DEDICATION

To
MISS SCHLEICHER

Who has been not only teacher and principal but also a helpful, inspiring and worth-while friend

We, the members of S. H. S., lovingly dedicate this Annual.

MEMBERS

ALFRED FEWKES.....Vice-President
BEECHER HALSTEAD.....Clerk and Treasurer
ARTHUR TURNER      KARL ETTERLING

Sciotoville High School surely wishes to give in this Annual an appreciation of the service which the Board of Education has given it. Busy and interested as each member is in his own particular work, yet each has realized the value of a good school to his community and has therefore given much of his thot and attention to that which he considers so important to the progress of the town and its citizens. By what they have done, they have shown themselves to be more than passive on-lookers, but real active workers for us.

For several years we have had our new high school building as one great evidence of their efforts, and every year finds us more appreciative of that building and the advantages which it offers. But this year we have another new building for added evidence—Lafayette School—built not for us directly, but for those who will, some time, we hope, be high school students and enjoy what we enjoy.

We do not know, as we ought, those who have done so much for us, and we feel that possibly they do not know us. Perhaps that condition can be changed in another year. We wish to extend to each member of our Board of Education an invitation to visit the school which they serve, and really see us at work. In this way perhaps they could receive the real appreciation that we can not express here.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

Yes, we have established literary societies after so long a time. There was some talk of this last year; but some way or other we just could not put our plans into action... But we did it this year! And two of them, too! The students of the Freshman and Senior classes aided and abetted by our always ready helper, Miss Schleicher, have formed the Oyo Society, and already we feel that this society has been a help to us. Then the Sophomores and Juniors, with Miss Langstaff in charge, have formed the society known as the Rio Theodora. And these are some societies. It is to be hoped that these societies will be continued and will grow better each year.

TO THE JUNIORS

Realizing that our stay among you is now drawing to a close, and that we have almost finished our work for S. H. S., and realizing that our work will be taken up next year by the present Juniors, who will hold the lofty position of high and mighty Seniors, the Class of '19 desires to start them on their way with this wish for the future: May you enjoy your Senior privileges as we have enjoyed ours, and may you always work together for the good and glory of S. H. S., accomplishing even greater things than we have done.

WHO'S WHO

The recent election of Who's Who plainly showed that our students are not paying enough attention to magazine and newspaper articles. The United States is everywhere spoken of as a democratic nation. What does it mean? Do you know? Or are you one of those who interpret the word democratic as referring to those who belong to the Democratic party? Wake up, fellow students! The time is coming when we will leave high school life for another where our responsibilities will be greater than those at present. Are we going to take the place of the leader or the follower? Are we going to make a good follower or a straggler? The choice lies with you. We can not hope to lead or follow intelligently unless we set ourselves the task of understanding present day issues.

BASKET BALL

We are justly proud of our basket ball teams and of the record they have made during the past season. There was only one team in the county this year able to defeat our boys. The girls' team holds the championship of the county. As this is only our second year of basket ball, we feel that in a few more years we will have teams hard to surpass. Our success is due in a large measure to our coaches and also to the hearty support of the students. As some of the members of the teams are leaving this year, if our record is to remain intact, next year's vacancies must be filled with competent players. By the interest shown by the other classes they will be easily filled and great things are expected for the future.

In any event, it is up to you, fellow classmates, to see that basket ball continues a success.

GLEE CLUB

Glee Club was organized as usual this year under the direction of Miss Schmidt. The musical skit presented by the Glee Club plainly shows that Sciotoville High has some excellent singers. We all know that the Glee Club consists of girls only, but the play given by the boys also shows that they, too, deserve to rank with the girls.

In order to continue our forward march it is imperative that our music next year be better than that of the present. Will you as students ever let music fall out of your high school work? Will it continue to rank as one of the big things of school life? The answer lies with you. We can not expect our school to rank with others unless we keep up our music.

Class History

Once upon a time in the history of Sciotoville High a crowd of meek and worried boys and girls assembled at the high school building. We were worried. We had arisen that morning with the certain knowledge that when the clock struck eight the school bell would ring to sound the news that summer vacation was over. It must then be our task to fare forth upon a new life. We would enter high school life to be patronized by the Seniors, ignored by the Juniors and scoffed at and antagonized by the Sophomores. We were human and it was with trembling and hasty steps that we trudged from home that morning and entered upon the new life.

We were taken in hand by Mr. Glandon, who made our Freshman year one to be long remembered in the history of Sciotoville High. We had a class of thirty-two boys and girls who were always ready and willing to do anything which would raise the reputation of the school. Our success as Freshmen was largely due to Mr. Glandon, who was greatly interested in the welfare of our class, and also to our English teacher, Miss Segur. Our class showed its worth from the start by having four of our number taking important places on the track team.

We now passed to the second year of our high school career with the title of Sophomores. We were not so strong in number but had greater determination that our class would be the best and largest to stay through the entire four years. We began to see what our high school life would mean to us and settled down to work with the determination that we would get all that was coming to us.

In order to see that S. H. S. took her proper place in athletics, we organized a baseball team. The try-out admitted five of our class into the inner circle and crowned them as heroes before the end of the year. We played as victors the best teams in the county.

Time passed and with the coming of spring we were told by our teachers that we had passed from the ranks of Sophomores and would henceforth be Juniors. We departed then for vacation and the following September assembled in the school house, fewer in number but with the same spirit of determination that led us to do our best.

This year basket ball was started. Our class challenged the three remaining classes for a game to be played in our local gymnasium. We were able to win from the team picked from the other three classes. When Mr. Miller had the final try out for the high school team four of our class were given suits and told that it was their duty to help uphold the honor of their school. As this was the first year of basket ball, much credit is due the boys in helping put out a team that was to win a place in the basket ball ring.

To show that the girls were doing their part they also organized a team under the direction of Miss Jackson. This team made a record for the High School.

In the same year when the debating team was organized it was learned that one of the debators of the negative team was a member of our class.

When our class enrolled as Seniors it was found that twenty of our number were ready to face the final year.

