...And They Said It Couldn't Be Done

For the past decades, people in the Portsmouth city area have tried desperately hard to close the doors at East High School. But it wasn't until the 2000-2001 school year, that we realized that our battle to keep the school open was coming to an end. Of course this devastated the school student body, the faculty, and the Sciotoville community, so we began to prepare for the worst. It was during that year that we came to know that there were some many people that were willing to fight for our school, and at the same time their were more than enough to close it too. Several School Board meetings were held throughout the year in order to come to a conclusion about the school situations. Finally the decision was made that if the Sciotoville community supported the Portsmouth City Schools in getting new schools, then we would be able to end our contract with the Portsmouth City School District.

In the summer of 2001 the agreement was that the Portsmouth City School Board would lock the school and we would not be able to gain access to the school for so many days. When the faculty and school officials finally gained access to the school, we saw that East High School needed a tremendous amount of work. All summer long the school faculty, and the Sciotoville community worked together to make our school look better than new.

Sciotoville Community School opened its doors for the inaugural year, on September 4, 2001. Students were welcomed back by familiar faces and unfamiliar faces as well. The faculty promised for the 2001-2002 school year to be the best.

Our mission in keeping our school open paid off in the end, and even more, we made people realize, that when people come together anything is possible. So with that, the 2001-2002 wants to welcome everyone back for an exciting year, and for everyone to remember this quote, And They Said It Couldn't Be Done. Guess what? We proved them wrong!

Geneva Race takes a moment to reflect on all the memories at East High School. Geneva cut the ribbon to open Sciotoville Community School for it's inaugural year.

The students of East High School gather together for a quick pic in their new blue T-shirts. The students of East are always willing to be unique.

"I can't find anymore!", says <Bob Yates> during a banana eating contest. Bob was always known to go the limit to be a winner.

Sciotoville's "Hometown Hero's" ride in the back of a truck before a football game. WSAZ recognized these men for the hard work throughout the 2001 summer.

<Matt Brown, Jon Stapleton>, and <David Blevins> wait for their coach to give them their plan. These three seniors will be greatly missed by their team and by students.

<Matt Meadows> and <Brittany White> get down and dirty with the blue berry pie. They were great sports when it came to eating.

A few of the band members hop in front of the community Christmas tree for a jolly picture. They always enjoyed the holiday season when they got to participate in the annual Christmas parade.

The Junior High students helped out their community by picking up the litter around their school. Community service was a good quality of every one at east.

Sophomore <Josh Hoskins> shoots a jump shot during warm ups. Josh was one of East's most outstanding players this year, leading the area in free-throw percentage.

<Matt Hafer> and <Matt Brown> pause for a quick pic at one of this years basketball games. These two were always there cheering for their team.

<Dustin Morrison> gets distracted as he and <Brandon Williams> work together on a project. These two also played basketball together.

A couple of the band members are playing a song at the tradition Sciotoville Christmas parade. Our band was always willing to participate in community activities.

<Tricia Hurley> and <Heather Stevens> pause for a moment to see who had the best hat. No matter what the season these two always had a good spirit.

<Matt Hafer> inhales a banana at one of the East's pep assemblies. When it came to food nothing stood in Hafer's way.

<Missy Henry> and <Rachel Book> strike a pose for the camera while decorating for the football homecoming. They are always willing to take a time out for a quick picture.

<Bobby Yates> and <Freddy Bowens> work together in art to create a masterpiece. These two were always clowning around.

<James Bentley> and <Mary Buffinger> get together at dinner theater to be a part of the senior song. Dinner theater is a very exciting event.

Mr. DeCamp decides to do a little acting during a teacher's meeting. He somehow always knew how to keep the staff's attention during the long discussions.

Smile! Mr. Walker seems to be caught off guard as Mrs. Munion tries to get his attention. The very busy office was always made a bit nicer with these two friendly faces around.

(Bottom): This is how you know when a staff meeting has lasted too long. Mrs. Staker was always up for some fun when things got a little boring.

Mr. Davis takes some time out of his busy work schedule to sit down and help one of his students. He was always willing to go that extra mile for someone else.

Mr. Martin says good-bye to his old briefcase as he launches it over the hill. He will always cherish the memories they made together.

Mr. Bradford supervises as his students are hard at work. His class was always very exciting and challenging.

Mrs. Emmett is in deep thought as she sits quietly in the library. This was always a great place to escape from all of the students.

Amber's Speech

Being a teenager, the choices and pressures we're faced with can be challenging. The obstacles...they can be pretty overwhelming, but so many of us limit ourselves on who we are, what image we should have, what we should do with our lives, because, well, that's what this world tells us to do. So open your hearts, put aside your image and find your real self. Hold on to your dreams, and accept the person you are, because nobody is perfect. God has given me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, and the courage to change the things I can. So never underestimate the person you are, or all you can be. Follow your dreams, and may God bless you all. Thank you!

Amber easily gets the judge's attention in the Nautical wear category. Her wonderful energy was soaring throughout the entire pageant.

Eight candidates for the 2001 Miss River Days Pageant gather around Courtney Odle, Miss River Days 2000 2nd Runner-up. All the girls, before you knew it, became the greatest friends.

Isn't she lovely, our candidate for the Miss River Days 2001, Amber Adkins. She was truly a breathtaking contestant.

Amber lights up the stage during the formal wear competition. She had a wonderful stage presence in her sparkling white gown.

