marshall, Matt Marshall, and Ashley Turner.

"If you're gonna cry about your test score, use this Aaron." Mrs. Wessel offers some comfort to Aaron Spriggs during English class.

Who is this masked man? Could it be Matt Marshall? It looks like Matt is ready to raise the roof on his way to a Tiger basketball game.

Be a good boy and take your bottle", says Amy McGraw as she feeds Greg Mauk during baby bottle contest in the competition pep rally.

Winners of the "Say NO To Drugs" poster contest display their artwork They are Mark Salisbury, Kellie Thiesse, Felicia Collins, Amanda Nelson and Brian Rawlins.

Seventh-grader Mark Salisbury won the "Say NO To Drugs" poster contest this year with his South Park poster. Way to go Mark!

Is this class ever going to end"? Kristy Peck anxiously awaits the bell during Industrial Arts class. As you can see it was her favorite class.

Kristy Thiesse and sister Kellie put in a hard night of work at the concession stand during a home Jr. High basketball game.

Leah Fitch dribbles the ball before going to practice her serve. Leah enjoyed her first year of volleyball as her smiling face shows.

In deep concentration, Rebecca Entler prepares to hit the ball. This was her first year on the team.

Abbey Marshall bumps the ball to the other team. Abbey really helped out the volleyball team this year.

1999 Cross Country. Coach Mike Waug and Heather Waugh.

1999-2000 Jr. High Basketball Team. Standing: Jacob Hickman, Zach Messer, Chris Webb, Aaron Spriggs, Micah Perry, and Coach Tim Buckle. Kneeling: Marty Mohr, Matt Marshall, Greg Mauk, Jessie Munion, Brandon Hemming, and Randy Marshall, Mgr.

Dribbling the ball, Matt Marshall looks for someone to pass to. Matt played guard for the Jr. High Tigers this year.

Greg Mauk ducks under a defender and attempts to get a shot off. He was point guard on this year's team and led the team in points.

Displaying his form, Marty Mohr attempts a threepointer. Marty was never afraid to pull up for a shot.

Aaron Spriggs puts up the shot as his teammates get position for the rebound. Aaron played an important role on the team.

1999-2000 Jr. High Cheerleaders. The Jr. High Cheerleading squad consisted of two members this year. They were Kristy Peck and Sara Wolfe.

1999-2000 Jr. High Girls Basketball Team. Standing: Rebecca Entler, Natasha Collins, Abby Marshall, and Coach Rob Fultz. Kneeling: Candace Kozee, Amy McGraw, Sabrina Archey, and Felicia Collins. Sitting: Ashley Turner, Heather Waugh, and Sarah Wolfe.

First year point guard Ashley Turner brings the ball up the floor during a home game. Ashley did a nice job handling the ball for the Lady Tigers.

Coach Fultz presents Sara Wolfe with a first-year award during the awards assembly. The team only won two games this year, but with six players returning next year, the future looks brighter.

Abbey Marshall and Ashley Turner react to the pass in their zone defense. The girls worked hard all year and will be leaders on next year's team.

Amy McGraw gets popped in the nose after letting loose with a shot against Notre Dame. Amy was one of the leaders on this year's team.