During our Senior year we were again interested in basket ball. This year every boy of our class was able to pass the test and have the honor of being a member of the team. By the hard playing and ability of the team we carried off the honors in the Scioto County League and were given a loving cup.

The girls also came forth with a team found to be unconquerable. The success of the team was helped by three Senior girls who played with it.

During this year a literary society for the Seniors and Freshmen was organized by Miss Schleicher. The interest shown by the Senior class helped to make it one of the big things of school life. We were finally engaged in preparing for the class play and last of all commencement day, the day that means the end of our high school career. In those long years in which we have done our bit for S. H. S. it is to be remembered as the happiest time of our life.

CLASS POEM, 1919

What of the year of the ones and the nines?
Is it causing some people to sigh and to pine?
Cease your brooding, and to mirth, I say!
Turn from frowns to smiles bright and gay;
For a class that is large and unusually fine
Is passing one bar in the make-up of time.

What of the year of the ones and the nines?
Ah! it will have a lasting remembrance in ev'ry mind;
One that will ever to us be new,
As going thru life we pause to review
The scenes of school days; that if renewed
Would cheer us in almost any mood.
We strove to be honest at any cost,
And many's the perfect grade we have lost.
To the joy of ourselves, and the chagrin of teachers,
We've patience enough to supply a preacher.

But to prove to you that this class is great,
I'll tell you how it has handled "Fate."
We've talent along innumerable lines,
But in Physics lab. we're especially fine.
In quoting poetry we can't be beat,
And when getting out tests we could never cheat;
And even if we wanted to, we'd never be able,
For far away on a distant table
Stand stacks and stacks of blank white sheets
Which we know very soon we'll be apt to meet.
We generally manage to be on time,
And when compared with others think we're prime.

Have we a Glee Club?
I'll leave that to you;
Its selections are varied and always new;
Its musicales are applauded and always encored;
And of course could be praised a great deal more.
The Senior girls in its glories are a "quorum,"
Their attitude always that of decorum.
And in all their school life, as I can remember,
They're always featured as musical members.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing!"
Yes, we realize that, and have just the remedy
For such a calamity, namely,
The establishment of a literary society,
Which is called "Oyo," and very appropriately;
Its meetings have been the scenes of spirited debates;
Scenes of discipline, and the vengeance of Fate.

Our boys are all athletes;
You can see that at a glance;
We tell you of their merits at every chance;
They're very, very hard to beat,
But at any rate they can stand defeat.
Their trophies will be prized in years to come,
And proudly exhibited by every one
Who is interested in the school's success,
And sincerely wish our happiness.

They're not only wonderful in this respect,
But just as great as you could expect any Senior boy to be
Who has struggled for years,
And never in that time dared disappear
From a study period or monotonous test,
And in writing themes, or quoting Shakespeare do his best.

One certain fellow, whose name I shall blot,
Has continually answered questions with the question "What?"
And then when repeated again with much strength,
He sits up and answers at an interesting length.
Another whose name I had best camouflage
Has always inquired the meaning and cause
Of certain large words and passages long
Which grace our text books and mean but a song
To all, who like "Tooie" are modest and meek,
But know really more than they'd have people think.

"You have heard of the end of a perfect day"
"And the end of a journey, too."
Well, this the beginning of a perfect class
With a definite end in view.

FLORENCE JOHNSON, '19.

PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1919

My Dear Classmates:

I suppose every member of the Class of '19 is very anxious to know just what the future holds for him. I know you will be pleased with what I have to tell you, for you all have such bright futures that you will be very eager to start your new life after you leave High School.

Frances Steadman has a great love for children, and after she completes her school life she will become a nurse in a Baby's Summer Camp. She will not remain there long because she is engaged to a young man living near Sciotoville.

Edith Williams, one of the most beautiful blondes in the world, has a great ambition to become a vampire. I know she will be a big success and will some day become a second Theda Bara.

Florence Johnson is an adept at speaking pieces. She has always been on programs since she was a small girl. When she leaves good old S. H. S. she will become a great speaker in public meetings.

Temperance Sherman does everything in a business-like way. She does all her duties well. After commencement she will take a business course and become a stenographer.

Lewis Kent, a star forward on the basket ball team, will be just what the country needs most in large cities, a taxi driver. A rich old man dressed as a beggar will ask for a ride, Lew will tell him to hop in and he will get his reward when the rich man dies making a will that leaves Lewis all his millions of dollars. Lewis will then stop taxi driving and live at ease in a mansion on Fifth Avenue.

Howard Hansgen, one of the stars on the S. H. S. Basket Ball Team, is a fine, well-built fellow. He is always on hand when any work is to be done and he cheerfully lends his strong right arm giving assistance whenever necessary. He is a good fighter, too, and has demonstrated his ability for the benefit of the other boys. So I know that Howard with all his ability to fight will be a second Jess Willard.

Mabel Duvendeck, one of the most charming girls in the Senior class, is always seen dancing, and I am sure she will make a success as a toe dancer and captivate large audiences.

One of the brightest girls in the Senior class is Alice Carter. She never fails to answer questions, no matter how difficult. She is a very cheerful girl and I prophesy that she will be a writer of high-class fiction.

Bessie Beatty is a very entertaining girl because she has the ability to talk on all subjects that may be brought up by different people. She can persuade you to believe her side of any question. Some day she will earn a large salary as a book agent.

Alberta Dever is a very quiet girl because she has no time for talking nonsense. She is quite musical and as soon as she leaves school she will go to New York and make millions of dollars composing ragtime music.

PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1919

Marjorie Purdy is a very popular girl at school. She is always ready to do her part in singing at school, in plays and Glee Club. She is famous at Sciotoville, Star Yard, Portsmouth, Wheelersburg and New Boston. With all her fame, I know she will not be satisfied while singing in such small places, but will go to large cities where she will make her debut as a prima donna in grand opera.

Ada Carter is one of the members who entered our jolly class last year. She is loved by everybody on account of her great desire for knowledge. She will study hard and become a missionary to India, where she will do much good.