"River Days was, without a doubt, an awesome opportunity. The friendships that were formed were ones I will never forget, and representing East High School meant more to me than any crown."
—Amber Adkins

Our Time Here Is Done

We, the class of 2002, walked together through the doors of East High School on the first day of our freshman year with great expectation. For four years we watched as we have grown older, wiser, and how we've grown into the greatest friends ever imagined. All too soon, 2002 arrived, and we watched as the last precious year of our high school career ended, comforted in knowing we met our expectations with resounding excellence.

We laughed as we watched our class clowns carry out their daily comedy routines. We cried as we watched the faces of our fellow classmates during the last magical dance at our Senior Prom. We watched as the emotions run high as we were honored during Senior Night, with many of our friends receiving well-deserved honors and scholarships.

As we watched the tears fall at graduation, and watched each of our class members cross the stage, we truly realized that our time here is done.

The Madrigal seniors belt out "Vienna" as their last song ever at the annual Dinner Theater. The memories made in the past four years will be forever cherished.

Jennifer Pennington, Cathy Baily, and Kristina Hensley take a minute from their gossip to show off their smiles. The gym became the "hot spot" for the best gossip.

Beth Allard and Hayley Priddy give attitude before one of their volleyball games. Managing school and sports became very frustrating as the year progressed.

<Andrea Taylor> takes a break to say hi to the camera as she prepares to get to some serious work done. Andrea received a lot of knowledge from SCJVS both in labs and in the classroom.

<Justin Green> proves to have excellent penmanship as he writes down visitor's names. Justin's willingness to take on extra duties demonstrates the work ethic that he received at SCJVS.

Juniors

As we walked through the halls as freshmen and sophomores, we couldn't wait until the day we could say we were upperclassmen. Now that we are Juniors we wish that we could slow time because we know that it is quickly passing.

As the 2002 school year comes to an end, we look back on the times we have shared as "the Juniors". This year, we had the chance to work our first jobs, get inducted in to the National Honor Society, and attend our first prom. This is the first year that most of us ever really started thinking about college and what we might want to do with the rest of our lives. We learned that it is all right to be a little different.

The Junior class had its share of ups and downs, but there is nothing that can ever fall in our paths that we cannot overcome. Next year we will seniors, but we will never forget the adventures and talks we shared as Juniors.

Ralph Ramey, Crystal Cottrell, and Clara Tolbert march their way through Portsmouth, Ohio. These juniors once said that the River Days Parade was their favorite.

The Junior Prom Committee members work on decorations for prom. These girls worked very hard to make prom very memorable.

Sophomores

As sophomores we have now had a taste of high school life. The classes have become more difficult and we have found a better understanding of what the teachers have expected from us.

Now with one year under our belts, we are beginning to excel in sports, academics, and other extracurricular activities. All of the suffering of freshman initiations and carrying equipment are over and now we advance further ahead towards the top.

Over the past ten years

, we have had some memorable experiences together and cannot believe after this there are only two years left. With this in mind we prepare to make the best of what's yet to come and to cherish the memories we have left behind.

Freshmen

We are now officially in high school. No longer middle school students, we the freshman class learned a lot about our first year. We also thought and heard horrible things about coming into high school anywhere from the bathroom to getting set on the water fountains, but it was all a joke.

Sure we had to study a little harder, pay closer attention, and work more but we have shared many memories this year from the classroom to athletic events, and our first homecoming dance. The time may fly by, but we will make sure not a moment is wasted.

Eighth Grade

As we proudly leave the middle school status, all we can do is look back upon it. We are now entering the high school level as freshman, with an open mind. We are anxious to see the new challenges that will be laid before us, but we will always remember being the first eighth grade class in our school's inaugural year. During this past year, we enjoyed dances, sports, and our first very own pep rallies. This year the doors to new opportunities have been open. We have had more chances to get involved than any other eighth grade before us. We hope to leave the eighth grade with a good reputation from our teachers and the student body. We would also like to set a good example for the upcoming eighth graders. We would also like to leave a good impression on our middle school teachers as well. As the upcoming freshman, we would like to also make a good first impression on our teachers and peers.

Class of 2007

We, the class of 2007, will have the honor of being the very first class to complete every grade offered here at Sciotoville Community School. It seems like only yesterday that we were taking the big step from Elementary School to Junior High School. Now we will soon be eighth graders facing even more opportunities and responsibilities. During this past year, many of us participated in new sports and got to enjoy our very first formal dance. This being our inaugural year, we got to experience the joys and hardships of expanding our minds. Now, moving into the eighth grade, we wonder what is ahead. We know the work will be harder, but it will also be well worth it. It will help us to broaden our horizons and prepare us for what may come.

The Lady Tartan Volleyball team ended the season with a 4-14 record. The Varsity team was led by coach Melyssa Banks, returning for her third year and first year assistant coach, Chris Enz. There was never a time when the fans did not see the Lady Tartans striving for victory. The Varsity team said good-bye to five seniors: Hayley Priddy, Brandi Tipton, Mallory Smith, Chassidy Sturgill, and Beth Allard, leaving a promising group to lead future Tartan teams. These young women all added great enthusiasm and talent to the team. Dedication and commitment were also epitomized by the Lady Tartans. The seniors would like to wish the future Varsity and Junior Varsity teams the best of luck in the seasons to come.

... and dig, dig, dig.