2000 Jr. High Track Team. Coach Ed Ison, Heather Waugh, Greg Mauk, Candace Kozee, and Abby Marshall.

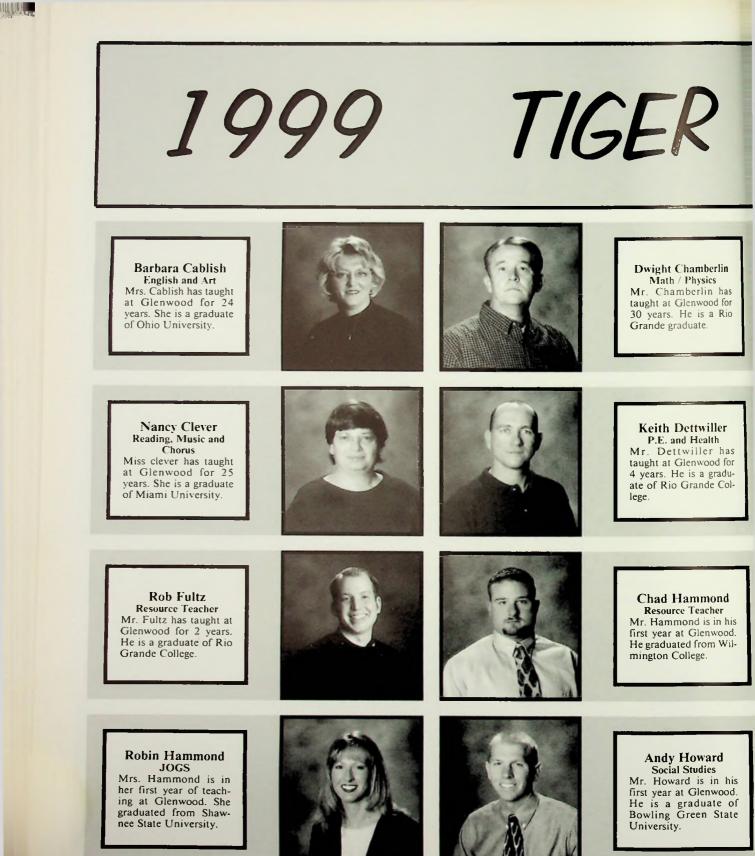

Abbey Marshall does some wind sprints to get loose before competing in the discuss throw. Abbey placed in several meets in the event. Heather Waugh rounds a corner while competing in the 1600 meter run at Wheelersburg. Heather also competed in cross country this year.

Candace Kozee practices her form prior to competing in the discus throw. Coach Ison said Candace really improved over the course of the season and steadily increased her distance in the event. She also placed in several meets.

Greg Mauk looks exhausted after competing in the 800 meter run. According to Coach Ison, Greg has a lot of potential and can be a very good runner if he works hard in the off-season. Greg also competed in the long jump.

Ferdinand Magellan begins to circumnavigate the world

What On Earth Happened?

The world spent much of the past thousand years making some pretty amazing history. As the millennium began, Druids practiced dark rituals, while the Byzantine Empire dominated Eastern Europe. Conqueror Genghis Khan put the Mongols on the map in the 1200s, and the Great Wall protected China against would-be invaders.

The Middle Ages, though plagued by feudalism, heralded gallant knights and the governing ideals of the Magna Carta. The Renaissance and The Enlightenment both saw great achievements in art, science and exploration, followed by Romantic and Revolutionary periods in France and colonial America.

As industry and capitalism grew, so did Communism in the Soviet Union and beyond. The World Wars and other 20th century conflicts brought struggles for power amid vast advancements in communications and technology.

History's movers and shakers included Joan of Arc, the teenager who led France to victory against England in 1429, and Martin Luther whose religious reforms shocked the 16th century. King Henry VIII of England kept his head while several of his spouses lost theirs. Sir Winston Churchill helped England stand courageously against Nazi Germany. One recent hero is Nelson Mandela, South Africa's first black president and anti-apartheid activist. Time marches on...and the next chapter is already being written.

And The Wall Came Tumbling Down

In 1961, the Berlin Wall was erected to prevent residents of Communist East Berlin, Germany, from fleeing to non-Communist West Berlin for a better way of life. In 1989, the East Germans opened the Wall, lifted immigration restrictions and reunited Germany. Tearing down the Wall symbolized the end of the Cold War, which started when the Soviet Union created "Iron Curtain" countries isolated from the Western world. In the '50s, fear of communism in the United States resulted in the "Red Scare."

In A flash, A-Bomb Creates Nuclear Age

On August 6, 1945, a U.S. plane, the Enola Gay, dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan, annihilating the city and nearly 130,000 of its citizens. Japan surrendered soon after, ending World War II. Because of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, resulting in America's participation in the war, and the Holocaust atrocities perpetrated by Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany, the destructive effects of World War II would live in infamy

...With A Star On Top

The Christmas tree began as an evergreen decorated with apples, symbolizing Eden in a December medieval German play. By the 1600s, trees in German homes were trimmed with candles, fruits and cookies. Currently, Christmas is a multi-billion dollar business with wreaths, mistletoe, stockings, movies, outdoor decorations and cards.

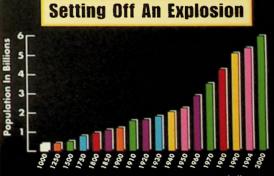

Crusading Towards The Holy Land

When Muslims took control of the Holy Land during the Middle Ages, Christians from Western Europe vowed to recapture the area. Nine major Crusades were organized with kings, nobles, peasants, and even children taking part. None was successful. Holy wars have continued to rage in such places as the Middle East, including the Six-Day War between Israel and Egypt in 1967.

The Royal Flush

Where would the Ty-D-Bowl Man and bathroom libraries be without the flush toilet? After septic tanks and modern sewage systems were improved, civilizations significantly reduced the risks of severe illnesses and epidemics which were so common during the Middle Ages. Concerns prompted public health improvements, including garbage collection and disposal, water treatment and food processing

With the world population now topping 6 billion and increasing at an annual rate of 1.6%, more people are living now than have ever died. The population is rising because of high birth rates coupled with much lower death rates as a result of better living conditions.