Ralph Hansgen, a well-known boy here, lives at Waits' Station. He is in Sciotoville most of the time on school business and calling on people living on Short Street. Here I have a fine chance to see him and observe his likes and dislikes. I notice that whenever there is a funeral in town he is always present where he can view the corpse. I know there is but one kind of business for Ralph, and that is the business of an undertaker.

One of the liveliest girls in the whole Senior class is Gladys Powell. Whenever any social affair is brewing we all know who will do the most work because Gladys never fails in helping anybody. Last summer when we went swimming so much Gladys proved herself a heroine. This is how she did it. A Portsmouth boy who could not swim better than the law allows went far out into the Ohio River and went under. Gladys was the first to his aid. Very calmly she drew him into a boat and saved his life. In future years she will become a life saver at Palm Beach.

Charles Stout is one of the best students in school. He is a fine basket ball player and is a star in all mathematics. He will enter college for four years and will be a teacher in our High School.

Geraldine Belloat is a very pretty name. We all like the name and the person to whom it belongs, but Geraldine will have to have new calling cards after she leaves school, because she will then become the wife of a very prominent dentist.

Anna Willis just entered our class this year. During the cold winter months when we amused ourselves with ice skating, Anna was always seen on the ice, where she demonstrated all kinds of figures. After school is over she will go upon the stage as a professional ice skater.

Herald Walbright never fails to attend church. On Wednesday night after he has practiced basket ball he goes to prayer meeting and he always makes long talks. There is but one profession for Herald. He will be a preacher.

Aida Swickert, of Fourth Street, is a very loving girl. She loves everybody she meets and she meets many people, too. She always has a smile for every one and I think no one ever heard her quarreling as most girls do. She talks and always words her speeches well. If she does not lose her tongue before she graduates, she will afterwards become an attorney and win much fame.

MARJORIE TURNER.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of nineteen hundred and nineteen of Sciotoville High School, Sciotoville, County of Scioto and State of Ohio, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish and declare this our Last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all other Wills and Testaments made by us heretofore.

First—All our debts and obligations shall be paid out of our fund of resources as soon after our departure as shall be convenient.

Second—We give, devise and bequeath to the separate members of the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes the following, which seem to apply to their several needs:

Alice Carter wills her ability to recite poetry, and her box of quotations, which is overflowing at all times, to Willard Nagle. She also wills her sunshiny disposition to Mr. Miller.

Ada Carter wills her brilliance in Cicero to Maurice Fewkes, and her genial nature to Hazel Sieck.

Gladys Powell wills her ability to play basket ball to Maurita Sikes, her ability to pose as host to the person lucky enough to have that honor in the next science class.

Florence Johnson wills her vocal talent to Mr. Miller, and her convincing manner in physics class to Rodney Whitt.

Frances Steadman wills her love for Bills, both currency and otherwise, to Oetta Snyder, her medulla oblongata and her physiology notebook to the physiology class of 1920 to be kept in their museum.

Bessie Beatty wills her admiration for a certain Junior girl to Hazel Sieck, and her box of pills to Miss Langstaff.

Herald Walbright wills his dimples to Marleah Ketter and his popularity with two Junior girls to Bill Bierley.

Ralph Hansgen wills his infatuation for a certain Senior to a young man named Burns.

Anna Willis wills her good looks to Vaughan Brock and her yellow hat to Paul Stricker.

Temperance Sherman wills her incontrollable temper to Louise Smith, and her love for her teachers to Brooks Carter.

Mabel Duvendeck wills her histrionic accomplishments to Selma Cadwallader, and her gold teeth she wills to Lorena Nagle.

Marjorie Purdy wills her love for "geese" to her sister Lillian to be kept in the family, and her sailor midy to Miss Schleicher.

Geraldine Belloat wills her box of rouge to Anna Lunsford and her wit and vampire smile to Ruth Winters.. She wills her original recipe for making cornbread without cornmeal to Miss Mumma. Her girlish ways she bequeaths to Paul Steadman.

Howard Hansgen wills his air of importance and dignity in the classroom to Aldred Ketter and Marcellus Dupre and his knowledge of electricity and door bells to Clair Walden.

CLASS WILL

Charles Stout wills the pleasure of escorting a certain Junior home from school to Raymond Courtney.

Lewis Kent wills his bashfulness and his ability to write themes to Dorothy Dever. His love for the "ladies" he wills to Ray Schaffer.

Aida Swickert wills her green sweater to Gladys Whitt and her ability to sing and speak in public to Frances Halstead.

Marjorie Turner wills her ability to do aesthetic dancing to Selma Cadwallader. Her height she wills to Allene Williams. To Pauline Coburn she wills her meek and modest manner.

Alberta Dever wills her love for physics to Elizabeth Williams, and her love for the boys, both large and small, to Ruth Walden.

All the remainder and residue of our property both real and personal not hereinbefore disposed of, we give, devise and bequeath to our Board of Education, to be disposed of for the good of the following classes as they may see fit. We hereby appoint the said Board of Education sole executors of this our Last Will and Testament

In Testimony Whereof, we have set our hands to this, our Last Will and Testament, at Sciotoville, this second day of May, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Nineteen.

CLASS PLAY 1919

AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW

Under the supervision of Mr. Reed, "At the End of the Rainbow" was selected as the Senior play of 1919.

The play was a clever representation of certain phases of college life in which the hero and heroine were estranged by a plot to secure a will in the hero's possession. The plot was finally discovered and the characters emerged at the close of the play after having found the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."

"Pep, Let's Go!" Do We Live Up To This?

Read Here and Judge

What is now our Junior class entered Sciotoville High School in the year one nine one six, thirty-three strong. Our class was large and full of life, we looked forward to a great year.

Everyone who has been a Freshman will know how important we felt when our class was organized and how we strutted about with our colors fluttering on our sleeves, to the great amusement of the Seniors.

During the year we lost five of our classmate who had chosen other paths of life. The year passed swiftly and at the end of it we were all pleased to know we were to be Sophomores the next year.