This year's Jr. High volleyball team learned a lot about the game and how it should be played. These girls gave it their all and never quit. Not only did they play the game, they also made new friendships and learned how to work as a team. The coach this year was Rhonda Vault who diligently gave her time to help the players. There were seven eighth graders this year who will hopefully play high school volleyball next year. With hard work and dedication, these young girls will be unstoppable. As the seventh graders step up and become leaders, the eighth graders will add success to the upcoming high school year.

Jr. High Hawaiian Dance

Heather Moore and Britani McCann boogie down at the Jr. High Hawaiian Dance. At any dance, these two were always showing off their new dance moves.

Too shy to dance with the girls! When boys are in Jr. High, they always want to be too tough to dance. That is why they have special seating at all dances.

Several 7th and 8th graders form a circle during the dance. It is always good to slow it down and give couples and friends chances to dance with each other.

Kevin Scott shows a sign of nervousness as girls start coming towards him. No matter what situation, boys have always been intimidated by girls that can dance.

... and fore!

This year's golf season was both a fun and successful year. The golf team had numerous victories over schools such as Green, Clay, New Boston, and of course their rivals, PHS. Senior captain Matt Hafer was quoted in summing up his last season by saying "We began this year with the first ever victory in East High sports. We then ended it by finishing third in the S.O.C." What he failed to mention was that they took an early first round lead by finishing first in round one of the S.O.C. Overall this was one of the most successful years East has ever had.

Michael Flannery slyly grins as he concentrates on making his putt. His cheerful attitude and leadership skills always kept everyone in high spirits on the course.

Senior Matt Hafer gives some helpful advice to fellow team member, Gabe Carter. Being the only senior, Matt often had to show his leadership skills.

Matt Hafer and Lyle Allard caught doing their victory dance. These three brought much entertainment to the game of golf.

Wait, Lyle, you forgot the ball! Lyle Allard was always more worried about his swing than the simple stuff.

Freshman Zach Hayes smiles proudly after driving the ball. He had a very nice swing and did well every match.

These five golf studs, Gabe Carter, Matt Hafer, Michael Flannery, Lyle Allard, and Zach Hayes, try to plan their strategy for their upcoming match. You could never tell what kind of crazy scheme they were going to come up with next.

... and he could go all the way!

From the first day of practice, the 2001 Tartan Football squad knew they would be competing for one of the top spots in the Southern Ohio Conference. After starting their season at 3-0, they headed to Prestonsburg with their heads held high. They found only that they had underestimated their opponent. The Tartans took a stinging blow to what they hoped was going to be a wonderful season. They lost several key players, and the Tartans were left searching frantically to find leadership from the rest of the team.

Game after game, the Tartans played to the best of their ability, but the lack of experience and depth dropped them from the top spot of which they had dreamed. Although the underclassmen were not experienced, remaining seniors found a way to finish the season proud and victorious. Tartans have many promising players and will return stronger and more eager to finish the season with a record 5-5, but more importantly gained tons of experience and once again have higher hopes for next season.

Football Homecoming

The 2001 East High Football Homecoming was held on October 12 at Allard Park. Each girl selected to represent her class was filled with pride and excitement as she walked across the field as the band played "Wonderful Tonight" by Eric Clapton. Freshman attendant was Maddison Brown, who was escorted by Zack Hayes. Sophomore attendant Pam King's smile lit up the night as she walked across the field with her escort Luke Cremeans. Junior attendant Nicole Rawlins turned heads, along with Michael Flannery, her proud escort. Beth Allard, escorted by Michael Ervin, made her senior class proud by representing them as senior attendant. The wonderful night was only beginning for Homecoming Queen Jessie Mullens. She was overcome by emotion as Michael Kline escorted her across the field to be crowned 2001 Football Homecoming Queen by Amber Adkins. Hannah Sturgill, was the flower girl, and Ethan Mault, was the crown bearer, were escorted by senior Mallory Smith. Although the football team was defeated by the Green Bobcats, the Tartan spirit was not tarnished. Following the ceremonies, the PEP Club sponsored a dance honoring the Queen and her court. It was truly a wonderful night!

Senior Beth Allard & Queen Jessie Mullens stand proudly by their escorts "The Michaels!" These ladies were great representatives for their class.

AND.....SMACK!!!!!!

The 2001 East Junior High football team had a disappointing season finishing 0-7. Though it was harsh they never gave up and had a great attitude about each game. The season taught each player to play hard and helped to prepare them for entering into high school football.

The Tartans were a new born team in the life of football, yet they enjoyed every chance to play and expect to do better next year with more experience. For those who will be leaving the junior high team, will be ready for the pain and anguish of triumph left to come.

Cheerin' It Up

The 2001-2002 Jr. High Cheerleading Squad was made up of a great group of girls. Throughout the football and basketball seasons, these girls grew close not only on court but off the court as well. Working as a team is a hard thing for any group of people, but this years squad really worked extremely hard and showed the crowd that they could really "strut their stuff." They cheered their boys on to a number of victories and their great spirit and enthusiasm they helped involve the crowd in every game. Though many of these young cheerleaders will be trying out to become a high school cheerleaders for the 2002-2003 school year, the Jr. High Cheerleaders promise to keep up the good work and to also keep "rooting" on their team.

Top, Left: The Jr. High Cheerleaders cheer to the famous "Stand Up And Cheer." It was always tradition to do the cheer at every Jr. High Pep Assembly.