The threat of war may have loomed in Lebanon, but the real fighting broke out in toy stores between frenzied parents who found Cabbage Patch Kids in short supply before Christmas in the '80s. No sooner had consumers recovered from this invasion when they were hit with Power Rangers, Tickle Me Elmo, Beanie Babies and Furby manias. Dolly, can you say "Buy, Buy?"

The miniskirt caused a sensation in Swinging '60s London and beyond. The mini series led to the ultra-short micromini, ankle-length maxiskirt, calf-length midiskirt, hot pants and virtually every look ever shown in music videos. Hemlines have risen and fallen throughout history—from hoop skirts and gowns to '20s flapper dresses.

As The Rubik Turns

More than 200 million people twisted their way to the 3-D solution of the Rubik's Cube puzzle in the '80s. Some tried memorizing the cube's configuration while it was still in the package. Preoccupation with puzzles dates back to the first jigsaw puzzles in the 18th century. The world is still trying to solve crosswords, word searches, "Where's Waldo?" and other brain-busting challenges.

That's Pretty Fad-tastic!

Leaders. Followers. The millennium caught every generation a bit off-guard, but folks quickly had the lingo and the look down. When Elizabethan life got ruffled around the collar, everyone copied. Then poof! Powdered wigs, some several feet high, got nobles noticed in the 17th century. How about wooden teeth in Washington's time? By George, it beat having none at all!

As the years passed, women wore the bustle and disco freaks did the Hustle. The '50s poodle skirts bred '70s dog tags, '80s spiked dog collars and '90s Old Navy mutts. Who knew there'd be just as much fur-vor over Davy Crockett coonskin caps in the '50s as with raccoon coats in the '20s?

While some slipped on shining armor, carefree flapper dresses and Calvin Klein jeans, others followed different fads. Joysticks maneuvered

Pac-Man into the arcade hall of fame. Suddenly everyone cared for Pet Rocks, squeezed into phone booths, pounced on Pog, pierced body parts and chose CB radio handles. Will there be as many "must haves" next millennium? Only the Magic 8 Ball knows for sure.

Arts Imitate Life

Nearly every civilization during the millennium expressed its culture and defining events through art and architecture. Great painters, musicians, authors and sculptors vividly captured the emotions of their day. Early Romans built coliseums and staged comedies. Byzantine mosaics and icons reflected Eastern Christian beliefs while Chinese painters produced deft landscapes.

The Middle Ages fostered the rise of Gothic cathedrals, poet Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" and finely woven tapestries. In the Renaissance, William Shakespeare pumped up a volume of still-popular plays. Michelangelo busily sculpted his marble marvel David. Novelists such as Jane Austen characterized the Romantic Movement of the 18th century while the 19th century promoted Impressionist painter Monet, socially-conscious authors including Charles Dickens and the riverside adventures of Mark Twain.

Ballet legend Nijinsky leaped on the 20th century arts scene. Picasso broke with tradition to pioneer Cubism and Dali turned dreams into surreality. Don't forget Dadaism, Mamaism and Norman Rockwellism. Opera was a trill a minute with stars including Beverly Sills and Luciano Pavarotti.

Stephen King and Ann Rice chilled with horror novels, while Ernest Hemingway and John Steinbeck proved more down-to-earth. Broadway was Neil Simon-ized, then "Lion King"-ized.

Deep Thought Number 2,714 When 19th century French sculptor Auguste Rodin created his bronze work, The Thinker, he used his knowledge of anatomy and movement to capture intensely human emotions as great Renaissance and Baroque sculptors Michelangelo and Bernini had done before him. Many 20th century sculptors crafted more experimental works, such as Marc Chagall's mobiles and Marcel Duchamp's creations from discarded materials.

Smile. You're On Canvas Camera

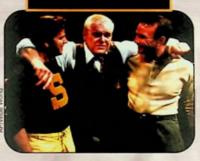

Renaissance master Leonardo da Vinci's 1503 portrait of Mona Lisa, the wife of a silk merchant, was extraordinary with its dramatic dark/light contrasts and ultramysterious smile. A face immortalized in history was a cinch if one happened to know such artists as Rembrandt, Van Gogh, Toulouse-Lautrec or Wyeth. Many painters, however, opted for religious scenes, still lifes and landscapes.

Arthur Miller's drama, "Death of a Salesman," became one of the most riveting plays ever staged as it questioned the American dream and explored the depths of failure. During the 20th century, audiences have witnessed other gripping dramas such as "A Raisin in the Sun" and "The Glass Menagerie."

Scream I: The Terror

Call it the face that launched a thousand album covers, t-shirts and manic-depressive sufferers. Norwegian Edvard Munch's 1893 painting, The Scream, was an anguished cry of isolation and fear that influenced the 20th century Expressionist movement and reminded us of our own stressed-out lives. Vincent Van Gogh and Edgar Allan Poe were among other desperate artists and authors of the time.