When school bells rang out the following September and the roll was called, we found ourselves to be the same old snappy crowd. We entered into this year with more spirit, as athletics were first being introduced into our school. Our class proved its mettle when three of our girls made the High School Basket Ball Team. All through the year we were engaged in some sport or activities common to school life. During the latter part of the year, much to our regret four more of our class bade us adieu, as they had decided to take their stand in the business world. This cut our enrollment down to twenty-five, but at the final test we came out with flying colors and knew that we could spend our vacation feeling that we had done our best.

The year one nine one nine finds us still full of pep and loyalty, but we are beginning to appreciate now how much high school life really means to us. Our number has decreased during the summer and winter until we find ourselves just nineteen strong. But despite the number, we have loyally taken part in everything to which we could lend our aid. We always manage to keep cheerful even tho our faces are a little long when we approach the examination rooms. But, after all, we "get there" and expect to strive faithfully onward toward the goal we hope to reach.

TO THE CLASS OF '21

You met us last as Freshmen
And you gave but little heed,
But 'tis not strange that that should be,
For we couldn't expect you to see the need
Of the Class of '21.

Another year has swiftly gone,
Just where we scarcely know,
And a place for ourselves, we hope we've made
In our S. H. S., to which much we owe,
We, the Class of '21.

Five of our classmates we've lost on the way—
We number just twenty-two;
But if these few be true, then we're very sure
You'll be proud of us before you're thru
With the Class of '21.

This year has seen us thru English II,
We've learned to prove angles and arcs so true,
We studied in history of pope and king,
And to some of us Latin is not quite so new,
We, the Class of '21.

Our time is not given to hard work alone,
And we really don't wish you to have such a thot;
Some study, some fun and some day dreaming, too,
We, the Class of '21.

How soon we'll busy Juniors be,
With so very much more to do!
So a sigh for past error, a smile for past fun
And a wish for success, sincere and true,
To the Class of '21.

FRESHMAN HISTORY

Early last September there was assembled at Scioto-ville High School twenty-eight of the most bashful and scared children that ever walked the earth. The difficulties before us seemed almost insurmountable. We had heard that algebra was based on  $x$ ,  $y$  and  $z$ ; that its plus and minus as found in the different forms of addition and subtraction were monsters which frightened even the most courageous. Latin, too, was a language formed of some different cases and tenses that we had not been used to in our own English language; and like all other subjects had to be studied. We are sure now that we know something about it. Liberi matri carissimi erant. The upper classmen told us that instead of language we would study rhetoric, so that in the future we might be great speakers. The only hope left us for happiness was manual training for the boys and domestic science for the girls.

The first week was a nightmare. The first day we were taken in hands by Miss Schleicher and registered as Freshmen. The Sophomores hated us, the Juniors ignored us and the Seniors made fun of us. After a while we were told to have a class meeting. Class meeting! What did it mean? We looked in the dictionary, found the meaning of the two words and met. Miss Langstaff, one of our teachers, took pity on us and she was elected our class advisor in this meeting and all others. We elected three boys for our class officers. With much discussion we decided on blue and gold as our colors; but we thought it would be best to wait until we grew older to choose our motto.

Later in the year the formation of an Athletic Association started basketball rolling. Our girls were not interested in it, but the boys could not get enough of it. A class team was organized. Raymond Courtney and Bruce Powell, two of our best players, many times acted as substitutes on the first team. In a year or two our boys give promise of making the first team.

One classmate whom we will miss especially is Carter Worthen. Carter left us to make a name for himself in one of the Columbus high schools. He was fond of drawing and was the Arrow cartoonist this year.

After having spent one year in high school we bid it a reluctant good-bye, hoping to come back next year as Sophomores braver and stronger.

REO THEODORA LITERARY SOCIETY

OYO LITERARY SOCIETY

The Reo Theodora Literary Society

The Reo Theodora Literary Society—the name itself suggests influence, initiative and ability, and in reality this literary society possesses all these powers.

Late in January of this year this society was organized under the supervision of Miss Langstaff, who, realizing the need of literary work among the Juniors and Sophomores who compose the society, willingly and enthusiastically took it upon herself to help as much as she could in developing these abilities. Our name we must not fail to state, has played a big part toward making the society a success, for what greater encouragement did we need in the work we were about to take up than the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt, for whom the society was named.

The Reo Theodora Literary Society was a success from the beginning. The thirty-six interested and enthusiastic students who loyally responded to the call faithfully did the work assigned them and promoted initiative to the best of their ability.

The Reoes had their literary meetings every two weeks when possible and the programs for these meetings consisted of debates, plays, readings, current events, musical selections and many other phases of literary work.

Our society paper, the Reo Echoes, has proved to be one of the most interesting features of the society, and our high school current events as recorded in the Reo Echoes by the different editors have proved very amusing.

Owing to the fact that the society was organized so late in the school year, we have not been able to accomplish as much as we aimed. Next year it is the sincere hope of all that there will be a continuation of the Reo Theodora, for success in literary work is one of the highest ambitions of S. H. S.

The Oyo Literary Society

At the suggestion and under the direction of Miss Schleicher the Freshman and Senior classes of S. H. S. met and organized the Oyo Literary Society. At this meeting the officers were elected to a term of office covering two months.

No student can be admitted to the society who does not possess a clear scholastic record for the preceding semester.

The society meets every two weeks on Friday afternoon in the auditorium. At stated intervals queer sounds may be heard issuing from this place by the casual passer-by, who, upon inquiry, learns that the members of Oyo are striving for that poise which is so necessary to the successful individual.

Oyo aims to develop the literary ability of its members, to provide a means of social intercourse among the students, and to promote the welfare of the high school. It has also given its members an opportunity to speak and read in public, an opportunity many of them had never before enjoyed and through which many will receive valuable training. At the close of every program the critic points out errors and compliments the merits of each number. This enables the one who presented the number to do better work the next time he is placed on the program.

THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club during this, the second year of its organization, has attempted to carry out the aim for which it was formed—that of developing musical talent and interest for music among the high school students. The work done last year has enabled Miss Gertrude Schmidt, Supervisor of Music, to accomplish much more this year. The support and allegiance which the Glee Club has given to the director shows how much that work means to its members, and is the best appreciation which could be given.

The Glee Club has also been a success financially, for the Secretary, Aida Swickert, reports the sum of one hundred dollars in the treasury.

The musicale given on February 6th was the first public appearance of the club this year and was a real success.

BOYS' BASKET BALL

Ralph Hansgen:

Ralph as a captain should be congratulated upon the fine tactics he used in managing the basket ball team. Big difficulties faced Ralph, but he grasped them and handled them to the best of his ability. Altho Ralph was a good captain, he won for himself a name as a good player.

Lewis Kent:

Lewis was one of the best forwards that could possibly be turned out. He played for all there was in it, hardly ever making less than five baskets each game. Lewis was one of the hardest workers we had, going out to practice every night.

Howard Hansgen:

Howard was one of the heaviest men on the team. He was "heavy" on the jumping stunt, keeping his opponents from throwing many baskets. It will be very hard to find a guard to fill Howard's place next year.

Herald Walbright:

Herald, the guard that caused many of his opponents to lose their patience, played with all his might. Herald never missed a practice and was always willing to do anything to help the team's progress. During his two years of playing Herald won a name that shall never be forgotten.

Charles Stout:

Charles, S. H. S.'s sure-shot forward, played with all his might. Charles only played in about half the games, as he was sick, but in the games in which he did play he played very hard.

Bruce Powell:

Bruce Powell, better known as "Red" on the team, proved to be a very good player as soon as he played the first few games. Bruce used as his motto, "Stick like a leach." Thus his success.

John Snyder:

John was the smallest man on the team, but he proved to the coaches that he could play basket ball. John sure stuck to the floor, therefore he never "got up in the air" about anything.

Paul Stedman:

The remarks on the different players would not be complete without a few words in behalf of our Athletic Editor.

The high scores made against our many opponents were due in several instances to the accuracy of Paul's shooting. His guard was kept alert at all times and only with the strongest efforts managed to hold Paul's number of points down. This is Paul's second year at left forward and with his experience and ability in basket ball we predict a great season for him next year.

COACH.

"S" MEN

The following men were presented with an "S and a bar," which signifies two years' active service on the team:

Ralph Hansgen
Howard Hansgen
Lewis Kent
Herald Walbright
Charles Stout

Bruce Powell was presented with an "S," which signifies one year active service on the basket ball team.

Altho Raymond Courtney did not play the full amount of halves to obtain a letter, he will be presented with a letter enclosed within a square, which signifies four halves.

To The Team

The days of Basket Ball are o'er—
Most fond to us the memory ;
The time spent there just called for more—
'Tis all now but a reverie.

As days became days of the past
Progress claimed a high school team—
With courage instilled, and strength to last,
Some years ago, 'twas but a dream.

Night on night the team was there ;
Their presence was a worthy cheer ;
They held the name of playing square :
Is not this alone a memory dear ?

To teams that are the teams to be
Profit by those who've gone before,
That when you're thru we'll all agree
You played so well we craved for more.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL

After the Basket Ball Association was formed and the boys had started practicing, the girls became anxious to start practice also. Early in the school year the girls met and chose Miss Ruth Robinson as their coach. After a few practices she was called to another school, and in the meantime the question before the girls was who would coach them the rest of the year.

Finally by request of the girls Miss Carl was chosen coach. As the basket ball season approached, Miss Carl put the girls through many hard practices and at the first game the team took the floor as follows:

Glayds Powell, Captain and Forward
Oetta Snyder, Forward
Ada Swickert, Center
Frances Halstead, Guard
Frances Stedman, Guard
Pauline Coburn, Forward and Guard
Ruth Winters, Guard
Mabel Duvendeck, Forward

Schedule for Season 1918-1919

S. H. S., 24; Wheelersburg, 15; at Wheelersburg.
S. H. S., 19; Piketon, 5; at Home.
S. H. S., 22; Wheelersburg, 7; at Home.
S. H. S., 29; Piketon, 11; at Waverly.
S. H. S., 27; Selby Office, 8; at Portsmouth.
S. H. S., 40; Portsmouth High School, 12; at Home.

The same loyal support was given to the girls thruout the entire season as was given to the boys. The girls deserve commendation for their good spirit and clean playing thruout the season.

At the close of the season the S. H. S. had won six games and lost none.

The score totaled 161-58.

Gladys Powell, our captain and forward, led her girls with a spirit of good fellowship and was an incentive to them to do their best. She did fine work in both positions she held.

Oetta Snyder, forward, was always ready. She was quick and active, and it took some guard to keep up with her. Her ability to cage the balls made her a star in several games.

Aida Swickert, tall and stately, always stood up for the rights of S. H. S. at center. Her bat-off was sure and she added much toward victory in every game.

Frances Stedman, guard, always saw that the ball was at the other end of the floor. Her height and quickness made her very valuable on the team.

Frances Halstead, our other good guard, always played the game fair and square. Altho she received many bumps, she always came back with a smile.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL

Mabel Duvendeck, forward, tho not in many games, helped the team in practice by making the guards work.

Pauline Coburn was always ready to tackle any one and played either forward or guard as she was needed.

Ruth Winters, smiling and willing, played guard on the second team and taught our forwards to move quickly.

"S" GIRLS

SOUVENIR DE FRANCE

Dearest Mother:

While I know I should have written to you sooner, I am sure you will understand when I say I have been very busy.

Mother, dear, I could live the rest of my life in this homey little village. Oh! I know you will say that I have been writing of the terrible country, but circumstances are different here. The Germans have almost overlooked this part and it is nearly the same as it was before the war.

I have just made a trip thru shell-torn Europe and the condition of the countries is so pitiful to see. In the German territory the revolution is terrible, and in Russia the people don't know what they want. Here in France the people are returning to their old customs and rebuilding the places destroyed by the war.

Dearest mother, read this more carefully: April 20th I will arrive at home, sweet home, about 2:35 o'clock. As I know you will not be able to meet me, I will not be disappointed.