The 2001-2002 Tartan cheerleaders are back and louder than ever. Try-outs were held in May and members of this year's squad include: Mallory Smith, Hayley Priddy, Brandi Tipton, Chassidy Sturgill, Megan Forshey, Missy Henry,

Nicole Rawlins, Jayma Cooley, Rachel Book, Jodi Harrison, Brittany White, Ashley Adkins, and Maddison Brown. The girls worked very hard doing fundraisers in order to afford their much needed new warm-ups and also found time to appear on the Jerry Lewis Telethon to help disabled children. Strong friendships were made that will last a lifetime. Putting in many long hours of practice, car washes, and many other fundraisers, the Tartan cheerleaders are full of spirit and ready to go. The cheerleaders would also like to give special thanks to their new advisor, Mr. Williams, for all his hard work and dedication to make this year great!

-Senior Cheerleaders

Above: The cheerleaders stack up to lead their crowd and show spirit. They always liked the bigger and better things.

Top Right: "What are we doing?" Brandi Tipton asks fellow, senior member Hayley Priddy as they run off the field. These two were known for goofing off when together.

Right: The high school cheerleaders strike a pose with the River Days candidate, Amber Adkins, just before the parade. These girls never turned down a chance to smile.

Top Right: Freshmen cheerleader Maddison Brown gives a shout to the boys on the field. Being the only freshmen cheerleader, she had to make up for lost yells.

Bottom Left: The Tartan cheer squad preps for the first public dance of the season. Although nervous, these girls always gave thier all and put out quality work.

Bottom Right: The cheerleaders call their own timeout for a change for a quick picture. They not only were good cheerleaders they made it look good also.

The Swim Team

The 2001-2002 school year was blessed with the presence of the very first Tartan Swim Team. This group came, swam, and took the county storm as they made their self seen in a big way. Although this was a bunch of rookies when it came to swimming on a team in a competition, they were not going to be counted out. Their athleticism led them to be one of the finest teams in the area.

<Aleksandra Plazinic> gasps for some O<sub>2</sub>. This being Aleksandra's first time in the states, she was very proud to represent East in Swimming Competitions.

Members of the East High School Swim Team gather around as their coach, Mrs. Peters, gives some motivational advice. Each team member had to do their part in order for them to compete.

Members of the swim team sit together and cheer on their teammate in competition. Letting their team know what lap he or she was on was very helpful during the meets.

<James Bentley, Chris Peters>, and <Ty Bear> clue each other in before the next section starts. In between events the team would let each other know how they did.

He Shoots...and He Scores!

With only one experienced senior returning to the basketball team, the 2001-2002 East High Tartans went through several ups and downs. Adjusting to first year head coach, Travis

Bradford, the young team learned a whole new style of basketball. The Tartans adapted well and continued to improve game after game as the season progressed. The team finished the season with a 7-14 record. The boys played every game with all their hearts, even when they not expected to do well. Loyal fans also helped the team by showing their pride in their community, helping the team achieve many of their hard fought victories. The Tartans look forward to improving their abilities and have high hopes for next season.

Top Left: Senior Matt Oster releases a jumper while focusing on the upcoming game. Matt's senior leadership helped lead the team to many of it's victories.

Top Right: After laying a shot up , Derrick Tabor watches the ball fall towards the net. Being a senior, his physical ability will be missed in the seasons to come.

...And They Took The SOC Again

The 2001-2002 Lady Tartan basketball team completed another successful season with a 13-6 record. The Tartans also pulled away with another S.O.C. title. There was never a time you did not see these girls giving it their all on the court. Through hard work and dedication, it definitely showed. Coach Monroe and the rest of the team will be leaving behind seniors Sara Flannery and Jessica Mullens. These two starting captains were great leaders, and helped out greatly throughout the season. The Tartans are expected to pull through with another S.O.C. 1 title and much more next basketball season.

Sizzlin senior Sara Flannery looks to make an awesome pass during one of the games this season. Sara's tremendous effort and great basketball ability always kept the other teams in suspense.

Above: Second year player, Pam King goes up for a shot during warm-ups. Pam was a very reliable player throughout the season.

Right: Sophomore girls basketball players Sara Oster, Leah Evans, and Pam King take a breather after another Tartan win. These young ladies have always kept positive attitudes on and off of.

You can tell that these girls are into their school and their team as they are introduced at a pep assembly on 'Blueberry Day.' These girls led the team to another S.O.C. 1 title.

Basketball Homecoming

On February 8, the East High Yearbook Staff hosted the 2002 Basketball Homecoming. The theme this year was "Dreaming of You."

The stands were filled with many anxious people awaiting the festivities. The freshman homecoming attendant was Holly Moore who was escorted by Travis Riggs. Due to a tie, two young ladies represented the sophomore class. They were Annie Clinger, escorted by Chris Stiltner, and Lakeisha Snook, escorted by Derek Tabor. The Junior Attendant, Jayma Cooley was escorted by Adam Riggs. Mallory Smith was the Senior Attendant. She was escorted by Andrew Conley. This year's flower girl was Alyssa Miller, and the crown bearer was Jacob Cottle. The 2002 Basketball Homecoming Queen was Sara Flannery. She was escorted by two members of the boys basketball team, Lyle Allard and Dan Downing. This was a truly special night for these young ladies. Following the game, the Yearbook Staff hosted the annual homecoming dance.