Clawing Its Way To The Top

After Andrew Lloyd Webber picked up T. S. Eliot's Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats at an airport, he grabbed the theater world by the tail as creator of "Cats," history's longest-running musical. The 20th century set the stage for vaudevillian singing and comedy acts, as well as some of the greatest musicals to hit Broadway: "Showboat," "Porgy and Bess," "Phantom of the Opera," "Hello, Dolly!" and "The Lion King."

Sometimes You Feel Like A Nutcracker

In 1892, Russian composer Peter Tchaikovsky turned the The Nutcracker into a beloved holiday ballet with his remarkable suite. Twentieth century dance gained popularity as composers wrote musicals that were imaginatively choreographed, including George Gershwin's "An American in Paris." Music and dance partnered dramatically with the Tango—followed by the carefree Charleston, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers' ballroom elegance, the Jitterbug, the Twist and Disco.

Crank Up the Volume

Music of the millennium started on a somber note with the Gregorian chants of monks and ended on samba, "La Bamba" and "Living La Vida Loca." French troubadours roamed the countryside with poems and tunes in the Middle Ages. Lutes and flutes added richness to the Renaissance, while chamber music was Handeled well in the Baroque period.

Beethoven, Mozart and Tchaikovsky crowned the classical music of the 18th and 19th centuries. Strauss then waltzed in to share the spotlight and Sousa marched over to greatness. The birth of the Blues and Jazz brought Billie Holiday and Duke Ellington, followed by Big Bands and the easygoing Swing era. With a twist and shout, Rock & Roll cruised in from Elvis Presley, Chuck Berry, Jimi Hendrix, KISS and Aerosmith, "We Are the World" provided musical relief and Farm Aid helped heal the heartland. Patsy Cline and Willie Nelson added that country twang, Sinatra made the songs so smooth, and folks listened happily ever after.

From Motown To Moonwalker

The Gloved One's 1982 "Thriller," containing such hits as "Beat It," became the best-selling album ever. Before the rhinestones. there was Detroit's Motown label, which signed Michael and his Jackson 5 brothers when he was still learning his "ABCs." With the toast of '60s soul-The Supremes, The Temptations, The Miracles, Stevie Wondermusic couldn't get mo' betta than Motown.

The Wild, Wild Woodstock Louis Armstrong blew away the competition with his virtuosity on jazz cornet and trumpet. New Orleans-born Satchmo (his cheeks puffed like a satchel when he played) became one of the greatest jazz musicians of the 20th century with recordings like "West End Blues." His wordless "scat" singing influenced other jazz greats such as Ella Fitzgerald. Dixieland Jazz, Boogie-Woogie, Beebop, Cool Jazz and Electronic Jazz have carried on the tradition.

The Woodstock Music and Art Festival, an Upstate New York be-in that hosted music's grooviest stars from August 15-17, 1969, was to be the largest rock concert ever. An unexpected 500,000 fans, from hippies to anti-war protesters, braved traffic jams to witness this far-out trip guided by legends including Jimi Hendrix, Jefferson Airplane and Janis Joplin. Not bad for a single day's ticket price of $8. Woodstock later inspired such mega-concerts as Lollapalooza and Lilith Fair.

How'd four lads from Liverpool turn the music world on its ear? Once "I Want to Hold Your Hand" and a string of Beatles' hits reached #1, teens screamed for more. John, Paul, George and Ringo rushed into the studio and, armed with great melodies, created some of the most amazing songs of the 1960s, from "Yesterday" to "Eleanor Rigby." Yeah! Yeah!

Gaing After A Care

Despite numerous medical milestones, curing diseases such as AIDS and cancer eludes the population. In the '80s, Ryan White, a hemophiliac, contracted HIV through blood transfusions and later died. The AIDS virus is the latest epidemic civilizations have battled. The Bubonic Plague killed 40 million by the 14th century and the Typhoid Fever outbreak of the early 1900s claimed countless lives as well. Vaccines now prevent such diseases as smallpox, but any mutations could pose a threat again.

It Does A Body Good

Consumers have become more concerned about keeping healthy, germ-free and well-groomed from head to toe. During the Middle Ages, baths were rarely taken, but today showers and baths are taken daily in order to keep clean and healthy. Today toothpaste, deodorants and mouthwash are used daily. Vitamins and natural herbs are popular and medical advancements keep folks functioning better.