And, I almost forgot this, I am bringing you a wonderful souvenir, one you will like better than the rest, mostly because I like it. Mother, I must close now and don't you worry. Await the arrival of souvenir and myself with patience.

With heaps of love from your son,

BILLY.

Mrs. Graham was an invalid and she had waited anxiously for this letter. At last on the 18th of April it had arrived. When she read it her first thought was of Billy and then of the souvenir. She thought and thought what it could be! He had already sent so many that she could hardly imagine anything else, but it surely was nice or Billy wouldn't have it.

The 20th of April dawned bright and clear and Mrs. Graham bade her maid dress her as becomingly as possible. The morning passed quickly and very soon it was only an hour till train time; but that hour seemed as long as the whole morning. Thoughts of Billy, his hardships, and the souvenir passed slowly thru her mind. Finally she heard the train whistle; soon it had passed and she knew that Billy was on his way home.

For the sixth time she peeped thru the window and there—coming up the walk—was Billy. But Billy wasn't alone, for walking shyly at his side was a bright-faced little lady, and for some reason or other Mrs. Graham thought of the souvenir.

Since the girl, however, didn't come into the room, she decided she surely must be a maid whom Billy had brought with him. Instead Billy bounded into the room alone, looking just a little older because of his experiences.

At last, when their greetings were over, she began a shower of questions, and the first thing she asked for was the souvenir. Billy blushed like a boy and tiptoed out, leaving the door open. Mrs. Graham, doing as she was told, shut her eyes and did not open them until Billy called to her. There, standing blushing before her, was Billy with the sweet little maid who she had that was a kitchen maid.

"Mother," announced Billy, "this is Marie, your new daughter-in-law," and expectantly added, "don't you like your souvenir de France?" Mrs. Graham, as she clasped Marie in her arms, murmured, "Billy, you certainly brot me a wonderful souvenir."

JUNE

When we speak of June the name sounds serene,
For the skies are so soft and blue,
And the grass on the ground is so velvety green
And dandelions blooming too.

The cows roam idly the meadows thru
And sip the refreshing breeze,
While the birds in the treetops are singing, too,
And chattering to the leaves.

The plowboy whistles a merry tune
And seems to labor with ease;
It seems that he thinks of lovely June,
The month of flowers and bees.

The evening draws on with a gentle calm
And cowbells are heard far away
Which announce that the cows are coming home
At the close of a perfect day.

First Prize,
PEARLIE LONG, 20.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

S. H. S. is a fine "old" school,
We care not if measured by any rule;
It's fair, it's square, it's a first-class brick;
We'll honor its name thru thin and thru thick.

The Senior bunch is a fine "old" class,
We care not if gazed at thru any glass;
It's sharp, it's natural, but never flat;
It's always on top, we can vouch for that.

The Juniors will follow their footsteps with zeal—
They can not be bluffed by any "spiel";
They're thoro, they're slow, they always stick,
They're always on time, they never kick.

The Sophomores will trudge along slow but sure,
Never having enough but yelling for more;
They're witty, they're giddy, but never too "fast";
They bear inspection by any class.

The "Freshies"! Are they coming?
Oh, yes! to be sure;
You can hear their voices a mile or more.
They're tall, they're short, but never between—
They'll come right along with a smile plainly seen.

Second Prize,

Society

Early last September, a crowd of high school people assembled one evening at the home of Gladys Powell and started on a "weiner roast." In spite of the inky sky, a suitable spot was selected and a rousing fire started, which was the center of the evening's enjoyment. After everyone had thoroly enjoyed a feast over that fire, the picnic ended with a "sing" in which all gladly took part.

Honoring Miss Marion Churchill and guest, Ruth Ships, who were spending the week-end here from Ohio University, Marjorie Turner entertained with an informal party. The guests were Lorena Nagel, Geraldine Beloat, Aida Swickert, Frances Steadman, Oetta Snyder, Edith Williams, Marjorie Purdy, Gladys Powell, Paul Steadman, Ralph Hansgen, Lewis Kent, John Snyder, Howard Hansgen, Lancelot Baily, Herald Walbright, Teachnor Smith and Maurice Fewkes.

The following people accompanied the Girls' Basket Ball Team of Sciotoville High School to Waverly, where the second game was played between the girls of Piketon High School and those of S. H. S.

Messrs. Reed and Miller, Misses Schleicher, Langstaff, Carl, Lorena Nagel, Geraldine Beloat, Imogene Alexander, Marjorie Turner, Ruth Walden, Helen Ell-esser, Lewis Kent, Ralph Hansgen, Maurice Fewkes, Charles Fields and Lancelot Bailey.

On the evening of Tuesday, December 17th, before leaving for their homes for the holidays, the faculty of the Sciotoville school and a few invited guests enjoyed a Christmas party in the high school auditorium. The first part of the evening was spent in games and interesting contests, but the main attraction was a huge Christmas tree, surrounded and decorated with odd and mysterious looking packages. Curiosity had almost reached its limit, when these were finally opened late in the evening. They proved to be unique and suitable gifts. After dainty refreshments, the evening's party closed with the singing of school and popular songs.

Besides the school faculty the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Carol Stewart, Mr. Keener, of Sciotoville; Miss Streich and Miss Micklethwait, of Portsmouth.

Aida Swickert, Marjorie Turner, Oetta Snyder, Pauline Coburn, Frances Steadman, Geraldine Beloat, Gladys Powell, Misses Coburn, Carl, Mumma and Fish accompanied the party attending the basket ball game at South Webster between S. W. H. S. and S. H. S.

A large crowd of students traveled to Wheelersburg to witness the basket ball game between W. H. S. and S. H. S. The evening being very pleasant, it was decided to hike home and the return trip made in this way was enjoyed by all.