' This was one of the most exciting nights of my life, and I wouldn't have changed a minute of it for the world. Thanks for the memories.'

—Sara Flannery

Mallory Smith pauses for a moment as all of her accomplishments are being announced. Mallory was escorted by Andrew Conley, and was very proud to represent East High School as the Senior Attendant.

Sara Flannery stands in amazement after being crowned the 2002 Basketball Homecoming Queen. Sara was escorted by Lyle Allard and Dan Downing, and all of them were very overwhelmed from the experience.

The Junior Attendant for the 2002 Basketball Homecoming ceremony is Jayma Cooley. Jayma was escorted by Adam Riggs, and both ended up having the best time of their lives.

This year the sophomore class had two Attendants. Annie Clinger is proud to represent the sophomore class. Annie was escorted by Chris Stiltner.

Lakeisha Snook shows off her pearly whites while hanging on to her escort Derrik Tabor. The night was unforgettable for the both of them.

Hayley Priddy proudly escorts this years flower girl, Alyssa Miller, and this years crown bearer, Jacob Cottle down the court. The yearbook staff was very happy to have them part of the annual event.

Holly Moore grips her escort, Travis Riggs, by the arm as they make their way down the gym. Holly was a great representative for the Freshmen class.

And Swish..

The 7th and 8th grade basketball teams, coached by Mr. Chris Enz and Mr. Brian Enz, encountered an exciting year. The boys were forced to practice late at Harding Elementary, which made it difficult to adjust to the larger high school floor. The seventh grade team did not taste victory as much as the eighth grade team, however they were never counted out of any game. In fact, they led the majority of their games all the way until the last quarter.

The eighth grade team fared better when it comes to the overall winning record. Their games brought on a high school type feel with all of the athleticism and excitement. All in all the boys had a good year. Their record was greatly improved up as compared to the previous year which made the whole team feel like winners. This was overall a successful year for the junior high boys basketball teams.

Eighth grader, <Brent Downing>, aggressively shoots for a basket. Brent's athleticism was a great advantage to the team.

A group of jr. high basketball players pose in their game day finest. This year's boy's jr. high basketball team showed what was like to be true gentlemen. Hey, and they also clean up well.

And She Puts Up the Three!

This year's jr. high Lady Spartans, like the boys, also had a very exciting season. Although their record did not show much success, this group of girls has never counted out of any game. The eighth graders on the team showed great enthusiasm, which in turn kept not only the seventh graders on the team in high spirits, but also gave themselves a boost. The seventh graders served their first year jr.

high apprenticeship well and contributed tremendously in all aspects of the game. All in all, these girls showed that they were ready for anything and thanks to Coach Bob McCann they displayed a lot of skill. Good luck to those seventh graders returning as eighth graders next year and to those going on to the next level.

Stephanie Skeens focuses on the ball as she prepares to swat it over the net. Stephanie's hard-work and dedication helped boost the team in a very positive way.

Adam Riggs imitates Babe Ruth as he points in the direction that he will hit the ball. Adam made every meet a memorable experience.

Jane Morrison explains to Adam Riggs, Brandi Tipton, Jason Hemminger, and Stephanie Skeens that because we play tennis, therefore we only have ball racquets. I always found time to play matches.

...and the ball goes up

The East Tartan baseball team had a very outstanding season this year. Their hard work and tough attitude paid off by the Tartans finishing with an excellent record and gave them a chance for the S.O.C.

Even with a winning record there were still some rough spots in the season. After going over a week without playing the Tartans lost their sectional game to advance farther into the tournament.

Due to bad weather conditions the Tartans had to postpone three league games and finish them after their tournament game. Even knowing they could not go any farther after their loss they still finished out the season with pride beating Symmes Valley, and Eastern, and taking New Boston into extra innings, but losing by one run.

The seniors showed great leadership through the whole season and will be greatly missed in the season to come.

A few of the boys sit and concentrate on the game in between innings. These guys always had their heads on straight and never missed a bit of action.

<Chris "Gilby" Stiltner> watches as a ball is thrown at his feet. Chris was very consistent at the plate due to his hard work and practice.

<Derrick Tabor> and <Chris Peters> stop for a moment from packing their seeds to look at the camera. When it came to baseball these two were dead serious.

Junior <Justin Arms> takes a break from pitching to play first. Justin was one of the team's most versatile players this year.

<Zach Boyd> stands up and smiles for a quick pick. Boyd was always into some kind of mischief.

"Throw 'em the heater," everyone is saying to <Bobby Yates> as he lets loose of the ball. Bobby was of the most importance when it came to the Tartans' pitching this season.

Achieving What Couldn't Be Done

The 2002 softball team fell short this year, as they were defeated in the Sectional Semifinals. After losing two seniors from the previous season the team had to regroup and keep on keepin' on the Tartan winning tradition. The team consisted of 14 athletically inclined young women. The team was lead by veteran seniors Beth Allard (pitcher), Sara Flannery (catcher), Jessie Mullens (2nd Base), and Laura Wiltshire (outfield). Under the leadership of first year head coach Dave Dials the girls ended the season just below .500 with an 11-7 record overall and a 6-4 record in the S.O.C..

Jessie "Jets" Mullens gets down and ready as she concentrates on the ball coming towards her. Jessie's hard work and motivation made her a great asset to this year team.