Numb And Number

Prior to the use of anesthesia during operations, early surgeons and barbers cut veins to drain "bad" blood, or sucked it out with leeches to cure patients. Boiling oil was sometimes poured on wounds to sterilize them. Before nitrous oxide and ether were introduced as anesthetics in the 1800s, most operations weren't performed at all. Surgical conditions were unsanitary, causing infections to spread rapidly.

The Fact of Life

In the Middle Ages, the average life expectancy in Europe was about 30 years; today it is more than 70 for both men and women. Improved nutrition, sanitation, disease prevention and disease treatment are some of the main reasons for the increase.

With the average life expectancy rising, people will try liposuction and tummy tucks, facelifts and collagen injections to stay younger looking. RK and LASIK procedures make contact lenses and glasses obsolete for many, and hearing aids are almost invisible. Heart, lung and other transplants give new hope, as do today's medicines compared to the quack cure-alls of the 1800s.

Curling Irons

Bodybuilding became a pumping iron passion after ex-97 lb. weakling Charles Atlas promoted his "Dynamic Tension" muscle-producing exercises in the early 20th century. In the '80s and '90s, Arnold Schwarzenegger wannabes bench pressed and lifted weights in the gym so they could burn fat and aet fit. Harmful steroids were replaced by sports drinks, creatine and protein bars to fuel performance.

Health Yourself

The mysteries of medicine, better health and longer living were revealed as the millennium unfolded. Diseases prevalent in early times were conquered through improved medicine, sanitation, immunization and eating habits, although other factors such as high cholesterol, smoking and junk foods brought on such foes as heart disease, cancer and obesity. The Food and Drug Administration now ensures proper processing to kill bacteria and preserve foods longer.

In the 1800s, Austrian monk Gregor Mendel formulated the basic rules of heredity that led to genetics, and better understanding of human makeup. Florence Nightingale brought reforms to nursing in the 19th century including more sanitary conditions and scientific care for the sick. Instead of the guesswork so common in the Middle Ages, doctors now work to control, cure and prevent illness. Medical specialties were created, producing such authorities as pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock who knew all about babies.

Exercise became almost an obsession as gyms, jogging tracks and Jane Fondas sprouted, and personal trainers zeroed in on targeted areas. Take a deep breath and say hello to yoga, stress reduction therapy, medications to feel happy/energetic/ calmer, wrinkle creams, alternative medicines, just name it. Either people are living better or just becoming more high maintenance.

Coming And Going Attractions

Getting around was slow and hard during the beginning of the millennium but somebody had to do it. In the Middle Ages, horses got saddled with pulling wagons transporting goods and passengers for long distances. Viking ships found rough sailing to Greenland and later America, but compasses and better construction of vessels in the 1400s made voyages and overseas trade possible.

Canals and paved roads hastened travel in the 1700s and the first major U.S. Highway, the National Road, created road rage in the mid-1800s.

After Robert Fulton invented the steamboat, British inventor Richard Trevithick helped develop the locomotive. Life quickened as travel and hauling freight became more economical.

Electric trains, streetcars and gasolinepowered engines drove transportation into the modern era. Suddenly automobiles putt-putted along and sprouted everything from running boards to fins. Airplanes soared, subways roared and spaceships explored. The risks of progress have also been great, such as the loss of pilot Amelia Earhart and her plane on an around-theworld flight in 1937, the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion in 1986 and numerous airplane crashes.

Tomorrow's transportation could include human teleportation and faster-than-light travel. The ride's been pretty good so far, but inevitably some still ask, "Are we there yet?"

Gas Transit

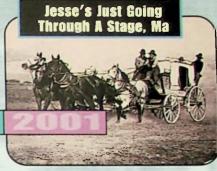

Once steam-powered engines invaded 18th century Europe, a steam car, or horseless carriage, seemed a natural. The gasoline engine and pneumatic tire, however, made automobiles practical. Henry Ford's 1908 assembly line mass production of his Model T made owning a car affordable. This led to the growth of suburbs, superhighways, motels, roadtrips, traffic jams, malls and, of course, fuzzy dice.

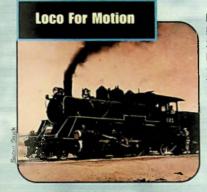

1957 1983 Hindenburg airship explodes

In the 1860s, the Central Pacific Railroad laid track eastward from Sacramento, California and the Union Pacific Railroad laid track westward from Omaha Nebraska The Transcontinental Railroad was finished in 1869 when both railroads met in Promontory, Utah. Coast-to-coast freight and passenger lines dramatically increased settlements and trade. Today's subways, light rail and ultra-fast bullet trains move commuters like crazy and make good action movie sequences.