The Girls' Basket Ball Team entertained the Boys' Team with a taffy-pull given at the school building April 1st. Part of the evening was spent in various games and contests, but the real fun began when at 10 o'clock a dainty lunch was served by the girls to the following guests: Misses Schmidt, Schleicher, Langstaff, Kirby, Carl, Mumma, Messrs. Reed and Miller and members of the team, Ralph Hansgen, Herald Walbright, Charles Stout, Bruce Powell, Lewis Kent, Paul Steadman and Howard Hansgen.

On February 13th the Junior class gave a pie social in the auditorium of the school building. All girls from S. H. S. came with delicious pies and the boys did their part in buying of them. Several games and contests were enjoyed before the selling of the pies. The entire evening with its musical program was enjoyed by all.

The Girls' Basket Ball Team was given a special treat when they played the Piketon Girls, for after the game both teams were surprised with a most delightful lunch served by the teachers.

The faculty and Seniors of Sciotoville High School were entertained with a valentine party on February 14th by Misses Frances Steadman and Edith Williams at the home of the former. The rooms were tastefully decorated with red and white hearts and Cupids. Late in the evening a delightful two-course lunch was served to Misses Carl, Schmidt, Kirby, Alice Carter, Bessie Beatty, Ada Carter, Florence Johnson, Alberta Dever, Aida Swickert, Gladys Powell and Mabel Duvendeck, Messrs. Reed and Miller, Paul Steadman, Lewis Kent, Charles Stout, Ralph and Howard Hansgen and Herald Walbright.

A St. Patrick's party chaperoned by Mesdames Willard Bailey, John Hutchins, Kennard Nagel, Arthur Turner and A. B. Churchill was given by several high school girls in the Masonic club rooms on St. Patrick's eve. The hall was tastefully decorated in green and white. Those enjoying the evening were: Marjorie Turner, Lorena Nagel, Geraldine Beloit, Frances Steadman, Frances Halstead, Pauline Coburn, Allene Williams, Marjorie Clausing, Aida Swickert, Eunice Hansgen, Gladys Powell, Oetta Snyder, Ralph Hansgen, Paul Steadman, Howard Hansgen, Lewis Kent, Lancelot Bailey, Arthur Miller, Teachnor Smith, Herald Walbright, Harold Coburn and Maurice Fewkes.

On May 9th, at seven o'clock, in the high school auditorium, the Junior class entertained with a banquet in honor of the Senior class.

The hall was tastefully decorated in old rose and silver gray, the Senior class colors.

Covers were laid for fifty and after the banquet at the call of Mr. Reed, who served as toastmaster, members of different classes responded to the following toasts:

A Toast of Welcome.....	Forrest Swickert
"We".....	Marjorie Turner
"Lead".....	Mr. Miller
"Others".....	Ralph Hansgen
"Follow".....	Lorena Nagel

The remainder of the evening was spent in games, contests and music.

SHAMEFUL!

Two very pretty Junior girls met on the street and kissed each other rapturously. Two Senior boys watched the meeting. "There's another one of those things that are so unfair," said one. "What is that?" said his friend. He pointed to the scene: "Woman doing man's work."

BIG ACCIDENT

Donald B., a well-known Freshman, fell into the water fountain but his friends and sweethearts will be glad to hear that he was rescued by the heroic Miss Schleicher.

When I was a lad I wasn't so bad
But what I could have been worse;
But if I'd been good the dear public would
Just now be deprived of this verse.

You savey by this—good children we miss;
They all kick the bucket, I'm told.
But as a kid I did just as I did
Because I desired to grow old.

I couldn't just see what 'twas to me
To turn up my toes to the sod,
So I did, it is true, what most all bad boys do
If they don't wish to hustle to God.

I sassed my dear ma, and I cussed dear papa,
And I pinched sister Mildred in the eye,
I made of my teacher a principal feature
In keeping me out of the sky.

I made faces at girls and pulled their curls,
And I boxed some of them on the ear;
I did all my lying to keep me from dying,
And that's how I came to be here.

MAURICE FEWKES.

GENTLE BUMPS"

Moral:—

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Eat onions and you're left alone.

Miss Mumma—What is shortening?
Frances D.—Flavoring.
Miss M.—You know better than that.
Frances D.—Oh, yes! I know, it is baking powder.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

Eunice H. would forget to talk?
Geraldine B. Would forget to chew gum?
We had chapel every morning?
Oetta S. would take a test?
Mr. Reed would lose his good nature?
Aida S. would fall in love?
Bessie Bachtel wouldn't have her lessons?
Alberta D. would say something?
Dorothy Dever lost her curls?
Robert Judd came to school every day?
Edith Williams got to school on time?
Everyone had his lessons?

Charles—I want you to put this under your pillow and dream of me tonight. Will you?

Ruth—Well, that depends upon what I eat before going to bed.

QUOTATION

Woman I hate—I want all to know
Never again will I be any girl's beau.

LOVE

Love is a sea skirted by long piers upon which young couples stroll to sit down and fall in.

---

Gladys and Ralph, two Seniors you all know,
Are seen talking together wherever they go.
Ralph calls on Gladys every Sunday afternoon,
But Sunday night another boy goes to ———.

A teacher was being examined by the school board.
Among the questions asked was this: "Do you think the world is round or flat?"

"Well," said the teacher as he scratched his head in deep thought, "some people think one way and some another, and I'll teach round or flat just as the parents please."

What a wonderful thing is one's nose,
The guide to wherever one goes;
It bows low when we pray
And is first in the fray,
And it tells, with its smells, all it knows.
(By Raymond C.)

What remarkable things are one's ears,
Undismayed by whatever appears;
Though they keep far apart,
They are loyal at heart—
Each tells one whatever it hears.
(By Dillard B.)

And consider one's finger and toes,
Arranged five together in rows;
If they grew on one's back
What convenience we'd lack,
And one couldn't lie down, I suppose.
(By Lewis K.)

THINGS WE ARE NOTED FOR

Edith Williams and Eunice H.—Our engagement rings.

Mr. Miller—My green tie.

Geraldine B.—My wonderful pink powder puff.

Ruth W.—My little neck and my sneeze.

Estel H.—My loud voice in answering questions.

Lewis Kent—My desire to learn to use big words and ask questions in classes.