"1-2-3 HIT!" The Lady Tartans huddle together in-between innings. These ladies knew that coming together for a brief speech would keep them striving to win

Senior Beth Allard, shows ya how its done. Beth really stepped up to help the team and achieve her goal this year on the mound.

Junior, Shannon Day watches the play while concentrating on keeping every opponent off her base. Shannon was always ready to catch anything hit her way, including a player!

Laura Wiltshire, Pam King, Lakeisha Snook, Amy McGraw and Shannon Day keep the bench very warm. Hopefully next year they'll be able to work on their tans on the feild.

Seniors Sara Flannery, Laura Wiltshire, Beth Allard and Jessie Mullens smile for the camera during the first Senior Night for Softball. The seniors really showed their leadership on the field and they will be missed next season.

Shawna Williams runs for her base. For this first year player, nothing felt better then a swing with a hit.

And The Beat Goes On

Once again, the Tartan Regiment Marching Band welcomed a new band director to their school. Scott Brehm was more than excited to be instructing an award winning band. Although rumor had it that the students had to be "spoon fed" a show, Mr. Brehm was up for the challenge.

Like always, the schedule consisted of: One week of music rehearsals, one week of marching and technique, and the rest of the summer for cleaning for the 2001 competition show.

The 2001 competition theme was "Walt Disney's Fantasia," songs included: Beethoven's 5th, Sorcerers' Apprentice, and Firebird. There were three soloists for the competition season, and they were: Jessie Mullens, Justin Williams, and Michael Erivn.

This year proved to be the toughest for the band. "Having a new band director for the second time in two years can be very stressful on a band. "We worry about our show being ready for competitions, and seniors really have to keep everyone's sprits up," said senior low brass section leader, Michael Kline.

The band ended their competition season with many awards and received an excellent rating at the OMEA State Finals Competition in Dayton, Ohio

The marching band eagerly awaits their turn to play some fun pep tunes. These students enjoy entertaining the crowd and supporting the team throughout the football season.

The Tartan Wizards gather around the Wizard prop. Having the "Pit" in these costumes added so much to the "Fantasia" theme.

Lakeisha Snook and Pam King twirl to the beat as they perform during a Friday night football game. These members of the Color Guard always treated every game as if it were a competition performance.

Senior Individual Awards

The Best Female Soloist Award was given to senior member, Emily Cook.

The Best Performer Award was given to senior member, James Bentley.

One receiver of the awards given for the Solo Competitions was senior member, Justin Williams.

The other senior madrigal member to receive a Solo Competition award was Donald Craft.

The 2001-2002 Madrigals of East High School continued the vocal tradition and showed their talents at competitions. This year's group consisted of 39 members. The group also appreciated the 12 returning seniors and their experience. Six of these members were instrumentalists and 2 were managers.

The Madrigals attended 5 competitions this year. These competitions included Tri-State, Southwestern, Grove City, Cuyahoga Falls, and St. Clairsville. The most memorable competition would be Southwestern in Indiana. The group earned 2nd runner-up to Grand Champion. Individual awards that were earned throughout the season were Best Female Soloist by Emily Cook; Best Performers by Missy Henry, Emily Cook, and James Bentley; and Solo Competition by Justin Williams, Emily Cook, and Donald Craft.

Along with these competitions the Madrigals were involved in many communities. The 2002-2002 season closed after the St. Clairsville Competition. As a result of the season, many memories were formed and many friendships blossomed.

Choir members, Jane Morrison, Missy Henry, and Donald Craft throw their arms up with pride during their showing at the annual dinner theater. These three were very dedicated to their duties.

The madrigals hold their heads high during their performance at dinner theater. This group made that special night possible.

The group takes a seat as they continue to entertain the crowd. They excepted every chance they could get to rest and take a break from their hard work.

Guys and Dolls

Nathan Detroit is looking for a place for his crap game. He needs some money to use the Biltmore Garage. He bets Sky Masterson $1000 that he cannot take Miss Sarah Brown to Havana. The plot builds with many more situations and characters. Characters like Adelaide who wants to get married to Nathan ASAP, Nicely-Nicely who can't stop rockin' the boat, Benny who is Nathan's right hand man, Big Jule who wants to shoot crap, Harry the Horse who is Big Jule's voice of reason, Lt. Brannigan who is always breathing down Nathan's neck, Arvide who loves his mission and his granddaughter, and many many more.

With the help of our music directors, our school was able to pull off this play, Guys and Dolls. It was a great experience for all who participated. Both the performers and the audience got a lot out of the show. The show was spectacular!

The Hot Box Dancers are all prepped up and ready for the spot light. Not one male left the show without dreaming of being with one of these beautiful ladies.

After having a few to many drinks, <Emily Cook> (Sara) tells <James Bentley> (Sky) exactly how she feels. She was very forward with her comments.

"COPS!" The gamblers scatter through the mission as Officer Brannigan appears from no where. These guys were always into mischief.

The gamblers demand to know where the action is. Nathan Detroit was always the man to look for when you felt like losing some money.

<Sharon Tibbs> readies <Chris Peters> for show time. Although none of the guys liked the makeup it gave them the graceful appearance they showed on stage.

Adelaide rolls her eyes in disgust while Nathan tries to make her smile. <Justin Williams> and <Heather Timberlake> were an all-star winning couple in the musical.

Cast and Crew gathered at Giovannis after the last performance. Mrs. Mays treated them well for their hard work and dedication.