You'd be brave and dirty if you traveled in the bumpy horse-drawn wagons that existed before stagecoaches arrived in 1670. Stagecoach lines carried passengers and mail along routes in the West. Passengers defied hard seats and bandits such as Jesse James. Settlers came in covered wagons along with their freight, forming wagon trains that sometimes traveled only one mile per hour. Folks with the need for speed rode horseback.

Da Plane! Da Plane!

Leonardo da Vinci dreamed of flying machines with wings, but it took centuries to get the concept off the ground. The Montgolfier brothers were full of hot air when their balloon ascended in 1783. Orville and Wilbur Wright had the right stuff and flew the first successful airplane in 1903. Charles Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart flew far and solo, and Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier. Today, airplanes carry millions of business, pleasure and military passengers. But airline food still hasn't improved much.

Sure beats getting seasick in a bumpy hovercraft or swimming it. In 1994, the chunnel made the world smaller by linking the continent of Europe and the United Kingdom via railway tunnel underneath the choppy English Channel. The high-speed Eurostar train can transport riders from London to Paris in just three hours. Will the future bring travel under the great oceans? Across the universe? Or back in time? Oops...that last one's already happening. It's called the re-introduction of the Volkswagen Beetle.

Let's Do Launch

In the Cold War, the scientific power of the U.S. and Soviet Union rested on advances in space. After Sputnik I probed space in 1957, chimps, dogs and finally men rocketed into the sky. Astronaut John Glenn took Friendship 7 for some spins around Earth in 1962. By 1969, Americans were picking up moon rocks. Since then, shuttles launch and space stations orbit.

Are We There Yet?

With the many modes of passenger transportation that have evolved, there are ever-faster ways to reach a given destination, especially for those with friends in high places.

So what's the best way to travel from Los Angeles to New York City (2,824 miles) nonstop?

We Get Game

Sports gained popularity as time lunged forward. While forms of games resembling soccer were played during the 10th century, life rarely allowed time-outs for recreation. Thank goodness for the 1600s, when the English played Rounders, a baseball predecessor, and Scotland saw early rounds of golf. By the 1800s many people led the sportin' life, including James Naismith who invented basketball, and the students of Canada's McGill University who scored with the first hockey rules.

Native American athlete Jim Thorpe won fame in early 20th century Olympic track and field, as well as football and baseball. Babe Didrickson, his female counterpart, excelled in golf as well as track and field.

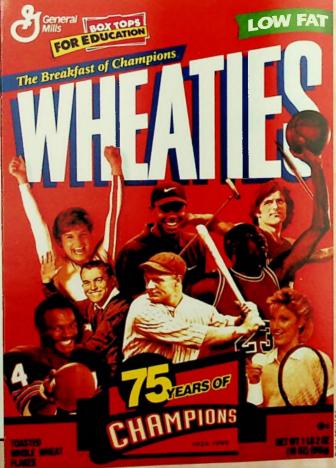

As baseball became a pastime and football a passion, Babe Ruth and Hank Aaron belted pitches "outta here," Jackie Robinson broke color barriers, Joe Namath threw footballs and John Elway busted Broncos loose in the Super Bowl.

Today sports revolves around such stars as heavy-hitter Ken Griffey, Jr., golf sensation Tiger Woods and hoops immortal Michael Jordan. Amateur and school sports are also serious stuff. Millions are on the fast track with NASCAR auto racing, on the edge for extreme sports and in the ropes for wrestling.

How Did It Come Into Play?

Baseball, bowling and other familiar sports didn't just appear out of the blue. Here's a roster of some game origins.

Baseball: Cooperstown, NY 1839. Abner Doubleday based his new sport on bat-and-ball games such as "one old cat." He adopted the diamond-shaped field for his game and assigned playing positions. Bowling: Germany, third century. Every German peasant carried a club called a kegel for protection. In church, faith was tested by setting up the kegel as a target (representing the heathen) and rolling a stone to try to knock it down. Those who succeeded were considered free of sin.

Fencing: Italy, 16th century. Fencing began in ancient times as the practice of śwordsmanship to prepare men for duels and warfare.

The Ladies Who Win

America got a kick out of the U.S. Women's soccer team, which won the 1999 World Cup by defeating China. Their victory proved that anything men can do, women can do just as well. Big milestone: President Richard Nixon signed into law Title IX, giving girls equal access to school sports like football.

It Was All An Act

After Thomas Edison invented the commercial motion picture machine, the Kinetoscope, in 1893, projection machines greatly enlarged a film's image. This led to one of the 20th century's most popular forms of entertainment, the movie. Sunny Hollywood beckoned such film directors as D.W. Griffith, who revolutionized film editing with The Birth of a Nation in 1915. Silent films made quiet stars of comedian Charlie Chaplin, handsome Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Rudolph Valentino and Jean Harlow.