The Freshmen—Our colors.

Vaughn B.—My chewing gum.

Oetta S.—"What did you say?"

Willie O'Dell—My geometry grades.

Willard N.—My gentle voice.

Aida S.—My silence.

Donald B.—My strong right arm.

La Riena Nagel—My five-inch expansion.

Maurice F.—My good grades.

Clair Evans—My studious grades.

Charlotte Labart—My aggressive disposition.

Alberta Dever—My loud voice.

Gladys Powell—My ability to sing.

Nelson Turner—My fondness for books.

Selma Cadwallader—My giggle.

---

"Nelson, what country is opposite to us on the globe?" asked the teacher.

"I don't know."

"Well, now," continued the perplexed teacher, "if I were to bore a hole through the earth and you were to go in at this end, where would you come out?"

"Out of the hole," replied Nelson, with an air of triumph at having solved the great question.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Paul S.—Are my lips on straight, boys?"

John S.—Do you think this overseas cap looks better on my right or left ear, fellows?

Some boys quarreling as to the time for eating their doughnuts.

NO DANGER

Worldly Aunt—See here, Edith, that young man in Ashland to whom you've engaged yourself, is his future assured?

Edith—Oh, yes, auntie! He was baptized as a child.

The Summer will soon be gone—Nature grieves.
And just as soon as Autumn comes—Autumn leaves.

Student (reading Vergil)—"Three times have I strove to cast my arms around her neck," and that's all the farther I got.

Miss L.—Well, I think that was quite far enough.

"Pauline," asked the teacher, "whom do you think supported the world on his shoulders?"

"Atlas, sir."

"Yes, quite right. Now, if Atlas supported the world, who supported Atlas?"

"I suppose he married a rich wife," murmured Margaret thoughtfully.

REASONABLE

Little Girl—Say, mamma, ain't I made of dust?

Mother—Yes, dear.

Little Girl—Well, why don't I get muddy when I drink?"

WANTED

Gentleman friend to call evenings—Bessie B.

One powder puff—Florence J.

One black jet evening dress—La Rienna Nagel.

A box of shinola—Lewis Kent.

A wife—Willie O'Dell.

Someone to really and truly love me—Willard N.

A clean handkerchief—Paul Steadman.

A pious girl—Ralph Hansgen.

A box of anti-fat—Geraldine Beloot.

A set of teeth—Byron Dever.

A couch—Bruce Powell.

Someone to keep our books—The Sophomores.

A megaphone—Frances Dill.

Some soap—The Boys.

Some window glass—Claire Evans.

The first bat—Vaughan Brock.

A toast—The Juniors.

Some rulers—Miss Carl.

Time—Seniors.

No work—All of Us.

We all wonder to whom a certain teacher wrote this piece of poetry:

"Cows love corn, pigs love squash,
I love you—I do, by gosh."

If there's anything that worries a man
It's something he ought not to know;
But you bet he'll get at it somehow
If he gets the least kind of a show.
Now, we'll wager ten cents to a dollar
This poem he's already read;
I knew he'd get at it somehow
If he had to stand on his head.

In April, 1918, graduates of S. H. S. met in the auditorium of the high school building and organized an Alumni Association. Everyone was enthusiastic over the organization of the association, and expressed the wish that as the years passed every graduate received into the association would feel that membership therein was one of the rewards of graduation. Because of the unsettled condition of the country and the necessary absence of many alumni it was thought that a banquet at that time would be inadvisable.

Student Writes Interestingly of Courses Which are Helping Young People Into Responsible Positions in Business and Civil Service

How This School Trains You For Success

FEVER since I began my business course so many of my friends have asked me: "Why did you decide to enter a business school? What do they teach? Are they really helping young men and women into good positions? What course are you taking? Do you like it?"

It occurred to me there were others who would like to have this information from a student, so I decided to answer these questions here.

Why did I decide to come here for a business course? First, because so many of my boy and girl friends who are making good are graduates of this school. They seem to have the best positions. They are making more money and they have made greater progress. Those who took the first positions they could find right out of school are practically no farther ahead than when they started. This proved to my satisfaction there were greater opportunities in office work than any other field of endeavor. As everyone knows, you can't do office work unless you have been trained to do it. That is one reason I came here. The other is that after investigating several schools none seemed to offer the same advantages. None seemed to take quite the same interest in me. I found everything in the way of office training equipment, faculty and courses one could ask for.

Are they really helping young men and women into good positions? There isn't a week that boys and girls are not sent out to fill positions paying anywhere from $60.00 to $100.00 a month, and sometimes more. Some get positions in business offices and some go into Civil Service. They are all making good and they are much better equipped to fight life's battle with the practical business training they get here.

What do they teach? They teach everything necessary for you to know to hold a good position. There is the complete or regular course. That is the course I am taking. Students who take this course are ready for almost any kind of position—as a bookkeeper, stenographer, timekeeper, cashier. It is the completely trained student who finds the greatest demand for his or her services and who nearly always gets the highest salaries. It embraces shorthand, bookkeeping, typewriting, English, business correspondence, spelling, penmanship, rapid calculation, bookkeeping, banking, commercial law, business arithmetic, carbon work, filing, etc. The remarkable thing about the complete course is that it does not take so much longer and it is easily worth the slight additional expense. Most of the students take this course and no one regrets it while some of those who take either stenography or bookkeeping courses and the allied subjects often come back to finish up.

Do I like it? Yes, indeed. Everybody does. In the first place, they give you what you want. We have a fine type of student body. You are made to feel at home. Everybody takes a sincere interest in you. Everybody wants to help you. You are not held back. You are permitted to advance just as fast as you can. And finally, when you are sent out to a position you know you will be able to hold it because you are trained to do the very things business will expect of you. We get REAL instruction here.

But best of all is the future. We know that our first positions are mere starting points even though they pay good salaries. Two, three and five years from now we will be doing just as well as the graduates of five years ago. They are located in all parts of the country and are receiving anywhere from $1800.00 to $5000.00 a year. All this is the result of opportunities in business and the fine training we get here.