Nicely and Benny get their groove on, explaining the unhappiness dolls bring. Zach and Donald really added some comedy flavor to the musical.

National Honor Society

Each year the senior members of the Pauline Walden chapter of the National Honor Society participate in the traditional induction of the new members. While they pass the torch of success and accomplishment, they also pass many responsibilities down to their Junior schoolmates.

The National Honor Society is a national organization made up of academically gifted students that uphold the four criteria of service, scholarship, leadership and character. As each new student matures, they develop the characteristics that make them better people for tomorrow. Although every student possesses the same opportunity to receive this honor, only a small percentage do.

New Members:
 <<Jane Morrison, Jayma Cooley, Crystal Cottrell, Missy Henry, Jodi Harrison, Megan Forshey, Stephanie Hurley, Kelli Pickelsimer>> and <Heather Timberlake>

Lighting a candle, <Mary Ann Buffinger> prepares for her speech. Each candle symbolized a criteria for the National Honor Society membership.

<Jodi Harrison> listens in astonishment, as she is being tapped into the ceremony. Jodi was one of nine who hold the criteria for the Honor Society.

After being tapped, <Heather Timberlake> is followed by <Michael Ervin> out of the auditorium. Heather's high GPA and sparkling personality made her an excellent candidate for the National Honor Society.

Both <Jason Hemminger> and <Justin Williams> lead the newly tapped members back into the auditorium for their induction. When the new candidates enter, they walk with their candles lit and a heart full with pride.

<Megan Forshey> waits in amazement, as she is another Junior who is a candidate for the society. Megan has always been one who strives to succeed in life.

Being successful in school is a challenging goal, but for some this goal seems to be easy. Those students who commit themselves to success usually do well in school. Some only do the minimum required, but those who go beyond what is required are rewarded for their efforts. For example, Jr. High National Honor Society is a national organization set up for highly gifted students.

The prom itself was held in the high school gymnasium and thanks to this year's prom committee it was beautifully decorated. However, the show did not start there. Each prom member lined up in the building and exited the front doors in order to show the public what they looked like. This is what they call the Grand March. The line ended in the gym where the sharp-dressed danced the night away. Immediately following the dance, some very caring parents sponsored an after-prom party at Rainbow lanes in Portsmouth. All in all the night was filled with fun, food, and wonderful memories that will last a lifetime. A special thanks to everyone who made this night possible.

It'll Never Be Like This Again

On May 26, 2002, at 12:30 p.m., the East High School seniors gathered in the cafeteria, anxiously listening to the final announcements made by Mr. Dennis Decamp and Mr. John Coriell. As we gathered in a circle clutching the hands of the freinds around us, we were lead in a final word of prayer.

As the "Olympic Spirit" echoed through the gymnasium, we found that our existence as students was rapidly ending. After addresses from our Valedictorians, Jason Hemminger, Mallory Smith, Justin Williams, and Salutatorian Michael Ervin, Justin Williams read the names of our classmates as they stepped onto the stage as East High Students and stepped off East High Alumni.

This day that came and went so quickly had been awaited for thirteen years. But these years we waited were not wasted years. Many friendship and memories arose during this period, ones that in our hearts we will hold forever.

Class Motto:

"I alone know the places I have for you, plans to bring you prosperity and not disaster, to give you a future and a hope."

Mary Ann Buffinger and Justin Williams lead in the graduating seniors for the 1st Commencement Ceremony at Sciotoville Community School. This day was very touching for those who graduated.

Mr. Decamp stands in preparation to begin the graduation ceremony. Every year Mr. Decamp becomes more emotional than the year.

Valedictorian, Mallory Smith speaks of the past years together. Mallory ended her high school education with an outstanding GPA and with many academic awards.

Matt Hafer cracks a smile while Mr. Decamp gives his final announcements before the ceremony. Matt always knew how to cheer up people during emotional times.

Michael Ervin, Salutatorian, recites lyrics to a song he will be performing. Instead of giving a speech, Michael performed a song from the musical Jekyll and Hyde, entitled "Letting Go."

Members of the graduating class of 2002 pay close attention to the speaker addressing their classmates. These students were very proud to be graduating from high school.

in the crowd

seniors have more than fun

Whether it be a pep rally, a basketball game, a spanish club party or a student council meeting, seniors were in the crowd cheering, partying and taking it all in.

They loved getting out of class to attend a pep rally to cheer on their classmates in school activities.

When they went to games they cheered on their teams from the sidelines whether it be volleyball, football, basketball or baseball. They watched the good plays and the display of skill and blended into the cheering voices that came from the stands.

Parties were a must for crowds of students in every grade. They herded to the best parties with the coolest music and the hottest teens of the opposite sex. Birthday parties were scarce but watch some parents leave town for the weekend and the celebration was on.

After school activities took on a more academic look with rooms full of students showing up for club meetings to eat, work and converse with fellow students.

Seniors showed up in a variety of places at various times with different friends, but they were usually not alone. Being a part of the crowd was comfortable for most. It just had to be their crowd.

Before Vaedictorian, Jason Hemminger begins his speech he pauses for a quick picture. Through his high school career, Jason proved to be an outstanding scholar with many scholarships to prove it.

Hayley Priddy, Michael Kline, and Erin Johnson nervously await their turn to enter the gym. On this day, one could find several graduating seniors trying hard to fight back tears.