In the 1930s, audiences heard voices when "talkies" caught on after The Jazz Singer's premier in 1927. Screwball comedies including It Happened One Night thrust such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert into the limelight. Alfred Hitchcock made classic thrillers, and Frankenstein was a chiller. Casablanca dramatized war and Dr. Strangelove spoofed it. Marilyn Monroe and Audrey Hepburn lit up the screen, and Charlton Heston found fame of biblical proportions. John Wayne saved the day, and James Bond was never shaken or stirred. The Rat Pack cruised the Vegas strip and the Brat Pack cruised the halls in The Breakfast Club.

Blockbusters have ruled recent movies. Sylvester Stallone punched up Rocky. Harrison Ford dodged madmen and meteors in Star Wars and Raiders of the Lost Ark. Armageddon and Titanic astounded audiences with their mega-dollar budgets. Tom Hanks, Julia Roberts and Will Smith became idols at 24-screen multiplexes.

Seen In 3-D

Weapons flying past! Spaceships zooming abovel Bwana Devil wowed tinted glasses-wearing crowds as the 3-D movie phenomenon burst from the screen in 1952. But high cost and poor quality made 3-D fall flat. Disney's Captain Eo gloriously revived 3-D in the '80s and became an audience-grabber at Epcot Center. Now seven-story IMAX theaters, IMAX 3-D technology and simulator rides truly immerse viewers in movies.

"Soitenly" audiences loved comedy teams such as The Three Stooges in the '30s and '40s. Those n'yuk n'yuk n'yukleheads pulled punches to make 'em laugh. Laurel and Hardy got into fine messes, while Abbott and Costello turned their antics into the monstrous classic, Abbott & Costello Meet Frankenstein. Groucho, Chico and Harpo Marx were top bananas in zany romps including Monkey Business and opened the trap door for crazies such as Martin and Lewis, Crosby and Hope, Steve Martin and Eddie Murphy.

Lights, Camera, Attraction!

Some movie pairings are so memorable, they have become legendary. Here are a few of Hollywood's most famous film couples:

- Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy (Woman of the Year - 1942)
- Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor (Cleopatra - 1963)
- Jessica Rabbit and Roger Rabbit (Who Framed Roger Rabbit? - 1988)
- Meg Ryan and Tom Hanks (Sleepless in Seattle - 1993, Joe Versus the Volcano - 1990 and You've Got Mail - 1999)
- Julia Roberts and Richard Gere (Pretty Woman - 1990 and Runaway Bride - 1999)
 Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman (Casablanca - 1942)

Gone To The Movies

"Oh Fiddle Dee Dee," mused Scarlett O'Hara (Vivien Leigh) over the men and misfortunes she encountered as the strongwilled and resourceful mistress of Tara Plantation in 1939's Gone With The Wind, Often called the greatest film made, GWTW told of a woman who could deal with the Civil War but not with losing the love of Rhett Butler (Clark Gable). Other unforgettable romances: The Way We Were, Breakfast at Tiffany's and Shakespeare In Love.

Here, Wizard Wizard

Oh, those ruby slippers! A brilliant technicolor blast brought Kansas' Dorothy over the rainbow and into audiences' hearts as The Wizard of Oz premiered in 1939. One of the best-loved movies because of its re-releases and annual television broadcasts, the film boasted wicked witches, munchkins, a cowardly lion and the magical Judy Garland. The Wizard of Oz inspired an African American musical and movie, The Wiz. And who could forget that dogged '70s rock band, Toto?

One Giant Leap

On July 20, 1969 millions worldwide sat glued to their TVs as the Eagle landed on the moon and Apollo 13's Neil Armstrong took one giant leap onto the lunar surface. Americans witnessed the lift-off and return of other manned space flights on TV, including the horrific 1986 Challenger space shuttle disaster. Learning the alphabet was yummier with Cookie Monster and naming numbers was not so scary with The Count. Big Bird and his Sesame Street Muppet friends, Oscar, Grover, Kermit The Frog as well as Bert and Ernie, have captivated children since 1967 with letter-perfect skits and songs. Howdy Doody, Captain Kangaroo, Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood and Barney also packed lots of kid power. Is it time for Teletubbies?

Fate of the Union

From the wilderness came a nation ready to fight for freedom and survive all odds. Native Americans had lived in the continent long before European explorers and colonists arrived in the 16th century. Thirteen British colonies formed, and the Revolutionary War erupted when England tightened control, and Paul Revere warned of the oncoming British invasion. Independence and the United States of America were both declared in1776.