Congratulations Mallory, You have grown into a wonderful young woman. I am very proud of you and all of your accomplishments. I wish you the best in whatever you do. Keep up the good work and remember I am always behind you.
Love, Mom

Dear Matt,
The years between the little boy and the grown man have passed much too quickly. These few sentences could never express how we feel about you. We are so very proud of you and always will be. Your future is limitless, make the most of it. We wish you health & happiness always.
Love Mom, Dad, and Maddi

Jessica,
Wow! It is hard to believe it is time for you to graduate. We have enjoyed you so much and are definitely proud of all you have accomplished. As you go on in life remember to always look to God for guidance, wisdom, and understanding in everything you do. We will always be there to support and love you.
Love, Mom and Dad

Stacy,
We are so proud of the beautiful young lady you have become. May your future be blessed with only wonderful things. May God bless you and be with you forever. We love you so much.
Mom and Dad

Hayley,
Time goes by so fast. We watched you grow from a little girl to a beautiful young lady. You have gave us very special memories throughout your school years. Congratulations and we love you and wish you the best of luck.
Love, Mom and Dad

Jon,
You are all we ever dreamed of in a son. We are so proud of the man you have become. We love you so much!

Derrick,
We are so proud of you! You were right; you did fit in at East. You have gained a lot of good friends and good memories. You participated in football, basketball, and baseball and gave it your all. Good luck in your future. We love you very much, Mamaw Lynda, Mom, Eddie, Dustin, Destiny, Aunt Brenda, Uncle Jeff, Jeffrey, and Jennifer.

Sarah,
How proud we are of you. You tricked us when you were little, but you have always been a treat. Congratulations on your Graduation!

Mom and Dad

Michael,
You have been a joy to raise. Your constant ability to overcome and achieve in all you do always keeps us guessing: What's next? You are filled with surprise, laughter and cheerfulness; that keeps smiles on the faces of those who are lucky enough to know you continue to approach life's hurdles the way you have your entire life, with faith and determination. You have and always continue to make us proud. We love you!

Moms and Dads

Congratulations Mary Ann!
It was a true blessing when God sent you into our lives to care for. We have been happy for your every achievement and even more proud of the person you have become. With heartfelt love we pray for God to light your path as you continue your journey thru life. Love you always,
Mom and Dad

Matt,
It's been a great senior year.

We are so proud of you.

God bless you,
Mom, Dad, and Bill

Chassidy,

You came into our lives, we blinked, and you were grown.

We love you always!
Mom and Dad

You need only look at the feet to tell who this is! Some things never change but then again some do... I've often said that memories are one of the few things that can't be taken away from you. Remember the values Dale taught you and never question his love for you. He always said, "Life is good". You were part of that "good" in his life and I'm sure he's smiling down on you beaming with pride even today. Remember the great times you've had in the last 4 years. You've grown up so much and I am so Proud of the man you've become. Your love of God, ethics, and determination amaze me. Don't ever change. You're my shining star that gives light to the darkness. Never forget how much I love you, Justin. Above all, never loose site of God and his will in your life. Now matter how old your are or what your life brings, I'll be here for you as a mother as well as a friend.

I love you
Mom

Yearbook Staff

The 2001-2002 yearbook staff went through many changes this year. Mr. Christopher Enz, although being inexperienced in several areas in producing a yearbook, took on the task of being the new advisor. The staff was about fifty-fifty with experience, so this year consisted of a lot of teaching and learning.

Michael Kline, the editor, accompanied by his business manager Mallory Smith, proofread and revised, cropped pictures, and finished many pages. The staff, however, worked many long hours putting layouts into the computer.

It took dedication and hard work to finish the 2002 SPIRIT, but in the end we were rewarded by making memories last.

The 2001-2002 Yearbook Staff, would like to dedicate this year's Tartan "Spirit" Yearbook to those who lost their lives by the cruelness acts that came upon America on September 11, 2001. May we always remember that within each of us lies a hero, and if we work together we can accomplish anything we imagine.

I remember our days in Jr. High when we couldn't wait to be seniors. We anticipated the moment, and now as we have finished our classes here at East High School, it is sad to say that it is over. The last four years in yearbook have been awesome. Every year the staff works together to capture the memories of the year. Not only have we accomplished our goal of making another Tartan "Spirit" Yearbook, we have also worked extremely hard to improve the yearbook 110%. I will always remember arguing with Mr. Enz over "trap captions," and "using columns." All of those times will be times will be cherished. To the senior staff members, I would like to thank you all for keeping my head on straight when we missed every deadline, and I would also like to wish you the best of luck next year in college. For the rest of the staff, Have Fun! It was greatly appreciated.

Hope you all enjoyed this year's Tartan "Spirit" Yearbook!
Thanks for the memories!

Love,
Michael Anthony Kline
Editor

The 2002 Tartan "Spirit" Yearbook, printed by Talor Publishing Company, issued 165 copies and sold for $33.65. The book measures 7 and 3/4 by 10 1/2 and contains 120 pages. The Headlines, Body Copies, and Captions were mostly written in Malibu font.

The 2002 yearbook staff would like to thank Alan Swank, our sales representative, for his assistance and most of all, his patience in the production of the yearbook. We thank the faculty and staff for such a memorable inaugural school year. Most of all, we would like to thank Mr. Chris Enz, our advisor, for such a successful yearbook. It started out rough, but it was fun.