The new nation weathered heat from France and Mexico, but acquired new territory such as the Louisiana Purchase. After gold in California was discovered in 1849, America heard the roar of the Civil War, Reconstruction and Native American warriors such as Geronimo. Industry growth fueled prosperity until World War I and the beginning of the Great Depression. Two heroines, Rosie the Riveter and First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, emerged during World War II. Peace efforts chilled as the Cold War, Korean War and McCarthyism isolated the U.S. from Communist nations.

Life prospered in the suburbs and man rocketed into space, while civil rights struggles ignited. President John F. Kennedy was struck down, as were countless soldiers in Vietnam. Then President Richard Nixon struck out after the Watergate political scandal. The Gulf War, pollution and tragedies such as the Oklahoma City bombing hit hard in recent decades. Yet

Americans still rally around the Stars and Stripes.

Betsy Ross was a well-known Philadelphia seamstress. In 1776, the young widow was approached by George Washington's Continental Congress committee to sew the first official U.S. flag per their 13 stars/13 stripes design. With the speed of Paul Revere, she finished it off as a July 4th accompaniment to The Declaration of Independence, which laid the foundation for the United States of America. Star Spangled Gal

Deal-ing with Depression

A Divided Nation

President Abraham Lincoln called it "A House Divided." The United States was unofficially split between the North (the Union), which sought to abolish slavery and modernize America, and the South (the Confederacy), which favored preserving slavery and an agrarian lifestyle. From 1861 to 1865, the bloody Civil War raged until General Robert E Lee's Confederate army surrendered to General Ulysses S. Grant's Union force. Slavery was abolished and the United

"I Have a Dream that my children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Washington, D.C., protesters in 1963. His non-violent approach helped advance civil rights for all races. Other warriors for racial equality include anti-segregationist Rosa Parks, and Jesse Jackson, who pushed for African-American economic power.

States became one nation again.

Nhen It Was Grander On The Verandah

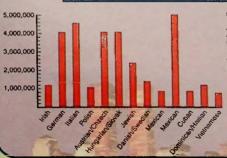

It was a simpler time called "The Good Old Days." The front porch, or stoop, was the nightly gathering place for several generations of family and friends. Evening breezes and conversation filled the air while a passing parade of buggies and neighbors moved past. Maybe it was the coming of television, indoor air conditioning or the faster pace of suburban communities that caused the front porch to disappear.

The Voice That Launched The Vote For Women

In 1869, Susan B. Anthony helped found the National Women's Suffrage Association to seek equal rights for women. Her efforts led to passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920, giving women the right to vote. Other women's rights leaders furthered the cause, including Gloria Steinem and Betty Friedan. Role models such as astronaut Sally Ride and Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor opened still more doors.

She Carries a Torch for Freedom

"Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to be free," beckons the Statue of Liberty. A gift to the United States from France in 1884, she has welcomed millions of immigrants to American shores with her towering presence in New York Harbor. Though they hail from many nations, they now call only one country home.

Communications

We're All Ears

In Depression-era America, radio was not only a necessity but a reassuring source of comfort. Turning the dial brought cheery hit songs, soap operas, comedies, news of the world and President Franklin D. Roosevelt's encouraging fireside chats to the nation. Though the nation later became obsessed with television, radio kept up its cool beat with rock music, talk radio, rap and other listening pleasures.

Read All About It!

In the late 1800s, some newspapers took Freedom of the Press too far. To gain new readership, some of America's leading newspapers began sensationalizing accounts of Spanish oppression in Cuba to provoke America's entry into the Spanish-American War. After this outbreak of "yellow journalism," news media took great measures to heighten credibility, though tabloid-style reporting still exists. On the flip side, investigative reporting gained popularity in the 1970s by exposing government corruption, such as Watergate, as well as improper business practices.

Storming The Network

No sooner had the Persian Gulf War erupted in 1991 than Ted Turner's Cable News Network, CNN, covered it nonstop. Broadcasts had never been so immediate. The Big Three networks were also shocked by the popularity of such other cable offerings as HBO, ESPN and A&E as well as satellite dishes and payper-view. Television viewers, however, loved all the remote possibilities.

Revenge Of The CyberNerds

Going geek is a good thing if your name is Bill Gates. Computers revolutionized the speed and accuracy of information processing, ever since a punch card machine tabulated the 1890 census. In the 1970s, a computer's entire workings fit on a chip. Things got PC when Microsoft created software programs, making Gates a "bill"-ionaire. The Internet logged on in the '90s with waves of Web sites, interactive games, chat rooms and all-important e-mail. Pretty incredible.com, eh?

Ring Ma Bell

"Mr. Watson, come here," said Alexander Graham Bell into the telephone he developed in 1876. It's become one of today's most valuable communication devices, linking people throughout the world at lightning speed. From the telephone's humble beginnings have emerged high-speed fiber optic networks, fax machines, cellular phones, computer modems and videophones. There's some connection here.
